ASKS FOR EXPLANATION OF HARDING ASSOCIATION

Hamilton Holt, Editor, Requests President to Tell Public of World Peace Plans.

SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW

Declares in Letter That the Slightest Inkling of Terms to Supplant Wilson League Had Not Come to Ears of Citizens.

[By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—Hamilton Holt, magazine editor, who headed the delegation of pro-league Republicans that called on former President Wilson during the last presidential campaign, today made public a letter he had written President Harding, asking him to explain to the American people the terms of the Harding association proposed to supplant the Wilson league of nations.

"If you delay much further, people everywhere will inevitably conclude that you have no concrete plan at all or else that you propose to put party harmony above world welfare," declared Mr. Holt. "In that event, there will be nothing left for those who want America to play her rightful part in stabilizing the world but to organize the country so as to capture Congress for the league in 1922 and the presidency in 1924."

This, Mr. Holt asserted, could be done. He declared the league of nations and Bolshevism were the only great ideas that had come out of the war as world panaceas, and he asked the President whether he could guarantee that the world would not turn to Bolshevism if it came generally to be believed that he had no plan at all for a substitute for the league.

"As President-elect," Mr. Holt wrote, "you did not see fit to disclose your attitude on the league beyond what you had said during the campaign. Both the 'thirty-one' and the 'irreconcilables' claimed you for their own.

"As President, however, you have unequivocally repudiated the existing league of nations, whose area comprises considerably more than half the earth and whose population numbers three-quarters of the human race. You even permitted, without rebuke, your ambassador at the Court of St. James to say that you will have nothing to do with any commission or committee appointed by the league or responsible to it directly or indirectly, openly or furtively.

"You have, nevertheless, as presidential candidate, repeatedly promised during the campaign, and as President you have reiterated that promise, that you will seek to establish an association of nations based on the application of justice and right, binding us in conference and co-operation for the prevention of war and pointing the way to a higher civilization and international fraternity in which all the world might share.

"You have not yet given the American people the slightest inkling of the terms of this Harding association that you propose shall supplant the Wilson league. Has not the time come, I respectfully ask, for you to do this?"

PACKER MEASURE BEATEN IN SENATE

Dakota; Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, and Trammell, Democrat, Florida, were for the Senate bill. Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, was present, but announced that he was paired.

Final debate on the legislation was evenly divided between proponents and opponents of packer regulation. Senator McCormick, Republican, Illinois, attacked the bill on the ground that it conferred wide and discretionary powers on a single government official. Senator Kenyon, making the final statement for proponents, attacked the big packers and defended the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the packing and other industries.

Voting on amendments, with speeches limited to five minutes, began at 1 o'clock, and opponents of the Senate bill were enabled by close votes to put through several amendments. One of these, offered by Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, would restrict the proposed regulation to the food product of the packing industry.

Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, gained the floor late in the day and displayed a copy of the original House bill with what he described as a number of interlineations made by attorneys for the packers. Seven of these interlineations, he asserted, were adopted by the House Agriculture Committee as amendments.

Famous "Cutter Creek" Brand Still Available

FREELING, VA., June 16.—It was predicted that during the forty days' lay-off of the Federal prohibition agents, the moonshiners would take advantage of the [illegible] immediate section there are no indications [illegible] activity among the faithful.

Of course, the thirsty may quench their thirst on something stronger than the "unadulterated ale" of Father Adam at most of the improvised joints. The famous "Cutter Creek" brand is still to be had, and at a reasonable sum per.

easily available. The gun itself is small and compact and ideal for guerrilla warfare against the police, as it can be carried under a man's raincoat. The magazines are so small that they can fit into a man's coat pockets.

British destroyers are constantly patrolling the Irish coast to catch gun-runners and have already captured fairly large consignments of various sorts of weapons and ammunition which had been packed in bags and suit cases and thrown overboard attached to improvised marker buoys which enabled fishermen later to pick them up.

Customs Men Involved.

Officials here anticipate that the United States Congress will make an official investigation and perhaps cause the discharge of some subordinate officials of the customs department as a result of disclosures which are expected to be made.

"We are expecting America to take a hand in this matter," said an official of the Irish office. "That is why we timed the situation and caused the raid in Hoboken instead of waiting to seize the guns over here."

Guns Now in Federal Hands.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Ownership of the 455 machine guns and the hundreds of spare parts, seized yesterday by custom officials after they were found secreted on the steamship East Side and presumed to have been destined for Ireland, are still subject of investigation by government officials. The guns, through the agency of a Federal warrant of detention, were restored today to the possession of customs officials, from whom they were taken on a search-and-seizure warrant by the Hoboken police.

A hearing set for today was intended to bring out the story of Frank Williams that they were stolen from his warehouse, but the hearing was declared off after the Federal writ had been served.

Custom officials said they would take the arms from Hoboken police headquarters to a customs storehouse tomorrow and there hold them until the mystery surrounding their discovery is solved. Federal agents are working on several angles of the case, including an attempt to trace the guns from the factory in which they were manufactured.

RESTOVER HOME APPEALS TODAY FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Today is Tag Day for the Restover home for working girls, and it is hoped by the Social Service Federation, which conducts the enterprise, that every one will make a contribution, no matter how small, for $3,000 is needed to meet the current expenses of the home. The Restover is operated solely for business women who are working on small salaries, most of whom are employed in the various industrial plants, and board and lodging are only $4.50 a week. Even in ordinary circumstances, the help from this source would be welcome, for the needs of the place are recently a number of the girls living there have either been out of work or are reduced to part time, thus cutting down their incomes. But, of course, no girl is made to leave the home for this reason, but because she cannot pay her board bill in a period of financial stress, and for this reason the federation has been put to additional expense, recently and more than ever is in need of the co-operation of the public.

Stations will be placed in all sections of the city under the direction of Mrs. George May Jobson, president of the organization, and a number of prominent women will take charge of the boxes. Other officers are Mrs. James Ware Durham, Mrs. Warner Moore, Miss Ruby Dart, and Mrs. Henry W. Rountree, vice-presidents; Mrs. H. M. Dyson, secretary; Mrs. N. B. Miller, treasurer; Miss Bessie Jones, treasurer of Restover Sunday, and Mrs. P. J. Kernodle, publicity secretary.

C. H. MACKINTOSH HEADS AD. CLUBS OF THE WORLD

Chicago Man Elected at Atlanta Convention—Will Meet in Milwaukee Next Year.

[By Associated Press.]

ATLANTA, GA., June 16.—Charles Henry Mackintosh, of Chicago, was elected international president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at the concluding session of the convention here late today.

The convention will meet next year in Milwaukee, Wis., the delegates ratifying the choice of their division presidents.

Election of the Chicago advertising man over George W. Hopkins, of New York, came after a spirited fight, the result of which was not known until the final ballots had been checked. The vote was: Mackintosh, 726; Hopkins, 698. Samuel C. Dobbs, Atlanta, former international president, nominated Hopkins, while the name of Mackintosh was placed before the convention by J. W. Ferguson, Minneapolis, Minn. Nominations of various district vice-presidents were confirmed by the convention.

The Hopkins plan of reorganization of the association was adopted in modified form by the convention, the changes having been recommended by the executive committee. It calls for an advisory committee of four members to be appointed by the president, to constitute a cabinet and assist him in administration of the association's business. The plan also calls for employment of the best man obtainable as director of the advertising educational work.

The D'Arcy trophy, offered to the club regarded as most alive to opportunities of promoting efficiency and in the organization of new clubs in near-by territory, was awarded to Atlanta. Resolutions also were adopted praising the local club for its hospitality.

30 NORTH SIDE CITIZENS GIVE LAND FOR HIGHWAY

a slice of the Roden bond issue and an enlarged appropriation for curb and guttering, he would start on the permanent improvements, such as outlined by the delegation, and before the autumn of next year the boulevard would be ready to turn over to the people of the North Side, fit and finished.

No "strings" to Gifts.

This plan suited the citizens, although they would have preferred to have had the new boulevard this year. The explanation of the Director of Public Works, however, proved satisfactory, and then the delegation forthwith agreed to dedicate, without cost to the city, the necessary land for the improvements. This land is donated in lots of from seven to thirty feet, covering a strip 2,760 feet in length. There are no "strings" tied to the dedication. The members of the delegation vied with each other in the display of public spirit, and good-naturedly bostled around, in order to be "first" in on the presentation.

It was made plain by Mr. Saville that the roadway would be forty feet in width, with ten feet on either side for sidewalks and grass plots. This, with curb and gutters and with storm sewer, would be ready, according to the director, by September of 1922. All hands were delighted at the outcome of the conference.

"Now," said Mr. Saville at the close of the meeting, "let some more delegations come forward with similar gifts, and the city will get its 250,000 long before 1926." This sentiment was echoed by the North Side Councilmen.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

I. J. Marcuse, acting president of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday announced the appointment of a special committee to investigate all phases of the local street railway problem and to report to the chamber such action as it deems practical and appropriate. This action was taken under a resolution adopted by the board of directors Monday afternoon, and made public yesterday, which states that the chamber views with great concern the financial circumstances of the Virginia Railway and Power Company and the recent action of the Streets Committee of City Council in failing to take any action for the relief of the company.

The woman lived a short time, but died finally as a result of her wounds.

HOUSE AND SENATE FRICTION CAUSES LEGISLATIVE JAM

sisting on immediate and drastic cuts in the interests of economy.

Attempts to reach an agreement on the peace resolutions were begun at an informal Republican conference in the office of Senator Lodge, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Representative Porter, author of the resolution passed by the House, and Senator Knox, author of the resolution approved by the upper chamber, were present, as well as others of the conferees.

Reservation of American rights under the treaty, provided in both resolutions of the lower chamber, was deficient in this respect. It was indicated a compromise might result if the House yielded on this point, the Senate, meantime, consenting to the establishment of peace by the single declaration that it exists, instead of through repeal of the declaration of war. Another informal conference will be held Friday. Formal discussions probably will begin next week.

MARYLAND CLASHES WITH VIRGINIA OVER THE CRAB INDUSTRY

inevitably reduces the supply of this food.

Mr. Goldsborough and the other speakers from Maryland said that the State of Maryland has passed a law for the protection of the mother crabs and prescribing the size of crabs that may be taken, but that Virginia has refused to co-operate for the protection of the food supply, and that only a Federal law will meet the situation. Mr. Shultice, replying for the Virginians, devoted himself largely to the constitutional question whether a Federal law would be valid, and cented that it would be.

He said the Supreme Court had upheld the migratory game law because of a treaty with Canada. He also held that there is still a good supply of crabs going out of Crisfield, the center of the crab industry. Representative Bland, whose congressional district takes in the Virginia country on both sides of the mouth of the Chesapeake, said his people did not want to come to Washington for regulations from a bureaucracy as to how they should handle their business. He also said the place to discuss the matter was before a congressional committee, not a departmental hearing. Secretary Hoover would not indicate what the stand of the department would be in the controversy.
