AWAKE!

Poor Old Rip Van Winkle!

When he went up in the mountains for a walk he hadn't the slightest idea he would fall asleep and not wake up for twenty years.

After that long period of seclusion Rip was mystified when he wandered back to his native village and found himself completely out of touch with the world.

Here in Richmond it is possible to sleep many years without going to the mountains like Rip did. One can be physically alive but mentally dead to surrounding possibilities—such as exist in the Classified Section of The Dispatch.

There YOU can learn where to buy the automobile you've been looking for or procure the nurse maid you need or make a sound financial investment or sell some article which is apparently of no value to you.

Life is too short to sleep both at night and in the daytime.
