NOT COCKRELL'S WIFE

Woman with Young Man Denounced as Impostor.

FATHER-IN-LAW EXPLAINS

Robert G. Hogan, of Baltimore, Says His Daughter, Mrs. Ephraim Cockrell, Is at His Home—Repudiates Former Missouri Senator's Son, Elopement Not a Success.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, April 12.—Robert G. Hogan, of Baltimore, and formerly of St. Louis, father-in-law of Ephraim Cockrell, a son of former United States Senator and now Interstate Commerce Commissioner Francis M. Cockrell, made a statement today repudiating his son-in-law and the woman who, according to a dispatch yesterday in the New York Times, is posing as his wife in London.

According to the Times dispatch, young Cockrell introduced the woman as his wife, and spent much money in entertaining in London. Mrs. Ephraim Cockrell, the daughter of Mr. Hogan, is now residing with her father, in Ilchester, Howard County, for the spring and summer. She said yesterday that she had not seen her husband for some months, but did not seem surprised at his alleged actions in London and Paris.

False Impression Corrected.

Mr. Hogan's statement is as follows: "In order to correct a false impression which was sent out yesterday relating to my daughter, Mrs. Ephraim B. Cockrell, I wish to state the true facts concerning the actions of her husband and the impostor who is posing as Mrs. Cockrell in London and Paris. About a year ago Mr. Cockrell accepted a position with a banking firm in New York, leaving his wife at my home in Baltimore until he could prepare a home for her in New York. He made frequent visits to his wife and father in Baltimore and Washington.

"About June 1 last he left. His wife made every possible endeavor to locate him in order to notify him there was no need to fear returning home, but she did not discover his whereabouts until two months ago. She at once wrote telling him his father had arranged his affairs and had been ill for months.

Woman Denounced as Imposter.

"A few weeks ago we learned that he was living with a notorious woman of New York, introducing her as his wife and my daughter in London and Paris, and borrowing large sums of money from Americans there. I at once notified the consuls general at London and Paris that the woman is an impostor, and that my daughter, his wife, had been with me in Baltimore and part of the time with his sick father in Washington since his departure.

"My daughter has never used or received benefit from a dollar of his money since he left, but has done all in her power to shield him, for his grandfather's sake as well as her own. We are sorry this matter has become public, but, as it has, my daughter's name must be protected."

Friendly with Cockrell Family.

Mrs. Cockrell has continued on terms of intimacy with the Cockrell family since her husband's departure. For three months she helped to nurse former Senator Cockrell while he was ill. Only this morning she received a telegram from a member of the Cockrell family expressing sympathy and asking her to talk matters over. The first she had heard of the publication of an account of her husband's doings in London and Paris was yesterday afternoon, when she was informed of the contents of the article in the New York Times.

Mrs. Cockrell then said that she had not seen her husband for months, but knew that he was in London. She declined to discuss her relations with him beyond saying that she did not expect to see him again. For a statement of her position she referred to her father.

The romance of young Ephraim Cockrell and Miss Hazel Hogan, as she was then, began about five years ago in St. Louis. Both families were conspicuous in the social life of Missouri, Senator Francis M. Cockrell having represented his State for many years at Washington, while Mr. Hogan, during a residence of forty-four years in St. Louis, became one of that city's well-known men. His daughter, Miss Hazel Hogan, received the attention that was her due from many of the young men of St. Louis.

Couple Said to Have Eloped.

About a year before the World's Fair opened young Ephraim Cockrell, son of the Senator, was much in St. Louis. Tall, well built, he was then about twenty-one years old, and a young man of unusual personal beauty and attractiveness. He was a much-sought-after young man, both because of his family and himself. At that time he fell in love with Miss Hogan, and wasted no time in urging her to become his bride. Satisfied that his regard for this young lady was returned, young Cockrell went to Mr. Hogan with the usual request that a young man makes at such a time.

The Cockrell family is not rich, and young Ephraim had no prospects of being immediately able to support a wife. Hence he was told to wait, but there was not a refusal of his suit. But Miss Hogan and her handsome fiance did not feel like waiting. Hence they went off on their own hook and were married—in fact, both families regarded it as an elopement.

They lived happily for a time. During the exposition they were conspicuous among the young couples who helped to make the many functions in St. Louis a success. Then and afterward they lived with Mr. Hogan. A part of the time Mr. Cockrell spent in trying his fortune in Mexico. When Mr. Hogan moved to Baltimore Mr. Cockrell came here also, but soon afterward accepted a position in New York. Up to last June, when he disappeared, he paid frequent visits to Baltimore and Washington.

Interdenominational Church Committee Confers with Railroads.

Agree State Corporation Commission Shall Regulate Operation of Sunday Trains.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Lynchburg, Va., April 12.—As the result of a conference here to-day between representatives of the railways of the State and the interdenominational church committee, it was agreed that the railways will discontinue the sale of excursion tickets in Virginia, and that the State corporation commission shall regulate the operation of Sunday passenger and freight trains, the committee deciding that trains are necessary on Sunday.

The matter of preparing a bill to be offered to the next legislature was referred to a subcommittee composed of Presidents Johnson, of the Norfolk and Western; Finley, of the Southern, and Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, and Rev. Dr. John J. Lloyd, Herbert H. Harris, and George E. Caskie, of this city. The bill will be prepared by Mr. Caskie and then referred to the railway presidents before going back to another conference to be held here in the future.

This agreement is the result of the efforts of Dr. W. W. Smith, chancellor of the Randolph-Macon system of colleges, who brought the question of Sunday trains before the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church, the Virginia Synod of the Presbyterian Church, and the Council of the Episcopal Church. He is president of the commission named by these three religious bodies, and the meeting to-day was the second held with the railway representatives.

NEWS IN LETTER KILLS GIRL.

University Student Ends Life When She Learns of Fiance's Death.

Chicago, April 12.—Russian atrocities claimed a victim in Chicago yesterday. Miss Marian Farber, the twenty-year-old daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. M. M. Farber, died at Evanston Hospital of poison which she is said to have taken after receiving a letter announcing that her fiance had been murdered in Russia. The deed was the culmination of the cruelties to which her relatives had been subjected in the land of the Czar and the decrees that had exiled the family from their native land.

Miss Farber was a student of Northwestern University. Two of her brothers had been shot down without a hearing and two cousins were exiled to the Siberian mines.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, April 12.—Representatives of the Pocahontas Bell Association visited the McShane Bell Foundry this afternoon to witness the casting of the bell which is to be hung over the Virginia Building at the Jamestown Exposition.

For some time past it has been the object of this association to collect the metal from which the bell is made from all parts of the United States, only objects of historic interest being used. Various historic weapons have been contributed, and one of the most interesting of the collection to be used was a finger ring that was worn by Henry Clay. The bell will weigh 500 pounds.

Alexandrians Want to Know About Labor Question.

JUDGE NICOL MAKES REPLY

Aspirant for Nomination to Succeed Late Representaive Rixey Favors "Placing the Man Above the Dollar"—Republicans to Meet To-day to Consider Holding Convention.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU,
(Bell Telephone 113.)
Corner of Prince and Royal Streets.

Alexandria, Va., April 12.—In view of the interest in this district with reference to the position on certain labor questions held by the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress, a business man of this city has written to Judge Charles E. Nicol, C. C. Carlin, R. Lindsey Gordon, jr., and J. F. Ryan, in the same terms, asking each to state his attitude as to the "liability of railroad companies and such corporations for injuries to their employes due to the negligence of such companies' officials, superintendents, foremen, or other employes." Up to this evening a reply had been received from only one candidate—Judge Nicol.

In his letter he said in part: "I favor the liability of such corporations to their employes, as embodied in the present constitution of Virginia, and also the present statute law of Virginia, and I also favor the present statute of Congress on that subject. If the present law, either State or national, is insufficient to effect protection to employes of railroads and other corporations engaged in any business that involves hazard and peril to human life, I am in favor of so amending and re-enacting such laws as to make them effective—in other words, I favor placing the man above the dollar."

In the letter that was sent to the candidates the writer stated the belief "that it is important that our Representative in Congress be not under the influence, or in any wise in the employment, of railroads or other such companies; one who would not stand up and defend human flesh and blood against iron and steel." The letters were under date of April 5.

Republicans to Meet.

At a called meeting of the Republican Congressional committee of this district, to be held in this city to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, action will be taken on the question of calling a convention to select a candidate to oppose the Democratic nominee for Congress. The meeting will be presided over by Chairman H. P. Dodge, of Manassas. It is predicted that the committee will decide to call a nominating convention in line with the present policy of the party to make a fight at every Congressional election in every district in the State. So far only two men have been suggested as probable candidates—John B. Henderson, jr., of Alexandria County, and William B. King, of Loudoun County. Mr. King is a member of the Washington bar, and is well known in that city.

Funeral of Mrs. C. A. Falls.

The remains of Mrs. Charlotte Armstrong Falls, whose death occurred this morning at Sibley Hospital, in Washington, were brought here this afternoon and conveyed to the residence of her sister, Miss Louisa E. Armstrong, 514 Prince street. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon, and the interment will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery. Mrs. Falls formerly resided here. She was fifty-six years of age, and was the wife of Robert W. Falls. She was a sister of the late Anthony Armstrong, of this city.

Arranging for Factory.

Dr. Luria, president of a Chicago manufacturing company which has submitted to the city council a proposition to lease certain public property here, was in this city to-day to make arrangements for the construction of a factory. The plant is to cost not less than $25,000, and to employ fifty workmen. The proposed lease will be finally passed upon at the next meeting of the city council.

Movements of Ferryboats.

It is stated that the ferry steamer Lackawanna, which is to take the place of the steamer Woodbury, of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, on the line between Alexandria and Washington, will arrive here April 16. The Woodbury and Callahan, which are to be used at Norfolk in connection with the Jamestown Exposition, will not, it is understood, be returned to this city, but at the close of the exposition will be transferred to New York for ferry service.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Cora R. Carroll, whose death occurred Wednesday at Anacostia, were held this afternoon from the undertaking rooms of B. Wheatley, on King street. The interment was made in the Methodist Protestant Cemetery.

Information was received here to-day of the death at Upperville last night of Timothy Sweeney, father of Capt. William H. Sweeney, of this city. The deceased was a native of Ireland, but had lived in this country most of his life. He was seventy-nine years of age.

Citizens have commenced to speculate as to who will be the next mayor of Alexandria, although the election for that office is distant more than a year. The names of Mayor Paff, former Mayor George L. Simpson, Councilman Julian Y. Williams, and Councilman C. B. Marshall have been mentioned in this connection. It is said that additions will be made to the list.

WASHINGTON PASTORS—XI.

REV. TEUNIS SLINGERLAND HAMLIN, D. D.

Rev. Teunis Slingerland Hamlin, D. D., who last month celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his pastorate at the Church of the Covenant, is one of the ministers of Washington who has enjoyed the distinction of being the spiritual leader of a congregation that has always included among its numbers some of the most illustrious men and women that have made their residence in this city. Under his guidance the wealthy and influential citizens forming the greater part of the congregation of the Church of the Covenant have given over $750,000 toward the support of the church and for missionary and charitable purposes. Dr. Hamlin was born in Schenectady County, N. Y., and educated at Union College. After graduation he studied theology one year at the Dutch Reformed Seminary, at New Brunswick, N. J., and two years at the Union Theological Seminary, in New York City. At the age of twenty-three, Dr. Hamlin took up his first pastorate, going to the Woodside Church, in Troy, N. Y., in 1872. He remained there thirteen years, and then went to the Mount Auburn Presbyterian Church, in Cincinnati, where he served two years, after which he was called to take charge of the then new enterprise, the Church of the Covenant, in Washington.

At the time Dr. Hamlin came here, the rear building, or prayer meeting room, of the church had been built, and the lot for the main edifice secured. The church had ninety members at the time he took up the work of raising the funds to build the large, handsome structure that stands at Eighteenth and N streets to-day. Under Dr. Hamlin's pastorate the church has been built, and the mission property in Georgetown, known as Peck Chapel, secured, and an institutional mission established. The trustees of the Church of the Covenant are William S. Carroll, Charles H. Butler, William E. Curtis, William J. Flather, Rudolph Kauffmann, George W. McLanahan, Claudius P. Jewell, Charles D. Walcott, and Brainard H. Warner. The superintendent of the Sunday school is H. A. Pressey.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

District Union Arranges Attractive Events for Next Two Months.

Mass Meeting to Welcome Dr. Woodrow, New Pastor of First Congregational Church.

Several attractive events have been arranged by the District Christian Endeavor Union for the next two months. The second illustrated "travel talk," by Woodworth Clum, relating to the trip to the Seattle convention, will be given April 26. The regular monthly meeting of the union on May 6 will be a "model missionary meeting," conducted by W. H. H. Smith. For May 10 a mass meeting has been arranged for the Endeavorers of the District to greet and hear Dr. Woodrow, the new pastor of the First Congregational Church. Dr. Woodrow, who has been a prominent Christian Endeavor leader in Massachusetts, has accepted an invitation to speak on that occasion, stating that he considered it eminently fitting that his first public appearance in Washington, outside of his own church, should be at a Christian Endeavor gathering. A third travel talk will be given by Mr. Clum the latter part of May. The June meeting will be in the nature of a reception and social to the Seattle delegation, and the annual election of officers will also take place at that meetings.

Last Sunday evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church had its first lesson in its course of study of immigration, and notwithstanding the rain the attendance was larger than at any of the meetings for several weeks. Other societies are taking up a similar course of study, using as a text-book, Dr. Howard B. Grose's work on "Aliens and Americans." For the benefit of those taking this course a representative of the District union has looked up literature bearing on the subject at the Public Library. The following works have been found there, and are recommended to students of the course: Bradshaw and Emanuel, "Alien Immigration;" Braun, "Immigration Abuses; Chetwood, "Immigration Fallacies;" Smith, "Emigration and Immigration; Capek, "The Slavoks of Hungary;" Steiner, "On the Trail of the Immigrant;" Gagenal, "American Irish;" Brownell, "History of Immigration to the United States;" Busey, "Immigration;" Tupper, Immigration and Christianity;" Immigration Bureau, "Compilation of Facts—Chinese Exclusion;" Industrial Commission report, "Immigration and Education;" Library of Congress, list of books with reference to periodicals on Chinese immigration; Library of Congress, list of books with reference to periodicals on immigration; Aldrich, "Unguarded Gates" (poem); Brandenburg, "Imported Americans;" Department of Commerce and Labor, report for 1906. At the request of the union most of these books have been placed in the reference room at the Public Library, where they will be easily accessible.

The Young People's Society of the Central Presbyterian Church has become a Christian endeavor society, and has applied for membership in the District union. The society has recently elected the following officers: President, Roy W. Prince; vice president, R. F. Krueger, secretary, Ruth T. Elmore; treasurer, Ethel Swaine.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church held its monthly business meeting Tuesday night at the home of Miss Marguerite Hines. The society is endeavoring to raise $600 for a mission church, and has already secured about half the sum.

A denominational rally of the Lutheran Junior Endeavor societies of the city was held at Memorial Lutheran Church last Sunday afternoon, under the leadership of Miss Marian Heitmuller, president of the Memorial Juniors. The music was exceptionally good, the singing being accompanied by Clara Barclay, of the Memorial Juniors, as pianist, and an orchestra of young violinists from the Memorial and Keller societies. Mrs. J. W. Graham, superintendent of the Memorial Society, made the address of welcome. Other numbers on the programme were: Recitation, the First Psalm, Keller Memorial Society; season of prayer, led by Miss Elsie Parkinson; three-minute addresses, by Rev. J. G. Butler, D. D., Rev. C. H. Butler, and Rev. J. T. Huddle; duet, Amy and Edna Lerch; piano solo, Clara Barclay; recitations, Irma Kloeppinger (St. Paul's), Willie Mortimer, (Keller), and Fred Dodson (Memorial); song, Kelled Memorial Junior choir; address, Miss Agnes Suman, superintendent, St. Paul's; company drill, St. Paul's Society.

A well attended social was held Tuesday evening by the Endeavorers of the Ninth Street Christian Church. It was in the nature of a reception to the new members who have been brought into the society through a contest, which has been in progress for five weeks, and by means of which twenty-one new members have been added thus far, the contest to continue throughout April. A strong impetus has been given to the society by the new pastor, Rev. George A. Miller, who is an energetic worker among the young people and a strong adherent to the principles of young people's societies in the church. An interesting musical and literary programme was rendered. A duet was sung by Mrs. T. R. Pirtle and Miss Emma Peters, and solos by Mr. Bean, Miss Florence Buehler, and Miss Josephine Gould. The accompanists were Mrs. F. A. Carpenter, Miss Marguerite Allen, Miss Ethel Roy, Miss Alberta Buehler, and O. B. Kilbourn. Walter McCurdy played a piano solo. Orchestral numbers were effectively given by the Star Quintet, under the direction of Miss Stella Raymond. Miss Edith Thompson realistically portrayed the old maid aunt's impression of the small boy. After remarks by the pastor, and by the president, A. G. Bishop, refreshments were served, and games followed.

The District Christian Endeavor Union has received copies of the provisional programme of the twenty-third international Christian Endeavor convention, to be held at Seattle, Wash., July 10 to 15. Among the speakers are many of national and international reputation. Vice President Fairbanks is expected to address the convention if his official duties will permit. The programme comprises two of the best features of the Baltimore convention of 1905—a "camp fire" and a "festival of praise."

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES.

The devotion of the "Nine Tuesdays in honor of St. Anthony" will begin Tuesday next and continue each following week until the Tuesday preceding the feast of St. Anthony—June 13. Special services will be held, and mass celebrated every Tuesday at 7 a. m. in St. Matthew's Church in the beautiful marble chapel dedicated to St. Anthony; in St. Anthony's Church, Brookland; in St. Augustine's Church, and in the Church of Mount St. Sepulchre, adjoining the Franciscan Monastery on the heights of Brookland, where mass is offered every Tuesday morning, in St. Anthony's honor, at 9 o'clock. The Blessed Sacrament is exposed during this mass and Benediction given after the mass, following which a relic of St. Anthony is exposed and offered to the faithful for veneration. During the mass prayers are said for the different intentions laid at the feet of St. Anthony.

St. Anthony of Padua died on Friday, June 13, 1231, but so many wonderful miracles occurred on Tuesday, the day of his burial, that from that time forth a grateful and loving people dedicated to his honor the day on which God was pleased to glorify His servant in such a wondrous manner. People visited the Saint's tomb, especially on Tuesday, and the belief became general in Padua that on this day all graces might be obtained through the intercession of the Saint. The devotion was strengthened in the year 1617 by the following circumstance: A distinguished and devout lady of Bologna had besought St. Anthony, with special fervor, to obtain for her a particular grace; St. Anthony appeared to her and said, "Visit my image in the Church of St. Francis, on nine Tuesdays, and thou shalt be heard." The pious lady strictly followed the direction of the Saint and obtained the request she had so earnestly implored. The Friars Minor hastened to make known this miraculous apparition and to propagate the devotion of the Nine Tuesdays, which soon became general throughout Italy and various other lands.

The Feast of the Holy Sepulchre, titular feast of the Church of Mount St. Sepulchre, will be solemnly observed at the Franciscan Monastery to-morrow. Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 9 a. m. Vespers and Complin at 3:30 p. m., after which Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given.

The Sisters of the Convent of Perpetual Adoration have issued an earnest appeal to their friends and the members of the Association of Work for Poor Churches, asking contributions toward the canceling of a debt of $900. Rev. Dr. Stafford has contributed generous support to this institution by giving annually the proceeds of his Shakespearean lectures to the work for poor churches, but finds it impossible to deliver one of the lectures this season; hence this call from the Sisters for immediate aid.

The report of the Catholic Mission Union, read at the Catholic University, last Wednesday evening, by Rev. A. P. Doyle, C. S. P., rector of the Apostolic Mission House, must seem truly encouraging to the zealous missionaries whose labors have accomplished such great results; just as it conveys gratification and pleasure to numerous friends and sympathizers throughout the country. After describing the work of the Mission House, which has for its purpose the training of secular priests to be diocesan missionaries, Father Doyle told that 1,200 missions have been given to Catholics during the year, and 1,449 missions to non-Catholics, with the marvelous result of 6,176 converts to the faith and ten times that number under instructions.

Members of the Holy Name Societies will meet tomorrow in St. Matthew's Church, St. Paul's Church, St. Joseph's Church, and in St. Theresa's Church, Anacostia.

The Fathers of the Dominican House of Studies, under the leadership of Rev. Father Noon, will conduct a three-day mission for men and boys in the Church of the Holy Comforter, beginning Wednesday, April 24.

Loyal adherents of the Catholic Church in Langdon braved the storm last Sunday to witness the first religious ceremony in connection with the new edifice—the laying of the corner stone by the Right Rev. A. A. Curtis, vicar general of the diocese, attended by the Fathers of St. Anthony's Church, Brookland, to whose parish the new church belongs, Rev. Walter Elliott, C. S. P., and several fathers and seminarians from the Dominican House of Studies. This new church, to be dedicated at some future date, under the patronage of St. Francis de Sales, stands on the site of the old Queen's Chapel, on what has been long known as Queen's Chapel road, now the intersection of Rhode Island avenue and Eighteenth street northeast. It commands a beautiful view of the surrounding country, overlooking in the dim distance the fields of the famous battle of Bladensburg. Queen's Chapel, first erected by Richard Queen about the year 1722, was three times destroyed by fire, once during the Revolutionary war; again during the siege of the British in 1814, and finally when civil strife played such havoc throughout the neighboring country.

Services, conducted by Rev. T. J. O'Hern, of the Apostolic Mission House, are at present held in a near-by hall. No effort will be spared to complete the new structure, which stands, as it were, for the rebuilding of the oldest Catholic Church in this section of the country.

Devotions of the Perpetual Adoration will be held in St. Paul's Church next Friday. Solemn Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament from 7 a. m. until 7:30 p. m., when Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given.

St. Augustine's Lyceum held a pleasant informal entertainment last Monday evening; ices and light refreshments were served. Everything promises success to this organization recently formed by members of the parish.

Several entertainments will take place next week that promise much enjoyment to the members of the various parishes. Tuesday, April 16, at 4 and 8 p. m., Mr. Frederick H. Decker, of New York, will lecture for the benefit of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, presenting in moving pictures scenes from the Life of Christ and the Pilgrimage to Lourdes. These lectures, interspersed with music, will be given in the school hall, M and South Capitol streets. On Thursday evening a card party and musicale will be given in Masonic Hall, Ninth and F streets northwest, for the benefit of the Church of the Holy Comforter, which promises to surpass even the previous delightful entertainment given by the members of the parish. One hundred handsome prizes will be given.

The Drury Lane Dramatic Club, on that same evening, will give a dramatic and musical entertainment in Carroll Institute Hall, Tenth and I streets northwest, for the benefit of St. Martin's Church. Excellent talent has been secured, and much genuine pleasure is anticipated.

Among the entertainments of the past week that of last evening, in Carroll Institute Hall, in aid of the new Church of Our Lady of Victory, and the card party given Tuesday evening for the benefit of St
