COLD HURTS TRADE

Weather Still Has a Bad Effect on Business.

COTTON PRICES MOVE UP

Crop Damage Stories Reflected in Demand for Many Lines—Steel Industry, Because of Many Advance Orders, Is in Excellent Shape. Bradstreet and Dun Reports.

New York, May 24.—Bradstreet's Review of the state of trade says:

"Crop and trade reports are irregular, but there is a slight improvement visible as a whole, owing to higher temperatures.

"Leading Eastern markets report retail trade lagging, and as a whole the country's distributive trade needs steady warm weather to enable the heavy retail business of the spring of 1906 being equaled.

"Cotton prices have gone higher on crop-damage talk. Collections, like retail trade, are backward as a whole.

"Relatively, the best reports as to retail and wholesale trade come from the Pacific Northwest. In the Central West, Southwest, Northwest, East, and South the volume of retail trade is behind a year ago almost without exception. As to jobbing trade, it is to be noted that reorder business has been also backward, but this week there has been a fair trade in this line East and West.

"The men's clothing trade is rather quiet at retail, and the demand at wholesale for men's wear fabrics is not brisk for near-by deliveries."

Dun's Report.

Dune's report says:

"Further progress was made in the distribution of spring merchandise this week, but the season is still very backward, and much stock will be carried over. Confidence is not generally shaken, although some evidences of caution followed the violent rise in prices of wheat and current rumors of crop disasters.

"Much new business is pending in the iron and steel industry, and a large tonnage was placed during the past week, but the furnaces and mills are sold so far ahead that interest is greatest in specifications on old orders. Business in steel rails include large quantities for Japan and Panama and domestic contracts covering deliveries during the first half of next year.

Cotton Goods Firmer.

"In the textile industries the event of most interest during the week was the increased firmness in cotton goods.

"Prices are steady, but there is much talk of contemplated changes on account of labor scarcity and high wages.

"Improvement is noted in woolen goods, yet buyers of men's wear are conservative, restricting operations to certain lines that are always popular.

"A few varieties of footwear are 2 1-2 cents cheaper, but most good grades are firmly held, and New England factories are well supplied with orders for the better classes of goods. While leather is not especially active, there is a good movement of sole, but side upper has declined still further. Hides of late salting are firm.

"Commercial failures this week in the United States are 191, against 203 last week. Failures in Canada number 17, against 26 last week."

COTTON MARKET.

Quotations furnished by Dick Bros. & Co., members of the New York and New Orleans Cotton exchanges, 1412 H street northwest.

New York, May 24.—Liverpool sent advanced prices this morning on bad weather reports, which caused short covering. Our market responded, opening 9 to 12 points advance. The buying continued, causing a further advance of 12 points. Long cotton came out for profit, causing a decline of 10 to 12 points, when the market rallied steadily, and was less active. Reports from the South continue bad, and spots were strong, but with this there has been lots of selling, many being satisfied with fair profits. We advise the buying of cotton on all weak spots, and at the same time not overlook fair profits.
