HOMEOPATHS VIEW EXHIBIT OF RADIUM

Tiny Speck of Precious Substance Interests Doctors.

THREE SPECIMENS ON VIEW

Minute Particle Powerful Enough to Cure Cancer and Strong Enough to Photograph Through a Foot of Granite Main Feature at Meeting of Washington Medical Society.

A tiny speck of radium, powerful enough to cure any disease of an ulcerous nature, and of sufficient strength to photograph an object through twelve inches of granite, was the main attraction at the meeting of the Washington Homeopathic Medical Society at the Shoreham last night.

For the first time in public, Dr. A. K. P. Harvey demonstrated the possibilities of the expensive mineral, and in a brief address imparted to the society the benefits that are to be derived from the application of radium.

According to the scientist, the substance exhibited is the only quantity owned in Washington, and will retain its bulk for a billion years. Weighing twelve milligrams, and valued at $1,200, the specimen was examined with great care by the audience.

As the speaker told of the wonderful properties of the product and cited the results obtained from its use, the members of the society listened with an interest that approached a degree of mystery.

Exhibits Three Specimens.

The first specimen shown by the doctor is known as German product, and is the bromide of radium, having a radio activity equal to 1,800,000. A smaller quantity of French manufacture, handled under different circumstances, and equal to 500,000 radio activity, was shown, in addition to two milligrams of the same product exhibited and preserved in such a manner as to throw off three distinct rays, known as alpha, beta, and gamme rays.

The mineral, owing to its property to emit light and heat, was examined under circumstances that prevented the enthusiastic auditors from being burned while handling the aluminum and glass tubes that contained the substance.

After he had demonstrated the physical and chemical properties of the substance, Dr. Harvey began his address. He said, in part:

"Radium was first discovered by a French scientist by the name of Bacarral, who obtained the substance from the residue of uranium mixed with pitch blend. He included radium in his experiments with the Roentgen rays, and obtained what is known as the radium of 500,000 radio activity. While his experiments were being heralded a poor French woman working in the laboratories of Paris started an investigation to find out what caused the radio activity in uranium. Mme. Curie accordingly went to the pitch blend fields of Bohemia, and after spending twelve or fourteen months in precipitating uranium in caustic soda and sulphuric acid, she dissolved about two tons of the thick, muddy blend until she obtained two ounces of radium, made up of a mixture of bismuth, cotton, barium, and mud.

Germany Stops Export.

"She went back to Paris and astonished the scientific world with her discovery, which was further perfected by herself and husband, who collaborated in separating the bismuth from the solution. This product obtained they called radium. Because Germany at this time forbade the exportation of pitch blend and the importation of certain materials necessary to discover radium, Madame Curie was prevented from continuing her experiments. The Germans and especially Dr. Staurmel, are now making what is known as the bromide of radium which has a radio activity equal to 1,800,000."

Dr. Harvey then explained the strength of the rays diffused by the dark brown powder, and told how they were applied to cure cancer or other lupus growths.

He declared he had treated numerous patients in Washington since receiving the radium six months ago, and that his efforts had been attended with success, entirely healing the disease and leaving no scar.

When questioned as to the strength of the twelve milligrams first exhibited by him, Dr. Harvey replied that it was sufficient to discharge a German electrode through his body, and strong enough to photograph a bullet loaded in a three-inch rifle.

Applause had greeted Dr. Harvey's observations, but when, in conclusion, he promised the members of the society that he would gladly loan all or any portion of the sixteen killigrams of radium owned by him, he was forced to pause while the physicians applauded.

"Special methods of anesthesia," was the subject of the essay read by Dr. M. Crichton. He described the anesthetic properties of cocaine as vastly superior to ether or chloroform, and recommended that it be used for medical operations in place of any other narcotic.

His conclusion contained the prediction that cocaine would supercede all other forms of anesthesia within the next ten years.

DR. WOODROW ELECTED.

Names as Vice President of Congregational Publishing Society.

Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow, pastor of the First Congregational Church, of this city, was yesterday elected vice president of the Congregational Publishing Society. The election was held at Boston.

Dr. Woodrow has been a director of the society for the last four years, and has been a frequent contributor to the newspaper circulated by the society. The proceeds of the society are devoted to the mission branch of the Congregational church.

Placed on Waterway Committee.

Acting upon authority given by the Baltimore convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, President J. Hampton Moore yesterday announced the appointment of Representatives Ernest F. Roberts, of Massachusetts; William W. Cocks, of New York; William H. Wiley, of New Jersey, and Henry L. Maynard, of Virginia, as additional members of the special subcommittee of Congressmen to confer with the President and other authorities with regard to the promotion of the Atlantic deeper waterways project. The original members of the committee are Capron, of Rhode Island; Goulden, of New York; Wagner, of Pennsylvania; Burton, of Delaware, and Small, of North Carolina. The committee will be called for consultation as soon as the tariff bill passes the House.

OLD BREAD LAW IS INVALID

District Court of Appeals Finds in Favor of Bakers.

Commissioners Declare They Will Ask Congress to Regulate Size of Loaves.

By a decision of the District Court of Appeals, in an opinion given yesterday by Chief Justice Shepard, the suit of the District authorities to establish the validity of the old bread law is decided in favor of the bakers. It is held that there is no bread law in the District at present, and that bakers may make loaves of any size.

Last summer the bakers, having received offers to make bread of a different weight from that required by the old regulation, decided to make a test case, and retained Attorney Alexander H. Bell to appear for them. George Hauf notified the authorities that on a certain day he would bake bread weighing only fifteen ounces to the loaf, instead of from sixteen to eighteen ounces.

His bread was seized, and his case brought up in Police Court, where Mr. Bell moved to quash the information filed against him. Judge Kimball ordered the information quashed, and the District sued out a writ of error to the District Court of Appeals.

That tribunal, by yesterday's opinion of Chief Justice Shepard, holds that the old bread regulation requiring loaves of not less than sixteen, nor more than eighteen ounces weight, enacted by the old corporation of Washington, did not become a law of the District of Columbia, when the corporations of Washington and Georgetown and the old Levy Court for the county were merged into the District of Columbia, in 1871. These old governing bodies had separate and different bread regulations.

Commissioners Macfarland and West, on being informed of the action of the Court of Appeals, said Congress would be asked by the Commissioners for a new bread law.

"The District of Columbia must not be left without a bread law," said Commissioner Macfarland yesterday. "The Commissioners have been preparing to present a bill to Congress framed on modern lines; whatever might be decided about the old law. It was antiquated, and the new law must fit all modern conditions. I have asked the sealer of weights and measures, to prepare his views."

WILL USE NEW MASS CARDS.

Set by Miss Mary Turner for St. Patrick's Church.

At St. Patrick's Church next Sunday a new set of mass cards will be used, the work of Miss Marie Turner, an artist of Baltimore. They are in illuminated text, on Italian vellum, brought from Rome by Father O'Donovan when he returned with the cardinal last summer, and are similar in design to the memorial text from the sodality of the cathedral, which was recently presented to Dr. Russell. The designs are of the Franco-Flemish school, and the initials in the text were raised before the gold leaf was applied. The whole text is by hand, the border designs of scroll and arabesque, being exceedingly beautiful.

Miss Turner studied under celebrated foreign masters and is probably the only expert in that line in this country. She has held exhibitions in New York and other large cities, her work attracting great attention at the Art and Crafts Exhibition last week at the Maryland Institute, Baltimore. Miss Turner was in the city yesterday superintending arrangements for an exhibition of her work which will include the mass cards and memorial to Dr. Russell.

LIBELED INNOCENT CONCERN

District Attorney Baker Admits Serious Mistake Was Made.

Pompeian Virgin Olive Oil, Manufactured in Washington, Suffers Injustice by Action.

United States Attorney Baker issued a statement yesterday that a mistake had been made in instituting proceedings against "Pompeian Virgin Olive Oil," manufactured by S. A. Gatti and Nathan Musher, partners in the Pompeian Company, 702 Fifth street northwest, under the labeling clause of the pure food drug act.

On his motion, Justice Anderson ordered that "Carmel Salad Oil" be substituted for "Virgin Olive Oil" in the government's action libeling the goods.

Mr. Musher, representing the company, called on Mr. Baker yesterday. He told him the firm had been greatly harmed by an error in the wording of the complaint of the government experts. He declared the bottles of "Carmel Salad Oil," a properly-labeled compound, had been placed in certain boxes formerly used for Virgin Oil. These boxes, he said, bore the label of the Virgin oil, with a paper label pasted over it marked "Carmel Salad Oil." He contended that if the government had any right of action, it was against the latter product. The hearing on the case, with the altered title, will be held on April 2.

United States Attorney Baker's statement is as follows:

No complaint has been made by the Department of Agriculture against the "Pompeian Virgin Olive Oil," which so far as the District Attorney's office is informed, complies in every particular with the pure food law, not only with respect to the quality of oil, but also with regard to the labels upon the bottles and cases.

The contention made by the department respects only the boxes or cases in which is packed a certain salad dressing manufactured by the same company. This dressing is known to the trade and designated as "Carmel Salad Oil." It consists of a compound and is so designated on the labels pasted on the individual bottles. The quality of this oil is not objected to by the pure food experts, but it is claimed that the wooden boxes or cases in which the salad oil was packed did not comply fully with the law.

In the meantime, in order to avoid misunderstanding on the part of the public, the District Attorney's office has consented to a change in the title of the pending case, in order that it may be understood that the case does not involve in any manner the Pompeian Virgin Olive Oil.

HAYES GOES TO PRISON.

Former Teller Starts for Fort Leavenworth with Others.

Thomas G. Hayes left the city yesterday with a group of other prisoners for the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, to serve a term of five years for embezzlement and misapplication of the funds of the American National Bank, of which he was formerly receiving teller.

In the party were Robert McCullic, a full-blooded Assiniboine Indian, sentenced to twenty years for second degree murder; Eldridge A. Brady, sentenced to twenty-two years for second degree murder; and three colored women on their way to the Kansas State prison, at Lansing, Kans. They were Margaret Smallwood, sentenced to ten years for manslaughter; Bessie Gorham, two years for grand larceny, and Mary Simms, two years and six months, for larceny.

NEW CAR CASE UP TO-DAY.

Commission to Consider Complaints Against Pay-as-you-enter Type.

When the District electric railway commission meets this afternoon special attention will be devoted to the numerous complaints that have been received regarding the "pay-as-you-enter" cars.

Every detail of the new style car has been criticised, and many of the writers have scored the proposal to place the cars on other lines in the city. Secretary Eddy has made a study of the system, and his report on the new trams will be formally considered.

Exhibit of Easter Flowers.
You're invited to view the beautiful flowers and plants at Gude's, 1214 F.

Labor Contempt Cases Set.

Chief Justice Shepard, of the District Court of Appeals, yesterday set April 19 for the arguments on the appeal taken from the decision of Justice Wright, in which he found Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, and Frank Morrison, guilty of contempt of court for alleged violation of the injunction of Justice Gould, granted on the petition of the Bucks Stove and Range Company, of St. Louis.

Adrianns Restored to Practice.

After a term of disbarment lasting nearly nine years, John H. Adriaans, a local attorney, was restored to practice before the District Court of Appeals yesterday. On October 2, 1900, Mr. Adriaans was disbarred following attacks made in 1899, against his right to practice before the appellate court, on account of charges made by him against Henry E. Davis, then United States District Attorney.

Now Is the Time Easter Flowers Should be ordered. Shaffer, 14th and Eye.

Children at White House.

Fifty pupils of the Ellenville High School of Middletown, N. Y., were presented to President Taft at the White House yesterday afternoon by Representative William S. Bennet, of New York. The pupils are visiting the Capital to see all the sights. The trip was planned last fall during the campaign in which all the pupils took an active interest as supporters of the Republican candidate. They will remain here a week.

Wife of Pastor Seriously Ill.

Mrs. W. H. Ballingee, wife of the pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church South, is seriously ill at the Episcopal Hospital. Her recovery is a matter of grave doubt.

EXTOLS WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

Miss Arnold Gives Lecture on Conditions in Europe.

It is evident that the adherents of woman's suffrage do not look with favor on this year's evolution of last year's Merry Widow hat. Not one of the young women who attended Miss Arnold's lecture on suffrage at the New Willard, yesterday afternoon, wore a Merry Widow construction.

The lecture of Miss Ethel A. Arnold, of England, on "The Progress of Women in Europe" attracted a fair-sized audience. The affair was given under the auspices of the Bryn Mawr Club, of Washington, and the Collegiate Equal Suffrage League of the District of Columbia. The proceeds of the lecture are intended for the alumnae endowment fund of Bryn Mawr College. The alumnae have undertaken to raise a fund of $1,000,000 to be added to the permanent endowment to be used exclusively for the salaries of the faculty.

Miss Arnold reviewed the history of the suffrage movement, and gave an interesting description of the deplorable state of the women in Germany. She said the German hausfrau was so thoroughly bound by caste prejudices, and so related to the drudgeries of the household, it was the more encouraging and surprising that the movement in Germany was making splendid headway. The woman of France, said the lecturer, has always been safe and secure.

The women of Italy and particularly Rome, received the highest tribute at the hands of the speaker. She said they are "not such unwholesome dreams as our women in England." The movement in Sweden and Norway is strong and growing, and the same may be said with regard to the women in Turkey.

The audience consisted of 285 women and three men, one a newspaper reporter.

DR. STEEL TO LECTURE HERE.

Will Give Famous Talk on "Home Life in Dixie During the War."

Dr. Sam A. Steel, "The Man From Dixie," one of the foremost orators of the Southland, will deliver his popular lecture, "Home life in Dixie during the war," at Mount Vernon Place Church, Ninth and K streets northwest, on Wednesday evening, April 14. Eleven years ago Dr. Steel delivered this same lecture here to a crowded house, and those who heard him then are the most eager to hear him again.

Dr. Steel is a native of Mississippi. His early life was spent amid the turbulent scenes of the civil war, which he so vividly describes in his lecture. He has lectured in all the leading cities of the United States, and has few superiors, either in the pulpit or on the platform. His lectures are brimful of humor, color, life, and power.

ARCANUMITES IN BANQUET.

Dinner in Cafe Follows Installation of the Officers.

Installation exercises of the officers of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum of the District of Columbia, who were elected on Monday evening, were held at the Scottish Rite Temple last evening with A. T. Lincoln, deputy supreme regent, of Marion, Va., as installing officer.

At this meeting resolutions were adopted expressing regret at the illness of John D. Biddis, past Grand Regent of this jurisdiction, and also showing the appreciation of the appointment by Supreme Regent Van Sands, of Past Grand Regent A. T. Lincoln, as Deputy Supreme Regent for the Grand Council session.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members adjourned to Wilson's cafe, where a banquet was served. Addresses were made by A. T. Lincoln and George S. Britt, the newly elected Grand Regent. The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of C. J. James and I. S. Childs.

Crusade Against the Fly.

"The fly must go," is the determination of the health department, and with the aid of the citizens, it hopes to accomplish its purpose. Letters are pouring in upon Health Officer Woodward, assuring him the right measures of extermination will be taken in hundreds of homes. The spread of disease through the insect is fully recognized, and the education of the public has been brought to the point where co-operation may be depended upon.
