PRUNES BY CARLOAD BY PARCELS POST

Boarding Housekeepers Rejoice While Express Companies Reduce Their Rates.

Now is the time of cheer and rejoicing in the ranks of boarding-housekeepers. The time-honored prune again is to come into its own. This hardy fruit, that has greeted so many generations of helpless boarders at the breakfast table, once more flaunts its banner high, after a temporary decline, owing to high freight rates.

Also, the first gun in the battle of the express companies against the parcel post has been fired. Prunes are the medium chosen with which to wage the initial fight.

Some few weeks ago a prune grower of San Diego, Cal., smarting under the heavy freight rate on the fruit which has caused countless thousand of boarding-house residents to mourn and marry, advised First Assistant Postmaster General Grandfield that he intended to ship two carloads of prunes by parcel post. He proposed to ship the fruit in eight-pound boxes. The rate would be 96 cents a box.

The express company which has had a monopoly in hauling shipments of prunes from California heard of the letter. Yesterday it reduced its rate on prunes to 25 cents.

This action leads the postal officials to believe that the express companies ultimately will cut underneath all parcel post rates.

On the other hand, they pointed out, the action of the San Diego man undoubtedly will lead many other shippers, who have been smarting under exhortionate express rates on their produce, to ship by parcel post. If such means are resorted to not far in the future will be seen long trains of freight cars, under the government seal, hauling heavy freight consignments to all parts of the country.

Hard Blow at Rates.

The postal officials are pleased that the parcel post is striking even a harder blow at the express monopoly than was anticipated. That prices will be reduced to rock bottom by both the express companies and railroads is practically certain. Farmers will be able to ship their produce, packed in small crates or boxes, it is true, but nevertheless promptly, by government post at rates lower than the express companies have offered during a number of years. Car shortages will become a thing of the past, so far as the shipper of perishable foodstuffs is concerned, this last club in the hand of the railways being eliminated by the government, which will not suffer produce in its cars to become ruined through the policy of railroads in withdrawing cars.

Meanwhile prunes are vindicated. And boarding-house keepers smile, and say: "Good morning, Mr. Smith. Will you have prunes?"

PARTIAL PAYMENTS FOR PENSIONERS

Diartict Fire and Police Funds Large Enough for December Distribution.

Chances are good that the District begins its new year by being able only to make partial payments to pensioners of the police and fire departments, according to estimates of the auditor's office unless Congress brings back enough Christmas spirit to pass some measure providing for the police and firemen's relief fund.

Owing to a recent increase in Police Court fines, it is believed that payment in full will be made for the month of December. In January, however, it will become necessary to resort to a pro rata reduction of the pension envelopes, and many of the pensioners, who are almost destitute without their government stipends, can suffer the consequences of the failure by Congress to put the relief fund upon a fixed, sensible basis.

At the end of the fiscal year 1912 the District owed its pensioners almost $25,000, besides $15,000 carried over from the year before, making a total indebtedness of $35,000.

A bill now pending before Congress provides that pensions be paid from District revenues, which would insure full and regular payments.

THE SPECIAL PIANO AWARD PRODUCING BUSY BALLOTING

The offer of a $750 Conover Baby Grand piano, to the contest worker turning in the most votes between December 23, 1912, and January 15, 1913, is giving renewed impetus to the efforts of contestants and their supporters.

The Advocate has made extensive preparations for handling the deluge of votes which will start to pour in after December 28.

You do not need to be a contestant to compete for this remarkable special award. Any one is eligible. The only conditions are that votes must be cast for some contestant and must be turned in not later than 9 p. m. January 15, 1913. If you are not familiar with the Conover Baby Grand call at The Advocate's headquarters, 714 G Street Northwest, and examine it. The Advocate purchased this superb instrument from Percy Foster, the piano emcerhant, 1330 G Street Northwest, and invites all contest workers to see and hear it.

The Conover Baby Grand is noted as one of the world's finest small pianos. It has a richly figured mahogany case and is unsurpassed in finish, tone, and construction.

With a special award of such high value, the next few weeks are destined to be the busiest of the whole contest.
