MAJ. GEN. WOOD FAVORS CANTEEN

Chief of Staff in Report to the Secretary of War Urges Larger Army.

PRAISES SIGNAL CORPS

Urges Passage of Militia Pay Bill and Garrison for Panama and Hawaii.

Making a plea for an army strong enough to "give a good account of itself in time of war," the abolishment of the seven-year enlistment term, and the re-establishment of the canteen, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff of the Army, yesterday submitted his report to the Secretary of War.

The chief officer of the army showed how the United States is eighth in comparative strength of its standing army, being topped by Russia, Germany, France, Austria, Italy, Japan, and Great Britain, in the order named. The war strength of our army, according to his report, is only 61,581, as against Great Britain's 428,698, not to mention Russia, which is capable of mustering 6,479,287, or more than 100 times as many as we can.

To offset this great advantage held by the European powers, Gen. Wood advocates a return to the old short enlistment term, an increase in the pay of the enlisted men, and additional appropriations for the maintenance of the army. The re-establishment of the canteen, he also considers, would be of great benefit to the army and an additional incentive to men to enlist.

Praises Signal Corps.

Gen. Wood reviewed "with pride" the work of the Signal Corps of the army during the past year, and paid especial tribute to the Aeronautical Corps, which is "doing such excellent work." He also appealed for additional appropriations for this branch of the service, and asked for its extension as far as possible.

Gen. Wood urges the passage by Congress of what is known as the military pay bill, by which the Federal government contributes to the payment of members of the organized militia of the States upon condition that a certain degree of efficiency is attained and the United States has the use of the militia forces in time of war or in other emergency. Gen. Wood states that it would be a most extravagant policy to continue to build up this militia force, which now costs the Federal government $5,000,000 a year, if the United States government is not able to use these troops in time of emergency. Added compensation for militiamen is necessary, Gen. Wood adds, if the interest of these men in the National Guard is to be sustained.

With the approach of the opening of the Panama Canal, Gen. Wood regards it as highly important that the garrisons for Hawaii and the Canal Zone be brought to their proper strength. This will be impossible, he declares, unless Congress will appropriate funds necessary for the construction of barracks to house the troops.

EXAMINE WATERSHED.

Prof. W. T. Sedgwick, an Expert, Starts Work with Officials.

Examination of the Potomac River watershed began yesterday, following the arrival in the city of Prof. William T. Sedgwick, of the Massachusetts School of Technology, and also a member of the advisory board of the Hygienic Laboratory of the Public Health Service. Following a conference with Surg. Gen. Blue, of the Public Health Service, Dr. Sedgwick and a party of officials of the Public Health Service, the States of Maryland and Virginia, and the District departed for a preliminary survey of the river.

The inquiry will be conducted under the general supervision of Surg. Gen. Blue. Dr. Sedgwick having been retained by the government as expert in charge, following the decision of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Sherman Allen to take up the work.
