Even Break for Nationals In Chicago--Jim Shaw Allows Four Hits

GRIFFMEN WIN AND LOSE WITH CHICAGO SOX

Jim Shaw Wild, but Effective in Second Game, Allowing but Four Safe Hits.

FOSTER HITS TIMELY

Midget Third Sacker Triples with Two on Bases—Scores Are 4 to 3 and 3 to 1.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Before one of the largest Saturday crowds of the season the Nationals split a twin bill with the White Sox fifty-fifty here this afternoon. Shaw's superb pitching in the pinches enabled Griff's men to win the second battle, 3 to 1. The Sox took the first game, 4 to 3. The Griffmen crushed the Sox in the second encounter by a rally that sent Reb Russell to the cleaners in the third inning. Acosta started the trouble for Russell with a pass. Moeller beat out a hit to Weaver, and the little Cuban rested at second. Eddie Foster came up in the pinch and tripled to deep right, scoring Acosta and Moeller. Foster scored on Gandil's single to center. Wolfgang replaced Russell in the fourth inning and pitched effective ball. Blackburne scored when Shanks threw wild to catch Collins at third.

Shaw was in a deep hole when he passed two men in the fifth, filling the bases, but Demmitt grounded out, retiring the side. Shaw had the Sox buffaloed in the pinches. He fanned nine of the pallid-hose. Shaw was wild, giving eight passes, but Manager Griffith wisely kept him on the mound.

Cal's men made only four hits off Shaw's twirling. Wolfgang, who replaced Russell, was a puzzle to the Griffmen who made only two hits off his curve mixing in six innings.

THE FIRST GAME.

The Nationals lost the first game in the sixth inning, when a single, two doubles, a pass, and Foster's fumble netted the Sox three runs. With the Nationals ahead, 3 to 1, and two out in the sixth, Fournier singled to right, Mayer drew a pass, and Demmitt, who had made two safeties already, doubled to right center and Fournier went home. Cecil Coombs, a Sox rookie from the Southern Michigan League, drove the ball over Acosta's head for a double, scoring Mayer and Demmitt with the tying and winning runs. Harper replaced Engel in the seventh and held the Sox runless the remainder of the game.

The Nationals came within an ace of tying the score in the ninth. It took a perfect throw b Collins to save the game for Cal's men.

Henry singled to right center with one out. Smith, batting for Harper, was passed. Moeller flied out, and then Foster poked a single to right, Henry racing for the plate. Collins fielded the ball cleanly and made a perfect peg home, ending the game.

Washington made the first run on Morgan's triple and McBride's single in the second inning. The Sox tied the count in their half when Demmitt singled, stole second, and scored when Breton dropped a hit in right.

Henry worked Scott for a pass in the fifth inning, advanced on Engle's sacrifice, and scored on Moeller's line single to right center.

The third run of the Nationals was scored on a freak play that caused a near riot. Acosta beat out a hit to start the rumpus, and Gandil sacrificed. Shanks was safe on Weaver's fumble, Acosta advancing to third. Morgan then hit to Breton and Acosta was run down. Morgan ran off first and Shanks off second. In the melee Mayer finally threw wild, Shanks scoring. Morgan, after an argument in which about eighteen players, two managers, Kid Gleason, Demmitt and two umpires took part was sent back to third. The Nationals' third rally ended when McBride grounded out.

NOTES OF FIRST GAME.

Blackburne's drive in the opening inning nearly knocked Foster down, but he held the ball for a putout.

Shanks ran back into deep center and made a one-handed catch of Blackburne's drive in the third inning.

Umpire Chill had trouble with the crowd as three close decisions went against the Sox in this game.

Acosta could have gone to third on a wide throw to second in the sixth inning, but he fell down and went back.

Collins' throw to the plate was the greatest fielding play and saved the game.

It was one of the warmest days of the season at Comiskey Park. Benz replaced Smith in the seventh because Scotty was nearly overcome by the heat.

Foster was the batting star of the Nationals, getting three blows.

BIG CUP YACHT RACE POSTPONED ONE MONTH

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, Aug. 8.—The America's Cup races will be postponed for at least a month on account of the war. The Royal Ulster Yacht Club, it is understood, has cabled the New York Yacht Club in reply to a message from the latter, expressing regret that Great Britain was at war and asking what the Ulster Yacht Club had to suggest under the circumstances. The Ulster Yacht Club will ask for a postponement until October 10, and if the war is still in progress at that time the races be held next year.

Steps are being taken to insure the safe arrival of the Shamrock IV.

New York Captures Hard-fought Game from Mound City Team, 3 to 2.

HURLER SALLEE IN FORM

Outpitches Rube Marquard, but Errors of Team Mates Pave Way for Manhattans' Victory.

New York, Aug. 8.—Scoring was confined to the first and last innings in today's game between the Giants and the Cardinals, the latter making three runs in the first and the Giants two in the last. Marquard faced the formidable Sallee who outlasted the Giant pitcher one inning. Three singles and Miller's double brought in St. Louis three runs in the first. In the ninth Burns tripled, Snodgrass doubled, scoring Burns. Fletcher singled and Snodgrass went to third. Merkle forced out Fletcher, Snodgrass scoring. Score:

STADIUM FOR CORNELL.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Cornell's athletic field east of the campus, the goal of the alumni field committee for the last ten years, will be completed so that football may be played there in 1915. This definite assurance was announced yesterday when a contract for the erection of a stadium to seat 9,000 persons and also an inclosure for the field was awarded and work begun at once.

The football field is to be known as the Schoellkopf Field, in memory of Jacob Schoellkopf, the head of that family in America, a number of descendants of whom have graduated from Cornell. The Schoellkopf family gave $70,000 with which the stadium project was undertaken. One of the members of the Schoellkopf family, Henry, who was graduated in 1902, was a famous football player. After his sudden death a group of his Cornell alumni friends gave $100,000 for the construction of the clubhouse which is now nearing completion.

HERE'S TO HANS WAGNER.

Your hair is gray, your legs are bent,
Your're forty-two or so,
But when you speed 'er up a bit,
Oh, lordy, how you go.

They say your orbs are growing dim,
No longer can you hit,
Yet, when you amble to the plate,
The pitchers have a fit.

You aren't a poem of motion,
As 'round the field you flit,
But drives within a mile of you,
Somehow do reach your mitt.

For eleven years and longer
They've tried to count you out;
In all those years you've stood 'em off
And put them all to rout.

But some day you must hit the trail
That takes you on and down,
But when you do, you'll fade from view
Bedecked with fandom's crown.

Hey! Baseball Fans--It's all Over but the Shouting
Athletics Already Counting World's Series Coin

Mackmen Now Nine Full Games Ahead of Griffmen and Claim to Have Pennant Cinched.

According to reports from the West, where Connie Mack's Athletics have been going like a house afire, the American League pennant race is all over.

Mack himself has not yet decided whether it will be Plank or Bender for the opening game of the world's series this fall against the champions of the National League.

On the present Western trip the Mackmen have gradually widened the gap, outstripping both the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals in the dash for the flag.

The standing of the clubs this morning shows that Philadelphia is nine games ahead of the Griffmen and one less above Boston.

The real fight will come next week and thereafter, when Boston, Washington and Philadelphia clash. If the Nationals and Red Sox are able to trample under foot the White Elephants, the race promises to be the closest in recent years.

Can the Nationals and Boston cut down this overwhelming lead held at present by the arch enemy of both these clubs. Time alone will tell.

While in Cleveland Friday Connie Mack was interviewed by Henry P. Edwards, of the Plain Dealer, and made the following statement:

"Of course, the silent manager of the Athletics says that the race is far from being run and that his team has not begun to count their post-season chickens, alleging that Boston and Washington look dangerous but in the same breath he ventures this statement:

"Yes, I know that we have a nice lead now, a lead that we may be able to hold if we are going good, and, say, we are going fine just now. Of course, I don't know how long we can maintain the present gait, but I have not a cripple in the squad and I am not looking for any immediate slump. Our pitching staff looks pretty good to me, for, of course, I appreciate the charge we have no pitchers. At least that is what they tell me and I have such a confiding nature that I always believe everything I hear. Do you know, I can scarcely understand it—how my team can gain such a lead without any pitchers."

That Connie thinks he has one of the best pitching outfits in the country is demonstrated by the fact that he let Boston have Bernie Shore at a time when he had first call on the Baltimore team.

"I could have had Shore," admitted Connie at the Colonial Hotel yesterday. "I knew he was going to make a great pitcher, but that it would cost a lot of money to get him from Baltimore and I felt we could not afford to pay the price for him when we already had a pretty good bunch of young pitchers. You see, I have Bush, Shawkey, Wyckoff, Pennock, and Bressler. Each one is a young man and going pretty good, too. So I could not see that I absolutely had to have Shore."

BROOKLYN DODGERS POUND JIM VAUGHN

Chicago Hammers Big Hurler, While Pfeffer Pitches Air-tight Ball and Cubs Win, 6 to 1.

Brooklyn, Aug. 8.—The Dodgers batted Vaughn heavily at the beginning of today's game with Chicago, getting a big lead which Chicago was unable to overcome due to Pfeffer's fine pitching. Brooklyn thus won the first game of the series, 6 to 1. Not until the sixth inning were the Cubs able to locate Pfeffer when Tommy Leach's single and two more hits gave the Cubs their only run. RACES AT MANHASSET BAY.

The national motorboat carnival for 1914 will be held at Manhasset Bay, Port Washington, Long Island, beginning Wednesday, August 26, and ending Saturday, August 29. The carnival will this year be held under the joint auspices of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club, Port Washington, Y. C., Knickerbocker, Y. C., Port Washington Board of Trade, and the Port Washington Business Men's Association, acting in conjunction with the representatives of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, whose perpetual trophies are to be contested for.

Griff's Lieutenant Ryan Handy Man to Have

Veteran Catcher One of the Most Valuable Assets of Washington Ball Club.

Since the 1914 season started every member of the Washington club has been slipped on different occasions all sorts of bouquets in the shape of complimentary newspaper notices, but from the time he had charge of the first squad of recruits in Charlottesville last March, little has been written of Jack Ryan, the veteran catcher, who is one of Griff's advisers and a member of the so-called board of strategy.

Ryan is at present with the club in the West. The former National Leaguer dons the spangles every day, works outs with the young pitchers in practice, and as a rule has the last word to say about who shall do the pitching.

There is little about the national pastime Ryan does not know. He has served as player, manager, scout and college coach, and Griff is lucky in obtaining such a capable lieutenant.

No young ball player is ever allowed to go to the minors by the Old Fox until Ryan is consulted, the same is usually true in selecting pitchers to work against rival teams.

Jack Ryan has decided to make Washington his home. He formerly lived and voted in Jersey City, N. J., but the National Capital appeals to him as the ideal city, and as long as Griffith is at the head of the local ball club Ryan will continue to be his right-hand man.

For the past two seasons Ryan has spent a month or more in the spring coaching the University of Virginia baseball nine. His efforts have been attended by unusual success.

Ryan was responsible for the signing of Douglas Neff, the Virginia infielder, who has missed a chance to make a name for himself during the past two weeks, because he happened to be laid up with illness.

JACK RYAN

Ryan has done more or less scouting for the Nationals, his judgment of baseball talent being par excellence. He was one of the first to see the future possibilities of Doc Ayers, and with Nick Altrock has done a lot toward developing Pitchers Joe Boehling, Jim Shaw, and Joe Engel. Ryan is popular with the players, and around the American League circuit his friends are legion.
