HE-NO HE-NO HE-NO HE-NO HE-NO

HE-NO Bishop Marvin wrote from China, "You can get no respectable China-man to drink Tea after it has been prepared for the American market. United States—The Department of Agriculture at Washington, in a special tea report, says: "The Chinamen never drink the dyed teas themselves; they are made for the foreign market." Appleton's Cyclopedia, Vol. 15, page 603, says: "Teas are subject to various adulterations, including the colouring, to improve the looks of inferior kinds. The materials used are Prussian blue, gypsum and indigo." Martin Gillet & Co., recognizing the truth of the above abuses, offer to the consumer, through the grocers, a Tea similar to the one drank in China; it is called HE-NO, and is without the expensive coloring, polishing and fancy twisting, usually put on teas shipped to the American market; it is simply Tea in its natural condition, and is the kind the Chinese drink themselves. HE-NO Tea is sold only in the original metal lined packages, 1 pound, ½ pound and ¼ pound sizes. It is never sold in bulk like other teas.

NOT SECRETARY CHANDLER'S CIGARS.—A few days ago a bill for a large lot of cigars bought in New York was sent to Secretary Wm. E. Chandler, of the navy, instead of to Mr. Wm. E. Chandlee, the tobacco dealer at the Ebbitt, who had made the purchase. As Secretary Chandler did not get the cigars he returned the bill, and it finally reached Mr. Chandlee, who paid it.

CONVERTED CHINESE WOMEN NOT ALLOWED TO LAND AT SAN FRANCISCO.—The Treasury department has just decided an interesting question arising from the Chinese restriction act. The Presbyterian board of foreign missions shipped at Canton two converted Chinese women, with the object of installing them as teachers in the home mission at San Francisco. Upon their arrival it was found that they were not provided with the required certificate, and the department was applied to for instructions. The collector of customs has been notified not to permit them to land, and to see that they are returned to China. The case is regarded as one of great hardship.

Thomas, of New York, for raising the wreck of the British frigate Hussar, which sunk in the harbor of New York in 1780, be annulled, and that a new contract to raise the vessel be made with Messrs. Bean & Hartwell, of Providence, R.I., on the same terms. It is represented that the frigate contained about $5,000,000 in English money when she sank. By the terms of the contract the government is to receive all the relics and ten per cent of all the money which may be recovered.

Hazing at Annapolis.

WAS IT THE CAUSE OF THE DEATH OF CADET STRANG?

Notwithstanding the denial of the Naval academy authorities that the strangulated hernia which caused the recent death of Naval Cadet Strang was the result of hazing, there is a firm belief in certain quarters here, based on information from Annapolis, that such was the case. It has been said that between the time of the young man's admission to the academy in a physically sound condition and his reporting his injury to the surgeon in charge but twelve hours elapsed. The surgeon who performed the operation, it is understood, attributed young Strang's injury to a strain in climbing into his hammock on board the Santee, and were of the opinion that this strain was further aggravated by over exertion at the artillery drill. It is generally understood, however, that Strang was hazed, and it is claimed that being packed in a barrel and rolled about and other hazing amusements would be more apt to cause hernia than his climbing into a hammock.

Adjutant General Drum's Report.

THE EFFICIENCY OF THE STATE MILITIA—RECOMMENDATIONS CONCERNING SOLDIERS IN THE REGULAR ARMY—PRESERVATION OF WAR RECORDS, ETC.

Adjutant General Drum, in his annual report to the Secretary of War, states that the reports of officers detailed to inspect the various militia encampments are generally favorable as to the condition of the militia of the several states, and evidence great zeal on the part of the officers. He speaks of the importance of well organized and intelligent militia, and endorses the bill presented by Gen. Slocum at the last session of Congress as a measure calculated to further develop and improve the efficiency of the militia. He says that the action of Congress in increasing the number of officers that can be detailed for the duty of giving military instruction at military colleges has proved of great benefit. He recommends legislation by Congress authorizing the retirement of enlisted men after thirty-five years of service with 75 per centum of pay and allowances at the time of retirement. In regard to the term of service he says that the reduction of the first term from five to three years will materially decrease the number of desertions. The change from the semi-annual to a bi-monthly settlement of clothing overdrawn by the soldier is regarded as a measure beneficial to the government and the army, and he also recommends that the apprehension of deserters be made by law one of the duties of United States marshals and their deputies. The progress made at the military prison at Fort Leavenworth has been most satisfactory. The number of prisoners discharged during the year was 385, and the number remaining in prison June 30, 1884, was 523. The number of persons committed to the government hospital for the insane under the orders of the Secretary of War, from October 1st, 1883, to October 1st, 1884, was 72, of which number four were officers of the army. He calls attention to the fact that many thousands of the most valuable records of the rebellion are rapidly falling into decay, and urges that the attention of Congress be called to the matter with a view to providing a suitable force for placing these records beyond irretrievable loss in the near future.

The Illness of James Wormley.

CAREER OF A REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL COLORED MAN.

A dispatch received at Wormley's hotel this morning states that the condition of Mr. James Wormley, the proprietor, who is lying dangerously ill in Boston, remains unchanged. His friends are somewhat more hopeful, but the physician says he has about one chance in a thousand for life. A great many inquiries were made at the hotel today by Mr. Corcoran and other prominent gentlemen, who have known Mr. Wormley during the many years he has been in the hotel business in this city.

Mr. Wormley is one of the most remarkably successful colored men and one of the most widely known stewards and hotel proprietors in the country. He was born in this city sixty-four years ago. His parents came here from Virginia in 1814, and Wormley, senior, kept a livery stable near Willard's hotel. The mother of James Wormley could scarcely be told from a white person. His father was quite dark, but had straight hair, and the children for many years looked upon themselves as possessing Indian, not negro blood. Before coming to this city the elder Mr. and Mrs. Wormley lived with a wealthy Virginia family, but were never slaves. James Wormley's first occupation was driving a carriage for his father. In this capacity he made the acquaintance of many public men, and thus became selected to take charge of a popular club house, which was then opened on G street, near the War department. He became quite famous as a steward; was afterwards steward on a Mississippi steamboat, and finally opened what is now Wormley's hotel. When Reverdy Johnson went to England on a special mission he took Mr. Wormley with him as his steward, but the latter soon returned and resumed personal charge of his hotel here, which he has made popular throughout the country.

The Democratic Campaign Committee Busy.

150,000 DOCUMENTS GOING OUT TO-DAY—FREE SUGAR.

Wats n Boyle, the assistant secretary of the democratic campaign committee, who has been detailed to assist Mr. Gorman in New York, arrived in the city this morning with orders for the committee here to distribute all the documents in their possession. In compliance with this order about 150,000 documents will be circulated to-day. Mr. Boyle says the democratic national committee are enthusiastically confident. They have no doubt of their ability to carry New York.

The democratic campaign committee is preparing a document to circulate among the sugar planters of Louisiana, in which they quote from the records of Congress to show that both Blaine and Logan voted in Congress for free sugar, as did most of the republican leaders.
