President Wilson's clear-cut declaration on May 15, in addressing a delegation of trade unionists, has been a powerful factor in checking this tendency, as it is a notification to labor exploiters that they can expect no aid from the nation's chief executive in their attempt to tear away the foundations of social progress. The president said:

"I have been very much alarmed at one or two things that have happened: At the apparent inclination of the legislatures of one or two of our states to set aside even temporarily the laws which have safeguarded the standards of labor and life. I think nothing

"Therefore, I shall exercise my influence as far as it goes to see that that does not happen and that the sacrifices we make shall be made voluntarily and not under the compulsion which is mistakenly intempreted to mean a lowering of the standards which we have sought through so many generations to bring to their present level."

In his telegram of April 30 to Illinois trade unionists, Secretary of War Baker said:

"The recommendation of the council of national defense was that power to suspend existing statutes be granted only in emergency cases involving the national defense, and then only upon request of the council and for a stated period. The declared policy of the council is to maintain all existing laws and regulations. No position has been taken by the council in opposition to or discouragement of the passage of further regulations looking to improvement in industrial conditions. ## TALKS AT VIRGINIA

Well-Known Union Man Says Present Struggle Will Hasten World Democracy.

VIRGINIA, June 1 .- Senator Richard Jones of Duluth delivered the Memorial day address in this city. Discussing the relation of Memorial day to the present war situation, Senator Jones said:

"This conflict will but accelerate the coming of the day when man will have the opportunity to develop the best that is in him. It will hasten democracy. Our only regret is that other and less bloodless means can not be employed. But this is not our fault. Militarism and all that goes with it stands in the way. It stops the march of progress and we are, believe, taking the only means left to us, to join in one final effort that will stamp it out as we would a plague.

"W. R. Alger said that 'true statesmanship is the art of changing a nation from what it is into what it ought to be.'

"If this sentiment is true, and I be lieve it is, then our duty as patriotic citizens is to study the conditions, moral and economic, of our country; face them like real men and women and apply the remedy that a thorough diagnosis of the case requires. Let us follow the example of the men whom we honor today and who possessed the courage and the determination to sacrifice all in a cause that was just. We cannot perform our duty as responsible and patriotic Americans by closing our eyes to the injustices which must needs cause social unrest and impede our progress as an enlightened nation.

"Are we trying to make it easier for men to do right and more difficult for them to do wrong? This is the question that confronts us, the real substance of the social problem.

"True patriotism involves more than fighting our enemies abroad. It also means that when this conflict is ended we must eliminate those forces in our industrial and social life which say the life-blood of the people and rob them of their just inheritance.

"There will be a national house cleaning as soon as we can get around men will be kings and when kings will wear the garb of the civilian. This wash and wipe the outsideof the cap conflict will develop men who are big enough to meet the tasks that will face them.

"The period of the Revolution gave us Washington, Jefferson and Frankcap with a pointed instrument, so that lin. The Civil war gave us Lincoln, the outside of the cap, which may be Grant and Lee; men of experience and vision, who felt it their patriotic duty to change this nation from what it was into what it ought to be.

Forget Party Lines.

"And at this time in our national life we forget party lines, we banish political animosities and join one with another in the bond of comradship, Americans all, and thank God there is in Washington today a man at the helm of the ship of state who is big enough for the job.

"We meet to celebrate the deeds of those men who were called upon to give all they possessed to establish a principle. They gave gladly, unselfishly, generously. The cause for which they fought and bled was to lift humanity to a higher level, to men shall live. They gave their lives to that cause, and the things we do feeble recognition of their noble deeds.

"Our mission should be to continue ended. Our resources and our institutions will be put to a grilling test Patriotic citizens over the land applaud the sentiments of Samuel Gompers, speaking for the great his now famous message to the workingmen of the new Russia, pleading with them 'to make common cause with us to abolish all forms of autocracy and despotism, and to establish born the priceless treasures of justice, freedom, democracy and humanity."

How Telephone Operators Pronounce Numbers

Telephone operators are taught to pronounce numbers in a manner that will prevent the least possible misunderstanding, for example-

1 .- "Wun"-Strong N.

2.-"Too"-Strong T and long oo.

3.-"Th-r-ee" - Slightly rolling R and E. .4.- "Foer"-Slightly with long o.

The Labor Paper As An Advertising Medium

Printers' Ink the highest authority on advertising mediums, makes the following statement:

"A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than any ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation. A labor paper, for example. having 2,000 subscribers, is of far more value to the business man who advertises than an ordinary paper with 12,000 subscribers."

Many business men do not stop to think that every line. both of news and advertising, that enters a labor paper, is read more closely by its subscribers than those of any other form of publication. The people who read the labor paper are laboring men, men who patronize only those merchants who conduct themselves fairly toward labor. The ordinary newspaper is taken to the home, read and then cast aside and never touched again. The labor paper is saved by the housewife and its advertising columns consulted when she wishes to make a purchase.
