ANACOSTIA.

ENTHUSIASTIC CELEBRATION MEETING.

There was a joint meeting last night of comrades of John A. Logan Post, No. 13, and the citizens of Anacostia to report progress, discuss plans and perfect arrangements for the coming celebration. General enthusiasm prevailed. The people are confident that the approaching ceremonies will eclipse all prior similar events and be a gilt-edged chapter in the history of the town. The meeting last night was called to order by Commander of Logan Post A. B. Frisbie. It had been designed to have the parade form on Harrison street, but it was finally decided to meet the visiting organizations on Pennsylvania avenue between 8th and 11th streets, East Washington, there form and take up the line of march to and through Anacostia. As yet it is uncertain whether the Masons and the Anacostia Lodge of Knights of Pythias will turn out, but it is hoped they will. The Anacostia and Prince George's County Democratic Club would have been in line but that the invitation was extended too late to allow the officers time to call the members together. It had been decided that the Third Artillery Band should head the Logan G. A. R. Post of this town, but this was objected to on the ground that it would be unfair to deprive the battery of its band. Mr. Wm. H. Peck was made chairman of a committee appointed to secure suitable accommodations for the Marine Band and it was determined to raise the necessary amount by subscription, which was promptly done.

ANACOSTIA ORGANIZATIONS.

The Anacostia organizations which will parade are the Red Men in paint and plumes, the junior and senior tents of Rechabites and John A. Logan Post, No. 13. The post will carry the flag which its present senior vice commander, C. F. Walson, carried in 1864 when standard bearer in the Washington Light Guard. The markers' flags of the same command were offered the post for use on the 23d, but were declined. Capt. Julius Tolson was chosen chief marshal, with George W. Fowler and J. E. Minnix as aids, to have immediate command of the second or civic division of the parade, but to be subordinate to the military marshals. Col. Moore will be urged to accept the grand marshalship. The civic marshals were directed to furnish their own horses, black suits, silk hats and sashes. The Washington Continentals have been invited and there is reason to believe will attend. Col. Foxwell of the uniformed rank Knights of Pythias has been requested to turn out with his command. Judge Armstrong, on behalf of Logan Post, has prepared letters of invitation to scores of public men. One letter was yesterday mailed to ex-President Cleveland in order to elicit an answer from him. It was agreed that as most of the invited guests have carriages of their own it would be needless for the post to furnish conveyances for them.

THE REVIEWING STAND.

There was a disposition manifested to have the location of the reviewing stand changed, but without result. The following carpenters have volunteered to erect the stands tomorrow, viz: Geo. Abbott, W. H. Abbott, J. K. Butler, O. W. Butler and F. M. Taylor. Mr. H. S. Petty procured permits this afternoon from Building Inspector Entwisle. Messrs. Chas. S. Freeman and John F. Fowler were delegated to visit the War and Navy Departments to secure codes of signals, garrison flags and pennants for decorative purposes. Mr. Freeman submitted plans, which were approved, for draping Masonic Hall and the stands. It was decided not to hoist the new flag in the prosaic way, but to bend it on the halyard and break it from the staff head. The cord will be pulled, as previously arranged, by Commissioner Douglass.

Mr. Dunn, the contractor on the new school building, has denied its use to the citizens on the 23d owing to objections interposed by the insurance companies. Supervising Principal Freeman will be requested to permit the use of the large range in the old school house for the preparation of refreshments. Mr. Fowler reported last night that he had secured an abundance of eatables.

A large number of prominent citizens of Anacostia will be invited to seats on the grand stand on Jefferson street.

Everything is booming, everybody is hustling and all signs augur a rousing celebration. If blessed with a fair day Anacostia will prove her right to the title of the empire suburb of the District.

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS.

Later contributions have been received from Nicholl Bros., J. T. Campbell, Gode & Bro., W. E. Tew, G. W. Fisher, Julius Tolson, R. F. Bradbury, J. W. Becking and Shreve

GEORGETOWN.

NOTES.

It was Mr. Joseph W. Collins, the contractor, and not a laborer, as erroneously reported, who was hurt on Wednesday at Sailor's stable. This morning Mr. Collins is reported as getting along very nicely.

A permit was issued yesterday to Mr. S. W. Rittenhouse for the construction of three two-story and basement brick buildings on 28th above P street. The work of excavation has already begun.

The citizens in the western part of the town have requested that a fire plug be placed on the corner of 37th street and Prospect avenue.

The new colored school building on U street near 28th has been named the Phillips in honor of Wendell Phillips.

The members of the family of Henry King, who was found dead in bed on Tuesday, state that he was not intoxicated, as published, but was suffering with a heavy cold and pain in his side, which obliged him to quit his work at noon.

John Curtis was sentenced to twenty days on the farm by Judge Miller today on a charge of vagrancy.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE THE LAST.—The Washington Sunday Herald's contest for the most popular girl or boy in the District, with a beautiful pair of ponies and a stylish surrey for first prize, will close at 4 o'clock p.m. Saturday, February 28. Hurry up your votes. The prize is a splendid one.
