THE MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSE.

Not So Many Applicants Now That the Weather is Getting Warm.

Three men stood fit the front door of the municipal lodging house this morning puffing away on remnants of what were once five-cent cigars. They were making more smoke than the same number of good citizens could make with good dry stock of a better selection. Neither of them wore good clothes, but there was an expression of happiness on their faces such as is only the case with persons who have no cares. The men were discussing the question of the use of the White House as the private home of the chief executive, but they were unable to reach a decision. The trio had spent the night in the lodging house and had just been released for the day.

Last night twenty-six lodgers were accommodated, only about half the number for which there are accommodations. Owing to the small number of lodgers who have called since the inauguration Superintendent Dunn has suspended the three-night rule and allows the guests five nights.

As the winter season is drawing to a close Superintendent Dunn has feared that the wood yard will have to close and he will then have to turn the attention of the city's guests toward the stone pile. He, hopes, however, he will be able to make a contract with some wood yard whereby the cutting and bundling of wood can be done during the warm weather, instead of breaking stone.

The library started some weeks ago has increased from time to time until there are now fully 100 books in the lodging house. Yesterday Supt. Dunn received from Mrs. Lindsey of 824 Connecticut avenue two volumes of Harper's Magazine bound in cloth, and accompanying them was the following:

"I have read in The Star that you have been asking for books for the library of the municipal lodging house. Being interested in it I send you two volumes of Harper's Magazine."

Supt. Dunn says he will send to any part of the city for books donated to the library.

ALEXANDRIA.

THE PASSING AWAY OF FRAME HOUSES.

The tearing down of the Shirley frame house near Trinity M. E. Church leaves now only one frame building standing out of a row of ten or more frames which when the Methodist Church was built extended from the log cabins which occupied the site of Washington hall on King street to the church. Under the operation of time and the fire limits law the frame buildings on King street have almost entirely disappeared. It was in the early part of the century that most of the street of frame houses, but the frames have been succeeded by bricks until now there are not more than fifteen frames below Payne street. Fire, decay and improvement have carried off the residue. It is, however, a notable fact that the first frame building ever put up on King street is still standing. It stands, still useful, at the northeast corner of King and Fairfax streets. This house was built in 1751-52 by Col. Wm. Ramsay, is made of heavy timbers and seems likely to stand as long as the stone Carlyle house, a few rods away, which was erected about the same time.

ALEXANDRIA AT THE ARNOLD TRIAL.

Alexandria has a share in the Arnold-Kramer murder trial, now going on at the city hall, Washington. Mrs. Arnold, nee Mansfield, is an Alexandrian, and Mrs. Kramer was married here in January last to Mr. Capehart by Rev. Dr. Butler of the Baptist Church under a license from the county court of Alexandria county. Other witnesses in the case are Alexandrians.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP.

Mr. J. Tobra, fruiterer, has bought from the Wise estate for $5,500 the property which he now occupies on King and St. Asaph streets. This property has been in the hands of the Wise family since before the tan yard on Oronoko creek in its rear was abandoned in 1797. There are still, however, some pieces of real estate here which are yet owned by the descendants of the original purchasers.

THE HELPER BOOK ARREST.

The arrest of the elder Mr. Studds, lately alluded to in THE STAR, for an alleged bringing of republican books on slavery, then called "incendiary documents," into the state was a notable occurrence of the months preceding the war. The friends at that time gloried in spreading before the public the facts in relation to true economic relations of slavery to civil society, and the prosecution instituted against him was by many held to be a persecution, as the "Helper Book" was indorsed by John Sherman and most of the republican statesmen. Many Virginians also held that the "Helper Book" should be allowed free circulation.

REPRESENTATIVE ALEXANDRIANS.

Messrs. J. J. Jamieson and Robert Arnold are now representing the Royal Arcanum of this city in the grand council at Richmond, and Rev. D. Carson, Messrs. Geo. R. Hill, J. E. Alexander and A. A. Warfield represent Alexandria at the Baltimore annual conference of the M. E. Church South at Front Royal.

Mr. Simms Was Acquitted.

Dr. Selden W. Crowe, who was known in New York as Dr. C. W. Selden, appeared in Judge Miller's court today to prosecute the case of Mr. R. F. Simms, whose arrest was made yesterday on a warrant charging the grand larceny of furniture in New York.

Mr. Carrington represented Mr. Simms.

Dr. Crowe gave his evidence concerning the alleged appropriation of his property by the defendant, and said he found some of it stored in Gallagher's in New York, in which city the furniture was charged to have been taken.

When questioned by Mr. Carrington witness said he was acquainted with Mrs. Ainsworth, and that he and Mrs. Ainsworth advertised in New York as "Dr. Selden and wife."

"Did you not leave New York very suddenly?" Mr. Carrington asked.

"No more suddenly than the train would carry me," was the reply.

Mr. Carrington produced a letter received from Mrs. Ainsworth by his client, and in the letter she expressed the belief that the doctor had gone to Canada.

The matter was freely discussed, and the judge said that the affair would have to be settled in the civil courts. Mr. Simms was acquitted.

Funeral of Mr. Carr.

The funeral of Mr. George W. Carr, who died the 16th instant, took place at 2 o'clock on Sunday from his late home, 664 E street northeast, where religious services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Butler of the Memorial Lutheran Church, of which Mrs. Carr is a member. The interment was at Arlington, with G. A. R. and Masonic ceremonies, the latter conducted by M. M. Parker Lodge, No. 23, of which he was a member.

Mr. Carr was a native of Indiana and served for three years in the ninety-third Indiana volunteers. He has resided in this city since 1882, from which time he was a clerk in the pension bureau, and at the time of his death was a principal examiner and chief of the section of re-review. Resolutions of respect and condolence were adopted yesterday by his former associates of the board of review.

Real Estate Matters.

Nellie C. Cartwright has bought for $5,500 of J. H. Marr et al., trustees, part square 595—127½ by 122 feet on 1st and L streets southwest.

J. A. W. Burche has bought for $12,000 of A. Burgdorf parts 13 and 14, square 126—13 feet 7 inches by 50 feet 2 inches on 18th between I and K streets northwest.

Bishop Wigger Retracts His Letter.

Bishop Wigger of the diocese of Newark has issued a circular letter addressed to each priest in the diocese rescinding his former order in which the priests were ordered to refuse absolution to those members of the parish who sent their children to the public schools in preference to the parochial schools.

This action is received with much satisfaction by those Catholic parents whose children attend the public schools. The latter, which is in printed form and dated March 15, Seton Hall College, the bishop's residence, is as follows:

"Rev. Dear Sir: In the case of those parents who, without sufficient reason, send their children to public schools, I beg to inform you that all directions, whether public or private, given by me in regard to refusing them absolution, are hereby withdrawn. The case thus falls under the general principles of moral theology and has to be dealt with accordingly."

Fire at Athens, Ala., yesterday destroyed property valued at $60,000. William Chandler of McKenzie, Tenn., and Owen Brown of Athens were killed.

An incendiary fire at Zionsville, Ind., burned five buildings in the center of the town yesterday.
