MAY VISIT ANNAPOLIS.

Secretary Herbert Will Confer With Foreign Commanders at Hampton Roads.

Four or five warships of the United States navy and several of the foreign vessels coming to the naval review will anchor in Annapolis roads some time next month if Secretary Herbert can possibly arrange it. He said to a STAR reporter today that he was in favor of having the ships visit Annapolis after the review and would bring the matter to the attention of the officers of the visiting ships when he meets them at Hampton Roads next week. He said that the acceptance of the invitation to visit Annapolis as the guests of the people of Baltimore and Annapolis will naturally depend on the plans of the visiting ships after the conclusion of the review. Of course he could not say anything in regard to the prospects of their coming until he had conferred with them. In case any of them concluded to come he said he would take special pleasure in ordering three or four of our own ships to act as escorts. He did not think more than the number mentioned could be used for this occasion, as the foreign interests of the country demand the service of the majority of them in other waters. It is therefore probable that the residents of the District who are not able to visit Hampton Roads or New York during the progress of the review may yet have a chance of seeing some of the ships afterward at Annapolis.

The New York Will Not Be There.

It is now practically settled that the crack cruiser New York will not be present at the naval review after all. When it was first decided to send the warship to New York harbor it was anticipated that all the arrangements for her official trial would have been perfected and that her presence during the review would be incidental to her trip to Narragansett bay, where it was supposed she would make the necessary runs to standardize her screw. But there has been delay in coming to a conclusion as to the method of conducting her trial, and the Cramps also say it will be impossible now to fully complete the vessel in time to have her trial take place immediately after the review. It is their desire to complete her in all details before she makes her official run. According to the contract the New York is required to make an average speed of twenty knots per hour for four consecutive hours. Fifty thousand dollars for each quarter knot in excess of the contract is the amount of premium allowed.

A Proposed Indian Loan.

A committee appointed by the council of the Cherokee Nation is expected in the city shortly to have a conference with the Secretary of the Interior relative to the appropriation act which confirms, with some modifications, the treaty recently concluded with these Indians, authorizing them to negotiate a loan of $8,360,000, less the amount which may be retained by the government to satisfy such claims as shall be found by the Court of Claims to be due the Shawnees, Delawares and colored people who held membership in the tribe. It is probable that about $2,000,000 will be retained for this purpose, leaving $6,300,000 which the Cherokees may borrow on the authority and credit of the government. The loan is to take the form of bonds, the government guaranteeing their payment, with 4 per cent interest.

Ladies and the Warships.

It is explained at the Navy Department that Admiral Gherardi's recent order "that no ladies or civilians will be permitted aboard any of the ships of the squadron" applies only to the day of the review at New York and when the ships are engaged in official evolutions at Hampton Roads. At other times all persons who visit the vessels at a reasonable time, say between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., will be allowed to go aboard without discrimination.

The Other Side of the Question.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

The all-absorbing local question of the day seems to be the ice question. The press has ventilated only one side of it. In April of last year the icemen appealed to the people of our city to allow them one day's rest in seven. It was granted. The summer passed and if there was a complaint I never heard of it and I read the papers daily. This year the papers started the agitation, knowing that if it was possible to put the question to the people the majority and, the large majority, too, would say "no ice delivered on Sunday."

Now it is understood that the medical combine proposes to take some action on the Sunday ice question from a sanitary point of view. Let these gentlemen bear in mind that the icemen are all citizens and have the good of the people at heart, and in case of epidemic would make any sacrifice in their power, day or night, for the relief of the city.

Let each and every citizen do his duty to put our beautiful city in a clean, healthy condition, and then if epidemic comes, rest assured that the icemen with the doctors will be found at their posts of duty. There is no need for the Sunday icewagon in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington or elsewhere. Let the poor iceman and his horse have that day wherein to rest from their six long days of sixteen hours each. If neither the iceman nor his horse has rights worthy of consideration we don't want the icewagon nuisance on our streets on Sunday.

The Fifth Army Corps Meeting.

"The Truth of History" was the title of a very interesting paper which Maj. William Howard Mills read before the meeting of the Fifth Corps Society, Army of the Potomac, at the Ebbitt House last night, the occasion being the annual meeting of the society. Several new members were elected to membership in the society, including Gen. Fitz John Porter and Col. Henry de B. Clay. The society adjourned to meet July 4 at Fredericksburg in accordance with the following resolution, which was introduced by Maj. Mills and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the president to make necessary arrangements for the conduct of an invasion upon the Fourth of July of the territory of our friends, our late enemies, and a general advance upon the blooming, peaceful fields of Chancellorsville; foraging upon the country in all directions to be encouraged and permitted without restraint and the customs, rules and regulations of war rigidly enforced in reverse.

The Destruction of the Trees.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

The residents in the vicinity of Franklin Park are indignant at the wholesale destruction of the splendid trees in the park. One of the oldest trees there was cut down on I street today. This is done nominally for the purpose of allowing the grass to grow. Now if the coping was once put around the park the grass would not be washed off. Is there any one to whom an appeal can be made to stop this vandalism?
