FAVOR A STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

The Harrison Republican Club Organized and So Declares Itself.

Last night the Harrison Republican club was organized. Judge C. W. Bartle acted as temporary chairman and E. R. Hinckley as temporary secretary. The object and purpose of the club are set forth in the following platform, which was unanimously adopted:

PLATFORM.

First—The name of this organization shall be the Harrison Republican club of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Second—We endorse and adopt the national platform of the Minneapolis convention, as the platform of this club, and will also recognize all acts of the national Republican party.

Third—That we endorse the action of President Harrison in his efforts to obtain an international or bimetallic system of coinage, having the ratio between gold and silver, giving silver as a party will gold with a view to the ultimate result of securing the coinage of silver dollars on the old commercial ratio of sixteen to one.

Fourth—That we hereby pledge ourselves to support only a straight Republican candidate for Congress, nominated by a Republican platform.

Fifth—That we will give our hearty support and co-operation to every measure in the interest of humanity and the upbuilding of Republican principles in Utah.

Sixth—That we extend the right hand of fellowship to every person, on joining membership, without regard to past political affiliations.

Seventh—Every resident male citizen of Utah Territory, over the years of age, who is willing to subscribe to the principles herein set forth, shall be eligible to membership in this club.

Eighth—Any qualified voter subject to membership, assessment or regular, can vote for a vote of a majority of all the members present at a stated meeting called for that purpose.

THE BODIES RECOVERED

After Twenty-four Hours of Constant and Tireless Search.—The Funeral Today.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock the dead bodies of William Mace and Al Kelly, who were drowned in Utah Lake on Sunday night, near American Fork, were recovered after twenty-four hours of dilligent search.

On Sunday night it appears that Mace and Kelly and a man named Joe Mercer entered a small boat for a row. When about three hundred yards from the shore Mercer proposed that they return that the water was rough and Jackson would soon set in. Mace and Kelly chided him for his fears and in order to further frighten him commenced to rock the boat. It is said they were under the influence of liquor and continued their foolish and dangerous actions until they capsized the boat. Kelly sank instantly, he came to the surface once but again disappeared and was seen no more. Mace being a good swimmer started for the shore, but had swum less than a hundred yards when he went to the bottom to rise no more in life. Mercer, in the meantime, clung with a deathlike grasp to the overturned boat for two hours before he was relieved. At the expiration of that time he was terribly chilled and was very weak.

Kelly was a comparative stranger in the community and was unmarried. He was a bartender and 27 years of age.

Mace at one time lived at Bingham. He leaves a wife to whom he has been married only one year, and a two-weeks-old child.

Nothing additional to what has already been stated, came out at the coroner's inquest. The funeral took place today.

Court Callings.

In the Third District court, yesterday afternoon, subsequent to the issuance of items gleaned by the NEWS reporter, a young woman named Amelia Wiens filed suit for divorce against her husband, Emil Wiens, and asks that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, Spraetles. She and defendant were married at Montreg, in Germany, on May 15, 1889, and lived together as man and wife until 1890, in which year Wiens deserted her. There are no children issue of the marriage.

A petition for rehearing was filed yesterday afternoon in the Supreme court with Clerk Barbe in the case of W. C. Arnott et al. vs. Bear Lake and River Waterworks and Irrigation company.

Judgment has been entered by default in the sum of $29.24 in the case of the Carey-Lombard Lumber company vs. the Salt Lake Improvement and Natural Gas company.

Attachment proceedings have been begun before Justice Kenger in a suit of W. J. Stewart vs. D. R. Homan and Mrs. Ira B. Sturgis, non-residents. The amount claimed is $230.28, due for work and material furnished on Sackett's new property.

In the Third District yesterday afternoon Jack Bolton filed a suit against Hyrum Greenback to collect on a promissory note for $[illegible]. The note was given by Greenback to Bolton to secure money paid by the latter for stock in the Blue Jay Mining Company, in which they were jointly interested. Later an injunction was issued to prevent Bolton from negotiating or disposing of the note and the injunction is still in force. The note is now due and suit is brought to recover upon it. This proceeding arises out of the matter before Judge Anderson on Saturday and yesterday.

Nepal Howcroft, of Eighth West street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Marshal C. Goodsell on a charge of assaulting a neighbor. On going before Commissioner Greenman he pleaded guilty. His fine cost him $1 and the attendant expenses.

John C. Williams, the alleged shoplifter, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $600, the bond to be approved by Commissioner Greenman. Williams is the festive youth whose handsomes surrendered him on Sunday night to the United States marshal.

The Papalloapa' Land.

The Tucson papers tell of the interest that has been aroused in the state of Washington by the prospect of the opening of the Papalloapa Indian reservation. The land of the Papalloapa is fertile, well timbered and contains mineral and coal deposits.

Washing and Ironing a Baby.

In small homes, while the family is small, the best rooms are very properly used as nurseries. The washing is performed in the kitchen, or in the nearest bath room. Here some of the mothers come and wash their babies, and dress them, and put them to sleep. The mothers do their housework, or sew, or read, or write, or do anything else they please, while their babies are quietly sleeping in the next room. Old women, however, do not approve of this method. They think it is a great mistake to let a young mother do her own housework, or care for her own baby. They say that the baby should be washed and dressed by the nurse, or by a young girl, or by the mother's mother. They say that the young mother should be allowed to do nothing but sit in her easy chair and read novels, and be petted and fondled and fed with the choicest morsels of food, and be waited on and fanned and generally treated as if she were a sick baby. Young mothers do not like this. They want to do their own work, and care for their own babies. Young mothers think that the best place for a young mother is her own home, and that the best place for her baby is in its own home, with its own mother
