MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN DICTATORS AND DEMOCRACY

That is entirely outside the question, for the world today does not need to choose between various styles of dictatorships. It has to choose only between dictatorship and democracy.

Lenine laughs at democracy and his followers echo his jibes.

It is not any reflection upon the integrity or good intentions of workers in the avenue to condemn a dictatorship by working people as a kind of government. The issue is not one of people. It is one of fundamental principles. From the day she came into being America has said that no set of men could be wise enough or good enough to rule over another set of men. America believes that today, and is going to keep on believing it, for it is one of those simple truths that last through the changing ages as well as through the changing seasons.

There are in America today a number of persons who are spending a great deal of time urging Americans to overthrow the American democracy and set up a dictatorship of the proletariat.

These propagandists point out in great detail the abuses that exist in the American democracy. They will say, for example, that workers in the steel mills are slaves and suffer under conditions that are very hard. Therefore, they should set up a dictatorship of the proletariat and free themselves. This is ridiculous, of course, for under a dictatorship nobody is free.

Moreover, it is highly probable that the working people would suffer as much under a dictatorship of the proletariat as they would under any other kind of dictatorship. It has worked out so in Russia, according to the best evidence obtainable.

Not a great many people in America today believe in having a dictatorship of the proletariat. They do not want any kind of a dictatorship. They want not less democracy, but more of it. They believe that "the cure for the evils of democracy is more democracy."

However, the propaganda goes on, for there are always shallow minded persons to whom that which is far away always looks good. And there are a certain number who make their living by pushing various kinds of propaganda and to whom the latest and newest kind of propaganda is the most salable merchandise. They will continue to preach Bolshevism as long as there are listeners who will put money in a collection basket and buy leaflets.

America's safeguard against Bolshevism will be the greatest possible freedom from abuses in industry and in political life and in a thorough understanding of the part of the people of what Bolshevism means.

PAINTERS GIVEN MORE MONEY IN OTHER CITIES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 18.—Practically every contractor in this city has accepted the new rates of Painters' union. Wages for painters are advanced 12½ cents, or 75 cents an hour; paperhangers are increased 15 cents, making their rate 80 cents an hour.

The union informed contractor's three months ago that they would advance wages, but no attention was given this notice. When 200 painters suspended work the employers got busy.

BOSTON, April 18.—Painters and decorators have secured wage increases. The new minimum for painters will be 82½ cents an hour and 87½ cents an hour for decorators. The work day will be eight hours for five days a week, making the work week 40 hours.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 18.—Organized painters have established their new wage scale, which raises their rates from $5 to $6 a day.

MARSHALL-WELLS NO. 11.
IN WORK, NOT IN GRANDSTAND PLAY.

With tools, the supreme test is the action in practical service. In the laboratory, we wear them out, accelerating, of course, the actual working conditions of every day use. A shovel might last six years on the farm, but only 24 in our testing machine.

There is nothing spectacular about this, we do not drive nails in the floor to run a lawn mower over their heads, because that has nothing to do with cutting grass. We do not nick a nail with a pocket knife, then shave hair, or hickory axe handles—because the average owner of a pocket knife uses a razor and prefers whittling cedar or pine to axe handles.

If we do not beat the top of the malleable range with a sledge hammer, nor climb up on the oven door and warming closet, it is because those feats have nothing to do with baking biscuits or broiling steak.

Neither should we roll a lamp chimney along the floor, if such a test has nothing to do with the sudden expansion of heat when lighting the wick, or a blast of cold air from an open door, in the winter time.

WHAT IS BEST AND WHY.
Our tests are critical and comparative, that we may not only know what is the best already made, but how to help to make things better.

Sometimes 6 or 8 articles are perfect and the other 6 or 4 in the dozen vary from too hard to too soft, are illy finished, etc. Here, if the maker is receptive, we work with him.

Some manufacturers are about as open to suggestions as the French Chef, whom you might show how to improve his pastry. One manufacturer will say that 90 per cent of his product is used by amateurs, householders and farmers, and only 10 per cent by an expert mechanic, why should we worry?

Why! Because our responsibility is larger than his; our Edmonton people, for instance, ship into the Arctic Circle, goods which require a year for delivery, and the man who gets a defective tool at the end of that journey is not going to excuse the seller, when his purchase fails to do the work it should.

power that the world has ever known has been humbled to the dust.

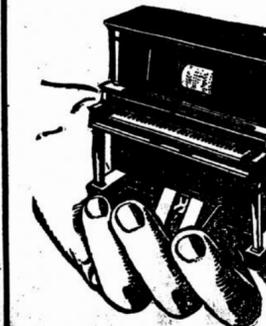

"But let me say this, that the propaganda that has been conducted since the armistice, and that is being conducted now, is an insidious, perhaps more insidious than at any time before or during the war. The same Junker crowd is in control in Germany now that was in control before the war. The propaganda now is the propaganda of an effort to win by diplomacy and agitation what Germany has lost on the battlefield. During these trying times of peace we have to be alert lest our victory be turned to defeat."

Prussia is Humbled.

The final covenant presented to the Peace conference by the Committee on International Labor Legislation was reached only after thirty-five hard-working sessions of the international labor delegates, and each of the sessions lasted three to seven hours, Mr. Gompers said. He said that the final covenant was one that was capable of doing vast good for all classes throughout the world, and that it had been very gratifying to read since his return to America that the covenant had been adopted by unanimous vote and referred to the "Big Four" to decide whether it should become a separate treaty, or be incorporated in the principal treaty of peace. Mr. Gompers outlined the provisions of an extra recommendation that was made by the American labor delegation, which provided for a standard eight-hour work day, opposed child labor, and covered other points for which Mr. Gompers has fought in this country.

PART-TIME PLAN IS NOT NEW TO AMERICAN LABOR

WASHINGTON April 18.—It has been generally assumed by many writers on vocational education that the shop and school is an innovation of the shop and school is an innovation of the twentieth century. Such however, is not the fact.

Part-time instruction was not an uncommon thing during the colonial times in America. A bulletin in preparation by the federal Board for vocational education shows that the indentures in Philadelphia in the years 1771-1773 very frequently made provision for the apprentice attending either day or evening schools or both.

MOTORMAN IS ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 18.—Edward Lewis in charge of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company's wrecked train that killed 98 passengers last November, has been acquitted of manslaughter charges by a jury of the Nassau county supreme court.

The company refused to accept a decision by the national labor board that a score of trade unionists be reinstated. It was found that the unionists had been victimized. A strike followed and Lewis, who had no experience as a motorman, was placed in charge of the train.

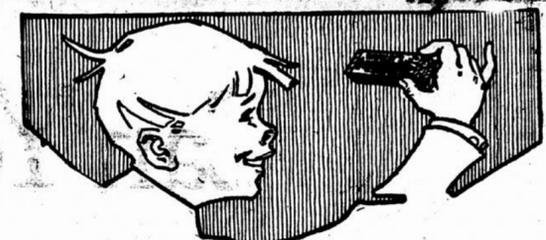

The division superintendent, who ordered Lewis to take charge of the train, was recently acquitted.

LONDON, England, April 18.—According to Arthur J. Giles, secretary of the British Grocers' Federation, profits of the British grocery trade increased about $45,000,000 a year during the war.

"The food controller," Mr. Giles said "has been the grocers' real friend for the last four or five years, in enabling them to dispose of all their surplus stock, much of which the public A further great asset was the registration of customers which insured would not look at prior to the war, the grocer a trade without his having to work it up."
