Bonds Issued for the Supposed Extension of the Utah Southern Into California.

A San Bernardino, California, dispatch to the San Francisco Chronicle under date of February 27 says: "A document was filed in the county recorder's office this afternoon in the form of a trust deed from the Nevada Southern company to the Metropolitan Trust company of New York. The instrument provides for the issuance of bonds of $15,000 a mile and of $5000 on rolling stock on the road which is to be built from Gadsden in this county to Good Spring, Nev., with a branch from Manvel to the New York mining district. This is supposed to be the first move in the long-expected extension of the Utah Southern into California.

A Dangerous Prisoner.

McDermott (alias Connors) made another ineffectual attempt to fire his cell at the county jail yesterday afternoon, during a brief absence of the guard. Piling the "furniture" in the middle of the cell he set fire to it with a match which it is supposed he obtained from a fellow prisoner. His trick, however, was discovered in good time, the blaze was put out and Dismuke put into the straight jacket once more. He will now be more closely watched than ever.

RAILROAD COMPETITION.

What the Union Pacific and Rio Grande Western are Doing in Sevier County.

There promises to be considerable active competition between the Rio Grande Western and Union Pacific railways in Sevier county the coming season. The Richfield Advocate arrays itself rather strongly against the Rio Grande, which it says has lately made public the statement that their company does not intend to make any extention of the road through Sevier valley during the year of 1893. They think by coming to Salina they have tapped the great and productive valley of the Sevier, and have secured the trade of the counties of Sevier, Wayne, Piute, Garfield and Kane, but in this they are mistaken. The people have resented the imposition of the company, for having extended their road only to the boundaries of the county and then having fixed freight rates and transportation a great deal higher than it ought to be, and the farmers and stock men and wool growers are doing all they can to transfer their patronage across the range to the Union Pacific.

It seems that the latter road has taken every advantage of this alleged unkindly feeling towards its enterprising little competitor and among other steps taken has issued a circular setting forth that it has built at Bear's Rock and Milford, Utah, large shearing pens, to be used free of charge by the wool growers of the Territory, and that bailing presses and a large number of sub-stations will be on hand during the coming season. The purchasers of wool throughout the Territory and in the East have been notified of the arrangement and special efforts will be made to convert Black Rock and Milford into extensive wool markets.

Other inducements are also offered but it is believed that the Rio Grande will meet them all.

Rabbed While Moving.

On Tuesday last John Rissden, a miner of this city, and wife and child left here for Deep Creek, where they proposed to develop some mining claims. Their outfit consisted of provisions and such household goods as they could haul in two wagons. The first night they spent at the Point of the Mountain at Mr. Spencer's. During the night thieves drove up to the premises and stole their whole team, one of the wagons containing clothing, deeds to mining properties, legal papers, insurance certificates, jewelry and $100 in money. The thieves drove fleet to the western terminus of Third South Street where they were last trace of.

They Are Coming Out.

SWITZERLAND.

Extracts from a letter written to the officers and members of the Twenty-second Ward Y. M. M. I. A., by Elder Julius Billeter, who was one of the counselors previous to his departure. Elder Billeter came here as a mind, crowding his parents, afterwards sending for them; now after growing to manhood he has the privilege of returning to his native land for the purpose of preaching the Gospel.

A. K.

WINTERTHUR, Switzerland,
Jan 25, 1893.

To the officers and members of the M. I. A. of the Twenty-second ward, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Dear Brethren—I have often had cause to think of the associations I have had with you, and the value they have been to me since I left my home and have come among strangers. To all the members would but think of the possibility of their being called upon to testimonies they would try to be prepared.

My journey to this land was very interesting, going by way of New York, Liverpool, Dover, Calais and through France to my native home. After visiting my relatives I traveled over a good part of Switzerland, from the beautiful Rhine Falls near Schaffhausen to the great St. Gothard tunnel and beyond into the upper part of Italy. Switzerland is smaller than Utah, but has about three million inhabitants. It is noted for beautiful mountains, valleys, rivers and lakes. Utah has just as grand scenery but not as compact. I like Switzerland, but to tell the truth I like Utah better. There is no earthly spot greater, more inspiring and free than our dear mountain home.

I am now in charge of the Winterthur branch, with a field about twelve miles through, but only a few saints. I find I have to contend against the opposition of the world, but finally surmounted the difficulty and went out proselyting. I go from house to house with my tracts in one pocket and the other filled with tracts, telling the people I have come to present the Gospel that has been revealed again in our day. Sometimes I have to use much persuasion to get them to take a tract, free of cost, but most of them receive one. I call again in about two weeks to learn what they think about the tracts. Some say, "Oh, it's a Mormon!" Others want to give the pamphlet back, while some are not even so courteous as that. Some inquire to gravely their curiosity, and very few seem to wish to know the truth for the truth's sake. It is an interesting life and a good school of experience for a young man, which we could not obtain elsewhere. The hospitality of the people is a thing of the past, yet the Lord is mindful of His servants and blesses us day by day with what we need. People have no time for religion here—politics and other themes occupy their attention. Crime, misery and woe are on the increase, and I feel the feeling that a dreadful war and other judgments are near at hand.

Today's Probate Court.

Judge Blair held a short session this forenoon and made the following orders:

Estate of James Coult, deceased, James H. Coult appointed administrator (vice Sarah Ann T. Coult, resigned) on filing a $3,000 bond.

Estate of Wm. H. Sherman, deceased. Order made appointing Thomas W. Patridge, Lewis P. Kinney and Stewart Stephenson appraisers.

Estate of Elizabeth H. Gabbott, deceased. Hearing of petition for probate of will. Order made and bond of administrators fixed at $22,000.

Estate of Henry M. May, deceased. Petition for probate of will and March 13th set for hearing.

Estate of Mary Ann Caffal, deceased. Petition for letters of administration granted.

Is She Insane?

Probate Judge Blair is having quite a time with demented individuals. The third during the press time was to come up before him at 3 o'clock this afternoon, for examination as to the state of her mind, namely, Betsy Rhodes, a colored woman, who has lately been quartered in the poor house.

Mrs. Mary Jones

of Lewisburg, Pa., suffered untold agony from broken varicose veins, with intense itching and bleeding, on the recommendation of a physician tried and found Hood's Olive Ointment. Soon the veins began to heal, the inflammation subsided, pain was completely relieved, and says, "I enjoy health as I never had before in my life."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

We are personally acquainted with Mrs. Jones, and can vouch for the truth of the above. J. S. GRAYBILL & SON, Lewisburg, Pa.

is a capital idea, and capital ideas are worth entertaining. There couldn't be anything more entertaining than our clothing which makes all who wear our suits entertaining to themselves as well as to others. It pays to be entertaining and you'd better entertain an idea of spending up without delay. It's a regular price-fiver that's struck the stock, and you'd strike the favorite attitude of Mr. Dudeons if you buy one of our suits before they're all been mulled. If you want good, honest, meritorious clothing at low prices, without any tomfoolery, we're prepared to please you.
