LETTER FROM SCOTLAND.

Progress of the Work There.—A Word to Returning Elders.

108 BARONS STREET,
Glasgow, Scotland, June 5, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

We will forego the preliminaries so common to the amount correspondence by offering as an apology for our presumption that we think there are many among the host of readers of your invaluable paper who cherish a warm spot in their hearts for the land of their birth and the scene of their childhood, and who have an unusual interest in the progress of the gospel latter-day work both at home and in this little place spot in the ocean. To these we would say that there is a steady, outward progress of the work in this the Scottish metropolis. The Elders labouring under the direction of Elder H. P. Dunn, president of the conference, are working unitedly for the spread of the principles of righteousness. And they are all advanced with a degree of success. While the hardy Scottish has been ever accredited with having a mind and will of his own, which is decidedly a natural characteristic, yet he also has the courage of his convictions and when convinced that he has "found the better part," he has the stamina to come home out boldly and face the opposition and ridicule with an unflinching determination not met with in every land. It is an old saying, "If a Scotchman fall in the river, always go up stream to find him," the inference being that he is too contrary to float with the current but rather choosing to stem the tide. In our travels we find many who are still stemming the tide of popular opinion, all central centers in which the Gospel spark burns so brightly as when Bro. Implanted there, which in some cases is more than a quarter of a century ago, who are never wearied in their testimonies to the divinity of the mission of our martyred Prophet and the efficacy of the Gospel, and to which they have yielded obedience, and have proved the scripture "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine."

We meet the same complaint here that greeted our ears in every county, town and shire that we have visited in England and Holland, and that is that returning Elders will not keep their promise to write. How sorry it is the case that Elders come and fill a good honorable mission, work hard to scatter seeds of kindness, and disseminate the principles of righteousness with all the power they are blessed with, who have partaken freely of the hospitalities of both saints and strangers, who have made friends and sojourners among those where they were called to labor, when they were starting for that "home over there," here said, if we always by word, at least by implication, "Oh, yes, I will write to my good friends over here as soon as I get home." But weeks rise into months, and months into decades together and no tidings come from him whom the people had learned to honor and respect; and by thus failing to keep their promise, or if not a promise, to per ctrm the common civilities to those he leaves, who have a right to expect a token of respect and gratitude from him who has placed himself under obligations for kindnesses received while here, but apparently forgotten, in too many cases, as soon as he is released to return home it is often the case that he destroys much of the influence he might have had for good, and entails a burden on others who follow. Is it any wonder then that we meet the not very cheering but feeling remark, "Will you never go away and forget us, as so many have done before?"

Returned Elders, do you ever think of the position you place your associations in, who have to apologize or feel they can for your neglecting, and which at times almost assumes the shape of legitimate? Don't you think you place yourselves very much in the same position as that of the cow who gives a good pail of milk and then kicks it in the owner, and who knows, after coming to for a kick with the stool, instead of a pat on the head? Were we "over there" we might with our returned brethren think the lord criticisms, but we feel sorely that every returning Elder in Israel missions will join with us in saying that it is sufficiently mild, and all whom the cap will fit are welcome to wear it.

I am yours be right,
W. W. PAUL.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THOMAS HALL.

WEST GROVE, June 11, 1894.—John Thomas Hall, of St. George, departed this life at Rockville on the 8th of June, of jaundice and other complicated ailments. He was born in Liverpool, England, March 2, 1836, and was the son of Robert Hall and Elizabeth Miller. He married Ann Hughes Gamblin, and at Hawarden, N. Wales, was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Elder John Parry, at Liverpool, England, February 11, 1856, and left England in January, 1857, on board the ship Enoch Train, with the saints, landing at New Orleans on the 17th of March, and arrived at Salt Lake April 15, 1857, and built the first shoe store in Utah.

He settled in Utah in 1857, and lived in Salt Lake City for a few years. While there he served as one of the guards at Provo, in 1858, he was called to a mission to Salt Lake County, and was one of the pioneers to southern Utah in 1861, locating at Santa Clara, where he was called to preside over the branch there. He was chosen counselor to President Dodge to preside over the stake, which office he held until the President died. Then he was President John Smith's counselor, which office he held until he died. He was ordained a Seventy April, 1862, in the fifth quorum of Seventies, which office he held until the 20th of June, 1884, when he was ordained into the High Council.

He was the father of 9 children, and leaves a grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. He died strong in the faith of the gospel, and in the work of the Lord, in the last, he was quite resigned and willing to be released from his sufferings.

The funeral services were held in the Tabernacle, conducted by President George Q. Cannon, President Wilford Woodruff, and President Lorenzo Snow, and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends, to the testimony of his faithfulness to the cause of God, and all who were present.

ELDER H. W. CLARK.

HUNTSVILLE, Utah, June 16, 1894.—Elder H. W. Clark, son of A. Richard Mary L. Clark, died in St. Mary's hospital, Salt Lake City, June 14, 1894, of emphysema. The deceased was taken to the hospital by his parents on the 8th, where an operation was performed by Dr. Pinkerton, with the hope that the patient would rally from the effects of the operation, but the damages had too strong a hold, and he gradually sank with the setting sun of Thursday. He was born September 16, 1870, and died in full faith and knowledge of the work of God. He was a young man who possessed the ability and had fair to become a bright star among the noble sons of God. His remains were followed to their last resting place by a host of sympathizing friends. The funeral services were conducted by L. Anderson, Eliot and consoling remarks were made by Robert A. Rosenbaum, A. O. Johnson and C. N. Lyman, the latter delivering an able and highly interesting discourse on death and the resurrection. Thousand every one of the Lord's mighty power.

SUPPORT HOME INDUSTRY.

THESE ARE THE PEOPLE WHO SELL HOME MADE GOODS

THEY BUILD UP UTAH and are entitled to the support of the people. By dealing with the merchants who give preference to the sale of Home Made goods, you help the Home Industry cause. You help to give employment to worthy people; you help to keep money at home, which circulates in our midst and you get back a part of that money again in your business or profession. Keep this in mind, every dollar expended for Utah made goods, means more employment for home labor; every dollar expended for goods manufactured elsewhere, means employment for somebody living elsewhere and whose interests are generally not with us. "Charity begins at home." This is a time for both common sense and patriotism.
