TOMORROW'S "BATTLE."

The National Guard Drilling Hard for the Contest.

Full and Complete Instructions Issued by General Pearson of the Sixth U. S. Infantry.

Tomorrow the big sham "battle," concerning which so much has been said and written the last few days, will be fought on the military reservation near Fort Douglas.

The local National Guard organizations have been drilling every night since the order to prepare for the fray was given. Tuesday evening they will be met again and receive final orders from their commanding officers and go through the last maneuvers that will be required of them before they meet the regulars of the United States army tomorrow.

General Pearson has issued the following additional instructions:

The field exercise for next Wednesday, will consist of attack and defense. The objective will be that portion of the position lying between a prolonged line of the rifle pits on the north and the line of prolongation of the barracks on the west side of the post. This line extending to Mt. Olivet cemetery and following the line of the reservation to Pepperton place will bound the grounds over which the attacking forces will operate.

Captain Palmer, Sixteenth infantry, a battery, two guns and one recoil, which will consist of six companies, A, B, D, E, F and G Sixteenth infantry, a battery, two guns and one gatling, C, twenty men; N. G. U.

Captain Richards, Sixteenth infantry, will command the defense and his command will consist of two companies, C and H, Sixteenth infantry, companies A, B, C, infantry, two gatling detachment battery A and one gatling C, twenty men N. G. U.

The exercises will commence after disposition of troops with the advance of the attacking party which, after moving forward to a point of the distance, will retire. A second attempt will be made and again retire. The third one will be made which will be considered successful and pushes forward until the position occupied by the defense is reached. At the proper time the troops on the defense will be withdrawn and assemble on the upper parade ground, the attacking forces in the road leading to the parade ground in front of commanding officers' quarters and come dismissed.

The disposition of the troops for attack and defense is left entirely to the discretion of the respective commanders. It is only recommended that the three attacks be made from different points and that the commanders study the problems that may arise and make such disposition of their forces as they may deem best to accomplish the object in view. Under no circumstances must one commander intimate to the other what he is going to do.

Especial instructions must be given to subordinate officers that the lines never come nearer each other than 100 yards.

No persons except those acting officially will be permitted to occupy any of the grounds to be operated over, and no pedestrians, equestrians, or vehicles of any kind will be allowed within the lines used. Commanders must see that this is strictly carried out.

General Pearson and Colonel Coates, U. S. A., General Ottinger and Colonel Tallock, N. G. U., will observe the movements as judges.

The hospital corps and ambulance will be prepared to render any assistance that may be needed. The post surgeon is charged with this duty. Lieutenant Tyler will report to Captain Palmer, and Lieutenant Cowles to Captain Richards, as aides.

Administrator Blazer.

In the matter of the estate of George Kilpack, the heirs, Emily and J. H. Kilpack, late yesterday afternoon came forward through Attorneys Hitchie & Rhiche, in the probate court, with a petition which recites that Administrator Blazer "has mismanaged and wrongfully neglected the estate, that said administrator is threatening to use the funds of the estate to pay certain debts that are barred by the statute of limitations, and that said administrator spent the entire estate for the support of the widow of the deceased."

Counsel for the petitioners had previously withdrawn from Chas. Maloy's office where Mr. Blazer appeared with his stenographer, consisting of a notice to Attorneys Hitchie & Rhiche that their services as attorneys for the administrator of the estate in question are no longer desired.

He Was Discharged.

M. P. Seeley was arrested yesterday afternoon and had a hearing before Justice of the Peace Harris on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. The complaining witness was C. J. Keenan, and it appeared in evidence that Seeley and Keenan were partners and that in the usual course of business the former obtained $120 worth of goods from Wine & Stone in the name of the partnership and that last in the day Seeley and Keenan quarreled and dissolved partnership, but a dispute arose as to the division of the assets and that Seeley took the goods he had obtained from Wine & Stone. On this Keenan secured the warrant to be served for the arrest of Seeley. There did not appear to be anything wanted beyond civil action for the charge, and Seeley, who is a very respectable young man, was discharged.

Dodge, 112 shares; Cornelius Doherty, W. M. Ross and William Seibert each one. W. H. Dodge is named as president and F. W. Hanson secretary and treasurer.

Asking for a Divorce.

In the third district court Hallie Henderson has brought suit against William Henderson for divorce. They were married in Salt Lake City on December 14, 1891. Mrs. Henderson alleges that since March 15, 1893, her husband has failed to provide for her support, because of his idleness, profligacy and dissipation, and that he has treated her in a cruel manner by calling her vile and abusive names in the presence of her children, by a former marriage.

Clay Aona De Cornis has entered suit for divorce from her husband, Edward De Cornis, alleging that she and the defendant intermarried at Baltimore, Md., on November 14, 1893, and that the defendant treats her more than a few years neglected to provide for the plaintiff or contribute anything to her support and on these grounds a decree of divorce is prayed for.

Sunday School Union.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday schools of this Stake met last evening, November 19, 1894, in the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms, Supt. T. C. Griggs presiding.

The excellent musical exercises were given by the South Cottonwood Sunday school choir, ably directed by Brother H. V. Halliard.

The opening prayer was offered by Brother Joseph Douglas.

Supt. Griggs announced that the Sunday school Stake conference would be held in the Tabernacle on morrow, December 9, at 10 a.m., 2 and 7 p.m. The city schools are expected to meet as usual and come to the Tabernacle in a body by a few minutes before 10 a.m., and be prepared to recite in concert the "Articles of Faith." The schools on the outskirts of the city will hold their school sessions as usual, but are requested to have representatives at the conference meetings. Prof. Levi Gregson will conduct the musical exercises at the conference. It is desired that a full attendance of each school be obtained, and the superintendents are requested to make announcements in their various wards of the meetings of the conference.

That an opportunity may be accorded of the superintendents to visit other schools, they were invited to accompany the S. S. missionaries to visit the following schools during the ensuing Sundays (Nov. 25th and Dec. 2nd):

Griggs stated that on Nov. 4th a model Sunday school was established under the auspices of the Salt Lake Stake Academy, presided over by Principal Willard Done, where representatives from each of the various schools of this Stake were invited to meet and be instructed in the work of Sunday school teaching.

After the rendering of an anthem by the choir, Prof. Done delivered an address, explaining the objects and purposes of the organization of the model Sunday school. That all the schools of the Stake may receive the full benefit of its work, it is important that each ward have representatives, and that they attend regularly. None but appointees are admitted to the school, as there is not room for others. The attendance are composed of members taken from the Sixteenth and Seventeenth ward Sunday schools, which are contiguous to the college buildings. The instructors of the school are the following well known and talented ladies and gentlemen:

Superintendent — Prof. Willard Done.

Assistant Superintendents—Henry Wallace, Stephen H. Love.

Instructors in Primary Department—Prof. Wm. M. Stewart, Miss Emily Dean, Miss Lilian Hamon.

Instructors in First Intermediate—Mrs. Annie R. Harry, Miss Donette Smith.

The session of this school begin promptly at 10 a.m. and close at 11½, after which the family and ward representatives hold a teachers' meeting, wherein matters relating to the conduct and management of Sunday schools are discussed and ventilated, questions asked and explained, and the like.

After singing by the choir and benediction by Superintendent John Sutherland, of Big Cottonwood, the meeting adjourned for one month, the Union Sunday school will furnish the music for the next meeting.

J. H. PARRY, Secretary.

LITERARY NOTE.

One of the books valuable for what it suggests rather than for what it comprises is this "Economics," of Small and Vincent. Today, when the question is not what can I do to be saved, but how should I help others, all that throws any light on social problems is invaluable. This book shows how to study social problems and though not very deep nor broad, it is simple, practical and starts out the line along which we may expect success. The authors call it "Only in training beginners" in the study of sociology, but they speak plainly. The faults of Christian socialists have been those of well-meaning people who have invited to assemble, they were invited to accompany the S. S. missionaries to visit the following schools during the ensuing Sundays (Nov. 25th and Dec. 2nd).
