OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - JAN. 24, 1895.

$30,000 Damage Suit.

In the Fourth district court suit was filed by Attorneys Rinkel & Kimball in behalf of Charles A. Dunbar to recover $30,000 from the Southern Pacific company and Joseph McIntyre. The defendant McIntyre was superintendent in the service of the Southern Pacific company, and which plaintiff was dealing a blow on a flight train he is alleged that defendant cursed and severely wounded him, which he considers willful, wanton and excessive blow.

Notes.

Ogden will notch a most sensitive place.

Mr. Evans could want from the East that he has purchased the interest of the iron plant.

The Opera packing house is doing an encouraging business. Local support is good.

F. J. Cannon sends word from New York that is quite encouraging as his success in connection with the power that bothered.

The Burns birthday celebration by the Caledonian society at the Union Opera house on Friday promises to be one of the most enjoyable celebrations of the season. The program includes an oration by James McMillan, a song by Mr. W. L. Pierce Payton, who is expert and will, to someone promptly at 8 o'clock.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - JAN. 24, 1895.

Battalion Officers.

At a meeting held by the First battalion, Second infantry, U. N. G., for the purpose of electing battalion officers, Captain E. H. Erwin of company A was elected major; Lieutenant Fuller of company D, adjutant; Sergeant McLaughlin of company C, sergeant-major; Sergeant Griffin of company B, quartermaster, and the company A band, of Brigham City, battalion band. The ballots were sent to Salt Lake, where they will be opened at a meeting of the general Territorial staff officers, on Saturday, when it is expected the choice made by the officers herewith to be approved and commissions issued. Captain Pope of Brigham City, Captain Hendricks of Hyrum and the majority of the commissioned officers of the battalion were present.

Cache County Court.

The county court held an important session on Monday and Tuesday. Among other business transacted was the fixing of salaries, the appointment of a board of quarantine, for appropriation of $25 to assist in furnishing battalion headquarters of the First battalion, Second infantry, and the disposal of numerous petitions and reports.

Notes and Personals.

J. H. Brown, of Providence, has polished some very handsome specimens of a black and gold marble, obtained from a recently discovered ledge. They are on exhibition at the office of President Kimball of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting last evening was well attended. The promised lecture by Prof. Mills, and music by the mandolin and guitar club, drew a large audience. Both lecture and music were equal to expectation, and every one was fully satisfied. The lecture was on agriculture and science, a wide field. It was delivered in a way to make it interesting as well as instructive.

Samples of the Lundberg scales are now on the market here. Mr. Lundberg is a Logan man, but he has to go East for capital, and an incorporated company in New York is manufacturing the scales.

The theological class of the Second ward Sunday school held a reunion this evening. Dancing, a musical and elocutionary entertainment, a curio program and a banquet, will furnish the class and its guests amusement enough for one evening.

A ball is to be given tomorrow evening by the local members of the U. N. G., in the Palace hall. Another one will be given at Hyrum, for the benefit of the Hyrum brass band.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Cook, of California, are visiting relatives in Logan. They formerly resided here.

As sleighing is excellent and the weather propitious, most likely the quarterly conference, on Saturday and Sunday next, will have a large attendance.

Hadie Martinez and Max Pigman will appear in the Thatcher opera house in "The Passport" shortly.

Cache County's proportion of the first installment of Territorial school funds, amounting to $7,007, has been received and distributed.

POINTS IN IRRIGATION.

Its Influence on Some Important Considerations.

Too much water is as little to be an important consideration in irrigation. But if conditions in this respect are favorable there is many an other material to success and more likely to be disturbed. It is a common idea that the irrigated farm should consider in the state of mind entirely dependent in the deposits of the sediment carried by the waters of streams. Professor Professor Frank L. Watson in his bulletin on irrigation in The American Agriculturist. No doubt there is some truth in the notion that there is sediment that is useful in the land, some more so than other, depending upon the quality of the sediment, which it is composed. I have seen it in the streams of Montana, Idaho and Wyoming, which are mostly clear, and in those of Colorado and the Southwest, the sediment is more, but usually rich in plant food. In other parts of the country, in the Mississippi valley and in the Atlantic states, the sediment is very abundant, and it is quite probable that it is of great value. It is well known that the Nile is indebted for its fertility to the sediment it carries, and it is safe to say that generally speaking, to have an abundant flow is preferable to the absence of water.

It may not be generally admitted, but it is a fact nevertheless, that the global farm house requires water equally as much as the land, and in the long run, if some system of water is impossible to obtain, the farmer will be the loser. It may seem the farmer, but as the farmer is the farmer, and the farmer is the farmer, it is a matter worth of consideration. Water is the life of the farm, and the farmer is the farmer, and the farmer is the farmer, and the farmer is the farmer.
