STATE TABLE FINISHED.

An Historical Piece at Public Furniture to be Placed in Exhibition in the State Bank Tomorrow.

The public State table on which is to be signed the first bill passed by the first State Legislature is now complete and will tomorrow be on exhibition in the office of Governor West in the State Bank of Utah. The designer and manufacturer of it, Mr. John H. Wilson, of Farmers ward, is very proud of it, and well he might be, for it represents much patience and skill and not a little expense on his part.

He commenced his task in February 8th last and never relinquished it for a moment until his mind satisfied he had done with reference to it had been carried out. The table is composed of wood grown in forty-one states and five territories. Utah's contribution is commended with the latter and she supplies a crystal emblem with Arizona, New Mexico, Indian Territory and Oklahoma finding a place respectively in the four corners. These pieces as a rule have been selected either by the governors of or by officers specially appointed by them for that purpose. There are seventy-five blocks of wood and 250 pieces in its composition. The legs—the each—are furnished to the language of Mr. Wilson, "by the four excellent cities of the United States, New York, Sacramento, St. Paul and Galveston." One of the rails that binds them together was furnished by Governor McKinley, of Ohio, and was carved by a Mr. Dahlquist of this city, while the other rail is from the first walnut tree planted in Utah and was carved by the students of the Deaf Mute Institute. Then there are a large number of other pieces of historical interest such as a specimen from a floor joist from William Penn's house, the first white man's habitation erected in Philadelphia; also a piece from the tower of the famous Liberty bell, another from the anchor stock of the Constitution, the oldest ship in the United States navy and still another from an English pay ship sunk during the Revolutionary war.

Two rare Sandwich Island specimens find place in the table as does also a valuable piece from the Hill Cumorah together with others too numerous for newspaper mention.

AMUSEMENTS.

Louis James at the Theater—Local Attractions Christmas Day.

Virginius, the ever thrilling story of the Roman father who preferred to slay his daughter with his own hands to handing her over to the tyrant, was told again at the Theater yesterday at the matinee by Mr. Louis James and his company. The audience was small but appreciative, as the performance was in every respect one of high excellence.

In the evening, when Macbeth was played, the Theater was crowded in every nook and corner, and the actor was at his best. Mr. James shows evidence in every move on the stage, in the shifting expressions and the subtle undulations of his deep, melodious voice, of careful study as well as power of execution. It is only a repetition of this remark to say that his versatility is so great as to enable him to issue completely his own personality to that of the various characters he impersonates. In this regard he compares favorably even with Henry Irving. The interpretation of Macbeth last night was a different from that of the knighted actor. It was the picture of a weak human agent constantly tortured by remorse and yet urged on by the evil influences he could not withstand, until he waded so far into the stream of blood that to return would be as difficult as to continue in the first direction. Sir Henry, on the contrary, is reported as having come to the conclusion that Macbeth should be portrayed as a villain who feasts on the deeds he has done, dwelling mentally on the various details with a sort of internal delight. But this is for scholars to decide. And in the meantime it should be noted that Mr. James is perhaps the most able interpreter of the generally accepted view of Shakespeare's great dramatic character.

Much interest was taken in Mr. James's leading lady, Miss Kruger, who has created so favorable an impression almost everywhere she has appeared. Her Virginia is pronounced the best seen on the stage in this city, and in that part as in her Lady Macbeth she demonstrated that she is probably in the necessary sense a star of great magnitude. She is young and handsome, endowed with a personality of great power. According to all accounts she has not been on the stage very long, probably not long enough to develop perfect originality.

The remaining members of the supporting company are all good. Mr. Livesay as Moldall and Mairs as Hangar were particularly impressive. Both plays were frequently applauded.

Tonight Marmion will be presented and the engagement closes tomorrow evening with Hamlet.

Another dramatic treat is in store for Salt Lake theater-goers on Monday and Tuesday next, when Thomas Keene will be seen in Louis XI and Richard III respectively.

AT THE GRAND.

Helene is being played at the Grand to crowded houses this week. The matinee and evening performances yesterday showed the popularity of the drama among the general public.

Byron Douglas and Ida Conquest, the latter with one of his stock companies, fill the roles for which they are invariably cast, the accepted and the desperate, relieved lover, with their usual emphatic success. Miss Worthington Hilliar, the Nadjeska's daughter and holds the attention especially in the dramatic scene when she draws the fatal slip of paper that decides whom of her lovers shall accommodate the other by ending his existence.

Mr. Edeson as the good-natured hale English husband of a flighty wife, keep the audience in a good humor. One would suppose, though, in a double stage manager was made detail a specialty that the twenty minutes that intervene between acts can and two are a long time to keep the same set of citizens, even in a town, in a good state of conservation.

Hoch Wan as Signor Cicconi—with public various—gives a good deal of eccentric status.

Harry Rahasay is second more ambitious role than heretofore as Teddy Smith, the American gentleman, furnishes the favorite comedy element, using the part as intended in a legitimate manner.

Helen Carr Cook appears as Lucy Marsh Carfrizard, which part she interprets in her inimitable style.

Mr. Douglas Byron, as he reports an imitative actor, is an agreeable surprise.

Miss Catherine Jerome successfully demonstrates that she is a capable member of the company.

Miss Julia Dean is a pretty Sylvia, the lady's chief, and gives an even performance.

W. H. Tucker and Miss Pollock fill small walking parts.

AT THE LYCEUM.

The Lyceum was crowded in all parts yesterday both at the matinee and the evening performance. At the close of the latter the company had a Christmas justification on the stage.

NOTORIOUS WOMAN SHOT.

Jessie Hill, of Callaway Murder Fame, a Victim of Old Lockhart's Insane Jealousy.

Jessie Hill, the notorious Salt Lake sporting woman who was the companion of Ed. Callaway, the Saints, Colorado mining man, the night she was so mysteriously murdered on State street, next door to Goodwin's Hotel house, early in June, 1891, has been made the victim of Old Lockhart's insane infatuation and jealousy.

According to a dispatch to the morning's Tribune from Idaho Falls, where the Hill woman has recently been conducting a house for creatures of her kind, she was seriously and perhaps fatally shot on Wednesday night by her old time "lover" Old Lockhart, who for years has followed her everywhere with the jealous fidelity of a dog. After firing a shot from a revolver into her body Lockhart attempted to take his own life by cutting his throat with a razor, but the tragedy was put the officers on his trail. Four hours after the shooting he was found in a stable of willows on the banks of the Snake river with his throat partially cut, having made an ineffectual attempt to commit suicide. He was taken back to Idaho Falls where his throat was sewed up and where he will be taken upon to answer for his crime. The prospects for the victim's recovery are very slim.

Found Dead at Sandy.

Lying dead at the threshold of his own home was the condition in which George Prince, an old citizen of Sandy, was found yesterday (Christmas) morning. He had been out late the night before, and the impression in the show showed that he had fallen to the ground quite severely. The fall and exposure of the weather are said to have caused his death.

GOOD BOYS IN DEMAND.

Each Day's Mail Brings in Jailor Kimball Applications for Charlie Brothers.

As an evidence that good, bright, intelligent boys are greatly in demand, especially in the farming districts, it was only necessary to refer to the case of Hile Charlie Brothers, the boy from Salida, Colorado, whose fruitless search for his parents was chronicled in these columns some weeks ago. Ever since the information went out that the lad was desirous of joining with some good family, Jailor Kimball's mail has brought for the boy applications galore. Nearly all the communications come from people of good address who are not only willing but anxious to take Charlie and adopt him into their families. But one of the applicants, however, can be considered, and as the lad has been given into the care of Bishop W. B. Preston, it is quite likely that he will send him to one of the petitioners whose letters have been received. This article will probably serve as an answer to those who have been in correspondence with the jailor.

Luscious Bananas.

The Hansen and Hughes commission house each sent a large bunch of luscious bananas to the News with Christmas compliments.

Extra Home Fire Dividend.

The board of directors of the Home Fire Insurance company have decided on paying an extra dividend of one per cent, payable on the 31st. The usual has previously declared the regular dividend of one and a half per cent on the capital of a quarter of a million, but on receiving the reports of the year's business, they decided on the extra disbursement.

ONLY ONE GOOD GAME.

Crescents and Soldiers Tie on a Score of 8 to 8, While the Cyclones and Straight Arms Quit.

Only one good game of football was indulged in yesterday, the remainder being tame. Both wheel chair failed entirely to materialize at the scheduled time as the University contingent, owing to the disgust of the corporal's guard that were present in anticipation of a game. The Cyclones, minus the traditional peace and good will to all men incidental to Christmas, started to "tie up" the 1s in a Straight Arm team. A return Cyclone started the ball in the second half by playfully sending an opponent on his noble profile, which caused an interested delay, during which enough probably was expended to last an average citizen his lifetime with one. The referee fined the offender off the field, but a referee was a mere detail to the daughty cyclones, who promptly proved their adaptability to kill, thus broke up the game with the score 8 to all.

CHRISTMAS VS SOLDIERS.

This was a good game despite the snow, that latitude any exciting opinion and great sound plays. The boys were evenly matched although the soldiers had the heavy rock Rag. All the scoring was done in the first half, two touchdowns apiece while failed to be converted into goals. For the Crescents Backs, Ayres, Perry, Lewis and O'Brien made things interesting for the boys in blue.

While Fort Douglas was well represented by Hayes, Clegg, Hamilton, Williams and others, The Crescents had the stability of "Scotty" who had a big contingent in their ranks to drown the military bugle corps of the boys in blue. The game was a good one, the best playing a sweet game. The following was the score of the contest:

LINE UP.

Crescents.	Position.	Soldiers.
Ayres	R. E.	Williams
Lewis	R. T.	Hayes
Perry	R. G.	Gaffey
Hamilton	C.	Pope
Clegg	L. G.	Hamilton
Jones	L. T.	Bassett
Jones	L. E.	Carter
Scotty	Q. B.	Lewis
Wilson	R. H.	Wilson
Wilson	L. H.	Schenck
O'Brien	F. B.	Bullock

Score, Soldiers, Touchdowns, Hamilton and Lewis, Goals, Lewis.

As the game ended in a tie, 8 to 8, the boys are anxious to settle the superiority of their respective teams at an early date.

Railway Notes.

Prove B. Y. A. Notes.

The first semester of the current year was just closed and school will not be opened again till the first Monday in January, 1896.

Most of the students have gone home, or to the homes of friends, to spend the holidays. Here and there may be seen a resident of Mexico or Arizona, too far away to get home.

The Scandinavian element is quite noticeable in all educational gatherings, pals as teachers and pupils.

A professor of German is teaching the little tots in the lower grades our German. They take to it like ducks to water, and progress so rapidly that some little matters elucidate, who are coming through the grammar of the language, are surprised.

The entire program for the Polysophical association has been outlined and splendid intellectual entertainment will be given the students next semester on every recurring Friday evening.

The theological instruction for the coming semester will be supplemented by weekly lectures from the Apostles.

The health of the students is exceptionally good.

After undergoing a rigid examination, only ninety per cent of the seven hundred and fifty students in attendance at the Brigham Young academy passed in their studies.

Penitentiary Convict Dead.

Nicholas Tremelling, a young penitentiary convict, died at that institution on Tuesday. The cause of his demise was a kidney trouble under which he wasted rapidly away the last four or five months. His offence was grand larceny and he serves three years, two of which remained to be served. His parents—an aged couple—are said to reside at Mt. Charles, Idaho.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED

WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so fearfully that I was threatened with incipient baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only two occasional applications to now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. Hanson, Avoca, Neb.
