AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Meeting of Mill Creek Farmers—Questions of Importance Discussed and Resolutions Adopted.

Correspondence of the News.

MILL CREEK, Dec. 23.—The Mill Creek Agricultural society met in the ward house a few days ago for the first time this winter with President N. D. Jensen in the chair, and H. K. North as secretary pro tem.

President Jensen urged the necessity of organization among the farmers of Utah, so as to mutually benefit one another, and by combined effort, labor for and protect the interest at large of agriculture. He stated that the farmers should incorporate their means, build and run commission houses, flour mills, dreameries and other establishments beneficial to them, and thereby protect themselves, keep up the prices of their products, and by supplying the agents procure a better market outside of Utah for our surplus. He thought that the farmers should be better represented in our legislative assemblies, so as to have better laws for the interest of agriculture; mentioned the great traffic in this country by the sale of bogus butter and cheese and other adulterated food, which caused a drawback for the sale of genuine farm products and drained the country of money. He recommended that the farmers join the State Agricultural society, and also the holding of farmers' institutes this winter, as well as keep up our home society meetings every month.

Mr. P. A. Dix, from Salt Lake City, was greatly in favor that all the different agricultural societies should join their interests together that one united strength; said that the members of our Legislature were mostly lawyers, and they do not understand what the farmers need, and our interests would very likely be neglected if we do not take steps to protect them. He gave good advice in regard to the necessity of incorporating our water streams and rights; also thought it a good thing to have a commission house, owned and controlled by the farmers, would thereby save from 25 to 50 per cent; stated that there would be held a Territorial farmers' convention after Christmas, in Salt Lake City, under the auspices of the State Agricultural society, and urged every farmer to attend.

Mr. W. N. Cole, from Riverside, then urged the necessity of organization of the farmers in every county in such a manner, that they always know how much hay, potatoes, grain of every kind, potatoes and every other product there is to be sold, and we could find markets and get reasonable prices. Urged the great need of planting more fruit trees as the fruit industry is the best paying business for the farmers at present. He moved that the chair appoint a committee of three to draft resolutions in memory of the late George H. Bailey. C. A. Wm. Smith and H. K. North were appointed. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

J. C. Hamilton was in favor of organization among the farmers, mentioned the Inter-Mountain Milling company in their methods, also urged the necessity of securing and incorporating our water rights.

Messrs. Wm. Hewson, B. H. Harrison and Wm. Smith each spoke a short time, and were in favor of the outlines presented before this meeting. Meeting adjourned until the first Monday in Jan. next.

THE STATE SOCIETY MEETING.

A meeting of the State Agricultural society will be held in the probate court room of the joint building on January 2nd next instead of on the 6th inst., as originally proposed. The program of the occasion is as follows:

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

A Stockton Miner, Whose Life Was Endangered, Escapes with the Loss of a Finger.

A Stockton miner, who answers to the name of William McFullender, placed his own life in jeopardy last night by wandering about the tracks of the U. P. yards while in a frame of mind suggestive of over-indulgence in liquid beverages.

He came near being mangled between the wheels of No. 6, but was pulled out of the way in time. The escape was a narrow and thrilling one, but not sufficiently so to cause him to take his departure from the haunts of danger. A quarter of an hour later he was knocked down by a switch engine and thrown outside the rails. He was considerably bruised and shaken up, and as a reminder of his experience will go through life from this time forward minus a finger, which was ground off by the locomotive wheels. After the accident he was moved by Patrolman Johnson to the home of a brother-in-law at 704 south West Temple street.

High School Olio.

The high school graduating class of '95 have issued a special Christmas number of the High School Olio. This special number is five or six times as large as the regular monthly number and contains all the class day exercises together with the graduating essays and those delivered by the class last June. Every one who heard these productions will be anxious to avail themselves of copies. Any number of copies can be procured at Parsons & Dodge book store for ten cents per copy. They are also for sale at Hammond's news store in the Lyceum building.

MRS. DODD'S SUDDEN DEATH.

A Salt Lake Lady Dies While on a Visit to Her Son in Idaho.

The Idaho Statesman of December 20 has the following:

Mrs. S. F. Dodd, who arrived here Sunday from Salt Lake to visit her son, Austin Dodd, of the lumber firm of Andrews & Dodd, was found dead in her bed yesterday morning about 8 o'clock at the residence of E. R. Sherman, where she had been boarding. Mrs. Dodd, who was in her sixty-second year, had been ill for some time. Wednesday night she talked with another boarder, Miss Scott, saying she felt much better. Miss Scott left her at 10 o'clock. Yesterday morning Mrs. Sherman knocked at her door as usual and received no response. Becoming alarmed she went outside her sleeping room to break open the door. She hailed Dr. Collister, who was passing by in his buggy, and he forced the door open. Mrs. Dodd was discovered cold in death. The doctor said the cause of death was heart trouble. She probably died about midnight.

The footsteps of the bereaved were notified of the sudden death of his wife by wire. He will arrive from Salt Lake today. The remains will probably be shipped to Salt Lake for burial.

Malad Stake Conference.

The quarterly conference of the Malad Stake of Zion was held in Portage meeting house, Dec. 15 and 16. Three meetings were held on Sunday and one on Monday at the usual hours. There were present of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies Seymour B. Young, the Stake presidency, members of the High Council and Bishops.

After the opening exercises Elder Wm. H. Gibbs reported the Stake in good condition and the Stake president being absent, Seymour B. Young exhorted the saints to faithfulness.

At 2 p. m. Elder John W. Taylor of the Council of the Apostles spoke on the First principles of the Gospel, and exhorted the young to study the Scriptures.

At 7 p. m. Elder Young occupied the time in a very interesting discourse on the rise and progress of the Church.

Monday, the 16th, it was thought best to hold the one meeting, the weather being so cold, in order to give the brethren and sisters from a distance a chance to get home before night. At 10 a. m. after the opening exercises, Elder Gibbs presented the authorities of the Church. Elder John W. Taylor occupied the time speaking on general principles and exhorted the Saints to faithfulness.

The good singing, under the able leadership of Prof. David P. Jones, added much to the enjoyment of the meeting.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first event of the day was the six mile road race, in which McCracken finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. Then came the track race, five laps, Barker second in the morning, Foster first, Walker second, and Thatcher third in the afternoon scratch, class B, all "Ramblers" with one race. In the half mile race A. Day took second, Carter third. Half mile handicap, Carter second, Foster third. Five mile, class B, Walker first, Day second. In this race a man in a yellow suit got lost and fell. Committee and Weiser being immediately behind him, the result was a split for the prizes, and the race not in Evans. The free mile, class A, was another Rambler event, Day taking first, Joe Beck second and McCracken third. Footrace prizes Joe Beck gave to Day which is not any one.
