GERMANY'S POLICY

Will Be Anti-English, Especially in Colonial Affairs.

WILLIAM'S ALLEGED STATEMENT.

He Stands at the Head of a European Coalition Against Great Britain —No Apology.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—The week has passed with everyone's thoughts directed to the imperial anniversary. The excitement caused by the Transvaal incident is gradually abating and the newspapers uniformly express the opinion this little difficulty will be adjusted by diplomacy, although there may be critical stages of the negotiations. The anti-English spirit, however, which was aroused by the Jameson raid, is far from spent, and it is significant that those in political circles who are in touch with the government here insist that an openly anti-English policy will henceforth be followed by Germany, especially in colonial affairs.

A conservative leader, discussing the recent complications, said that in the recent conversation which he had had with the emperor the latter said he had put himself at the head of a united European coalition against Great Britain and that the threat of the latter to bring the Transvaal (the so-called bone between Russia and France) was negligible, since both a Prince was stronger in Germany today than Great Britain close to home.

Great Britain's interests in no part of the world, his majesty is said to have continued, would tally with those of Russia and France. Besides, with the inevitable change of power on the death of Empress Frederick and the abdication of Prince Henry in England it would be folly to effect a blending of party control in England in which would be British to effect a blending with that country. This fact has been repeatedly evidenced by the representatives of Great Britain for her joining the continent, and it was further manifest in the recent works between.

The indignation aroused in Germany by the statement published in Englishmen's newspapers that the emperor made a sort of excuse of his recent telegram addressed to his grandmother, Queen Victoria, is rarely imagined. The German government newspapers have only quoted the statement during the last few days, although it is well-defined that letters have passed between the emperor and the queen. But a court official who is in daily communication with the emperor is authority for the assertion that his majesty expressed regret, but not for having sent his memorable telegram to President Kruger; it was for the manner in which it was received and commented upon in Great Britain.

Will Go to Armenia.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 19.—Rev. Charles C. U. Reagan, secretary of the American board of missions of the Congregational church, returned home hither to the Armenian question. After his return he said Miss Barton of the Red Cross society would go to Armenia to distribute the relief fund raised in the United States. She would not wait for the permission of the sultan of Turkey before starting, but upon her arrival in Constantinople she would go to the sultan with Minister Terrell and ask permission to visit Armenia in person.

Trial of Hammond.

DENVER, Jan. 19.—Father Thomas E. Hammond, son of the late General W. T. Sherman, who is engaged in business work in Denver, today received from James L. Houghteling of the Chicago firm of Peabody & Houghteling a telegram to the effect that the trial of John Hays Hammond for high treason will occur at Johannesburg tomorrow, and urging him to use his influence to avert the heavy penalty that is likely to follow Hammond's conviction.

FORTY-TWO COUNTS.

Indictments Against James Addison Pettit-Beavis.

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 18.—The United States grand jury this morning returned five indictments containing forty-two different counts against Jas. Addison Pettit-Beavis, who is claim to 10,000,000 acres of land in Arizona and New Mexico was rejected some months ago by the court of private land claims.

The indictments cover uttering forgeries, presenting false claims for land and money, presenting to the court of private land claims depositions of witnesses whom he procures to perjure himself and conspiracy and conspiracy to secure the United States, in which indictment Beavis' principal witness, Miguel Otero, is also indicted as co-conspirator.

The indictments returned today cover hundred pages printed and typewritten matter.

United States Attorney Reynolds is in the ground with the government's witnesses, ready to prosecute. Beavis will plead on Wednesday.

Big Four President a Candidate.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 19.—Since this city was one of the national Democratic headquarters, a movement to get the nomination has been started. It is claimed that an effort was made to secure the Republican national convention, as Cincinnati's candidate in 1892, and if the Democratic convention had been held here, no local candidate could have been considerably popular.

The Cincinnati delegation that went to Washington last week to present the claims of this city to the national Democratic committee was heading by Mayor Caldwell, president of the Big Four and other railways, and he is the man for a combination of business men and politicians are considering as a candidate who would command the enthusiasm of business interests in these congress cities.

Secretary Herbert's Status.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—The secretary of war, the commanding general of the army, the president and secretary of the navy of the Tennessee and the Sherman statue committee of the Army of the Tennessee met as a committee yesterday for the consideration of the competitive designs for an equestrian statue of the late General Sherman. The committee was unanimous in its action, selecting four of the sketch models for further elaboration, and the future judgment of the committee.

New York World's Palpitation.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The New York correspondent of the Times says: The New York World describes the new movement in the Senate as Hopkins gone daft, and denounces the resolution of the foreign relations committee as unveiled for, as furthering and inviting trouble, as based on a false pretense, as dangerous, and calls upon the common sense and real patriotism of the people to make themselves felt at Washington. But Washington at the present moment seems to be living a life of its own.

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The fourth annual convention of the local Christian Endeavor society closed this afternoon with an overflowing mass meeting in Central hall. Enthusiasm has run high, and Washington citizens looked upon the event as but a forerunner of the interesting convention to be held here in July next. Every society in the district was represented at the sessions, and a very large number of the city's congregations occupied platform seats.

Russia's Present Policy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A dispatch to the Herald from St. Petersburg says: Russia's policy at the present moment is steadfastly to avoid being drawn into any commission or complication with Armenia, Germany, England or Abyssinia, but to keep the Oriental question ever foremost.

The Novosti, commenting on the troublesome of the English press, says: "We cannot but wish civilization, two whose the defects is her policy, which is purely egoistical. An alliance could be useful only to her, not to us. France and Russia must remain neutral."

The Viedomosti says: "Russia must confine herself to the Orient."

More Bulgarian Trouble.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A dispatch to the Herald from St. Petersburg says: Reports received here show that another crisis is at hand in Bulgaria. Prince Ferdinand is about to be deposed by Dr. Stoilof, and wants to replace him by M. Grenoff in the office of prime minister.

Proposed Peace Convention.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Charles Henrotin, president of the general federation of women's clubs, has issued a circular letter to all the club presidents, asking them to bring forward consideration of a peace movement in Europe and this country. The ultimate hope is to have a convention of the Christian powers in 1900, with a view of establishing an international court of arbitration. Many of the club presidents have already acted in accordance with the letter.

German Gunboat for Africa.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A Cape Town dispatch to the Times says the German gunboat Sperber has started for Delgoa Bay.

The Flying Squadron.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The squadron will sail on Wednesday, probably for a long cruise, as no torpedo boats have been commissioned to accompany it. Rear-Admiral Drake, in command, will only get his final orders for the cruise at the last moment.

PREDICTION OF RAINFALL.

Experiments With Specially Constructed Kites.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The weather bureau, under the direction of Prof. Moore, is now engaged in experiments in the management of aeroplanes or kites that promise to be of high scientific value. For some time past these experiments have been made in a small way, but last Saturday preparations were made to have a test on a larger scale of several forms of kites at the Fort Meyer military reservation, and a company of scientists were on hand to witness the experiments, which, however, were postponed by a score of the prevalence of an almost absolute calm. It is the purpose of Prof. Moore to devise a system of kites that can be relied upon to carry a considerable weight, six or eight pounds, perhaps, two miles above the surface of the earth. The kite adopted for the purpose is of cellular construction, without the old fashioned tail, and has a remarkable power for lifting. It is intended to carry up to this great altitude various observation instruments, barometers, thermometers, hygrometers and other like instruments, which will automatically record the condition of the atmosphere above.

Prof. Moore feels that the weather service has now reached a satisfactory state so far as concerns predictions of winds and their violence, and of temperature, but the weak spot that remains is the prediction of rainfall. According to his theory, a vast improvement in accuracy in this respect can be obtained by a full knowledge of what is going on in the air far above the earth, and he expects to ascertain this by means of his kites.

Gen. Campos Makes a Statement.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A dispatch to the World from Havana says: Gen. Martinez Campos, after surrendering the supreme command in Cuba to Gen. Martin, made the following indignant statement to the World. The cause for his transmission by cable and I send it by messenger to Key West. General Campos's statement:

"I speak because I am now a private citizen, and not the governor general. He it known that I have not resigned; the government has removed me, and has done well.

"I feel a great resentment, caused by the conduct of the parties in Cuba. Nations exercise their sovereignty in various ways, but the best should always rule. The principle of authority should be superior to all else.

"I have been opposed because, while I may break, yet I never bend. I have prevented a repetition of the calamities of the last war, and this has been disbelief to the made.

"The situation is this: Here is a province, distant from the mother country, where the political parties by the attitude they are taking, think to shape the policy of Spain. If they had not this idea, I could speedily show what the necessities of the situation are.

"But they know that they would find me in the way if they should ask me to effect an entire change in the situation to the measure of students in the last war, and because of this knowledge they compile behind my back.

"Yes, this justifies the true saying that Spain has lost the Antilles, because of the Spaniards themselves.

"This is a country of shopkeepers who want to govern, and it is they who are wrecking the country to ruin. Time will tell if this is not so."

Populist Convention in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 18.—A meeting of the executive committee of the national Populist committee was unexpectedly called last night to consider some new propositions presented by the Business Men's league of St. Louis. After discussing them, the committee decided to hold the national convention in St. Louis on July 22nd.

Opening of the Swedish Riksdag.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 18.—The Riksdag was opened today by King Oscar in person. In the speech from the throne his majesty said he heartily desired that all causes for discord between Sweden and Norway should be permanently set aside, in view of events on every side, which make it more necessary than before for the security of the liberty and independence of the Scandinavian peninsula that both nations should hold fast together.

The king added that the large surplus in the treasury would permit of the adoption of the proposed grants for ships and fortresses, to be provided for the national defense, and for the maintenance of the country's neutrality in the event of warlike developments.

Cuban War.

HAVANA, Jan. 17. — There is to be no change in the policy of the government in Cuba. It is announced, as the result of the changes in the executive office. It is also asserted that political refuges will be transported as soon as the progress of the war will allow. No further specifications are given as to what the contemplated reforms are, or how far they will extend.

A dispatch from Madrid asserts that Gen. Duke Alburquerque is to be appointed captain-in-chief of Gen. Martinez.

Further reports have now been received of the engagement between Col. Dabbie and the insurgents near Bitabanos. It is said the insurgent forces that attacked him were those of Gomez. The troops met the attack of the insurgents on their knees, and without their fire until the enemy was within a short distance. The report says the insurgents left eleven killed on the field, and nine were found in a cane field a short distance away. The Spanish artillery did good execution. The insurgents retreated, it is reported with a numerous loss, while the loss of the troops was insignificant.
