TRAMPLED TO DEATH

Mrs. Phoebe N. Hatch Killed by a Horse at Bountiful.

RELATIVE OF SENATOR MATTHEWS

And a Native of Utah—Five Children Left to Mourn the Demise of a Kind and Loving Mother.

At 10:15 yesterday, Sunday, morning, Mrs. Phoebe N. Hatch was trampled to death by a horse at South Bountiful.

It appears that a horse belonging to the unfortunate lady was afflicted with sore legs, and Mrs. Hatch went to the stable to bathe them, as she had previously done. Suddenly a scream was heard by the children and a son rushed out to the stable to discover its cause. He was horror-stricken by the sight that met his eyes. The animal stood with his front feet in the manger and his hind feet grinding the body of his beloved mother. With difficulty the young man, assisted by a companion, dragged the unfortunate woman from beneath the horse's heels, but the attempt to save her life was fruitless. She had already breathed her last.

The only explanation offered is that while performing the kind office for the horse the lady fell beneath his feet and the animal becoming frightened commenced to jump around in the stall, stamping his mistress to death. The horse was very much terrified when the son hurried to the stall and it was with great difficulty that the lady's body was taken out, life being extinct before the rescue could be made.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Bishop Brown of South Bountiful and a sister-in-law of United States Senator Lee Mantle of Montana. Her first husband, a brother of the Senator, was killed in Pleasant Valley, Montana, some years ago, and she married Nathaniel, Mr. Hatch, who preceded her in death. Mrs. Hatch leaves five children to mourn a mother's loving presence. She was a native of Utah and was born in 1859.

Funeral services of the remains of the unfortunate lady will be held in the South Bountiful meeting house at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, at which all friends are asked to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed.

DEATH OF MRS. GILLESPIE.

She Passes Away Under Circumstances Sad and Distressing.

A death, the circumstances connected with which are most distressing, occurred in the Fifth ward of this city, at 12 o'clock, noon, yesterday.

On Tuesday evening last, Mrs. Annie D. Gleaves Gillespie, wife of James M. Gillespie, was taken suddenly ill. A physician was immediately summoned to her bedside and he pronounced the woman as being afflicted with a severe attack of pneumonia. On Thursday, Mrs. Gillespie, while suffering from the sickness which had so quickly come upon her, gave birth to a child, the death of which occurred the following day. Yesterday her free spirit took its flight and she was summoned to the great beyond, leaving a devoted husband and four tender children, all under eight years of age.

Deceased was an estimable woman, loving wife and a kind and affectionate mother. In life her desires were of the best, and in her actions she was quiet, industrious and neighborly. She was in her thirty-third year.

Funeral will take place from the Fifth Ward meeting house tomorrow, Tuesday at 2 p. m. Friends are invited to attend.

ELDER AARON GARLICK,

More About His Later Connection With the Church.

MIDWAY, Wasatch County,
February 6, 1896.

To the Editor:

Will you allow me to supplement the obituary note of our late and respected brother, Aaron Garlick, as it appears in the issue of February 1st, DESERET EVENING NEWS.

When young Joseph Smith set up his claim to the succession of his father as leader of the Latter-day Saints, Brother Aaron Garlick, probably like many others, thought he would be in the right track to follow him. Before this, when he left Utah, he had not yet been united with any change of the Priesthood, but after joining the new departure, by his worthiness he rose to become president of the Josephite district of Gennessaretta. Subsequently he found its mistake, relinquished the presidency, priesthood and membership in that organization, without losing the friendship and respect of the congregation, whose meetings he used to attend. In 1871, an Elder from Utah passed through California, making a temporary sojourn there, on his way to Switzerland. Hearing of this, Brother Garlick sought and found him after searching his case, the Elder felt impelled to baptizing him, his wife also, and ordained the two sons, Jerome and Edward. At the time of their confirmation, and with the consent of Brother Frederick Merryweather, Brother Aaron Garlick was ordained an Elder, that he might preside over his family and little flock. His baptism and that of his sons took place on the 29th October, 1871; that of his wife on the 30th, date confirmation on the same day, and that of the wife on the 5th November. On the latter date the Elder said Him, at given him charge, to preside over that little branch, including Brother and Sister Merryweather, who were their counsel, with instruction as to the admitting or refusing new members, as he might think proper. In 1874 on his return to Utah, the Elder found Brother Merryweather in Salt Lake City, who told him that the little congregation had increased to numbers to about a dozen members. Some time after, Brother Edward Crosby of St. George visited California and was with them some time, and knew of these facts. The Elder referred to, although not a missionary appointed to that particular mission field, but considered himself authorized to act in such case, as there was then no Church authority in office, and himself being for the time being, a seventy at large; and a report of the proceedings was sent to the Historian's Office at the time.

Peace to be Brother Aaron's rest, and to living remembrances to his bereaved family.

Respectfully yours for truth,
FRIDTJOF LEONA.

Missionary Farewell.

All of the young Elder's friends are invited to participate in this occasion of appreciation of Brother Chamberlain's faithfulness in the ward in the past and a expression of confidence in his integrity in the new position he is called to fill.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Nephi Binder: A serious accident happened Monday last to D. M. Miller and he will always carry the marks of it on his face. It seems that a mule belonging to the Miller family had a molasses pot in place of a pitchfork thrust in its leg. The animal was laid down and Mr. Miller was in the act of pulling the fine out when the animal succeeded in freeing one of its legs and landed a sharp shod hoof to his face. He was conveyed to the house and an examination made which found that one of the coulks had been driven into his nose and terribly scaling his face in other parts.....A curious meteorological phenomenon passed over Deseret on Wednesday afternoon. A great cloud was seen to gather in the northwest and round on over the valley towards the southeast, and while the storm lasted only about thirty minutes, it made everything quake. Accompanying the wind was a slight shower of what was at first supposed to be distilled aqua pura. But as it dried it was discovered to be alkali and every window on south exposure has a coating of it on outside, as does everything else that was out of doors at the time. It is supposed the wind took up the almost impalpable alkali dust from the surface of the great Salt Lake desert and that it became mixed with the moisture of the cloud and was precipitated in the form mentioned above.

Manti Messenger: Anders Nielsen, an old man aged 70 years, who lives in the extreme west part of town, while splitting wood on Tuesday had the misfortune of cutting off his left thumb.....The Sanpete Valley people are everything in readiness for the scrambling of their land from the Meadow mines in Nephi. They are only waiting now for spring weather to commence operations, then the girl will fly to dear earnest.....The Internal Revenue collector was in Manti last week. It is reported that Bruce Brown had an assay made this week which ran gold, the rock being taken from the original ledge in the Manti mountains. Silver Star Park was brought to from Ded.er's canyon, in the west mountains, which carries free gold in considerable quantities. Our prospectors are quite jubilant over these finds, and who can say but we of Sanpete have not discovered a second Mercur.

Manti Sentinel: George Peacock has just returned from the desert, where he went on account of a report that some cattle were stealing his sheep. It appears that he has discovered a band in another herd, with a new brand on them, and that another party had found a band of his sheep in the same herd. As a result of these discoveries, Policemen Tidwell of Nephi, and Eugene Whitney of Manti, again are under bonds.

Payson Globe: H. S. Bruce, of Lake Shore, met with a very serious accident on Saturday last. He was hauling manure, when his team became frightened and started to run, throwing Mr. Bruce out of the wagon onto the tongue. He managed to get back into the wagon and in attempting to jump out, caught his foot on the spring of the seat, which threw him to the ground with such force as to break his right arm above the elbow.....Seven of Payson's young men rising generation were arrested last week for attending a meeting at the assembly hall. They placed a large pole against the door and when James Rose went to open it the pole fell down and cracked him on the head. They were brought up before Justice Wilson Saturday and four of them, William Freeman, Horace Johnson, Nelson Johnson and David John Freeman, were fined one, two, three and four dollars respectively, according to age; the ninth being about eighteen. The boys pleaded inability to pay the fines, but the lads went to the cooler. Monday they were out on the street doing service for the city.

Diphtheria is causing some of the Americans Fork schools to close.

Fillmore Progress: Our young friend, Frank Hansen, met with a very serious accident Monday morning, whereby he is liable to lose the sight of one eye. He was stooping over a tub to get a pumpkin to feed to cows. Not being able to conveniently reach it, he stuck a butcher knife into the pumpkin and was in the act of over the top, the pumpkin being partly decayed, he weight caused it to suddenly slip, and the knife, relieved of the weight, came back in the direction of Frank's eye, cutting the lower part of the eye ball about half an inch long. He will be taken to Salt Lake as soon as it is safe to move him, where he will receive the best possible treatment.....The gale which struck Fillmore about 4:00 Wednesday afternoon was a heavy. It struck Dexter Olsen's two story new brick house and clew in the north side and part of the east side upper story, throw Dexter's household goods in a chaos, smashing bedsteads and other furniture in the room. Luckily the two children and the sixth girl, who were in the house at the time, were in the kitchen and escaped injury.

OGDEN, UTAH, FEB. 10, 1896.

OGDEN CITY COUNCILORS.

They Are Charged With Engaging in a Conspiracy.

In the Second district court Saturday there was filed a complaint by Richard T. Hunter, who was appointed city auditor by Mayor Spencer, but was not confirmed by the city council, against Willis T. Beardsley, J. N. Pearce, E. M. Conroy, George W. Jones, Richard Hill, James Taylor, M. L. Jones, H. C. Wardleigh, Chas. H. Greenwell, S. F. Ann and Thomas Brewington, defendants who constitute the city council, except W. Beardsley, who holds the office of city auditor. The complaint is lengthy, but is a very interesting one, plaintiff alleges:

1. That Ogden City is a city of the second class within Weber county, and that H. H. Spencer, on the 1st day of January, 1896, as the mayor-elect of said city, entered upon the duties appertaining thereto, having previously duly qualified, and ever since has been and is now the mayor thereof and duly acting as such.

Second—The defendants other than said Beardsley are the members of the city council of said city and entered upon their duties on the said day and have ever since been and do now comprise the city council of said city.

Third—That said Beardsley was appointed and confirmed and qualified as auditor of public accounts of said city in January, 1894, for the term of two years, and has acted ever since as such auditor and with no other authority than said appointment.

Fourth—That the revised ordinances of said city on page 115 provide as follows:

"Section 1.—The appointive officers of the city shall be a city attorney, supervisor of streets, city engineer, inspector of nuisances, sanitary inspector, city physician, poll tax collector, superintendent of public buildings, auditor of public accounts, city sexton, inspector of shoes, inspector of provisions, dog tax collector and pound keeper.

Section 2—The mayor shall by and with the advice and consent of the city council appoint, on and before the first Monday of February, 1896, and annually thereafter, all the officers named in section one of this ordinance.

Fifth—That on the third Monday of January, 1896, said council being in regular session, said mayor in due form of law and for their advice and consent, notified it that he appointed Richard T. Hunter as auditor of public accounts for said city, and at the same time submitting appointments for other offices mentioned in section one of said ordinance aforesaid. That upon the motion of defendant George W. Jones and on partial defendants Frank Hill, M. L. Jones, Wardleigh and Brewington, said appointments were laid on the table.

Sixth—That said council has been in regular session upon each and every Monday since and plaintiff alleges that said mayor has at each and all sessions endeavored to have anybody take action upon the appointment of said Hunter, and appointees for other offices made by him, but said council, by the vote of said last mentioned members, has in every instance, with the slight exception of that of the city attorney, wholly refused so to do, and upon every attempt made to take any of said nominations from the table, said last mentioned members persistently voted the same down and formally did so last Monday, that being the first Monday in February, 1896.

Seventh—That prior to said third Monday in January, 1896, said six members, by secret agreement among themselves, determined that no appointments for offices by Mayor Spencer should be confirmed without his fiat, express and apart from regular council, should submit to them for private interest a list of all the names he proposed to send in for the respective offices of said city, and they further determined that no appointment for offices by said mayor should be confirmed without he first proved satisfactory to members that they should have the absolute naming of who should be appointed to six of said offices.

Eighth—That said mayor, declining to be a party to any such arrangement, insisting upon making appointments as provided by law in the manner indicated by law, said six members carried out their determination so aforesaid—with one slight exception—by persistently and obstinately refusing to take the appointment of Hunter from the table and refused to take any other action thereon except to lay it on the table; and at and during all these times saying that no objections had been made by any one as to the character, ability and standing or qualification of said Hunter or any other appointee, and said six last named members based their actions wholly on the ground that no confirmation could be made until the city never first "came to their terms" as aforesaid and sent to said council the names designated by them for said six offices as aforesaid.

Ninth—That the last meeting of said council took place on the first Monday in February, 1896, and said six members again refused, by vote, to take any action upon said appointment of said Hunter and others, and since the adjournment of said meeting said six members have given out that their action is a determination that has been and was to make the said council come to their terms as aforesaid, or else hold the nominations until after said first Monday in January and then the time would be too late and the mayor could make no appointments.

Tenth—That since said meeting said Hunter was duly qualified as said auditor and thereafter demanded of said Beardsley the possession of the books and papers and office of said auditorship, but said Beardsley wholly refuses to relinquish the office, although the mayor has notified said Beardsley that his term of office has expired and that he has been appointed by said Hunter, but said Beardsley wholly refuses to vacate said office or turn the same over to said Hunter and for the use of said Beardsley the said books and papers the said office to the exclusive of said Hunter.

Wherefore the plaintiff demands judgment First, That the defendant is not entitled to the said office and that he be ousted and excluded therefrom. Second, that the plaintiff is entitled to said office and that he be admitted to the same and to all the rights and emoluments thereof.

Albert H. Heyward is attorney for plaintiff.

Notes.

The evangelical cause is not the most enthusiastic of work a person can engage in in Utah. The harvest is ripe is not abundant. One who has toiled long and hard in Ogden says: "The Godlike population of the West is not conspicuous for evangelical influences, and the Methodists are doing in particular need of such influences, the conditions are not encouraging in the labors."

Frederick Warde's performances at the Grand Opera house were crowned with success, the house being filled at each performance.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, FEB. 10, 1896.

Court Notes.

In the case of Barlow Ferguson, administrator, vs Samuel Clifford et al, the court instructed the jury to render a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. The C. J. Dantelson grain larceny case occupied the greater portion of two days. The jury found five for conviction and three for acquittal, and found it impossible to agree. On Saturday afternoon the empaneling of a new jury to try the case was commenced. In the case of The Gemesee Co. Savings bank vs A. J. Bigler et al, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. John M. Gooins sued his wife, Ellen, for divorce, but the defendant made such a showing in her cross-complaint that she was granted a divorce, the custody of their one child, half of a certain city lot, or in lieu thereof $350, and $12.50 per month alimony. In the case of Lorenzo Peterson vs Moses Simpkins, a decree of judgment in favor of plaintiff was entered. A motion to set aside judgment by default in the case of George L. Farrel vs. George E. Blair was taken under advisement. In the Ainsough vs. Ainsough case, a new hearing on demurrer was granted and leave given to amend said demurrer. The new trial in the Danielson case will set the calendar one day in arrears, so that a jury will probably not adjourn until Friday.

Notes.

On Friday evening two balls were given, one by the B. Y. College Athletic association, for the purpose of necessary apparatus, and the other by the Elder's Quorum of the Second ward, as a farewell social party to Elder Noah Mathieson, who is soon to depart on a mission to the Southern states.

On Thursday evening the Y. L. M. I. A. of the Ninth ward, very pleasantly surprised the Young Men's association. The ladies carried an abundant feast, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

M. E. Hand Hatch, who leaves the Freshman woolen mills last year, in considering the advisability of building a woolen factory in Star Valley Power is very nearly abandoned, as it is in the heart of a wool growing section of country.

The current was cut through the wires at the Hercules Light & Power company on Saturday evening, and their office was brilliantly illuminated with a light superior to any we see in Logan.

A souvenir of Logan City and Cache county will be gotten out in the near future by our chamber of commerce. It is intended to contain all necessary information relative to our locality.

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore
