from Arthur Pratt, chief of police of Salt Lake, Utah: "Have you a man by the name of Hayes in your custody? If so, we want him for robbery. Two men robbed a Denver & Rio Grande express car near Green River station last night. We have a description of the men and their clothes. Have you any such men in your city? Please wire us at our expense if you have them. Respectfully, Arthur Pratt, Chief of Police, Salt Lake City, Utah."

Detective Hayes and Helper made a search of the baggage rooms at the Union depot, and reported that Chief Pratt would have to have the lost(?) baggage from Salt Lake, Rock Springs, Green River and Rawlins, Kansas City. They reported that so far they have made no discovery of any trace of the lost baggage in the city. It is believed that Harmann's baggage went west from Kansas City, in our direction, being somewhere in the northwest.

Veteran Firemen.

Special meeting of the Veteran Firemen's Association this evening, June 3rd, at 8 o'clock. Business of importance. By order of

M. M. OTTESEN,
President.

RESULTS OF THE STORM.

Report on the Condition of the City Inundated—Income Breeding Mists.

The results of Friday and Saturday's rainstorms are very much in evidence on the outskirts of the city. Especially is this the case in the rural districts of the southwest, in portions of the Fifth and the new Eighth wards. The homes of many of the people in these localities are completely isolated and in some instances the adobe jail has been brought into active service, putting itself in impregnable adjunct to the possessions of those who have reared to themselves, abiding places in these districts.

The road on Seventh South between Fourth and Fifth West streets, presents a lake-like appearance, and the people residing on property abutting thereon have had to resort to the horseback wading proposition in order to perform service in connection with their daily avocations. A vast expanse of golden spot, with a most overpowering odor, has sprung up, presents itself on Fifth West between Sixth and Seventh South streets. Here a few years ago was a canal which rendered very effective service in draining streets and gardens of their superabundant of heaven's downfall, but since the new order of affairs was ushered in, the waste-water reservoirs has been filled up, and the road in that locality are made impassable, gardens are robbed of their vegetation, while the olfactory organs of the inhabitants there are taxed to the utmost, in the inhalation of aromatic draughts not of the most pleasant nature, and extend hearty up these lands being converted into lively clam culturing grounds.

Turning to the south and west of this point a reformation of former people present one is presented. Pools of water are seen in every hand, working an effervescent process in the sunlight and becoming stagnant and extremely noxious, until people who a short time back felt as though they were living in an embryotic paradise, murmur in disgust and wish that they could flee, and that quickly, to pastures more health-giving and congenial. Old residents declare that many years have passed since they were subjected to such annoyance and damage through heavy rainfalls and overflowing stream, and they are very emphatic in their condemnation of those who were the instruments in bringing about the filling up of canals and ditches which were opened up by the Pioneers of this valley to carry off the over-abundance of water which generally comes upon us at this season of the year. As things now are it is next to an impossibility, they say, for the watermaster and his assistants to drain the outlying districts, and the only remedy at hand is for old Sol to come out in all his vengeance and carry all the water by means of the evaporation process.

DAILY WEATHER VANE.

Observations Taken at Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Nevada Stations.

Weather reports showing observations at 5 a.m. today:

Salt Lake City—Barometer, 29.65; temperature, 56; minimum, 52; wind southeast; 12 miles per hour; cloudy.

Baker City—Barometer, 29.70; temperature, 48; minimum, 46; wind northwest; velocity light; cloudy.

Cheyenne—Barometer, 29.80; temperature, 52; minimum, 50; wind west; light; rain and cloudy.

Helena—Barometer, 29.80; temperature, 52; minimum, 52; wind west; light; rain in last 24 hours, 34 (cloudy).

Miles City—Barometer, 29.88; temperature, 50; minimum, 48; rain; rain last 24 hours, .71 (clear.

Winnemucca — Barometer, 29.66; temperature, 48; minimum, 44; wind west; light; rain last 24 hours, trace; clear.

Lander Pass—Barometer, 29.70; temperature, 50; minimum, 46; wind, south, 20 miles per hour; rain in 24 hours, .90; cloudy.

General local forecast for 36 hours ending 5 p.m. June 3: For Utah, showers cooler this afternoon; cloudy tonight; rain weather.

Salt Lake City and vicinity: Cloudy and continuing temperature.

Today's temperature is shown in the lea shade thermometer given below.

THE HYNDS TRIAL.

Prosecution Has Examined All Its Witnesses in the Case.

THE CASE WILL NOT BE RESTED.

Decaulbee Interest Manifested in the Proceedings—Testimony Jarrie with Newspaper Reports.

After seventy-seven men had been examined for service as the jury in the Hyne murder case the twelfth and last juror was found in the person of J. B. Nowlin—and, however, before eight jurors had been interrogated the following, C. D. Riter, H. P. Moore, Dr. D. Richards, J. H. Bennett, W. A. Hendricks, E. and Regis Park were the good men, in addition to Mr. Nichols, who underwent the cross fire of the attorneys this morning, and all were excused from service except the last named.

THE JURY.

The jury which will try this case is of one composed of the following gentlemen:

Dan Griffin, John Gallagher, C. S. Maggetts, Henry E. Cobb, J. W. Whitehead Jr., W. M. Holey, J. H. Rogers, Emil Herrmann, Isaac Hirshberg, Frank Chandler, John Deering and J. H. Nelson.

WHITEMORE'S STATEMENT.

When the jury panel was completed, County Attorney Whitemore made the following opening statement for the prosecution:

The State expects to show that the defendant Harry Hynds, on the first day of March, 1896, at the residence of the deceased, willfully and with malice aforethought killed and slew Walter J. Dowdowey, and that the killing was premeditated.

Dr. Richards Testifies.

Dr. Jos. R. Richards was the first witness called by the prosecution. He testified that he was a practicing physician and had been for twenty-one years. On the first of March of this year he was called, between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning of that day, to No. 225 South Temple street. He saw there Mr. W. P. Noble and the defendant. He saw Walter J. Dowdowey lying on the floor in the hallway (pointing out the window and position of the body on a photo of the house exhibited beside the jury). Remained in the house anywhere from ten to twenty minutes. Dowdowey was his patient, was shot and stabbed, his buckle was also on but not fastened. There was a wound in the deceased's right temple. Walter was taken to St. Mark's hospital and died a little before 12 o'clock noon. Made an examination of the body and found three bullet wounds; one ball had entered the posterior half of the skull ranging forward and downward. There was also a bullet wound in the right shoulder, back of the clavicle. A bullet wound was also found in the left side in front of the body. The wound in the head and the one in the left side would either one have proved fatal. Dowdowey was unconscious.

Cross-examined by Judge Powers Dr. Richards said he reached the house of Mr. Hynds about 10 o'clock. Found Mrs. Hynds there. Hynds was in the hallway and Mr. Noble was there with him. Officer Swanson and Pratt were also in the house.

When Judge Powers asked the Witness what was said in the house the prosecution objected and the objection was sustained by the court. Mr. Powers said the witness had testified that the deceased was unconscious, but he desired to show that Dowdowey spoke after the officers arrived, saying, "Mamie, Mamie, come and kiss your boy." The court rules that the objection of the prosecution was well founded but that the showing of the defense could be entered upon the records.

Dr. Richards said he did not testify before the committing magistrate Judge Waugh, that Dowdowey had his coat on in his hand, neither did he say that Dowdowey's watch was in his hand when he found him lying in the face of the hallway. No further interrogation was elicited on cross examination and the doctor was excused.

Miss Edith Noble.

Miss Edith Noble testified for the prosecution that about 10 o'clock on the morning of March 1st she was in the kitchen at Mr. Dowdowey's on East Brigham street about a quarter of a block from Mr. Hynds's residence.

"Did you hear a noise?"

The witness called to her father and she said saying, "Have you a man? Come with me immediately." Mr. Hynds said, "Do you Dowdowey?"

On cross-examination the witness said Hynds looked very excited and when excited she went right to the house. He went back to the house when asking the statement related to.

Henry Dowdowey.

Henry Dowdowey, brother of the deceased, was next called by the prosecution. He testified that Walter would have been twenty-eight years of age on the 5th of March. Saw Walter Dowdowey at the hospital about 11 o'clock on the 1st of March. Examined the clothing of the deceased. Found a pocket book and one dollar in change on the floor of the room. He was dressed in coat, vest and pants. There were no pocket books in the pocket of the coat. Mr. Nichols handed the witness a watch and chain. Witness said that was the watch and chain he had on when he was shot. Witness said he was in the habit of wearing the watch and chain on the coat.

CROSS-EXAMINED BY COLLER.

Judge Powers, on cross-examination asked Mr. Dowdowey if Walter were addicted to gambling.

The prosecution objected that the question was irrelevant, and the Witness answered in the affirmative.

Judge Power—Were some letters inscribed with the word "Mamie," or the words, "From Mamie?"

I did not see any inscription on the buckle.

Was there any engraving on the buckle?

There might have been some inscription.

Judge Hilton Emphatic.

Prosecuting Whitemore here announced that the State had no more testimony to offer, when Judge Powers demanded that the prosecution be required to produce the witness W. P. Noble, saying that they should produce all eye-witnesses to the tragedy and those who were instrumental in producing the indictment.

Attorney John M. Zane, for the prosecution, called his outside attention to a review of the Supreme court of the State concerning such cases and argued that the prosecution was not compelled to produce all witnesses. "Finally," said Mr. Zane, "your honor will not overrule a decision of the Supreme court."

"No," replied Judge Hilton, "I will not, but there is no case denied."

Mr. Zane—I will produce it.

The court ordered the production of the witness Noble, and while a search was being made for the Supreme court decision referred to by Mr. Zane, the county attorney objected to the order of the court. Mr. Zane also took occasion to place the objection of the prosecution when Judge Hilton emphatically announced:

"Counsel must bow to the order of the court, otherwise I shall make some rulings which will terminate this case speedily."

W. P. Noble was therefore called and Mr. Zane said the prosecution had no questions to ask the witness.

"Then do you turn the witness over to us for cross-examination?" asked Julius Powers.

Mr. Whitemore—Yes, the court does.

Questioned by Judge Powers Mr. Noble testified that he lived next door to the defendant. He carried his daughter Edith into his house after she fainted and then ran to Hynds's house. Hynds said "I have shot Walter Dowdowey." Witness hurried to meet his father, Mr. Hynds said he wanted to give himself up. Found Dowdowey in the bath room in a sitting posture and straightened him out so that his feet were in the bath room and head and shoulders in the hall.

RECEIVED HYNDS'S CHECK.

Judge Powers—Did Mr. Hynds hand you a check at the same time saying "Take care—a thing I wish I had never seen it?"

Objected to by the defense and the objection was sustained.

The witness, however, testified that Hynds did hand the check to him. Mr. Noble was there when the officers came and was present when Dowdowey was taken to the hospital. Walter was partially dressed for the witness thought out his coat, overcoat and hat from the room adjoining the bed room. Mr. Noble handed Officer Pratt a check for $5 on the Hynds's pocket. Hynds was very pale and very much excited.

At this point a recess was taken till two o'clock.

THIS AFTERNOON.

When court resumed in instance at 2 o'clock the afternoon the place which was held by the defendant in trying Walter Dowdowey was interrogated in evidence.

Mr. Zane moved to strike out all the testimony of the witness W. P. Noble, on the ground that he was made a witness for the prosecution.

Judge Powers desired the court to require the prosecution to produce as a witness Annie Green, who was a servant in the Hynds residence, but who had resigned the situation.

Judge Hilton said, however, that would be denied the motion, if the prosecution withheld any information in her which might lead to a justification of the defendant he should compel the jury to disregard the testimony of the witness in favor of the defendant.

Judge Powers's Case.

Judge Powers informed the jury and asked the court of the proceedings. In the course of his speech Mr. Powers said:

"The evidence so far produced in this case goes to the question of adverse as explanation. The prosecution has carried on the case as a civil case. The people of this State are desirous of having the highest tribunal in the land decide whether it is the case in a criminal case, he can be compelled to be a witness against himself. The prosecution seems anxious to call everyone and all witnesses in the case which will tend to throw a shadow on the character of the defendant. Call the prosecution a fair trial."

The defense made that very strong objection of the swearing out of the witness Noble, the officer in the case, Mary Green, Annie Green, Officer Swanson, Officer Pratt, Officer Nichols, Mr. Hynds and others.

Mr. Powers continued the plea of the case of Mr. Hynds, calling it to the attention of Mrs. Hynds was an accountant on East Brigham street about a quarter of a block from Mr. Hynds's residence.

"Did you hear a noise?"

The witness called to her from the door saying, "Have you a man? Come with me immediately." Mrs. Hynds said, "Do you Dowdowey?"

On cross-examination the witness said Hynds looked very excited and when excited she went right to the house. He went back to the house when asking the statement related to.

Henry Dowdowey.

Henry Dowdowey, brother of the deceased, was next called by the prosecution. He testified that Walter would have been twenty-eight years of age on the 5th of March. Saw Walter Dowdowey at the hospital about 11 o'clock on the 1st of March. Examined the clothing of the deceased. Found a pocket book and one dollar in change on the floor of the room. He was dressed in coat, vest and pants. There were no pocket books in the pocket of the coat. Mr. Nichols handed the witness a watch and chain. Witness said that was the watch and chain he had on when he was shot. Witness said he was in the habit of wearing the watch and chain on the coat.

CROSS-EXAMINED BY COLLER.

Judge Powers, on cross-examination asked Mr. Dowdowey if Walter were addicted to gambling.

The prosecution objected that the question was irrelevant, and the Witness answered in the affirmative.

Judge Power—Were some letters inscribed with the word "Mamie," or the words, "From Mamie?"

I did not see any inscription on the buckle.

Was there any engraving on the buckle?

There might have been some inscription.

Judge Hilton Emphatic.

Prosecuting Whitemore here announced that the State had no more testimony to offer, when Judge Powers demanded that the prosecution be required to produce the witness W. P. Noble, saying that they should produce all eye-witnesses to the tragedy and those who were instrumental in producing the indictment.

Attorney John M. Zane, for the prosecution, called his outside attention to a review of the Supreme court of the State concerning such cases and argued that the prosecution was not compelled to produce all witnesses. "Finally," said Mr. Zane, "your honor will not overrule a decision of the Supreme court."

"No," replied Judge Hilton, "I will not, but there is no case denied."

Mr. Zane—I will produce it.

The court ordered the production of the witness Noble, and while a search was being made for the Supreme court decision referred to by Mr. Zane, the county attorney objected to the order of the court. Mr. Zane also took occasion to place the objection of the prosecution when Judge Hilton emphatically announced:

"Counsel must bow to the order of the court, otherwise I shall make some rulings which will terminate this case speedily."

W. P. Noble was therefore called and Mr. Zane said the prosecution had no questions to ask the witness.

"Then do you turn the witness over to us for cross-examination?" asked Julius Powers.

Mr. Whitemore—Yes, the court does.

Questioned by Judge Powers Mr. Noble testified that he lived next door to the defendant. He carried his daughter Edith into his house after she fainted and then ran to Hynds's house. Hynds said "I have shot Walter Dowdowey." Witness hurried to meet his father. Mr. Hynds said he wanted to give himself up. Found Dowdowey in the bath room in a sitting posture and straightened him out so that his feet were in the bath room and head and shoulders in the hall.

RECEIVED HYNDS'S CHECK.

Judge Powers—Did Mr. Hynds hand you a check at the same time saying "Take care—a thing I wish I had never seen it?"

Objected to by the defense and the objection was sustained.

The witness, however, testified that Hynds did hand the check to him. Mr. Noble was there when the officers came and was present when Dowdowey was taken to the hospital. Walter was partially dressed for the witness thought out his coat, overcoat and hat from the room adjoining the bed room. Mr. Noble handed Officer Pratt a check for $5 on the Hynds's pocket. Hynds was very pale and very much excited.

At this point a recess was taken till two o'clock.

THIS AFTERNOON.

When court resumed in instance at 2 o'clock the afternoon the place which was held by the defendant in trying Walter Dowdowey was interrogated in evidence.

Mr. Zane moved to strike out all the testimony of the witness W. P. Noble, on the ground that he was made a witness for the prosecution.

Judge Powers desired the court to require the prosecution to produce as a witness Annie Green, who was a servant in the Hynds residence, but who had resigned the situation.

Judge Hilton said, however, that would be denied the motion, if the prosecution withheld any information in her which might lead to a justification of the defendant he should compel the jury to disregard the testimony of the witness in favor of the defendant.

Judge Powers's Case.

Judge Powers informed the jury and asked the court of the proceedings. In the course of his speech Mr. Powers said:

"The evidence so far produced in this case goes to the question of adverse as explanation. The prosecution has carried on the case as a civil case. The people of this State are desirous of having the highest tribunal in the land decide whether it is the case in a criminal case, he can be compelled to be a witness against himself. The prosecution seems anxious to call everyone and all witnesses in the case which will tend to throw a shadow on the character of the defendant. Call the prosecution a fair trial."

The defense made that very strong objection of the swearing out of the witness Noble, the officer in the case, Mary Green, Annie Green, Officer Swanson, Officer Pratt, Officer Nichols, Mr. Hynds and others.

Mr. Powers continued the plea of the case of Mr. Hynds, calling it to the attention of the jury that