REDUCTION WORKS.

Enterprise of the Parrot Mining Company of Butte.

PLANT LOCATED AT GAYLORD

An Undertaking Which Takes Rank With Any of Its Kind in America, Nearing Completion.

Located at Gaylord, thirty-eight miles east of Butte, in the state of Montana, are the reduction works of the Parrot Mining company—a plant now in course of erection, which is among the largest of the kind in the whole of America.

It is being built for the treatment of the Parrot Mining company's ores, which will be hauled from the Parrot mine at Butte, to the location of the great plant. The works consist of a concentrating plant with a capacity of a thousand tons every twenty-four hours, together with a reverberatory, furnaces and all other auxiliaries necessary to the making up of a complete reduction plant.

The buildings are all of steel, a traveling crane of 20 tons' capacity being used to convey the massive and weighty framework to its proper position. This crane is run by electricity, from the company's own electric plant—a fine one—which furnishes power for everything requiring it, in the operation of the immense works. The building proper has a smokestack 200 feet high, which in its erection alone has consumed over a million bricks. These brick are manufactured by the company right on the ground, a steam brick plant with a capacity of 40,000 per day being constantly operated for that purpose. In the construction of the stack in question 80 carloads of granite were used, this material being hauled a distance of fifteen miles, while from 2,000 to 3,000 carloads of rock were used in the erection of the concentrator and other buildings, six of which and none less than fifty feet high constitute the stupendous undertaking.

The company has a canal eighteen miles long, in which water is conveyed from the Jefferson river for use in the construction and operation of the works. This canal terminates in a reservoir above the works, so that there is always an ample supply of water, none of which is allowed to go to waste. The Northern Pacific has a branch road six miles in length for the sole benefit of this plant alone and from October, 1895—at which time masonry work was commenced—until the present, 200 men have been constantly employed. Of the present force quite a number are Salt Lakers, with W. J. Tuddenham of this city as general superintendent of the massive structure.

Mr. Tuddenham has had charge of the work since its commencement, nearly two years ago. He has shown himself to be an able, fair-minded superintendent and has given general satisfaction to the large force of men under him. As Mr. H. H. Evans of this city, who recently came from there says, "Their respect for him is far beyond that usually entertained by workingmen to those over them."

In the vicinity of the great plant considerable prospecting is going on, but no mines have been opened up yet. The completion of the entire works is expected to be realized in the course of the next three months. There is plenty of money in the Parrot Mining company and they are sparing none of it to make their reduction works the most complete in the entire country.

Pioneer Experiences.

To the Editor:

CLIFTON, Idaho, July 12th, 1897.—I am a Pioneer of 1847. I enlisted in the Mormon Battalion on the 16th of July, 1846 and was discharged at Los Angeles, California, on the 16th day of July, 1847. We pioneered our way to the old fort in Salt Lake City, arriving there on the 27th day of October, 1847. We were company detailed and left behind to take care of the sick. I lived with Joseph Murdock during the winter. I hogged his pigs and Sister Murdock would cook them for me. On the 11th day of March, 1849, I engaged with John Vandal to pilot him to California over that trap that was closed in Salt Lake Valley. I never suffered for anything to eat or wear while I was with Bro. Vandal. In the fall (September 7th, 1849, I left in company with Reason Lewis and his nephew, Wm. C. Lewis (who now resides at Richmond, Cache county) for my family in Iowa. I met President Young four miles east of Bear river with his company returning to the valley, and camped that night with Heber C. Kimball's company. President Young acquired now Brother Stephen Goddard was, who was accidentally shot. I found my family, and then went to Missouri worked and made a "fall out" for the return trip and led the third company to its captain across the Plains in 1852. I wish I could be present at the grand Jubilee. Yet I am very blind and deaf and cannot see my way hence some one assisting my health is very good, considering. I have not the means wherewith to attend, but would attend if I had as I can be looked after by those going from here.

THOMAS C. D. HOWELL.

A Lady Pioneer.

PARIS, Idaho, July 13, 1897.

To the Editor:

Thinking that a sketch of my travels as a Pioneer in '47 might be appreciated at this time I write a brief note on this subject.

I was born in Freedom, Callaraugus county, Md., July 30, 1831.

My parents joined the Church the same year. They moved to Kirtland in '38; went to Missouri with the Saints; lived there four years and was driven out in '39, leaving house to and stalking wheat we could carry in a wagon with one yoke of cattle. We had six children in our one wagon. We laid by one day as my father was given six days in which to get out of the state. We stopped near Quincy until fall, when we moved to Commerce, Nauvoo, where my mother died in the winter of 1841, leaving seven small children.

I was married in the Nauvoo temple to Charles C. Rich, and started on our journey westward February 14th, 1846. We could only get to Pisgah that season. In March, '47, we came to Winter Quarters, and in June started on our long journey to the Rocky mountains. I drove an ox team from Winter Quarters to Salt Lake valley; shared our privations in common with the rest of the Saints. In the spring of 1851, my husband, Charles C. Rich, with many others, was called to go to California to plant a colony. I went with him; resided in San Bernardino, Cal.; returned in the fall of '54; moved to Centerville, Davis county, where I lived until June, 1884, when we were called to settle in Bear Lake valley. We suffered almost as many privations in settling this cold country as we did in Salt Lake. I have born eight children, six now living and two daughters, all living except one son—Thomas G. Rich. Have studied and practiced medicine and obstetrics for over thirty years. Am in fairly good health at this time. Shall try to be present at the celebration of the Jubilee if possible.

Yours respectfully,

EMELINE G. RICH.

Vigilant's Suggestion.

SALT LAKE CITY,
July 14, 1897.

To the Editor:

In view of the fact that the police force of this city will not prove adequate in numbers to control the lawless element that will congregate here during our approaching Jubilee, it seems to the writer that in order to circumvent the depredations of holiday and house breakers it may be necessary to have night patrols upon each block of well-armed citizens, with a relief guard at midnight.

VIGILANT.

Newsboy's Excursion.

The Newsboy's union of this city will give an excursion to the Lagoon on August 4th. A good program of land and aquatic sports is being arranged and the youthful and nearly distributors of news will have a good time of it. In a few days they will begin a canvass of the business district to secure them in their outing and pay off an indebtedness now owing.

Home from Switzerland.

The NEWS received a pleasant call from Elder Edward Dell ehe, of Murray, Salt Lake county, who returned on July 3rd from a mission to Europe, on which he left home October 12, 1895. He was assigned to the Swiss and German mission, and appointed to do missionary labor in French Switzerland, where he traveled and preached during his entire mission. He was received kindly by the people and met with good success in presenting the Gospel message before them. He enjoyed excellent health until about two months ago, when he became ill, and his condition was such that he return home earlier than otherwise would have been the case was deemed necessary.

Arrivals—The following named missionaries arrived in Liverpool, July 1, 1897, per American Line steamer Rhynland: For the Netherlands, Paul Roberts, Salt Lake City; for Scandinavia, Paul Paulsen, Ephraim, and Eric W. Eriksdsen, West Weber; for Great Britain, W. A. Dawson, Layton.

Appointment—Elder W. A. Dawson has been appointed to labor in the Manchester conference.

Jubilee Contributions.

The following communications have reached the commission via the Co-op. Wagon and Machine Co.:

WALTER A. WOOD HARVESTER CO.,
St. Paul, July 9, 1897.

Mr. Heber J. Grant, President Co-op. Wagon and Machine Company, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Dear Sir—I duly received your favor of 30th inst., and I beg to enclose you herewith check for $75, as a contribution toward the expenses connected with the Pioneer Jubilee celebration.

Trusting that this celebration may fully meet all your expectations, I beg to remain, yours respectfully,

P. S. MCCORMAN.

George T. Odell, Agent Utah and Idaho:

Dear Sir—We take great pleasure in inclosing you herewith our check for $25 which please hand to committee in charge of your Jubilee celebration. We trust that there will be no need of our paying some of the expenses necessary to make celebration a success, and in the manner we have indicated we shall regards receipt of letter from Heber J. Grant, president of the Co-op. Wagon and Machine company. With best wishes, we remain, very truly yours,

WEBER WAGON CO.

OBITUARY.

ELLA ELIZA HARRIS.

LENNEVILLE, Idaho, June 16, 1897.—Sister Ella Eliza Harris, daughter of Martin Harris, was born at Clarkston, Utah, December 29, 1875, and died at Lenneville, Idaho, June 6, 1897. Sister Ella was loved and respected by old and young. She was always kind and humble, and was faithful in her duties. She is a grandchild of Martin Harris whose name stands to the world as a witness to the authenticity of the Book of Mormon. In reviewing the history of Sister Ella's life we see no material can be found to detract from her character. Her death was resulting in peace among the living.

The funeral services were held in the meeting house on Sunday. Many encouraging remarks were made, portraying the glorious future of those souls who have left this sphere of action and the faith. The mourners have many sympathizing friends, who also loved Sister Ella.

ANNIE SHENNON HUGHES.

In the Twentieth ward of this city, July 15th, of rheumatic fever, Annie Shennon Hughes, aged 21 years, 8 months, the only daughter of Hannah and A. J. Shennon.

Deceased was born in Salt Lake City and was one of the most prominent as well as the most promising young ladies of this city. In every good word and work; she was an active member of the well-known Twentieth ward choir, and was always on hand for entertainments and social gatherings in her ward, she belonged also to the Tabernacle choir, and was a member of the winning ladies choir of the Eighteenth ward. In Salt Lake and Denver, she went with the general choir to the World's Fair, and took her part at home in many of the operas presented at the Theater; being of good voice and considerable musical culture her services were always in demand, and response was easily accorded; from her lovely, winning disposition she made many acquaintances and friends, hence with regret of her sudden departure after a brief illness of only a few weeks.

On the threshold of life and woman hood she has been summoned to the other side, and as it to give additional balm to the bereavement of her parents and those who she was married but a few days prior to his departure) is still in England, having been gone a little over a year.

The deceased seemed unwilling to have her sickness made known to her absent husband, for fear he should not be able to fill his mission, but was looking forward hopefully for his return. Her life was a complete, she was intelligent and companionable, while its was devoted and industrious, a few years of a beautiful life ended in a happy marriage, and a tender and trying separation, one to be no more parted in this probation, but entitled to full fruition in heaven hereafter.

General sympathy is felt for the family and special faith is exercised for the comfort and blessing of her absent husband (Frank Hughes) now in a distant land.—Com.
