James Lee and Charlie Parsons of Salt Lake, both members of Battery A, are evidently enjoying themselves in the Philippines, as a picture just received from Manila, indicates that the boys are yet in good physical condition. Mr. Lee tells his folks to expect him home any day.

Chief of Police Dillon tried on his new uniform this morning. The frock coat is a very jewish affair being cut in varied designs and has a bullion shoulder strap on each side that bears the word "chief" in gold wire letters. Taken altogether the chief's general "get up" is extremely swell.

A 100-wire cable is being strung along Second South street between State and West Temple streets by the telephone company. The company is also going to string a 100-wire cable from First South to Third South streets on West Temple, on State, and another one along First South to Fifth East. From the State street building to First South, a 50-wire cable is being laid under ground.

Major Robert Calvert has recently organized a militia company at Alpine, and Harry Shepherd, formerly of Salt Lake City, and who served as a corporal in Troop L of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, has been elected second lieutenant and in the same. The members of Harry's Rough Riders who have left lieutenant Shepherd will be pleased to learn of the honor conferred upon him. His parents reside in this city.

In answer to the query by C. P. Gabbs, county attorney of Uintah county, the attorney general states as his opinion that a person that is not a member of the board of pharmacy may make complaint for a violation of the law relating to the practice of pharmacy, which will justify Attorney Gabbs in prosecuting such a case.

The Emerson school building is soon to have a six class room addition, which has been approved by the board. At last night's meeting of the board of education committee on buildings and grounds, the plans and specifications for the addition were approved. If the committee's action is ratified by the board this evening, bids for the materials and work will be solicited. This improvement and a new heating plant will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

An East Temple street saloon keeper named Ed Osborne had a close shave last evening from what might have been a fatal accident. Osborne was driving up Second South street in a delivery wagon, and upon reaching the East Temple street crossing the horse slipped in the wet paved street and fell on his side. Losing his balance, Osborne fell from the wagon, alighting on his head and his shoes flew partly in the air, sometimes which was going to the other direction. For a few seconds it looked as if he would surely be dragged under the feet of the horse, but he managed to get out of the way just in time.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS EARLY.

Members Will Attend the Intercollegiate Contest in a Body.

SELECTION OF TEACHERS.

Goes Over Until the Next Meeting—Exchange of Building Sites With the City Council.

Persons having business with the board of education this evening should attend promptly as President Nelden's gavel will fall at the tick of seven o'clock, the early session being held to permit the members to get through with the regular routine transactions in time to proceed to the Theater where the Inter-Collegiate contest will take place with the University of Utah and Brigham Young academy of Provo as participants.

It was the intention originally to have passed upon the teachers list at tonight's meeting, both as to salary and those to be retained. That, however, will go over until the next session. Few changes will be made. Salaries will remain about as before. There will be the usual dropping out of teachers, some will resign on account of matrimonial intentions and a few will take permanent leave of the school room for various reasons; and a few will be moved up. The board, superintendent Cooper will be here by the next session, but it is stated he does not care to have any voice in the selection of teachers this year on account of unfairness with the qualifications of applicants.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

The board is very anxious to erect a large, modern school building somewhere in the vicinity of the head of Third South street. It is thought in the near future, and with that idea in view is still endeavoring to convince the City Council that it would be a mutual benefit and public advantage to make an exchange of property. The board, it will be remembered, recently asked the Council to consider the proposition of a trade, the former giving the latter the old district ward school site, corner North Temple and Fourth West streets, which has a substantial building and the block on Eighth and Second streets, telephone, etc., increased from $126,019, in March, 1898, to 141,790 in March, 1899. The increase on flour of more than one hundred per cent. Builders' hardware increased thirty-three per cent, growing machines nearly thirty per cent, typewriters nearly fifty per cent, leather about forty, boots and shoes eighty per cent, naval stores sixty per cent, and vegetable oils nearly forty per cent.

During the nine months ending with March, 1899, the exports of manufactures amounted to $142,552,445, against $108,781,808 in the corresponding months of last year, or an increase of more than 30 per cent of the total exports, against 23 per cent in the corresponding months of 1898, which represented 24.4 per cent of the total exports, while the March, 1899, figures show manufactures to have formed 24.6 per cent of the total exports for that month. Prior to 1898, imports of manufactures always exceeded the exports of manufactures. The fiscal year 1898 showed the exports of manufactures to be 25 per cent in excess of the imports of manufactures. This was looked upon as abnormal because of the small importations of manufactures for the year following the enactment of the tariff law of 1897, and it was assumed that importations of manufactures would increase, and perhaps again exceed the exports of manufactured articles. Instead of this, the imports of manufactures increased in round numbers to per cent in excess of the imports of manufactures, while the nine months the exports of manufactures amounted to $142,552,445, against $134,226,855 worth of imports of manufactures during the same period. Thus, notwithstanding the fact that the importation of manufactures has slightly increased during the fiscal year 1899 compared with the corresponding months of the preceding year, the excess of manufactures for the nine months are 25 per cent greater than the imports of manufactures, and for the month of March, as already indicated, are 10 per cent greater than the imports of manufactures.

The following table shows the exports and imports of manufactures for the 9 months ending with March in each year from 1895 to 1899:

Nine months ending March	Exports.	Manufactures. Imports.
1895	$114,516,423	$115,599,574

FAST DRIVING.

Several Jehus are Arrested for Violating the Ordinance.

Mounted Officer Sperry was posted by Chief Dillon on East Temple street late yesterday afternoon with instructions to regulate the traffic and see that the ordinance against fast driving over crossings and intersections was observed to the letter. Sperry started out with a vim and holding up the reins, and the fast driving ceased in an assorted aggregation of vehicles that ranged from the aristocratic rubber tired cabs down to the plebian ice wagon that innocently escorted over the crossings in a fashion that made passers by exclamations of an unadulterated kind. By 6 p. m. the following individuals had registered with the desk sergeant and each forty dollars for left a $5 bill as a token of good faith:

Charles Carpenter, W. W. Reed, Fred Roemer, J. C. Smith, Ed. Smith, J. F. Evans and Clarence Smith.

The anchorite believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within him, and so he fasted and prayed an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will serve that the affliction is permanent and beyond the reach of relief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and the quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times it cost.
