FRANK HURLBURT LIKES THE BOERS

Dislikes "Damnable Sovereignty of British Rule."

SAYS BOERS WILL WIN FIGHT

And that Britain Has Met Her Waterloo Among Brave and Obstinate People.

William Oxley of 1626 Welton street, says the Denver News, has received a very interesting letter from Frank T. Hurlburt, formerly of Denver, but now of Kimberley, South Africa. Mr. Hurlburt's letter was written October 27, and many of the affairs he mentions have since been brought prominently before the world by the war. Mr. Hurlburt was well known in Salt Lake. He says:

"We are simply having a-some-way and go-way old time over in this country, and while I often wish I were back in Colorado, a direction of patriotic nativity comes over me and I enjoy the excess of warlike and jubilant successes now being achieved by a peaceful and prosperous people, uniting in a bloody fight for independence and restoration to freedom from the oppression and damnable sovereignty of British rule. I read with the astounding sympathies of Americans in the result of this war—freedom and independence of the Boers—and the aggressive people against the oppression and overbearing influences of a covetous nation like the British, who have demonstrated a few and unmoistened government, an open and defiant check to the materialization of civilization and progressive methods of civilization and intelligence in what has been known for years as the dark, barbarous and uncivilized continent, a condition that would always exist in the central states of Africa were the British to forever control it.

"The tide of oppression and aggrandizement has been brought to its ebb by the resisting influences of a civilized, prosperous and educated class of people, called Boers, none other than the true blood of Holland Dutch, such as wrought prosperity, wealth and industry in Holland's valley in our own country. That they will win this rebellion is only a matter of time. It is not for conquest, but for liberation from the oppressive influences, monarchical dictates and discriminating orders of a nation that overbearingly and persistently has claimed virtual reign over the world.

"They have now substantially met their Waterloo among a few brave and obstinate people, who are determined to drive back the cloud of strangulating powder smoke rather than be asphyxiated by the government of 'gas.' The certain and Irish elements of America, as well as the Americans throughout this country, I know, wait in suspense the ultimate termination of this warfare, favoring the Boers. And from all appearance to me now, the Boers, under command of Oom Paul, have by many odds the best of the outcome; in any event England alone can not conquer the Boers, irrespective of ultimatums and international compromises. Long before you have received this letter you will hear of many victories creditable to the Boer armies, as they have the open field and are prepared for a long and persistent warfare.

"The English press and Associated Press reports from London have greatly underestimated the courage and intelligence of the Boer people. This, as a rational defence, has created the widespread impression that they are of the lowest class, cannibalistic in nature, illiterate and improvident in warfare. There are hundreds of this class of people now employed about the mines of Johannesburg and Kimberley, in no instance have I discovered any illiteracy or disagreeable dispositions among them. The non-fitness of the British or English born people are too little rate to turn their own names or road vouchers and pay-roll. They allow themselves to be subjected to oppression or drudgery, while the Dutch and Boers, whether born in the native gardener to the practical miner, are for always the native English element in intelligence and self-reliance. They are a Christian-like, law-abiding people, peaceful in nature, subservient to the interests of their employer and very loyal to the interests of their country, which, under their influence and advancement, are becoming very prosperous and gradually the dark continent theory is being closely and permanently wiped off the map. Under British rule it would never recover from the conditions and the gold and diamond fields would today only be a sacred form of production of the precious metals and jewels to the bosoms and passionate desires of an overbearing, egotistical and grasping nation.

"I write you strongly upon this subject, so you may know the exact condition of affairs in this country, and long before the Boer-British war is ended, these struggling people will have asserted their independence, influence and civilized attributes. So far as I am personally concerned, I like the people of this country and am perfectly satisfied to remain among them and enjoy their prosperity, both as a growing country and in the industrial pursuits, as well as mining interests.

"I am now located at Kimberley, engaged in the duties of the postoffice, and have a very good chance to judge the outcome of this insurrection. The British cannot break down the armies or conquer the Boers until they have killed or imprisoned the very best battalion of their forces. The mines of Kimberley and Johannesburg are working just the same, but no one knows at what time they will be closed down.

"Keep me posted on Colorado developments and in turn I will write you my own opinions and results of the war in this country. May God help the Boers, is my earnest prayer. With best wishes to my Colorado friends, I am, yours, as ever,

"FRANK T. HURLBURT."

PUBLIC SCHOOL LIBRARY.

Dr. John R. Park Working Steadily on a Substantial Nucleus.

While the fact is not generally known throughout the State, there is in this city, connected with the office of the State superintendent of public instruction, a library and reading room, known as the Utah State Library and Reading room. While there are books and current periodicals which deal with all libraries, its purpose is not confined to furnishing town and popular reading matter, but samples for examination to school workers, teachers and librarians of such books and periodicals as are more suitable for the public schools, including supplemental reading and choice works of standard authors at a moderate cost for school use.

There are now 10,000 volumes in the library and it is the purpose to build from this nucleus a library that will be a credit to the State, throughout which its usefulness will be felt.

The plan is to establish libraries both district and county wherever it is possible to do so, a portion of the books to be located for all to have access to on a traveling plan. The exchanges will be made from Superintendent Park's office, which will be the headquarters.

Superintendent Park is desirous that all the school workers of Utah visit the library and avail themselves of its benefits.

In addition to books already mentioned there are a number of pamphlets for reference and many publications by the government which are not in general circulation.

STILL AFTER THE JOB.

Physicians on Board Pass Compulsory Vaccination Resolution.

The State board of health met in the Atlas block last evening with only two absentees, Prof. Grow of Provo and Dr. A. F. Doremus, both of whom are decidedly in favor of vaccination as the best means of preventing the threatened epidemic.

After disposing of the usual business, the board began the discussion of the subject, and the final result was that the board was one in the opinion that there may be a serious epidemic of smallpox throughout the State, sometime. There were now over fifty cases of variolous, the direct result of the single case at Stockton. Sanpete county, last month, and three new cases reported yesterday from Spanish Fork. The board will do everything possible to arrest the disease before it spreads further.

After canvassing the conditions and outlook, the board drew up and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, Many cases of smallpox exist in different localities in the State and the disease is daily extending and a general epidemic is to be dreaded, and

"Whereas, It is the unanimous opinion of the State board of health that vaccination and revaccination of school children should be immediately effected in the localities where the disease prevails, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the secretary shall advise the proper authorities of each town in which the disease exists to immediately enact rules requiring that all children who cannot show signs of successful vaccination, shall be vaccinated before they shall be allowed to enter any public school; also that said local authorities shall compel the vaccination of all other persons whom they have reason to believe have been or may be directly exposed to the disease. It is further

"Resolved, That the State board of health recommend that said local authorities shall provide for the free vaccination of all persons who may desire to avail themselves thereof.

"Resolved, That the authorities of the different State educational institutions shall be advised to prevent the return to their homes, during the holidays, of the students who reside in the localities where the disease prevails."

PATIENTS AT PEST HOUSE IMPROVING.

Health Commissioner Keogh said last evening that Dr. N. N. Ray and F. M. Hammond, the two smallpox patients at the pest house were in as good a condition as could be expected. He expects no backset in their convalescing and should the malady spread, the patients will be almost well could nurses the new ones.

In speaking of the corn-lain raised by Commissioner Keogh and relative to the health commissioner thanking his rubber suit in the public building after inspecting the pest house cases requiring under treatment, Dr. Keogh said, that the precautions taken by him and his aides were as thorough as they dare, for the danger of carrying germs in the city and county building.

Commissioner Keogh the rising tears of some people, Dr. Keogh says that hereafter he will change his clothing and disinfect himself thoroughly before the health department's milk-testing room adjoining the boiler house on Second East street.

MATHEWS MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The faculty and students of the University held memorial exercises in the art room of the main building this afternoon at 3 o'clock in honor of Prof. George R. Mathews. The proceedings were very interesting and clearly demonstrated how near the dead professor was to the hearts of all who knew him. The exercises were opened with an address by Professor George M. Marshall, a companion and ardent admirer of the deceased. Professor Marshall's friend's character and work was a masterpiece of eloquence. The Rev. Clarence T. Brown also delivered an address. He had been a college companion of Prof. Mathews and was perhaps the only student man he ever knew. There were a number of other interesting numbers, in addition to addresses by J. T. Kingsbury, in which was portrayed the high esteem in which that official held the late professor.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and the child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, even a child after croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. This has proved in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We can not recall even a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can claim such a long continued and severe years' constant use without a failure.

Picturesque and Sportsman's Paradise.

Mount Pocono, a charming spot in the highest part of the Pocono Mountains, from which the Delaware Water Gap and the Delaware River may be seen, is reached by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. Fly and pines cover the mountain sides. The climate is said to be extremely healthful. People suffering from asthma or hay fever go there. There are several hotels, of which the Pocono Mountain House and the Wiscasset are perhaps the largest. Dingman's Ferry is the Delaware Highlands, is about 25 miles from the Gap, and may be reached by stage from Stroudsburg, on the line of the D., L. & W. The region is picturesque, and much frequented by sportsmen. Blooming Grove Park, the hunting preserve, is near by.—Review of Reviews.
