A stray horse has been taken in custody by Dave Hilton, a guard at the penitentiary, and the animal is at his place near the pen. A part of a double harness is with the animal. Dave would be pleased to have some one lead the horse off.

Wythe Denby, manager of a mining property at Juneau, Alaska, and Mrs. Denby, are in the city on their way back to Alaska from an eastern trip. Mr. Denby was once located in Salt Lake being a mining engineer connected with the Old Jordan and Galena mines at Bingham. He was also a prominent member of the University club.

Boise Statesman: Attorney General Bishop of Utah is in the city. He came to the capital to represent the American Falls company before the land board today. Accompanying Judge Bishop are A. F. Parker, chief engineer of the company, and John R. Foulks of Salt Lake, who has a contract with the company to settle eastern people on the land to be reclaimed.

Miss Marion Knickerbocker will entertain the Garfield and Ælethea Literary societies at a "book" party at her home tomorrow evening. The guests will represent either by their style of dress or action, the title of some popular book of the day, and the young people will have an opportunity to demonstrate their acquaintance with the literature of the times by guessing the titles represented.

The Elks held forth last evening and Justice James D. Pardee became one of their number. He emerged from the trying ordeal with his hair standing on end, but was sufficiently poised to deliver a short speech. After the lodge meeting the members had a banquet and entertained the members of the Gentry dog show band, some of whom joined the lodge during their visit here last year.

Mayor Thompson's veto of the appropriation of $2,000 for the benefit of the Scofield sufferers, on the ground that it would be contrary to law, was sustained at last night's Council meeting. The vote was not unanimous, but stood thirteen to one. Fernstrom, who cast the negative vote, asked to be excused from voting. The request was denied by the chair, when the gentleman voted no.

The City Council last night received a peculiar petition from Mrs. Spencer Scholes Blakemore, asking that she be granted a clear title to a certain piece of ground the title of which is not good and which has passed through a tangled maze in and out of the courts for a long time. The report was referred to a committee which will doubtless make report upon it at the proper time and in the proper way.

State Auditor Richards has drawn a warrant in favor of the University regents for $50,000 for expenses of the new buildings. This is the last of the $100,000 appropriation made by the Legislature for the university direct from the State funds. The other $100,000 was from the University land fund, which is to be drawn by the regents when wanted, and will be paid back to the fund with 5 per cent interest by the State some time in the future.

Last evening the four-year-old son of Mrs. Pope, proprietress of the rooming section of the Union block on East Temple street, near Third South, was knocked down by a horse said to be driven by Alfred Best, and though not severely hurt no credit is due the driver, who, to say the least, was very careless. After the child was knocked down, the driver continued on paying no attention to its cries of pain and fright.

John Springer and family of No. 254 Fern street, were regaling on canned shrimp last evening, and being a favorite dish with the Springer family they were eaten with a relish. But the shrimps proved to be bad. Some poisonous microbes lurking in them, and the result was that Mr. and Mrs. Springer and their daughter were seized with severe pains and sickness. A physician was hastily summoned from St. Mark's hospital, who administered antidotes and soon had the afflicted trio feeling that life was worth while again.

There is a movement on foot by the Y. M. C. A. to organize clubs for young boys. Heretofore the attractions at the Y. M. C. A. were calculated for youths who had passed out of their teens, or nearly so. But now it is proposed to organize various clubs for younger boys, which will at once afford them a means of acquiring knowledge, and at the same time give them innocent amusement. Next Saturday morning Secretary Axton and Physical Director Augustus and their assistants will meet with the boys.

The funeral of Mrs. Lizette Featherstone Walker, who died in this city Monday night, of abdominal effections, was held this morning from the American Fork meeting house. Mrs. Walker had a host of friends in this city, fifty of whom went to American Fork to attend the funeral. Mrs. Walker was a woman who was loved by all who knew her, and her demise has caused sincere grief in many homes. She was the wife of F. E. Walker, and the daughter of Thomas and Emma Featherstone of American Fork; she was born October 17, 1870, and married Feb. 22, 1897.

President Angus M. Cannon passed the 68th annual milestone in life's journey today and received the congratulations of many friends in commemoration of that event. An additional reason for congratulation is the fact that his health has greatly improved of late, a condition that is accompanied by a feeling almost akin to youth, and a step that is as elastic as that of a man many years his junior. But it is not as a pedestrian that President Cannon appears to the best advantage—it is as a horseman. Few men, indeed, are able to ride a horse with the ease and grace that he commands. It is the wish of the "News" that he may be privileged to indulge in this popular and healthful recreation for many years to come.

A BRILLIANT OPENING.

Third Ward Merrymakers Launch their Carnival—A Royal Entertainment.

Amid a flare of lights and radiant beauty the Third ward merrymakers opened their carnival last evening. The hall was transformed into a palace of lights and brilliant colors, to receive the king, and his royal consort.

The king of the carnival was James H. Ball, and the queen was Miss Pearl Weller. Their persons were clothed in royal robes, and their bearing was that of princely grace. The ladies of the court were May Smith and Daisy Grames; the lords, Jule McMurrin and Bert Angell; the pages, Myrtle McCoy and Lola Coulter; the jesters, Sid Clawson and George Margetts; the prime minister, most grave and dignified, was Phillip Maycock.

During the early part of the evening an interesting program was rendered, including a song by Will Willis, a guitar solo by Prof. Schettler, a recitation by Ed Midgley, a cornet solo by John Held, a rainbow dance by Sybil Foote, and a cake-walk by Sybil Foote and George Margetts. Mr. Harold Orlob was the accompanist of the evening.

Another source of amusement was the Palace of Varieties, in which acrobatic feats and general monkey shine was indulged in by Messrs. Ralf Grames, James Perry and Harry Allen.

A number of very attractive booths, in charge of equally attractive young ladies were arranged around the hall. The fancy work booth was in the charge of Miss Agnes Gibson; Miss Pearl Colton had charge of the candy booth, and Miss Rachel Hodges of the lemonade booth. Articles that had been donated by liberal merchants were sold at auction, and a number of tickets for raffling them were also sold.

Nearly 200 people were in attendance and they all admit having been highly entertained. The affair is in the hands of the young people of the ward, and it is to raise means to erect an amusement hall in the rear of the church. It is truly a creditable entertainment, and one worthy of the patronage of all. It will be continued this evening, tomorrow afternoon and evening. A change of program at each performance.

August Flower.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houton, "that in my travels in all parts of the wold, for the last 10 years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottle free at A. C. Smith's Drug Store.

COUNCIL RECORDS ITS CENSURE.

Report of Police Committee Adopted at Last Evening's Meeting.

CHIEF HILTON'S APOLOGY.

Effort to Include Doctor King and Detective Sheets Fails—The Discussion.

The action of Chief of Police Thomas H. Hilton in causing three young girls to be arrested and undergo a physical examination, came up before the City Council last evening on a report from the committee on police and prison. After a lengthy discussion, in which nearly all the members took part, the report was adopted by a vote of twelve to two, the negative votes being cast by Whittemore and Howe (C. R.)

The report is as follows:

"Gentlemen:

"Your committee on police and prison having had its attention called to the charges publicly made, that three small girls, under the direction of the police department, had been subjected to a physical examination by the city physician, to determine whether they were diseased or not, thought proper to examine into the matter, and report its findings and conclusions.

"Your committee met Thursday evening, May 10th, at 8 p. m., in the office of the chief of police, all members of the committee being present except Mr. Fernstrom, who did not receive his notice in time.

"Two of the girls, Clara Carney and Hattie Dahl, the chief of police, Detective Sheets, Sergeant Burbidge and Officers Davies and Sperry, were examined.

"The committee adjourned to Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m., and at that hour met, all members being present.

"At the request of Councilman Fernstrom the chief of police was recalled.

ARRESTED WITHOUT WARRANT.

"We find from the evidence that the three girls were, without a warrant, at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, arrested in the Palace retaurant, while committing no offense, taken to the police office and there physically examined as charged.

"The police department claim that they were in this matter actuated by the best of motives, and for the good of the girls, and to ascertain if they were, as suspected, diseased, that if so they might procure proper medical treatment for them. The department also claimed that the examination to which the girls had been subjected, was with their consent.

"It was also set up by the department that the girls were of bad character, had been frequently arrested, had been seen a great many times in the company of bad men, and had been a source of annoyance to their immediate neighbors.

NOT BAD GIRLS.

"Upon the question of acquiescence in the physical examination upon the part of the girls, we cannot agree with the claim of the police department. The statement made to the girls that they were diseased and must be examined to satisfy the police upon that point, was coercion, and the impression given that they must submit to an examination or go to the reform school, was to the girls in their surroundings, alone in the police office, nothing more nor less than a plain command.

"We do not find that the police officers were justified in making this arrest without a warrant.

"We find that the claim of the police department that the girls were immoral and were diseased, without foundation.

"To the credit of the chief of police be it said that he informed the committee he assumed the responsibility for the whole affair.

MUST RESPECT LAW.

"After carefully considering the evidence that came before us, we reach the conclusion, that in this action of the police department the right of person, and the law of the land have been violated, and an excuse given that is of itself a condemnation, and that such action should not pass unnoticed, and that the law, and the rights of the individual, may be respected, this violation of both should meet with proper punishment to, if nothing else, stand as a notice to those in authority that while they enforce and execute the law, they must themselves respect it.

STRONGLY CONDEMNED.

"Your committee cannot too strongly condemn this violation of law, and of the rights of individuals, and feel that the interests of the public demand that the conduct of the police department shall, and must be in keeping with the law. Police officers necessarily have disagreeable duties to perform, but they need not add to it by stepping beyond legal bounds. Prisoners have rights as well as the police, and the authority conferred by the law must be exercised with wisdom and discretion.

MOST HUMILIATING.

"To your committee nothing more humiliating has occurred in connection with the police force than this deplorable affair. The only circumstance that brings relief is the acknowledgment on the part of the chief of his error, and his solemn promise to the committee that while he remains in office no such wrong shall be again permitted.

"Your committee by a large majority favored suspension from office, but have been informed that such punishment is not permissible under the law.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF ERROR.

"The acknowledgment by the chief of his error in this matter, his promise that it shall not occur again, induces your committee, after careful consideration, to recommend to the Council the adoption of the following resolution:

"Resolved, That this Council, the Mayor concurring, does hereby publicly record its censure of the action of the police department, through its chief, in causing Clara Carney, Hattie Dahl and Pearl Kessler to be physically examined, and declare same to have been without warrant or right, and a violation of the law.

"CHARLES COTTRELL JR.,
"J. J. THOMAS,
"F. J. HEWLETT,
"F. S. FERNSTROM,
"E. A. HARTENSTEIN."

THE CHIEF'S APOLOGY.

"Salt Lake City, Utah, May 15, 1900. To the Honorable Police and Prison committee, gentlemen:

"The administration of police affairs in a city like Salt Lake presents many delicate problems and they may not always be solved in the wisest manner. The action of this department in the matter of the physical examination of the three girls by the city physician, which is now being considered by your honorable body, was taken with the best motives and intentions, but without due consideration. Upon reflection, I am convinced that such action was improper and I desire to now publicly acknowledge the error and to assure you that so long as I remain at the head of the department the mistake shall not be repeated. In doing so I desire, in the most emphatic manner, as the responsible head of the police department, to take upon myself the entire responsibility for the action. Very respectfully your,

"THOS. H. HILTON,
"Chief of Police."

HARTENSTEIN'S AMENDMENT.

Hartenstein was the first to secure recognition from the chair, after the reading of the report and chief's apology. He moved to amend the words "the action of the police department, through its chief" to "the action of the chief of police." The amendment carried.

WANTED OTHERS INCLUDED.

Howe (C. R.) moved to amend the resolution by including Health Commissioner King and Detective Sheets in the vote of censure. They were, he said, directly implicated in the affair, and he thought it nothing but fair that they, too, should get the same dose as the chief.

"THERE ARE OTHERS."

Chairman Cottrell said there were, undoubtedly others mixed up in the affair, besides Chief Hilton, Dr. King and Detective Sheets; but the chief had assumed the responsibility for the whole thing and that should suffice.

Canning said the chief of police lacked the elements of manhood, otherwise he never would apologize the way he did.

Reid favored the amendment and excoriated Dr. King and Detective Sheets.

STOOD UP FOR KING.

Beatty spoke a good word for Dr. King and said it would be an injustice to include the city's health commissioner. Dr. King had been sent for by the chief of police, and what he did was under the direction of the head of the police department. Dr. King was, therefore, not deserving of censure either morally, ethically or otherwise.

Thomas said the committee made its report on the evidence that came before it. "We found out who was responsible and reported accordingly."

Hartenstein believed the chief had been taught a lesson, and thought it unnecessary to "knife anyone else."

"MALICE AFORETHOUGHT."

Hewlett said the committee had gone over the testimony presented to it with great care and "malice aforethought." (Laughter.)

"I meap without malice aforethought. If the members have confidence in the committee they should accept its findings.

HOLDING BACK.

Howe (Edgar) judged from the remarks of Chairman Cottrell that the committee was holding something back. Rumors had reached his ears that others were implicated in the affair.

"We should get at the bottom of this matter," he said, "and not adopt the report until everything connected with the case has been shown up."

Cottrell said Howe had misunderstood him. "Who he meant by others being mixed up in the affair, were the officers making the arrest, the doctor and so on. But the chief assumed the entire responsibility, and the committee with the evidence before it could do nothing more than it had done.

WANTED CHIEF'S HEAD.

Whittemore said, "I cannot accept the amendment, neither can I accept the report. I regard—and so do the people—this affair, as the most disgraceful affair that has ever happened within the confines of this fair city." (Applause.)

"If Chief Devine had done this thing do you suppose he would afterwards come before this Council with an apology? No, sir, Mr. President, la—I mean gentlemen, he would most assuredly have not. Therefore taking all these things into consideration I think we should demand Chief Devine's resignation. (Loud laughter.) I mean Chief Hilton; you fellows know who I mean." (A voice, "we heard what you said.") Continuing, "The chief is as nice a man—"

Robertson—Which chief?

Whittemore—Chief Hilton, the man who is responsible for this disgraceful affair. As I was saying, he is a good, clean fellow—a personal friend of mine. Were I to see him tonight I would take him by the hand and say, "Chief, my boy, (tears) here's my hand; but you have done wrong, (sobs), my boy, and I must have your head." (Loud applause.)

Howe (C. R.) said to pass the amendment would be no reflection upon the morals of those the amendment aimed at. He was convinced Hilton was not the only one to blame and the others should be censured, too. Had the committee come in with a report demanding the chief's resignation, he would have submitted an amendment asking for the resignation of Dr. King and Detective Sheets as well.

Canning favored asking all implicated in the disgraceful affair to step down and out.

REPORT ADOPTED.

The amendment was then put and was lost. Canning, C. R. Howe and Reid, voting for it; Beatty, Cottrell, Fernstrom, Hartenstein, Hewlett, Edgar Howe, Robertson, Thomas, Tuddenham, Whittemore, Buckle, against it. Gemmell absent.

The report was then adopted, C. R. Howe and Whittemore voting no, all the others aye.

HEISS IS APPOINTED.

Mayor Names New Sanitary Inspector—Whittemore Opposes Motion to Refer.

Mayor Thompson notified the Council last night that he had received the resignation of Josiah Lees as sanitary inspector, and his honor named Jacob A. Heiss as Mr. Lees' successor. Whittemore moved the immediate confirmation of Mr. Heiss, but Fernstrom objected, and, as an amendment, moved the matter be referred to the sanitary committee. Whittemore opposed reference and in a vigorous speech said: "One of the prerogatives of his honor, the Mayor, is to appoint men to office and being a highminded gentleman he would not appoint any man to office, who was not capable of filling the office. Mr. Heiss is a good Republican. (Laughter from the Democratic side of the house, and a broad smile from the Republicans.) He comes from a certain precinct in the city, it is true, but he possesses all the necessary qualifications for all that, and I think we ought to turn this down. (More laughter). I mean the amendment, not Mr. Heiss. (Uproarious laughter). You may laugh, but I am in earnest and mean what I say. (Here the hilarity of the members became so boisterous that President Buckle had to rap for order, when Whittemore took his seat, amid loud applause.

The motion to refer carried by a vote of 13 to 1. Whittemore himself voting for it, on the ground that he did not wish to be understood as being opposed to the wishes of a majority of the Council.

When the recorder announced "13 ayes and one nay, "Mr. President," the member from the Second was overheard to say, "I don't like that 13 business, but I guess we'll have to let her go now."

PLUMBING INSPECTOR.

Council Recreates the Officer Placing it Under Health Department.

The office of plumbing inspector was recreated at last evening's Council meeting, and hereafter that official will be under the control of the health department. Heretofore the plumbing inspector has been connected with the engineering department. Two reports from the sewerage committee on the proposition were received. The majority, signed by Thomas, Whittemore and Reid, favored the change, but the minority, Robertson and Hartenstein, was against it.

The majority report was adopted and City Attorney Stephens was instructed to draw up an ordinance in accordance therewith.

CONGRESSMAN KING WRITES

Makes a Valuable Suggestion Regarding Parley's Canyon Lands.

Mayor Thompson is in receipts of a communication from Congressman King relative to the ceding of lands, forming Parley's canyon watersheds, by the government to the city. Congressman King says the House committee on public lands was opposed to the proposition of ceding lands to cities, and he suggests that if the government was petitioned it would withdraw the land from public entry and declare it a forest reserve; and the desired end, keeping the water pure, would then be accomplished.

The matter came up before the Council last evening, and upon motion it was decided to adopt the sugestion, and Judge King will be asked to use his influence in getting the government to declare the land referred to a public reserve.

THE DOGS AND PONIES.

Splendid Exhibition of Canine and Equine Intelligence.

The ever popular Gentry dog and pony show drew a large crowd again last evening and this afternoon, as it invariably does when it comes to Salt Lake. In fact, large audience is the rule wherever the show casts its tents. While children predominate as regards numbers at these performances, it must not be imagined by those who do not attend that older people are not also patrons; for many fond mothers and not a few fathers, uncles and aunts are also in evidence.

The intelligence exhibited by the Gentry animals is something remarkable—almost human. To elevate it to this standard endless patience and skilful training are necessary. The wonderful tricks of both dogs and ponies are much the same as those seen here on other occasions, and a description of them would simply mean the narration of an old story. Nevertheless they are greatly enjoyed by young and old, and are well worth seeing. The show goes again tonight, tomorrow afternoon and night. The exhibition grounds are between East Temple and State street on Fourth South.

LAST OF THE ART LECTURES

Mrs. McCune Will Talk on Silks and Laces Tomorrow Night.

The last of the series of lectures given by the Utah Art Institute will be delivered at the University lecture hall in the laboratory building, Friday evening. Mrs. A. W. McCune will give the lecture, and her theme will be silk culture and lace-making. The lecture will be of special interest to all Utah women. Mrs. McCune has closely studied this subject, and in her travels abroad has gathered a very rare collection of laces, of both foreign and home manufacture. These fabrics will be exhibited Friday evening.
