COAL OWNERS WANT GOVERNMENT TO DESTROY THE MINERS' UNION

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—The United States government, through the federal judiciary, has been called upon to assist West Virginia coal owners in their fight to maintain anti-union conditions and thug government in that state.

A plea for the injunction against the United Mine Workers has been filed in the federal court at Huntington, W. Va., and in Federal Judge Anderson's court in this city. In both cases the coal owners ask that the miners be enjoined from attempting to unionize southern West Virginia.

The coal owners' latest move shows how far these anti-unionists will go to wreck collective bargaining in this industry that their power over employees may be continued.

They have failed to defeat the West Virginia miners and these workers together with the entire membership of the United Mine Workers are more determined to secure the right to join a trade union and establish constitutional government in that state.

The coal owners are aware to this fighting spirit and they are now attempting to unload their troubles on the broad shoulders of Uncle Sam.

No clearer illustration of the power of the labor injunction can be shown than this move by the coal owners who would change their anti-union tactics if these injunctions are issued. Then if the miners urge trade unionism in southern West Virginia the coal owners and the supporters will howl: "An attack on government," and calls will be made to fill West Virginia with deputy marshals and federal troops to uphold the law.

The injunctions would permit the coal owners to cry: "Let us establish law before we discuss causes for the strike." Every subsidized newspaper will act on the hint and wave the Stars and Stripes for the coal owners. The latter will stand aside while the government wrecks the miners' union and removes the one protest against West Virginia's peonage.

At the convention of the United Mine Workers, now in session in this city, the union's officials were instructed to contest the issuance of these injunctions.

"They Don't Answer"

Frequently subscribers report they failed to receive telephone calls and yet were "home all the time."

Sometimes the person did not call at all, but said he did.—We've checked them up and know.

Also, people forget numerous trips to the basement, the attic, or the front porch, out of hearing of the telephone bell.

Further, the calling party often hangs up before he gets an answer.

If you have a party-line, the operators report your line "busy" if the other person on the line is using his telephone when some one calls you.

FAITHFUL MATES ARE PROTECTORS OF BLIND GOOSE

Here's True Story of Love and Sympathy That Mankind Might Pattern After.

The human family has no monopoly on sympathy, charity and kindness. Indeed, man might well take a lesson from this little story of the blind goose, and its reading may prompt him to stop in his busy rush to help a sightless brother across the way.

Max Hall of the local Painters' union owns a little home on the hillside where he keeps chickens, ducks and geese. Raising poultry is a hobby with Max and he makes it pay in more ways than one. It's a pastime that gives him happiness, fully as much as it does in reducing his cost of living.

There is a blind goose in the Hall poultry yard. When it was a gosling a boy threw a stone at it and robbed it of its sight. It has since grown to full size and will soon be ready for the table. It has been nursed and babied more than all the other feathered creatures in the yard and has become exceedingly plump and fat.

How does this blind goose fare with its fellow geese? That is the cause of this story. They instinctively observed its infirmity and forthwith assumed guardianship over it. Even the ducks became chummy with it, and they too help it along.

Every morning the geese and ducks gather around the blind goose and lead it to drink and to food. They guide it over rough places and stand by it in the yard. It is not permitted to be left alone for a moment during the day, and when evening comes they lead it back to its coop where they see that it is comfortably nestled for the night.

The other morning Mr. Hall prepared a special feed for the sightless goose and went to the yard to carry it into the house. As he stooped to pick it up he was attacked by every goose and duck in the yard. He is a favorite with his pets, but friendship ceased when he placed his hands on their infirm ward. They spread out their wings and formed a line of defense around him, and it was only with great difficulty that he was able to break through and get the blind goose into the house, after which they waited anxiously about the kitchen door until the object of their solicitude was returned to the flock, when they again took it under their care and guidance with almost human affection.

Isn't there a lesson in this story of the blind goose for creatures of the higher order? "Go thou and do likewise."

KITTY DONER OF AL JOLSON SHOWS ORPHEUM HEADLINER

Kitty Doner, for several seasons the principal feminine star with Al Jolson shows, is the headliner at the Orpheum theater starting Sunday. Kitty is regarded by critics as the best typical American dancer. A genius of the art of torsion she is a radiant sprite. Her impersonating of the male sex are just one of the clever things she has done to attract nationwide attention.

On the supporting bill one will find a sextette of comedy acts that should serve to provide a program worthy of following the present exceptional show. Take for instance Dave Kranner and Jack Boyle, "the Happy Go Lucky Pair." These two boys have buttered their bread on both sides: one side is spread with fun and the other with song.

Jack Joyce, "the boy with a smile" was a British tommy. At the battle of the Marne he was severely wounded and as a result lost his leg. This did not discourage the war hero. He could always sing and tell stories and he soon found out he could dance with one leg equally as well as he could with two.

Featuring the international comedian, Rudolph Wagner, "The Knight and his Knave" is an act 'out of the ordinary. It is both sensational and laughable.

Verna Berlin, the artistic girl-violinist presents a musical interlude that includes both the classical and popular.

Norris, "Springtime Follies" is scheduled as the opening number of the forthcoming bill.

Then there will be the usual picture features and up to date incidental music by the Orpheum orchestra.

The best miniature musical comedy touring the Orpheum Circuit, the "Santos and Hayes Revue" is announced as the feature attraction for the week starting October 23.

KANSAS "CAN'T STRIKE" LAW WARMLY SCORED

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 13.—The attitude of the people of this state toward Allen's "can't-strike" law is indicated by L. S. Harvey, who includes opposition to the law in his candidacy for state attorney general.

He says the industrial relations court has demonstrated no reason why it should be in existence except as a burden to the people.

"It has arrayed one class against another, and absolute harm instead of good has been derived from its creation," he says.

"There has been too much horse play with the process and others whose annual contributions to the state treasury are responsible for the wild profligacy of expense that is in evidence."

WAS GIVEN PARTY ON HER FIRST BIRTHDAY

BABY BARBARA JEANNETTA.

This little American girl, through whose veins run the blood of proud Neapolitans, is the recipient of that filial love for which Italian people are noted. On her first birthday last Saturday, October 8, little Barbara was given a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vito Jeannetta, 1113 1/2 West Superior street.

Among the guests were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Jeannetta, and a number of uncles and aunts. She received many fine gifts. Her father, Vito Jeannetta, is a member of the Duluth Fire Department and an active member of the Fire Fighters' union and he is a mighty proud daddy, too, as he has a right to be.

N. W. TRAINMEN MEET ON STRIKE

B. R. of T. Committees Assemble at St. Paul to Discuss Probable Rail Walkout.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 13.—While the strike vote of railroad men is being canvassed at Chicago, a meeting of the various grievance committee of the railway trainmen of the northwest is being held in St. Paul, today.

W. A. McDonald, general chairman of the Soo line trainmen and W. A. Kennedy, representing the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road employes returned from Chicago where they have been in conference with national brotherhood officials.

Local brotherhood officials predict that definite action upon the question of a strike will be deferred until after the result of the strike vote now being conducted by the engineers, firemen, conductors and switchmen has been announced.

F. J. Kilp, general chairman of the Soo line for the engineers will leave for Chicago in a few days to assist in the court of votes and for conference with brotherhood officials.

The proposed strike is a protest against a general reduction in wages of about 12 1/2 per cent ordered by the United States Railway labor board and effective July 1 last. One hundred eighty-six thousand men will be affected by the proposed trainmen strike.

"If a general strike is called and carried out every road entering the twin cities will be affected," was the statement made by a local union official.

METAL WORKERS LESS BUSY NOW THAN 1914

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—While strenuous attempts are being made to minimize unemployment, the Metal Manufacturers' association acknowledges that there is more unemployment of metal workers in this district than in the 1908 and 1914 depression periods. In a letter sent to its members the association says:

"Surveys at those times show in man-hours in 1908 there was a decline of 44.7 per cent from normal and in 1914 a decline of 33.5 per cent. On September 1 of this year the decline had reached 54.7 per cent. The percentage of unemployed in 1908 was 34.5 per cent, in 1914 27 per cent, and September 1, 1921, 48.8 per cent."

NEW YORK PROFITEERS ESCAPING PUNISHMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Gourging contractors are quietly slipping out of the net drawn around them last spring by the Lockwood committee in its housing probe. Justice McAvoy of the supreme court has sustained demurrers of half a hundred of these contractors who were charged with conspiracy. The court's action is a virtual dismissal of the charges.

PROFITS INCREASED AS WAGES ARE "DEFLATED"

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—While the country is discussing methods to end the "buyers' strike," Wall street is discussing higher prices. Crude oil has jumped 34 cents a barrel, and the steel trust is praised for not getting panicky and slashing prices during the past several months. It is whispered that small steel manufacturers will be glad if the steel trust jacks up the market, and that one automobile company, manufacturing a medium-priced car, will make a profit of $25,000,000 this year.

Profits in other lines will be increased, it is predicted, because wages have been "deflated."
