ENTERTAINMENT OF THE EDITORS

Brought to a Close by a Song and Organ Recital Last Night.

ADDRESSED BY JUDGE KING

Thankful and Appreciative Response By Col. Daniels—Are the Guests Of Park City Today.

The visiting members of the National Editorial association completed their outing in Salt Lake last night and this morning went to Park City where they will spend the day observing some of the gigantic mining enterprises in that camp, after which they will proceed to Yellowstone park.

Their last place of entertainment was at the Tabernacle last night where they were treated to an excellent choir and organ recital program which was listened to with close attention and great appreciation. The choir sang the "Pilgrims' Chorus," from Hannhauser; "Oh, My Father" and the "Hallelujah Chorus," from the Messiah with excellent effect. Prof. McClellan, while not at his best on account of being quite sick during the day, was given an enthusiastic reception. The male chorus gave "Beauty's Eyes." At the close of the services Prof. McClellan played the "Star Spangled Banner." The choir sang the first verse and many of the audience joined in and a storm of applause was given the singers.

An interesting feature of the evening was an address on "Mormonism" by Hon. W. H. King. After extending welcome to the editors, Judge King explained the teachings of the faith interestingly and at some length and then suggested that if any of his hearers had unkindly feelings toward the "Mormons" that they withhold judgment against them until they learned what their teachings really are.

Col. Daniels, on the part of the guests, afterward spoke briefly for his party, expressing appreciation for the hospitality that had been extended them during their short but pleasant stay in Salt Lake, and saying that if heretofore the editorials of any member of the party had criticized severely the "Mormons," he was satisfied the majority would agree with him when he said, "The 'Mormons' are our kind of people." He thought that later the world would learn to know that the "Mormon" movement was for the world's good.

WESTERN HEADS BIGGEST.

How Sizes Vary in Different Sections Of United States.

A hatter had just finished selling a hat to an Irishman.

"The Irish," he said, "have heads of a graceful shape, long and oval and very large. The American has a head shaped very much like the Irishman's, only it is smaller and slightly rounder.

"The German has a square head, flat on top and very wide between the ears. A German's hat always looks too big for him. It looks so because it is so. In order that it may encompass the head's great breadth it must be bought a little too loose in its other dimensions. Some Germans, who are particular, have their hats made to order on this account.

"I sell hats all over the United States and I find that heads run bigger in the west than anywhere else. The Chicago man has the biggest head in America. The Southerner has the smallest. We Easterners—Philadelphians, New Yorkers and Bostonians—all have heads about the same size. The size is, on the average, 7. The Westerner's size is 7¼. The Southerner's is 6⅞."—Philadelphia Record.

AN AFFLICTED GIRL.

Lilian Busby Has Been in a Cataleptic Condition for Two Weeks.

Lilian, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Busby, who live near the corner of Fifth South and Eighth East streets, is suffering from a peculiar form of sickness that bids fair to rival the unusual affliction of Bessie Knecht. Miss Busby has been in a cataleptic condition almost continuously since the first of the month. She had been reading very closely prior to her first affliction and passed into a sleep that lasted nearly a week. After this she regained consciousness for two days and again relapsed. She lies most of the time with her eyes partly open, but is not aware of anything that is occurring. Early in her affliction, she was subject to violent spasms, but these have almost entirely ceased. The only signs she displays of consciousness are requests for food which she makes by motions and which her solicitous mother has learned to interpret.

At lucid intervals the afflicted girl expresses the belief that she will recover and it is believed that the prolonged inaction will allow natur to restore her exhausted strength.

IS YOUR COAT DUSTY?

You Probably Have the White Scab or Dandruff on It.

If your coat or shoulders have a white dust upon it, the chances are that it is from dandruff. The only way to permanently cure dandruff is to remove the cause, which is a germ. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ. Every toilet table should have such a hair-dressing that contains also the destroyer of the dandruff and hair falling germ. It stops all irritation, keeps the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome. Remember that something claimed to be "just as good," will not do the work of genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. THEY PAY AN OFFICIAL VISIT.

Board of Horticulture Holds a Midsummer Session at St. George.

GOOD CROPS EVERYWHERE

An Interesting Meeting—The Experimental Farm Inspected—Better Fruit Trees Recommended.

Messrs. B. H. Bower and Jos. H. Parry, of the state board of horticulture, returned this morning from an extensive visit in Utah's Dixie, where they, with Hon. Thomas Judd, president of the board, have been holding a number of meetings talking up horticultural interests.

THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

They also spent considerable time inspecting and directing the affairs of the Southern Utah Experiment Fruit farm, where practical demonstrations are being made of the great possibilities in Dixie for commercial fruit growing, especially raisin and table grapes and early fruits for northern markets. The farm is a model one and is fully carrying out the purpose of its establishment.

GRAIN CROPS FLOURISHING.

Crops of all kinds in Dixie are immense. Grain is already harvested and the same land is now being seeded to corn, which will yield a good crop later on. The second crop of alfalfa hay is a very heavy one and is now nearly all harvested. The fruit crop is immense, particularly grapes, which for flavor and quality are unsurpassed in this country.

POOR QUALITY FRUITS.

In fruit growing in and around St. George too little care has heretofore been given to planting of good varieties of fruits. Too many of the orchards in all of southern Utah are encumbered with seedling peaches and apples, almost worthless in comparison with the better class of fruits for which the soil and climate are so well adapted. The southern fruit industry, viewed in this light, is very disappointing. Were a railroad to strike Dixie today, it is a question whether the growers there could ship a car of fruit in a week. But conditions are changing; many new orchards and vineyards are being planted, and the industry will improve very rapidly. The example given in the state fruit farm is having a very salutary influence in the entire district.

The members of the board visited several fruit districts in the south. At La Virkin, some 25 miles up the Rio Virgin, Hon. Thomas Judd has a beautiful fruit farm of 160 acres grown under ideal conditions. He has about 60 acres planted in groves, mostly of the seedless raisin variety. He planted 10,000 of these this season. He also grows fine varieties of almond nuts, apricots, peaches, plums, nectarines, pomegranates, pears and apples. La Virkin is one of the prettiest garden spots in Dixie, with rich deep soil and abundance of water. It is a comparatively new country and bids fair to take the lead in fruit growing in that favored land.

ST. GEORGE CORRESPONDENCE.

St. George, Utah, July 10.—If any evidence were lacking to show the quick and very promising returns from fruit growing in Utah's Dixie, the splendid result of three years' work at the southern Utah experiment fruit farm furnishes that evidence most conclusively. Although planted but three years the older ones on the plantation are loaded with grapes in great variety, but the most promising kind is the Thompson's seedless raisin grape, which grows here to perfection, producing a raisin richer in flavor and sugar contents than those grown in California or elsewhere. It would be a very poor season when a four or five year old vineyard would not net the grower for his labor $100 per acre, and from that up to $200 as the vines mature and get old. Like sugar beet growing in the north end of the state, the raisin industry bids fair to become a local industry that will be the making of Dixie. It is pleasant work, and, like the beets, will furnish profitable employment to all the members of the family, as all can assist in the gathering and curing the grapes. The work already done at the experiment farm reveals the immense possibilities of this industry. If each farmer would undertake to grow say three acres of grapes, the returns would be greater than the average from the farms of the entire state. Many are already engaged in grape growing, and judging from the interest shown at the large meeting addressed by the members of the state board of horticulture Wednesday evening, many more will plant grapes and grow less alfalfa and weeds.

MIDSUMMER SESSION.

Three of the members of the state board of horticulture are here this week, Messrs. Thomas Judd, B. H. Bower and Joseph H. Parry, holding their midsummer meeting and inspecting and laying out the work on the fruit farm. They met with the people of Santa Clara and St. George this week and talked up the fruit industry to large and enthusiastic audiences in both places. They will also visit other places.

The state experiment fruit farm is in excellent shape, a model in every respect, that is bound to have an influence in encouraging improved methods of fruit culture. The trees and vines adapted to the soil are in a thrifty condition. The effects of systematic irrigation and clean culture show up to good advantage. The peach, nectarine, almond, prune, apple, apricot and fig trees and pomegranates are thrifty and some of them will soon produce splendid crops.

Many improvements are arranged for, to be made at once. A stable, tool and hay sheds and cottages for the farm assistants will be erected this season as well as a water tank and reservoir. Planting of wind breaks and avenues of some of the more valuable timber trees will be made in the near future, as well as further planting of fruit trees and vines, to make further demonstrations of the practicability of specialty fruit growing in Dixie, particularly of the raisin grape.

St. George has recently acquired more irrigating water which will give an impetus to the fruit industry that will mark a new era of prosperity. The moving of the smelter from here up to Shem, some 14 miles up country, lessens business activity here somewhat, but decreases the market for farm produce as it is enlarged considerably, and the mines in this district are more active, furnishing better markets.

GOOD CROPS.

Farmers are gathering their second crop of lucern, which is a splendid one. It is worth $6 per ton delivered in town. Where irrigating water is abundant farmers are following the small grain crop with corn planting, which will mature a good crop before killing frost.

The weather is beautiful, days are hot but nights are cool and pleasant.

Phenomenal Enlargement of Ringlin Brothers' World's Greatest Shows.

Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows, which will exhibit in Salt Lake City Wednesday, Aug. 5th, has been enlarged upon such a broad scale of liberality as to almost preclude the depiction of its real magnitude on paper. The Ringling Brothers, always modern and progressive, have had for years the biggest and best show on earth, yet this season they have more than doubled their immense amusement enterprise by the addition of complete new trains, hundreds of horses and people, and by entire new shows. The crowning feature of these almost unlimited additions is the grand spectacular and pantomimic production of Jerusalem and the Crusades, in which are shown twelve hundred characters, magnificent costumes, fifteen carloads of special scenery, and an enormous triple strength cathedral pipe organ of rare volume, power and sweetness of tone. This spectacular is shown in the largest tent ever made for a circus—a vast canvas theater, arena and aerial enclave, brilliantly lighted by electricity. Jerusalem and the Crusades is but one of hundreds of marvelous attractions the Ringling Brothers have gathered from all points of the compass. The monster free street parade—a glittering pageant fully three miles in length—is alone worth the amount charged for the circus proper. It is replete with new and novel processional attractions, displaying beautifully carved and decorative floats representative of every country on the globe, richly attired horsemen from every known nation, and monster herds of elephants and camels, with a division for the children, and a full hundred cages of the rarest wild animals known to zoologists. In the arenic performance the Ringling Brothers introduce 375 performers, each one a premier artist. Among them are superb aerial feats by the renowned Potters and the Flying Fishers, the famous Nelson Family in an entirely new act, the Dollard troupe, direct from European triumphs in a sensational acrobatic act; the Fortune Brothers, comedy acrobats; Genaro and Theol, unrivaled contortionists, the Rios Brothers, Frank Smith, known the world over as the upside-down man, and many other incomparable aerialists, acrobats and equilibrists. The riders this season include John and Michael Rooney, who have long held the championship of the world; Reno McCree, Miss May Davenport, the Walletts, recently imported from Australia; the Hobsons, the St. Leons, Rhoda Royal, John O'Brien, John Agee, Albert Thompson, Madame Royal, Miss Ida Miaco, John Slater and a host of others. In the trained animal display the Ringling Brothers present three herds of huge elephant actors, under the direction of Pearl Souder, troops of cute little ponies in acts that never fail to please the children. Captain Webb's wonderful performing seals, cake-walking and high school horses in exhibitions of the highest type of equine intelligence and a marvelous new conception—sixty-one beautiful specimens of horseflesh performing at one time in an ordinary circus ring. The circus performance is given on four stages, in three rings, and on a wide quarter mile hippodrome track.
