LOYALTY OF THE SHEPHERD KING

Same Characteristic Made Washington the Foremost Man Of Modern Times.

HE REFUSED DICTATORSHIP

Interesting Discourses at Tabernacle By Elders Hinckley and Young.

That the greatness of Washington was due mainly to his loyalty and devotion to duty, was the contention of Elder Briant S. Hinckley, a speaker at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon. The great American who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen was compared to David, the man after God's own heart. Elder Richard W. Young, who followed, spoke in a similar strain, saying that loyalty is a dominating characteristic of the Latter-day Saints.

The services were presided over by President Anthon H. Lund. Elder Seymour B. Young offered the opening prayer and benediction was pronounced by Elder Heber J. Grant. The choir sing the hymns, "Softly Beams the Sacred Dawning," "An Angel From On High," and an anthem, "There's a Sound From the Vale." The words and music of the latter being by Orson F. Whitney and Evan Stephens, respectively. The closing hymn "Our God We Raise to Thee," was sung by the congregation and choir.

ELDER B. S. HINCKLEY.

When a man speaks in the name of the Lord, he will speak the truth, and the truth is always acceptable to the seeker after righteousness, said Elder Hinckley.

Tomorrow the people of this land will pay homage to a great and good man, George Washington, as similar respect was shown a short time ago to another illustrious name, the bearer of which was born in February. When men tower high among their fellows, one is led to ask what was there in such a one to make him greater than others. Men are apt to look to outer appearances, but God looks into the heart. For this reason David, the shepherd boy, was chosen king of Israel above his more kingly appearing brothers. The characteristic that made him choice for the lofty position, was his loyalty. This attribute was uppermost in George Washington. He could easily have become a dictator, but for his lofty ideals of loyalty. Others there were more brilliant, more intelligent, more politic, but in loyalty of soul, Washington outshone them all.

Incidents in the life of David, tending to show the loyalty that characterized his life were recited by the speaker, beginning with the combat between the stripling and Goliath, the Philistine giant. Henceforth the once shepherd was as a collosus, despite his humility and reservation. David was loyal to his king, although that king constantly sought to take his life, without cause. David never failed in his courage to face the propositions of life, yet when his wayward son wrought his own destruction, the king father wept before all Israel and refused to be comforted.

The Latter-day Saints are loyal. Some may sometimes have been indiscreet, but their loyalty can not be questioned by any who know their true history. If there is any one thing that will attone more than another for wrongdoing it is loyalty to things just and true. Any man who fails to perform his duty is lacking in loyalty. No man can afford to deviate from the right, either in religion, in politics or in anything else. Civic righteousness is as necessary as religious righteousness.

ELDER R. W. YOUNG.

As said by the previous speaker there is no virtue greater than that of loyalty, said Elder Young. A frequent charge against the Latter-day Saints, dating back to the organization of the Church, is that this people is ignorant and under control of a tyrannical priesthood. Everything in refutation of such accusations can be said. The greatest argument against such a proposition is that the Mormon people are by no means ignorant. Statistics prove that illiteracy among this people is among the lowest percentage to be found in the country. The second law passed by the first legislature of the Territory of Utah, in 1850, was for the establishment of a university. From the earliest days, the aim was for free schools as far as practicable. Utah students have been graduated from the best schools of the country. Every year a thousand or more young men come home from missions, bringing with them the best thought and ideas of the nations. Then, too, the fact that this community is made up of people from so many different nations, combining the best of all, places the Church and its members in the van, rather than the wake of human progress and advancement.

The unity of the Mormon people is not on account of ignorance and following blindly their leaders. The majority of the recruits of Mormonism have been people who have used their judgment and followed the dictates of conscience in the face of all opposition. They have exhibited loyalty to principle, loyalty to the will of God as they have understood it. They are loyal to the Church and its principles, and are ready to march shoulder to shoulder with their leaders. Loyalty is a requisite in all phases of life, in the home, in the school, in business concerns, in government affairs, everywhere and all the time. Without loyalty, success can not be looked for from any source. In domestic, commercial and government affairs, the Latter-day Saints are willing to abide by the decision of the majority, so long as it is seeking the interests of all.

The people have a voice in the selection of their leaders, if not directly in naming them, in the matter of receiving or rejecting them. This plan is strictly in conformity with the institutions of our country in the choice of public officials, most of whom are appointed by the executive, but confirmed by the people, through their representatives.

BAD BULLDOG KILLED.

A ferocious young bulldog was shot and killed at Center and Third North streets by Jack Browning with a revolver, after the dog had bitten several boys badly. It seems that the dog while chained up had been pelted with rocks and otherwise ill treated by boys of the neighborhood, and the dog remembered it. When he was turned loose he started out on the warpath, biting every small boy he could find on the streets.
