

OPEN ON OR ABOUT NOVEMBER 1st, 1919

SCHOOL OF PENMANSHIP

UNDER DIRECTION OF A GRADUATE TEACHER OF THE PALMER SCHOOLS

OF NEW YORK CITY

REASONABLE TERMS

HANDSOME ENGRAVED DIPLOMA GIVEN TO GRADUATES

CALL AT 200 N. THIRD ST. AFTER 5:00 P.M. FOR INFORMATION.

SOCIETY

MISS NELL LUCAS, Society Editor Phone 195

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haskell and Mrs. Kent returned last evening from their summer home in North Conway in the White mountains of New Hampshire.

J. E. Jeter, of Jacksonville, who was formerly a resident of Palatka, is greeting old friends here today.

Mrs. H. O. Hamm arrived home last night from a delightful visit to Maryland, and various northern cities including Chicago, New York, Atlantic City and Pittsburg, where she visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haskell and Mrs. Kent returned last evening from their summer home in North Carolina in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

The young men of the city will entertain with a dance this evening at the Athletic Club in honor of Miss Stella Browning and Charley Anderson.

The Tuesday Bridge Club will be entertained by Mrs. W. T. Hamm Wednesday afternoon at her home on River street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fearnside returned from a pleasant trip to Washington, New York and Baltimore.

Miss Grizella Merrill is visiting her sister Mrs. D. W. Ramsaur, of Jacksonville for a few days.

C. H. Gunter, of Jacksonville, was here for a few days on business and pleasure combined.

Mrs. A. J. Key and baby, of Quincy, are here as guests of their cousin, Mrs. Ellen Rice at 427 Laurel.

F. E. Cooper, mechanical expert of the Gulf Refinery is here on a business trip.

Miss Thelma Hyers and Miss Helen Cochran are expected to arrive from Jacksonville Wednesday and will be attendants at the Browning-Anderson wedding.

Alfred T. Triay, of Montgomery, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Stalings, left for St. Augustine this morning.

Nat Richardson, indicted for the murder of Conductor Ray Butts was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. As he has no counsel and no means of employing any the court appointed Messrs. Merryday and Walton to defend this prisoner. The case may be brought to trial this week, and will be of short duration, as there are few witnesses. The greater part of the time will be consumed in securing a jury.

The grand jury and petit jury serving at this term of court are:

Grand Jury—T. B. Merrill, foreman, Oscar Smith, W. F. Sweat, C. E. Merwin, J. M. Bard, M. R. Ewers, R. B. Barber, J. W. Weeks, J. R. Cannon, C. B. Lively, W. Abrams, W. M. Mays, H. N. Hancock, J. H. Conway, Fred Hubner, J. J. Brown, A. F. Hancock, T. E. Stranger.

K. M. White, M. C. Johnson, J. J. McGrady, L. M. Baldwin, A. L. Lev- yra, W. F. Robero, W. H. Horns- by, L. L. Moody, A. M. Moody, M. Saucer, E. T. Brooks, E. E. Dodge, E. O. Earls, J. C. McWalters, R. A. Hines, E. A. Thomas, J. H. Johnson, J. P. Porter.

MISS SMITH ENTERTAINS

Miss Florence Smith entertained most delightfully at the Woman's Club last evening in honor of Miss Browning and Charley Anderson, whose marriage will take place this week. Halloween colors were used for decoration and the club room was at its best in its arranged of golden glow, golden rod and cosmos. Black cats and witches, against a back ground of yellow drapery and the yellow lights ornamented with goblins and owls, added charm to the scene.

Miss Smith received her guests becomingly gowned in black. Miss Browning was lovely in a gown of blue charmeuse. After the first dance, Miss Browning and Mr. Anderson were invited to explore mysteries of a huge cauldron.

The witch presented the honor guests with interesting and attractive gifts, each accompanied by an original and appropriate verse.

The guests were Misses Stella and Winnifred Browning, Hallie Lancaster, Harriett Rowley, Dorothy Davis, Dorothy Merriam, Kathleen Lecks, Nell Lucas, Alta Everton, Vanita Trombley, Winnifred Haughton, Grizella Merrill, Mayme Mpers, Anna Chenault, Caroline Meigs, Kathleen Hilburn, Louise Pruitt, Mesdames A. R. Halle, Wallace Griggs and Messrs. Chas. Philips, Roy Gridley, Jimmie Browning, Davis Dancy, Lew Bars- tow, Harold Hodge, Job Cannon, Claude Ferrell, Harry Kollar, Bill Walton, Kendriak Ware, Frank Owen, Jack Merriam, Roy Smith, Wallace Griggs, Robt. Earnest, Kelly Reynolds Jhn Cannon, Tom Tilghman, John Smith, Roy Cowan, R. N. Dur- rance, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. Mess- mer, Mrs. S. S. Browning and Miss Maggie Anderson.

Neopolitan ice cream and cake, in Halloween colors were served during the intermission. The hostess was assisted in serving by Misses Emma Mae Pacetti, Ruth Browning and Clarice Newton. Master Lewis Kalbfield Newton, in elf costume, entertained the party with a dance specialty in his charmingly original manner.

Mrs. Hilburn presided over the punch bowl and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Louis Kalbfield assisted in enter- taining.

VALLEY OF GIANTS MAKE HIT AT ARCADE

RECORD CROWDS SAW GREAT FEATURE AT ARCADE.

Wallace Reid at His Best in Peter B. Kyne's Great Story of Giant Rerwoods.

Record crowds witnessed the pres- entation yesterday and last night of the Paramount-Artcraft Special pro- duction of Captain Peer B. Kyne's story "The Valley of the Giants," with Wallace Reid in the principal role. Tilghman's orchestra added much to

We have the goods

Telephone 15

PALATKA PHARMACY

The Good Drug Store

the attractiveness of the program. The picture will be presented again today continuously from 3:30 to 11 p. m.

Wallace Reid plays the role of Bryce Cardigan, son of James Cardigan, a pioneer California lumber- man who had founded a city and open- ed up the lumbering industry. Be- fore the death of his wife, Cardigan had given to her a beautiful glade in the forest, which he named "The Val- ley of the Giants." On her death and burial in the glade, Cardigan and Bryce, his son, vow that they will pro- tect with their lives, if necessary, this sacred valley.

Bryce returns from college and finds his father in financial difficul- ties and nearly blind. He sends for an eye specialist, who cures the blind- ness and starts vigorously to work to prevent the sale of the precious prop- erty to Colonel Pennington, a schem- ing land owner and business rival of Cardigan. Bryce obtains a franchise to build a road leading out of the val- ley, so that its lumber resources can be made accessible to the outside world. But Pennington bribes the mayor of the town to vacate the fran- chise.

Meantime, Pennington has offered $50,000 for the land. Cardigan is on the point of sacrificing it when Judge Moore tells him he has a client who will pay $100,000 and allow him to keep a strip of twenty acres around his wife's grave. Cardigan accepts this offer and the buyer later proves to be Shirley Sumner. Pennington's own niece, who is rich in her own right, and with whom Bryce is madly in love.

Through this purchase, the Cardi- gans ultimately retain their property. There are numerous thrills in the pic- ture, notably one occasioned by the fierce fistie battle between Bryce and Pennington's lumber foreman, another when Bryce saves the lives of Shir- ley and Pennington by uncoupling, at the risk of his life, the caboose in which they are seated from a run- way logging train, and a third when Bryce is shot from ambush while laying a railroad crossing at night to hold his franchise.

ARCADE THEATER Today

LAST PRESENTATION OF

"The Valley

.. of the ..

Giants"

Ask Your Friends Who Saw This Wonderful Picture Last Night. Continuous Performance From 3:30 P.M. to 11 P.M.

MUSIC BY TILGHMAN'S ORCHESTRA

TOMORROW LINA CAVALIERI

IN A MAGNIFICENT PARAMOUNT PICTURE

"The Woman of Impulse"

The Most Beautiful Woman in the World in a Play of Sumptuous Settings. PRICES 10 AND 15 CENTS

WALLACE REID AGAIN SATURDAY IN "ALIAS MIKE MORAN."