Now is the time to keep up with the news, especially as a terrible War, precipitated upon us by Northern Dissunionists, by the election of Lincoln, would do no profitable for our Week. It is now plain to see that South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and other Cotton States are going out of the Union. It is too serious a matter for us, and we must all look the business in the face. This machine of ours, with its delicate and complex in its nature, and which even its great Architects labor and thought, so much of the concession and compromise, and ever so much of blood and treasure, have spent in piecing, to gravely a set of cantankerous, and disappointed demagogues that they can never preside over United States, and hence they seek to form one or more contemptible Southern Confederacies, and to place themselves at the head of them. The folding and dancing of the White Rose was enveigled in flames, so more brutal, foolish, stupid and wicked in the conduct of those country-destroying, God-defying, and Hell-deserving traitors in their country, who write and act in opposity of the most monumental wisdom the human mind can conceive!

Nothing is to be done, and that at no distance, and the battle ground is to be along the border States of Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Missouri, these have all declared for the Union, and wicked leaders who have precipitated the crisis, will do none of the fighting, will manage to hold civil and military offices, will large salaries, to pay which, will be wrung from the masses by a tyrant yoke. And those common men themselves have to shoulder their muskets, to march, and do the fighting, and to shoulder the Disunion ticket, fight for and subscribe, the Union man, if he can, will fight on the side of the Union, Constitution, and for the "Union, Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws."

Politicians should attempt to inaugurate such unconstitutional measures, and such unconstitutional measures, and such unconstitutional measures, and
