The Knoxville Whig.

Knoxville, Tenn., January 20, 1869.

A Methodist Bible class in Santa Clara, Cal., is attended by twenty-six Chinamen.

Of the 150,000 teachers in the United States, it is asserted that 112,000 are women.

An old lady in Mount Vernon, New Hampshire, woke up in the night, supposed the house to be on fire, and died instantly of fright.

The wheat crop of the United States is estimated for 1868, to be 220,000,000 bushels; corn crop, 900,000,000 bushels; cotton crop, 2,000,000 bales.

A colored man in Cleveland has recovered three hundred dollars damages for having been ejected from a skating rink on account of his color.

The Oregon City Woollen Mills make 400 different kinds and quality of cloth—from the finest dress goods to "Oregon gray." They produce 480,000 yards per annum.

In a cave under the island at Rock Island, Illinois, the statute of an Indian maiden, a copper pedestal, a seven foot high obelisk of solid brass, and other Indian curiosities have been discovered.

Formed long ago, yet made to-day,
I'm most in use when others sleep;
What few would like to take away.
And none would ever like to keep.
Answer—Bed.

It is said that one of the best things the great Rothschild did before dying was to direct his family and friends to sell Lombardy shares short, knowing that his death would produce a panic in these securities.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "It is rumored that a celebrated Parisian modiste is about to send to this country a model garment adapted to the necessities of female velocipedists."

The Springfield Republican says: "The first through train on the Pacific Railroad will be made up of one locomotive to each passenger, two sleeping and one baggage car, and will start from Springfield and run through to Sacramento without change."

An exchange says Jubal Early will take advantage of President Johnson's amnesty proclamation and return home, singing, "The year of Jubal E. is come; return, ye wandering sinner, home."

Some days ago a horse in Paterson, N. J., made a grab for an apple which a man was eating. Missing his aim, he almost severed the man's nose from his face. The man will probably save his nasal organ, although it is much mutilated and very painful.

"The horse bit his owner!
How came it to pass?
He heard his good master
Say all flesh is grass."

The brief bill introduced into the House by General Butler, and designed to relieve persons charged with an offence from the "snatch process" of other States than their own, in case they happen to go from home, would seem to have been made necessary by the repetition of such hardships as the editor of the Worcester Spy was recently subjected to in Gotham. The regular service of a regular process is well enough, but where the law, which should protect, is made to inflict grievances, it should be amended. If a man has been guilty of an enormity sufficient to warrant punishment, however potential he may be, the laws of his domicile ought not to respect him, nor will they. The Bowles case is rather an exhibition of petty spite than an evidence of the majesty of law. Had Fisk been aggrieved, he would have found the laws of Massachusetts as ample for redress as those of New York. Bowles was not flowing just now. Dignity would have allowed him at least a residence of 48 hours, the period provided in Butler's bill, before service of the process.

PEACEFUL CONDITION OF SOUTH CAROLINA.—South Carolina, the so-called cradle of the rebellion, is, on this New Year's Day, 1869, the most peaceful and secure of all the Southern States. We have a colored population of 400,000, and a white population of 275,000 or less; but order and quiet reign within our borders, and no such thing as wide-spread riot or tumult has been known in this State. It is not that we have been free from the ancient causes of trouble and disaffection. Political firebrands and itinerant thieves have been as plenteous here as in any other part of the South, but white men and colored men labor soberly side by side, and the business of the whole State is in a healthy and thriving condition.—Charleston News.

ECLIPSES IN 1869.—There will be four eclipses this year, two of the sun and two of the moon. Two of them will be visible in the Continent. The first will occur on the 27th inst. At Boston the moon will enter Penumbra at twenty six minutes to seven P. M., and leave at fourteen minutes past eleven P. M. The middle of the eclipse will be at six minutes to nine P. M. A total eclipse of the sun will occur on the 7th of August and will be visible to North America and Eastern Asia. It will begin at Boston at twenty four minutes past five P. M. and end at sunset.

WONDERFUL INVENTION.—Among the most wonderful of modern inventions is a house clock, now on exhibition in this city, and which will probably be introduced at an early day into the Treasury Department. It consists in the fact that only one set of works is required, and with a wire attached to those, and dials fixed in the walls of any number of rooms, the exact time can be furnished at a very trifling expense. It has been suggested that if the main works were placed at the National Observatory, with connecting wires in the Capitol, public buildings, and as many private residences as may desire it, the correct or ball time could be furnished at a very slight expense. The works are simple, and so arranged that there is little possibility of them getting out of order, and if this system is adopted the difficulty of having correct time keepers will be obviated. The owner of the patent is Mr. Wm. O. Metzerott.

Dr. Livingston, the African explorer, is safe in the vicinity of Lake Nyassa, Africa.

Governor Baker, of Indiana, pardoned forty-two criminals during 1868. In 1867 he issued over one hundred and fifteen pardons.

New York city expended about $2,000,000 in her public schools last year.

The St. Louis City Council has been petitioned to print and circulate a document setting forth the advantages of that city as a national capital. St. Louis is 1400 miles from New York, 1300 miles from New Orleans, 2000 miles from San Francisco, and about 700 miles from the northern border.

One of the soldiers of Napoleon Bonaparte lives at Fishkill Landing, is eighty-five years of age, and still hale and hearty. He participated in the battles of Ulm, Jena, Austerlitz, Vienna and the struggles of the Peninsular war. He has been in this country since 1828, and for the most of the time has resided at Fishkill Landing.

Trains on the Central Pacific Railroad are running on schedule time to Carlin, in the northeast corner of Nevada, six hundred miles distant from San Francisco. Track layers are at Humboldt Canon, twenty five miles farther east. No interruption has occurred from snows so far. The twenty-two miles of snow sheds at the summit of the Sierras are working satisfactorily. The commercial business of the Central, for December, exceeds $540,000.
