COTTON MARKET CLOSES WITH GAIN

Final Prices Are Up Approximately 25 to 60 Points, With January on Top.

The cotton market displayed yesterday an excellent undertone after early heaviness and closed with a gain of approximately 25 to 60 points, with January, the spot month, at the top price of the day and other options somewhat down from the best on long realizing. The rise was the result of the firmness in the stock market and the development of a late and rather sudden covering movement which caused a marked scarcity of contracts. A bullish influence of power was the report that many Southern interests which had intended shipping cotton here for delivery on contract found it impossible to obtain sufficient storage room. At one time in the forenoon the list showed a decline of 20 to 40 points on pressure from the South and Wall Street selling. Bear factors included poor Liverpool cables, a critical Austrian situation and early foreign exchange easiness.

The greater portion of the early business was distinctly professional in character. It was evident that numerous operators were waiting for new developments. Liverpool was on both sides in the first hour, while commission houses bought. Initial sales were unchanged to 10 points net lower on near months and 9 points higher on October. There was some irregularity immediately after the call but the market sagged off, due to lack of lasting demand.

The list continued under pressure during the second and third hours but early in the fourth hour better buying power developed. Among the factors were the bullish Worth street cotton goods advices. A leading print concern said that it had disposed of a big supply of ginghams in record time and that it thought the peak of the textile depression had passed, which resulted in new support through commission houses. March touched 16.35, up 100 points from the low, and was in active demand, as was January, the two near options being little affected by news that additional storage room had been made available here.

In the last few minutes of trading there was professional profit taking in later deliveries, but near options held up well. Local spot was quoted 18.10 cents a pound, up 60 points.

GARY SEES BETTER TRADE CONDITIONS

Tendency Is Toward Improvement, Says Head of U. S. Steel Corporation.

The present tendency in business is toward improvement and the general aspect, including the temper of business men, is better, in the opinion of Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. If this continues, the Judge declared yesterday, we are certain to have decided improvement within a comparatively short time. Although there are some lines in which further cutting of prices seems necessary, the Judge said, there have been cases in which retailers have sold goods at prices below what they paid for them, showing a healthy disposition to make necessary adjustments, dispose of stocks and get into a financial position which will enable them to go ahead in the regular way.

"I see increasing signs of a disposition on the part of producers to recognize conditions and submit to such reductions in selling prices as are necessary," Judge Gary said. "Also it must be evident to every one that a large percentage of workmen are disposed to accept and are proposing reductions in wages immediately following the action of their employers to make reductions in their prices. This is a good sign and will have a decided effect.

"In the steel business those who are buying are buying from the standpoint of necessity, and this buying to date has secured for our corporation, at least, a substantial volume of business, considering the times, and will, I hope, enable us to continue the payment of the usual dividends. Under these conditions how could we be other than optimistic?

"As I have remarked perhaps more than once, the immediate future and the year's business will depend wholly on the temper, conversation and the action of the general public, which includes the business men and the representatives of the press. I do not believe in misrepresentation of facts. But I would always rather emphasize the many good features in sight than to dwell upon the unsatisfactory features, if there are any. The facts and figures are still in favor of progress and prosperity."

GULF COAST LINES EQUIPMENT.

J. S. Pyeatt, president of the Gulf Coast Lines, has announced the road's equipment budget for 1921. The corporation has purchased five locomotives, 850 freight cars and 4,000 tons of 85 pound steel rails. The rails will replace the 75 pound rails between New Orleans and Houston, and Mr. Pyeatt expects work to start on the replacements this month.

In addition, the company will expend approximately $1,000,000 on additional sidings.

STORAGE FOR COTTON.

The cotton trade was considerably disturbed yesterday over reports that storage space for cotton here was scarce. The Warehouse and Delivery Committee of the Cotton Exchange found that about 25,000 bales of cotton in transit to New York would find no available space in licensed warehouses. The Exchange immediately licensed the National Storage Company, at Communipaw, N. J., and the company guaranteed space for not less than 25,000 bales.
