TRUST COMPANY IN NEW CONTROL

Commercial Now in Hands of Interests Which Took Over East River National.

Negotiations for the acquisition of the controlling interests in the Commercial Trust Company by the new interests which came into control of the East River National Bank several months ago are completed and a formal announcement of the deal will be made the early part of the week. A. H. Giannini, president of the East River National Bank, is also head of the company which has acquired control of the Commercial Trust Company, but he would make no announcement of the deal pending the issuance of a formal statement. Confirmation of the passing of control of the Commercial Trust Company, however, was obtained.

Whether a physical merger of the two institutions will result could not be learned, but such a step could be taken as it was in the case of the merger of the Liberty National Bank with the New York Trust Company by converting the East River National into a State institution and then forming a new corporation with a name not yet announced. The East River National Bank is in 680 Broadway, has a capital of $1,000,000, surplus and undivided profits of $769,200, loans of $15,240,000 and deposits of $15,600,000. The Commercial Trust Company is in 1451 Broadway and has a capital of $1,000,000 and deposits of $7,500,000.

COTTON.

Moderate week end short covering and a little Liverpool and outside support of later positions lifted yesterday's cotton market about ¼ cent from its preceding close. That shorts feared a renewal of the upward movement on Monday was seen from the way in which they covered outstanding commitments in the final few minutes of business. The market itself finished within a point or two of its best level, 22 to 27 points higher than it did on Friday.

From the outset it was evident that sellers were exercising greater caution because of the bullishness of weekly statistics, reports of better spot demand in the Southwest, increased business in Fall River last week and more optimistic feeling concerning conference developments in Washington. First prices were 7 to 15 points better than the market's preceding close, but the list was unable to maintain its opening advance directly after the call because of Southern and wire house selling. Near months slipped off a bit from their last previous finish.

The list was quick to come back and made its greatest gains in the last half hour of the abbreviated session. Sales at Fall River for the week ended on Friday night were placed at 120,000 pieces, the largest total in considerable time. Curtailment was estimated at 70,000 pieces. Eastern dry goods distributors spoke of increased business in the last week.

Sentiment in the market was affected by the stock market's firmer tone and the underlying steadiness of foreign exchange following last week's sharp advances. The situation has resolved itself into more or less of a deadlock, with both the bigger bulls and bears awaiting new developments. Next week the Government will announce ginning returns up to Dec. 1.
