SEIZING COAL COSTS FUEL OFFICER JOB

Woodin Announces Removal of Administrator Koerbel in Sixth District.

THROUGH CARGOES TAKEN

State Chief Renews Plea That Public Mix Steam Stuff With Anthracite.

State Fuel Administrator Woodin yesterday officially announced the removal from office of Samuel J. Koerbel of Binghamton, regional fuel administrator in the Sixth Judicial district. Mr. Koerbel was reported as having improperly authorized seizure of coal passing through his area en route to other cities. Though Mr. Koerbel was said to have shown at first a disposition to defy Mr. Woodin as "a figurehead," last night Ejmira dispatches quoted him as admitting he was through, saying:

"I am out of it."

Administrator Woodin scored regional coal governors who would appropriate coal consigned to other areas in a lengthy statement which accompanied announcement of Mr. Koerbel's removal. Shortage of anthracite, particularly stove sizes, makes it impossible to get in excess of 60 per cent. of normal supply, he emphasized. Allotments of available stocks accordingly must be adhered to strictly in each district as the only safeguard of equitable distribution to all, he asserted.

"There is no possibility of overcoming this shortage in the immediate future," said Mr. Woodin. "Any attempt on the part of local fuel administrators to seize coal passing en route to other cities or districts will have the effect of depriving those cities of their allotments."

Situation Not Alarming.

Nevertheless, according to the fuel administrator, the situation is not to be viewed with alarm. There may be embarrassments and some temporary discomfort, Mr. Woodin says, but with firm supervision the supply being received will go around if the citizenry will cooperate with him. The great difficulty Mr. Woodin has had to contend with is the disinclination of householders to use soft co
