BUSINESS NOTES AND TRADE NEWS

Heavy American Buying Lifts Yokohama Raw Silk Prices —Market Here Firm.

Renewed heavy buying by Americans yesterday resulted in an advance of 50 yen in prices in the Yokohama raw silk market. Sales reached a total of 2,200 bales. Asking prices for the standard Sinshiu No. 1 were advanced to 2,130 yen, but despite this increase, buyers were eager to place contracts. Sellers, on the other hand, were not so anxious to part with their holdings and were confident that quotations will reach higher ground before the first quarter of the year has passed. Buying in the local market also was more active while prices were firmer. Because of the small demand here sellers are slow to push up their prices. Other foreign markets displayed increased activity at slowly stiffening prices.

Cotton Goods Sales Heavy.

A fair demand for all styles of goods prevailed in the Fall River printcloth market during the week, with the estimated sales placed at 170,000 pieces. Sateens, twills and certain plain goods constructions featured in the business for that period and a firmness on the part of mills was noted. Prices have held very firm and in some instances show an advance from an eighth to a quarter of a cent over last week. Many mills were reported slow to sell beyond January and February. Considerable optimism prevails as a result of the business of the last two weeks. The activity is taken to indicate a resumption of heavy trading when the inventory period and the holidays have passed.

Dry Goods Outlook Good.

The John V. Farwell Company of Chicago look forward to the coming year with confidence and the expectation of much larger sales and excellent net results. "The last three months," their review states, "have been especially good in the way of sales and legitimate profits. The rise in the three basic textile commodities,—cotton, wool and silk—has stimulated the demand for goods made of these materials, especially during the latter part of the year, when it was evident that these prices would hold. Now, nearly all the goods owned at the old prices have been disposed of, and every one is getting rapidly on to the higher priced goods. We base our confidence on the depleted stocks, reduced indebtedness, higher prices for farm products, and the outlook for the stabilization of affairs in Europe."

To Hold Spring Fur Sale.

The spring fur auction sale of the Fur Merchants Sales Company of St. Louis will be held beginning April 30, it was announced yesterday. The company recently abandoned the winter sale, which was scheduled to begin on February 12, because of the unsettled condition of the raw fur market, and it was believed in many quarters that the spring auction also would be called off.

Silk Trade Optimistic.

Optimism is running high in the broad silk manufacturing trade. Manufacturers believe that the new year will bring in a large volume of trade. Although current demand is seasonably quiet, mills are operating on full time filling the orders booked by salesmen on their initial spring selling trip. Advance business is reported to have been much larger than that booked at this time a year ago and reflects growing confidence among retailers.

Higher Cotton Duck Prices.

Prices of cotton duck are to be readjusted in keeping with the steadily rising gray goods market according to a leading seller. Mills are now revising their price lists and announcements of advances are expected to be made within a few days.

TAX PROCEDURE COURSE.

The New York Chapter, Inc., American Institute of Banking, has scheduled a course of eight consecutive weekly lectures on income tax procedure beginning Friday evening, January 5. The course is planned for bank employees and officials who will be called upon to handle income tax matters during the early months of the coming year.
