THE American Agriculturist is one of our most valued exchanges. It has just entered upon the 43d year of its existence, with varied improvements, and more reading matter and engravings. It is invaluable to the Farm, Garden and Household. We will furnish the American Agriculturist and the two Elegant Engravings, "Foes or Friends?" (11x18½ inches) and "In the Meadow" (12x17 inches), and the Ripley Advertiser to any address, on receipt of Two Dollars and sixty cents. Ten cents extra for packing in substantial tubes and forwarding by mail the Engravings.

State Medical Association.

The Jackson Clarion is requested by Dr. W. E. Tood, Secretary State Medical Association, to say that the Association will hold its next annual meeting at West Point on Wednesday, April 2d. The railroads have granted reduced rates of fare for the occasion. A full attendance of the Medical profession is desired. West Point will extend to all a hearty welcome.

THE question of moving the capitol of Alabama from Montgomery to Birmingham is being agitated in that State.

THE farmers throughout the country will have a late start this year, and in some sections the farming prospects are not at all flattering The man who fails to make a corn crop in 1884, will be relegated to the rear in the march of progress.—Aberdeen Examiner.

NEW YORK (39), New Jersey (9) Ohio (23), and Michigan (13), together having 81 electoral votes voted for and elected Democratic tickets last year. These, united with the Southern electoral vote, would give the Democratic candidate a majority of 33 votes in electoral College. With Michigan transferred to the other side, the Democratic electoral majority would be 20. What is there in these figures, gathered from the last election, to discourage the Democracy.—Appeal.

Prohibition Bills.

There has been a very large number of bills before the Legislature demanding local prohibition. We have heard the Legislature condemned in certain quarters for giving so much attention to such legislation; but we think the Legislature is not at all to blame for this character of work, and that their position on the subject was a very proper one, and their action in consequence almost necessary. The idea which seemed to pervade the members of both houses was to give a prohibitory law wherever a majority of the town or district whence the petition came desired it; and to deny it whenever a majority could not be clearly shown. So that the large number of bills simply shows that the people throughout the State are awake and in earnest in their endeavor to abolish or restrain the use of liquors, and that the Legislature will respect the clearly expressed wishes of any locality upon a matter pertaining to their local police.—Jackson Clarion.

Simple Home Remedies.

The following remedies for many simple ailments we find recommended in Hall's Journal of Heath. And while the remedies may not be new to many of our readers, they will be found useful to all. We now publish them that they may be at hand for ready reference.

Half a teaspoonful of common table salt dissolved in a little cold water and drank will instantly relieve "heart burn" or dyspepsia. If taken every morning before breakfast, increasing the quantity gradually to a teaspoonful of salt and a tumbler of water, it will in a few days cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia, if at the same time due attention is paid to the diet. There is no better remedy than the above for constipation. As a gargle for sore throat it is equal to chlorate of potash and is entirely safe. It may be used as often as desired, if a little is swallowed each time, it will have a beneficial effect on the throat by cleansing it and allaying the irritation. In doses of one to four teaspoonfuls in half a pint to a pint of tepid water it acts promptly as an emetic, and, in cases of poisoning, is always on hand. It is an excellent remedy for bites and stings of insects. It is a valuable astringent in hemorrhages particularly for bleeding of the extracting of teeth. It has both cleansing and healing properties, and is therefore a most excellent application for superficial ulcerations. Mustard is another valuable remedy, no family should be without. Two or three teaspoonsful of ground mustard stirred into half a pint of water acts as an emetic very promptly, and is milder and easier to take than salt water. Equal parts of ground mustard and flour or meal made into a paste with warm water and spread on a thin piece of muslin, with another piece of muslin laid over it forms the indispensible 'mustard plaster.' It is almost a specific for colic when applied for a few minutes over the "pit of the stomach." For all internal pains and congestions there is no remedy of such general utility. It acts as a counter-irritant by drawing the blood to the surface; hence in severe cases of croup a small mustard plaster should be applied to the back of the child's neck. The same treatment will relieve almost any case of headache. A mustard plaster should be moved about over the spot to be acted upon, for if left in one place it is liable to blister. A mustard plaster acts well when at considerable distance from the affected part. An excellent substitute for mustard plasters is what is known as "mustard leaves." They come a dozen in a box, and are about four by five inches. They are perfectly dry, and will keep for a long time. For use it is only necessary to dip one in a dish of water for a minute then apply it. Common baking soda is the best of all remedies in cases of scalds and burns. It may be used on the surface of the burned place either dry or wet. When applied promptly, the sense of relief is magical. It seems to withdraw the heat and with it the pain, and the healing process soon commences. It is the best application for eruptions caused by poisonous ivy and other poisonous plants, as also for bites and stings of insects. Owing to colds, over-fatigue, anxiety, and various other causes, the urine is often scanty, highly colored, and more or less loaded with phosphates which settle to the bottom of the vessel on cooling. As much soda as can be dipped up with a ten cent piece, dissolved in a half a glass of cold water and drank every three hours, will soon remedy the trouble.—Scientific American.

Mississippi at the Exposition.

Mississippi will be very fairly represented at the great exposition in New Orleans next winter even though she does not put a single product of her soil or factories in place within the buildings; for she can point to the grand Exposition Palace as having been designed by one of her architects, and to every wooden beam and plank used in its construction as the product of her forests, cut by her axemen and sawed by her mills. Messrs. Pointvent & Favre, of Mississippi, have been awarded the contract for 8,000,000 feet of lumber for the building at eleven dollars per thousand feet, while Meridian furnishes the architect for the industrial temple.

To go farther, Mississippi's cotton and factory king, Col. Ed Richardson is the President of the Exposition Association, and Col. Morehead, of Vicksburg, is accomplishing wonders in the way of working up a general interest in its success throughout the Union.

But Mississippi does not dream of "standing her hand" on the building and management as her exhibit, when the Exposition opens her fields, and forests, and factories, and mills, and studies will be as well represented as those of any of her sister States.—Aberdeen Examiner.

THIS has been a phenomenal year thus far. It may be unique from "end to end." It may be a year of famine in some portions of the country. Then plant lots of corn and cultivate it generously.—Aberdeen Examiner.

REVUE DE LA MODE.—This is an illustrated fashion paper and surpasses all other Journals of its kind ever published. It contains from 60 to 80 cuts representing the most choice styles from Paris a large colored plate and each copy contains illustrations of elegantly trimmed hats and new forms for the benefit of milliners.

The pattern sheet gives from five to ten full-sized patterns, of some of the garments shown on the pages of the Journal. $3.50 per annum. Single copies 35 cents. Address S. T. TAYLOR, Importer, 930 Broadway, New York.

SELECT your seed corn with unusual care this spring, and select your corn land as carefully as you select your seed, and don't swindle yourself by reducing the acreage. Give yourself plenty of room. Plant for twice as much corn as you expect to need, for you can depend upon a lively demand for your surplus if you have any, and can rely upon having to pay bouncing prices for what you lack if your crop falls short of your needs.—Aberdeen Examiner.

DEMOREST'S MAGAZINE for April is a highly entertaining and instructive number. The articles are varied and of an interesting nature; among which may be mentioned, "How we live in New York—the Charities of a Great City," by Jennie June; "Two Sides of the Question;" "The Diamond Pendant," and the admirable serial, "The Shores of Nothing." The various departments contain much that is useful, and the illustrations add considerably to the interest of the Magazine. The frontispiece of this number is a beautiful steel engraving, "A Farewell Token."

WE predict a heavy mast crop this year, but it won't do for hog raisers to take any chances. If you wish to make sure of feed for your hogs look to the fields for it, and not only plant generously but cultivate as well and thoroughly as the season will admit of.

The corn crib and the smoke house are at home once more, don't risk transplanting them to the West again.—Aberdeen Examiner.
