AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

Constantine, Alias Glides, Again in the Courts. A. C. Constantine, alias E. B. Glides, who was sentenced in the Police Court some time ago for vagrancy, on suspicion of trying to work the Riggs House is again in trouble. He is in the custody of the detective department awaiting advice from the New Jersey authorities. Some months ago Mrs. S. J. Swift made the acquaintance of Constantine in Red Bank, N. J., and incidentally confided to him the fact that she had her furniture stored in Lambertville, N. J., where she resided. A few days later Constantine presented himself at the storehouse with an order for this furniture bearing the forged signature of Mrs. Swift. He shipped the goods to Baltimore and followed them there. He left his $500 worth of household goods there, and with him were 120 Masons who had served their twenty-one years' probationary period in Masonry. There were three tables handsomely decorated and filled with everything that was good to eat and drink. Many delicacies of the season were reported the president on his right, and Hon. Charles Stewart of Texas was on his left. Among the guests were Hon. James D. Richardson of Tennessee, Edward F. Allen of Michigan and Samuel R. Peters of Kansas; J. H. Pilsou, George W. Knox, Ambrose M. Douglas, James Lansburgh, J. F. Green, F. H. Gilder, John Dugan, Louisville, Ky.; E. H. Glides, Albee, Santa Fe, New Mexico; H. S. Lubbock, San Francisco; George H. Lillibridge, C. H. Townsend, E. H. Collier, Elmer and Emma Blakely, Masters Raymond Huggins, Frank Lamashure, Walter Britton, Maurice Twitchell, Willie Yoder, Vassar Johnson and many others.

Lads and Lasses in Full Dress. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Johnson gave their son Harry a birthday party last evening at their residence, No. 1231 Ninth street northwest. The invited guests appeared in full dress and enjoyed themselves dancing, playing games, etc. Supper was announced at 10 o'clock. The table was groined with the many delicacies of the season, to which all did ample justice. As the hands of the clock approached the wee sma' hours, the company parted with many regrets, but with the universal wish that Harry may have many such returns of the occasion. Those present were: Misses Maudie and Mattie Cox, Mattie Dwyer, Edith Collier, Elmer and Emma Blakely, Masters Raymond Huggins, Frank Lamashure, Walter Britton, Maurice Twitchell, Willie Yoder, Vassar Johnson and many others.

Strange Effect of Religious Excitement. Mattie Garrett, a young negro woman, went to the revival meeting at Brooks' Church, on Vermont avenue, on Tuesday night, wearing a dress belonging to Mrs. Phillip Peysor. Religion seemed to have had a bad effect upon her physically, for she became unconscious immediately after her conversion and had remained in that condition at Freedmen's Hospital ever since. Considerable stolen property was found in her room, and she will be brought into court as soon as she recovers.

Be Neglected to Return It. Captain John Lewis left his pocketbook in the Independent Ice Company's office Tuesday afternoon and forgot all about it. Yesterday Dennis Sheely, employed by the ice company, got a $100 bill changed, and he was arrested on suspicion of having taken the money and was carried to the South Washington Station House. He admits having found the pocketbook and spent a portion of its contents. The authorities recovered $28 of the $100 bill.

The Grotto Green of America. The Capital of the nation is becoming famous for the modern Grotto Green. Our City Hall and its clerk and the magnificent the gospel and magistrates in the vicinity of the City Hall known to their satisfaction that Washington is a fair haven for those who, suffering with the rheumatism, and unable to obtain the consent of parents or guardians, resort to elopement as a potent remedy in the primary stages of their trouble. If the remedying fields of Washington are "fields of honor" only in the history of dueling, the precincts of City Hall are becoming famous as "lovers' retreat," where man and woman are honorably "applied," joined in the "holy bonds of wedlock."

There are several reasons for this state of things. The convenient state of our local laws and ordinances is one reason; the obliging character of our people is another, and these, together with the cheapness of marriage licenses, low rate of railway fares from adjoining districts of Maryland, Virginia and other neighboring States, and the many sights which attract and gladden the hearts of tourists, to the nation's capital all combine to make Washington city the Grotto Green of America.—[Washington letter.]

Beats Always Wins. Stranger—Beg pardon, madam, for calling you to the door, but will you be kind enough to tell me who that ignorant, vulgar, commonplace woman in the house across the way is? Mrs. Gabb—That's Mrs. Stuckup.

"Stucky." Thank you, I must remember the name so as not to waste time on her in future. How did such a hopelessly ignorant woman get on this very respectable street, I wonder? "I'm sure I don't know. I called on her once, but she never returned it, and that ended our acquaintance, you may be sure, the old saying being:—

"I should say so. Why, that woman wouldn't know a lady from an orangoutang; she wouldn't know a bright spoon from a black one. It's an actual fact that it isn't five minutes since she said she never heard of the Skilghish Silver Polish; and when I even went to the trouble to brighten a spoon for her she said it looked just the same. Never saw such ignorance. I suppose you have always used the Skilghish Polish, of course. You have the bright, cherry, beautiful appearance of ladies who do, but perhaps your supply is most out, and in that case—

"I believe it. I'll take a package." "It comes in cans, man; one dollar, please. Thanks."—[Philadelphia Record.]

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

A Chance for the "Twin Cities" to Take the Place of Indianapolis. "Indianapolis" said a well-posed baseball man, referring to the recent collapse of the club in that city, "will have to give the League a strict account of its actions in the affair, before being allowed honorable retirement. It will get the $12,000 fine from the League for the purchase of Penny, Boyle, Meyers and Glasscock, but hardly the $3,000 it, in common with other League clubs, has put in the guarantee fund, unless it gives satisfactory reasons for withholding the causes leading to its dissolution from the November meeting. The guarantee fund was created for the purpose of meeting just such emergencies as this and the testing at law of certain features of League legislation.

"It was to amount to $40,000 in all, $5,000 of which is to be contributed by each club in the League. The matter of deciding what disposition will be made of the Indianapolis club players resides in the hands of the League Committee on Disposition of Players, which is composed of President N. E. Young, John B. Day from New York, and Spalding of the Chicago. It rests with them to decide, also, as to whether the club shall remain in Indianapolis or be located elsewhere. I incline to the belief it will remain where it is, and, with some changes, under its present management.

"Should it decide on locating elsewhere it will find no difficulty in doing so. Minneapolis and St. Paul are jointly eager to own a League franchise, and they would offer a big sum for the privilege. Of course, under the National Agreement it would be necessary for these two Western Association clubs at present located in those cities to withdraw. As the parties controlling them are the ones who are anxious for a League franchise, this would be an easy thing to accomplish. As regards territory, it is away ahead of Indianapolis, the most numerous and enthusiastic patrons of the game being located in these two cities.

"Again, a club may be taken to apportion the four players named, for whom the League paid $12,000 to Lucas of the defunct St. Louis Blacks, among older League organizations. Pittsburg and Cleveland would, by the very nature of their condition, be able to get first option on the division of the League. The League will remain an eight-club organization. There will be no reduction from that number to six clubs.

"The new circuit which would follow the location of a club in Minneapolis and St. Paul would be even better than the one which now exists, as the jumping from Chicago to there would take but a night's ride. The franchise of the Indianapolis club was only a conditional one, and how they could borrow money on it is a mystery to all conversant with League law. If those who loaned under these circumstances can expect to recover, I fail to see."

A WONDERFUL INVALID.

Bedridden Miss Fancher Vice-President of a Manufacturing Company. Nearly a year ago Miss Mollie Fancher, the famous invalid of Brooklyn, became the vice-president of the Sargent Manufacturing Company, a concern in this city that makes and deals in goods designed for the comfort of sick people. Ever since that time all the meetings of the company have been held in the lady's darkened chamber, from which she has not stirred for twenty-three years. The fact that she thus became associated with a manufacturing enterprise was kept from the public out of respect for her sensitiveness. Of course it came out after a time, and it revealed more than ever the remarkable genius of the invalid. Said Mr. George F. Sargent, the president of the company, yesterday:

"Miss Fancher is no figurehead in this concern, but one of the most active and valuable members. I became acquainted with her two or three years ago when I called upon her in the hope that I might find that some of my inventions would be of use to her. Of course, I found that she was past relief, but the acuteness with which she grasped my ideas and suggested manifest improvements was startling. I soon found that she had a marvelous gift for mechanics, and I saw that it could be of invaluable aid in the business. She knows all about the sufferings of invalids, and just how to relieve them. We had and have no desire to make any capital out of the use of Miss Fancher's name; she is exceedingly sensitive about parading her sufferings."

"Is there any change in her malady?" "Nothing noticeable. Her life is, however, in her work. As long as she can work she is happy, and will live. She makes the most unselfish interest in helping others, and believing that her inventions are useful to invalids, she exercises her wonderful brain to the utmost to perfect them."—[New York Sun.]

Murderous Meekie Rawson. Evidence was given in court in Chicago yesterday to show that notorious Mrs. Meekie Rawson, who is on trial for shooting Lawyer Whitney and causing his insanity, planned to kill Rawson before she was married to him. Several witnesses testified that she, Mrs. Hamilton, saying that she would terribly because Rawson did not pay her son by a former marriage, who was employed in his bank, a large salary, and believing that her son would testify, "that she would get even with the old Spookendy. She would marry him, make his money by and then get rid of him."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Senator and Mrs. Hearst gave the most brilliant ball of the season last evening in honor of their guest, the winning Miss Head, of California. Yesterday was Cabinet day, and with the exception of Mrs. Fairchild, all the ladies of the Cabinet held their regular weekly receptions.

Mrs. W. C. P. Breckinridge and her daughter of Kentucky will receive to-morrow afternoon and will have with them Mrs. Joseph C. Breckinridge and her daughter, who arrives to-night from Lexington. Miss Mary D. Breckinridge, daughter of Colonel of Breckinridge, S. A., will arrive to-night from Lexington, Ky., and will be for the most of the season with her uncle, W. C. P. Breckinridge, 1453 N street. Senator and Mrs. Hearst on Saturday will give a reception in honor of Mr. Theodore Mores of San Francisco, who has lately returned from abroad.

After her reception to-day Mrs. Senator M. C. Butler will not receive again until the second Thursday in February. Mrs. Senator John W. Daniel will receive from 3 to 7 p. m. Miss Marmon is visiting friends in Philadelphia.

A luncheon will be given to-day by Mrs. Isham Hornaby in honor of her daughter, Miss Evans, who is here on a visit from Fort Leavenworth, Mo. Mrs. Senator Jones will be "at home" to-day from 3 to 6 p. m. The date for the state dinner to be given by Secretary and Mrs. Endicott has been changed from Saturday next to the following Tuesday.

Mrs. Dolph and Mrs. Nixon will hold their usual weekly reception to-day. Mrs. W. C. Perry of Fort Scott, Kan., is visiting her mother, Mrs. T. E. Massey, at 252 1/2 street. The second State dinner to the Diplomatic Corps will be given by the President and Mrs. Cleveland this evening.

A party of friends will be entertained at luncheon to-day by Mrs. Crosby. A large number of friends witnessed the marriage of Miss Amelia E. Woodward and Mr. Robert J. Ballard last night. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Bates, at the Congress-street M. E. Church. Dr. James F. Hartigan, who has been confined to his room for the past month by blood poison, contracted at a post-mortem examination, died riding yesterday. He says he'll be all right again in about two days' time.
