QUIZ RAN LIKE A REAL RACE HORSE.

Charlie Patterson's St. Florian-Queenstown Colt Scored at New Orleans.

BUDA WAS THE CONTENDER.

Park's Youngster Had Speed, but Quiz Finished With Great Determination—Ramiro II Heavily Backed.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH.]

New Orleans, La., Jan. 17.—Charley Patterson enjoys the honor of annexing the best 2-year-old purse in the Middle West. His St. Florian—Queenstown colt, Quiz, won the baby race this afternoon in an impressive manner. The track was heavy and the time the three-eighths was negotiated in 41 flat, stamps the winner as a good one. Quiz shot out of the break at the start and led for a hundred yards, when Buda, from O. T. Park's stable, passed him. In the final furlong Buda tired and Van Dusen shook up Quiz, who won going away. Buda was an easy second, while Chance, from the Morris stable, was third. Quiz was the favorite, being backed into that position. The bunch that started showed themselves to be a fairly good lot, and there is no doubt but that they will be heard from this summer.

The Bobby, Frangible and Tickful divided the play to the field, a mile and an eighth, selling, for 3-year-olds. Tickful and The Bobby trailed the procession and did not make a move until near the head of the stretch, when they came fast, but not fast enough to catch Frangible, who won in a drive by a length. Tickful beat The Bobby a head for second money.

Before the steeplechase was on the owner of Chesemite informed the judges that as it was uncertain whether the mare could run in the mud, he did not want to be held responsible if Chesemite ran a bad race. The result was that Chesemite was hammered in the betting. She ran a splendid race, alternating with Brakeman until well into the stretch, when Gallion, at 15 to 1, making his debut as a jumper, snatched the pole and won by a half length, in a drive. Brakeman beat Chesemite a head for the place. Torreon stepped into a hole the first time around and lost his rider.

Lackman, Molo and C' magnolia opened equal choices in the mile and a sixteenth handicap. Molo was checked through the ring as a warm thing, and was instantly plunged on, forcing his price down to 2-5. Lackman stood pat, while Compensation went to 18 to 5. Lackman went to the front at the first turn and spread-eagled his field. The last hundred yards he was sent to a drive, but was easy at the end. Compensation, who beat Compensation two lengths.

Ramiro II, without blinkers and without bandages, and backed down from 10 to 1 to 6, came to the post dripping wet. After getting off well he ran to the front and opening a gap of ten lengths, was pulled up. The last time he started with blinkers and bandages he beat Eight Bells, the favorite, could not negotiate the going, and finished in the rack. Phildas got the place easily from Voyageur.

Lemuel, the favorite in the last, after racing Tom Kingsley into submission, drew away in the stretch and won pulled up by a half dozen lengths, from Koenig. School Girl nailed Kingsley on the post for third money.

J. and C. Davis, owners and trainers of the horse, Frank McConnell, and Jockey L. Thompson, suspended some days ago, pending an investigation of the running of the horse, have been reinstated. Lemuel was run up $50 after the last race.

DONE WITH SLOAN.

Statement That Beresford Will Engage an English Jockey.

London, Jan. 17.—The Evening News says that the American jockey, Tod Sloan, is to be replaced by an English jockey, Tom Weldon, as pilot for Lord William Beresford's racing stable during the coming season. This statement is confirmed by Lord William himself. Lord William Beresford says:

WILL HURT SLOAN.

[REPUBLIC SPECIAL.]

New York, Jan. 17.—When Lord Dunraven was asked about the Sloan-Jockey Club affair he said that Sloan will get his license the above unknown in reference to what Lord William Beresford quotes. Judging things look black for the coming American jockey.

Lord William Beresford has been known as the principal patron not only of Sloan, but of American jockeys, during the past two seasons. It is also further claimed that and has been spending American money in England. The circumstances that have been made that some of these jockeys have been children in making good on their obligations, or at least it more plainly, have further made Sloan's standing to do with Lord William's present attitude.

While Sloan has ridden for many owners, including the Prince of Wales, he has never been engaged regularly to any one else but Lord William. Sloan's first engagement. Marin is engaged by the Waldo Grunigh for the coming season, and this owner has been one of the steadiest subscribers of American jockeys. He put Sloan up on his Kentucky stable, and offered.

Without Lord William Beresford's patronage Sloan's standing in England is likely to shrink very considerably. The granting of his license is the a other heavily merely bunching. In fact, that there is nothing to debar him from a license in that country.

SLOAN SECOND CHOICE.

Tom Weldon Engaged by Lord Beresford as First Jockey.

London, Jan. 17.—The Evening News to-day says that Tom Weldon is to replace Tod Sloan, the American rider, as first jockey for Lord Beresford.

Lord William Beresford confirms the Evening News announcing that Sloan is to be replaced by Weldon as his leading jockey.

SLAVES OF THE TRACK.

List of Horses That Ran Fifty or More Races in '99.

Some horses, as people of racehorses exist as runners of track work from their first-footed bowed winners that in England, the birth place and home of racing, would be deemed extremely cruel, save for a few, and even in the cases of a few such high horses it is cruel. But the bulk of the country's racing stock are not sentimental cases, for finer treatment, and whatever the conditions of a career allow an entry than the names of their horses appear. It will be found the names and performances of the horses that ran fifty or more races last year. Season gives the doubtful distinction of standing at the head and in one of the horses that come to Chicago and Kansas City, and have to thrive on hard work. It is remarkable surprising that such a Derby-winner as Florizel, supposed to be a well bred, should develop into a cheap racehorse, yet it has been started 115 times in races. The list is interesting as showing what the thoroughbred can stand and still

When Eddie Jones lost on Tom Cromwell through carelessness the judges sent for him. The order was very excited and the judges thought they smelt whisky on him. They sent him away and selected Thorpe to take his mount on Doctor Bernard. It was the intention of the judges to publish him severely. Subsequently they learned that Jones was perfectly sober and allowed him the rest of his mounts.

"It is dangerous to stop riding on these old, bad-legged horses," remarked Marty Bergen after Jones lost. "The moment you let up on them, especially when you are in front, they will trap and want to stop. You see jockeys rattle horses when they are finished a dozen lengths in front, and you see people laughing at them for doing so. The public doesn't know that the horse wants to stop and the jockey has to rattle him before stopping to nothing. Then it is best to keep as far in front as you conveniently can, for it is a fact that when a horse will come out of a jockey and run on. How often you see this happen. A horse will be in a canter, jumping over the field, and the jockey in the lead won't see a stride of it. He is busy watching the field in rear of the jockeyed horse, and thinking he holds a sure, will take winners easily. All of a sudden the jockeyed horse will break out and nail the leader if he is not well in front."—Press Dodge.

John Talbot, a light of other days, has sidetracked back to racing at New Orleans. He has won races on horses with which more fashionable people would disdain to bet. Talbot has been at it a long time, and has experienced all the ups and downs of a racing life. He has never been more deserved of the only means of making a living at his calling. After five years in the saddle he offered his services at the hands of the late Colonel Clark of Irving set down for Breckenridge. Clark did not know him. He had forgotten that Talbot was the same boy for whom he had once paid a fortune for a trial race, and, before setting him down, asked him if he had ever ridden a horse before.

Louis V. Bell and his trainer, James M. Corrigan, are at New Orleans. After spending a week here, Mr. Bell will continue his trip to Mexico. Mr. Corrigan is here chiefly to look on and pick up a jockey. If he can find one to suit him. He has thinned out Bell's stable which is at Sheepshead Bay, and the string now numbers attached possessing nine horses.

BILLIARD MATCH.

Morningstar Made a Gain Owing to Schaefer's Poor Work.

New York, Jan. 17.—Play was resumed here today in the 14-inch balkline handicap match between Jake Schaefer, who is endeavoring to score 2,000 points against 1,500 by Ora Morningstar, the young Chicago shortstop. Schaefer got around 1,000 and was unable to break through the 1,000 when his opponent has maintained from the beginning of the contest. The veteran professional opened his string from the 725 mark, while Morningstar started with 60 buttons to his credit. The afternoon session was shaky, neither player shooting any brilliancy. In the evening Jake made two big runs, 92 and 82, but failed to do better because of the illness from which he has recently suffered. The Kansas rolled badly for him, too, while all the good set-ups fell to the lot of Morningstar. The score:

Afternoon game:

Morningstar, 500. Average, 15 4-6. High run, 47.

Schaefer, 1,000. Average, 30 2-3. High runs, 71, 92.

Evening game:

Morningstar, 500. Average, 12 5-8. High run, 23.

Grand total, 500.

Schaefer, 1,000. Average, 28 4-7. High runs, 82, 47.

Grand total, 1,000.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

TOMMY WHITE TO QUIT THE RING.

Famous Featherweight Announces That His Fight With Cain Will Be His Last.

RYAN WILL SECOND CORBETT.

"Tonsilitis Tommy" Expects to Coach "Gentleman Jim" to Victory When He Fights Champion Jeffries.

In quitting of attaining any higher position in the fighting world than he occupies at the present, Tommy White, the famous feather weight, has concluded to quit the business, and his fight against Joe Cain, the Brooklyn feather weight, at the Hercules Club of that city will probably end his career in the roped arena.

"Fighters retire and then go back into the ring," said White. "Some of the best men of the present day have done that, but when I let go of the fighting business I will not go back to it. I have been fighting eleven or twelve years now. I started in the business over a decade ago. Off and on, I have been at it ever since. I have met all sorts and colors and sizes of men. I have been punched and given out my quota of punches. I am tired of the whole trade. I have made money at the game, but never liked it. Understand me, I do not decry fighting, but I have had my fill. I see a chance to make money in another line, and intend to try it. I do not see a chance of getting any higher in my class than I am at the present time, and, although I am not old, I am going to let some of the younger fellows have it to themselves."

Discussing the McCoy-Choynski affair, George Considine, matchmaker of the Broadway Athletic Club of New York, said:

"The whole trouble was caused by the timekeeper, and after that everybody seemed to be rattled. I wouldn't for anything that the mix had occurred. I know it will have a bad effect on the sport, because some people only are too glad to hear anything bad about boxing. They will swallow the wildest yarn that can be concocted. I always have been careful, but no amount of foresight could have guarded against the unfortunate incidents which marred Friday night's bout. Extra precautions will be taken to guard against the recurrence of similar troubles. Boxing is in a healthy condition. It never was so popular as it is now, and I think it will be admitted that but for these unfortunate happenings it has been well conducted. The Broadway Athletic Club has had a first-class reputation from the start, and I will do everything I can to maintain that reputation."

Jack Flunegan, the Pittsburg six-foot heavy weight, who came to the front only a short time ago, seems to be in demand. His manager, Al McMurray of this city, has received these offers for his services:

From the Broadway Athletic Club, for twenty-five rounds with Peter Maher, February 16, for 50 per cent of the gross; from the Cadillac Athletic Club, of Detroit, ten rounds with Joe Choynski, for a guaranteed purse of $2,500, with 50 per cent option; from Manager Eugene Leitz of the Admiral Athletic Club of Cincinnati, for fifteen rounds with Gus Ruhlin, for $1,000 guarantee, as soon as both men are ready.

"Kid" Broad of Cleveland looms up as the legitimate opponent of Terry McGovern. His victories over Dave Sullivan and Jack Hamilton, who conquered Oscar Gardner, alone entitle him to consideration as an aspirant for championship honors. He will fight Joe Bernstein at the Broadway Athletic Club, New York, Friday night, and his whole future rests upon the outcome, for if he wins he will challenge McGovern, for a fight at once. Bernstein, however, is confident that he will take Broad's measure.

Sammy Fitzpatrick, who ranks second to none as a handler and manager of pugilists, has sailed for the other side with Tommy Hogan. Hogan is billed for a go at the National Sporting Club of London with Bill Chester, and Fitzpatrick is going along to look after the clever little Cleveland boxer. After his go with Chester Hogan will tackle any of the other British boys who think they can give him a fight. Jobez White of Birmingham will in all probability be one of his opponents. White has been licking everything in sight on the other side, and the British sportsmen think he is a sender. Probably they have never stopped to consider the fact that he has never defeated a really good man. Mike Sears would have defeated him to a moral certainty if the Boston boy had not gone into the ring so sick that he should have been in a hospital. Under Fitzpatrick's care Hogan should certainly have a soft time in England.

Jack Doly is hard at work for his bout with Eddie Connolly, which is scheduled to be pulled off in Buffalo on the 29th inst. The Wilmington lad is going to make a bold bid for the position which he recently occupied in the front row of the championship aspirants. His scrapping abilities certainly entitle him to rank as high as the best of them. Billy Wilson, who is now steering Daly's pugilistic bark, is very confident that Jack will from now on cover himself with glory. Daly was recently married, and has left by the wayside for good the bad habits which in the past have dimmed his wonderful abilities in the boxing line.

The announcement that Tommy Ryan will train Jim Corbett for his coming battle was a trifle premature. Corbett, in speaking of the matter, said:

"I have decided not to have Ryan train me after all. He kindly offered his services, but what is the use of paying Ryan a large salary to train me when he can only be of assistance in showing me plenty of clever tricks, which I am already supplied with? What I need in this fight is brute strength, and by having such a big fellow as Ruhlin constantly pulling and tugging at me I will be very strong when the fight comes off. Ryan, however, will be in my corner on the night of the fight, and will be my chief adviser."

That Terry McGovern believes in getting all the money he can out of the business before he becomes too old is clearly shown by the way in which his manager, Sam Harris, is arranging matches for him. At the present time the little wonder has four fights on his hands. On January 29 he meets Jack Ward of Newark for twenty rounds at the Eureka Athletic Club of Baltimore. Then he goes to Chicago, where he knocks Eddie Santry for six rounds at Tattersall's on February 1, and then goes back to New York, where he tackles Oscar Gardner, the Omaha Kid, and Joe Barnstein in twenty-five-round bouts at the Broadway Athletic Club.

Jimmy Handler, the Newark middleweight, and George Gardner, the middleweight champion of Lowell, Mass., have been matched to fight again. They were secured by Sam Harris, the new matchmaker of the Hercules Athletic Club of Brooklyn, to box a twenty-five-round bout at that club some time next month. This match is certainly an excellent attraction, for every one who saw these two men battle several months ago will surely go again to see them, as they furnished a contest which was made up of the hardest fighting ever seen between two middle weights. Handler won the fight, as Tom O'Rourke threw up the sponge for Gardner.

ILLINOIS-INDIANA LEAGUE.

An Eight-Club Circuit Arranged—Meeting Called for February 7.

[REPUBLIC SPECIAL.]

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 17.—A meeting was held in this city to-night for the purpose of reorganizing the Illinois-Indiana Baseball League. The president, H. T. Schmidt of Terre Haute, presided. The Terre Haute, Danville, Bloomington and southern clubs will be in the League again, and the Crawfordsville, Wabash, Anderson and Muncie teams will be dropped. Four new teams were admitted—Decatur, Peoria, Quincy and Jacksonville. Pat Flaherty of St. Louis will be manager of the Jacksonville team, and was here to represent that city. Committees on organization and constitution were appointed and another meeting will be held in Decatur on February 7.

BASEBALL NEWS.

Fred Pfeffer Wants to Be an Umpire—Roger Connor Heard From.

Fred Pfeffer, that great midfielder of Chicago, is in good health now days, and seems to be busy, and of an independent in the management of cash. He says that he years has an account in the Department of Cash and Interest in the reversal of the Standard American Association, and has resigned the National League, now dated against him. Pfeffer is of the kind that could make a good umpire, if good, should get the chance. Instead of getting their deserved conditions, he expects their abusers to be thrown out of the National League, but if the latter's of cash cash on account not, he thinks they should be referred to courts, to the detriment of such player. No matter how good the game of a match may, the office is worth enough to be referred to courts. Pfeffer is a good umpire, and if he should take the Chicago Cranks, as well as the Chicago Cranks, as well as the Chicago Cranks, he would make a good umpire. Pfeffer is a good umpire, and if he should take
