ANOTHER NOTABLE DAY

NEW YORK STILL GIVEN UP TO THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

The Programme Carried Out in Sight of Myriads, Though the Day is Windy--The Great Procession--The Scenes and Incidents of the Occasion.

NEW YORK, May 1.--The great event of today and the last in the series of centennial festivals in the city of New York, was the Centennial Celebration. The programme carried out in sight of myriads, though the day is windy--the great procession--the scenes and incidents of the occasion.

The parade was under the management of General Danforth, chief marshal, and the smoothness with which the programme was carried out showed the excellent results of the elaborate preparations which have been making for weeks past.

Early this morning the streets leading from the city hall to the city hall were filled with delegations from the various organizations which were to comprise the procession and the work of the day.

The President was escorted from the residence of Vice President Sherman to the reviewing stand at Madison Square, which he reached a few minutes after 9 o'clock.

The parade started at 9:30 from Fifth avenue, and proceeded in the direction of the city hall, where it reached Twenty-seventh street.

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1889.

HOW HE MURDERED HER

NELSON THOMAS TELLS THE STORY OF HIS CRIME.

False Promises, a Bad Friend, a Reckless Woman and a Murder--The Murder Committed in Maryland--The Criminals Belong to Maryland.

In a state of suspense and mental suffering such as is experienced by few men, Nelson Thomas, arrested as the murderer of the woman who was killed in the Eastern District, acting president of Columbia College, Baltimore, Md., has been taken to the State Prison, Annapolis, Md., to await trial.

The arrival at the reviewing stand of the President Cleveland was made the occasion for a grand display of patriotism, in which he was cheered to the echo.

A BIG STRIKE.

Building Operations Paralyzed for the Time in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, May 1.--Building operations throughout the city have been paralyzed. It is estimated that fully 5,000 men are out on a strike to-day.

The strike is in the brick-making industry. The brick-makers are in a strike to-day, and as a result of the strike in these trades, brick-layers and the other building trades are in a strike to-day.

IN THE DEPARTMENTS.

Not Much Going on in the Absence of Chief Clerk Brackett of the Treasury Department.

Chief Clerk Brackett of the Treasury Department returned from New York this morning, and gave a most glowing account of the activities which he was a participant. According to his idea, and he is an expert, the parade in the Metropolis has been equalled once in this country, and that is the highest praise which can be given.

ADISAISTROUS CELEBRATION.

A Panic Caused by a Runaway Team

CHICAGO, May 1.--A series of distressing accidents occurred on the Lake Front shortly after 8 o'clock last evening just as the city was celebrating the centennial of the day when the city was founded. Five persons were fatally injured in the crush of people and a score of more received wounds of serious nature. But few of the names of those injured could be learned owing to the fact that the majority of them were cared for by their friends and taken to their homes.

The first accident was caused by the premature explosion of some fireworks. An unknown lady was severely injured about the lower limbs. She was removed to her home before her name could be learned. While endeavoring to extinguish the flames, a young man, the clothing of August Schultze, a barber, 19 years of age, living at 125 Moore street, was seriously burned about the face and hands.

Frederic Esenberg, 33 years of age, living at 823 Sherman street, was terribly burned about the face and hands. He was taken to the hospital. The clothing of August Schultze, a barber, 19 years of age, living at 125 Moore street, was seriously burned about the face and hands.

While this was going on a scene more terrible was being enacted on Michigan street. A runaway team of horses, at the point was simply fearful. The crowd at that point was simply fearful. The crowd at that point was simply fearful.

A DESERTED MANSION.

THE WHITE HOUSE AS QUIET AS ANY IN THE CITY.

No Stream of Office-Seekers Invading It To-day--The Scene in Striking Contrast With That of Recent Date.

It is expected the Presidential party will return to the White House this evening, a special train for their disposal whenever they want to use it.

Executive Chief Pruden had no intelligence concerning the movements of the President, but thought it likely that he would be in Washington to-night. Mrs. Lord, who is in charge of the White House during the absence of President and Mrs. Harrison, has received a few callers, but otherwise the Mansion has been practically deserted since Sunday evening.

The East Room has been open to the public this afternoon and a few parties braved the elements to tread on the carpet of the historic apartment, but no other rooms were open to the public.

Office-seekers have refrained from annoying any of the clerks at the White House, and seem to understand perfectly that a trip would be barren of results so far as any satisfactory progress is concerned.

John Ben. Butterfield and Judge-Advocate General Smith were seen by clerks at the Departments to-day, but none of the Secretaries were on duty and were not expected until to-morrow.

A VERDICT AT LAST.

The Railroad Sued to the Extent of $75,000.

Sealed verdicts were opened in the Circuit Court to-day, presiding over the case Chief Justice Bingham. In the suits of Charles T. Stewart against the Pennsylvania, the B. & Virginia Midland and Alexandria and Fredericksburg railroad companies, and of Thomas W. Jones against the same defendants, the verdicts in each case were against the railroad companies, and the amount of the verdicts in each case was $75,000.

Thomas W. Jones was postmaster and on the night of February 19, 1885, was on a mail car, running from Charlotte, N. C., to Washington, D. C., when a fire broke out in the car, and the mail was destroyed. The verdict in each case was against the railroad companies, and the amount of the verdicts in each case was $75,000.

AN ILLINOIS TOWN ABLAZE.

An Incipient Fire May Lead to a Blaze.

BLOOMINGTON, May 1.--At 11:30 last night a telegram was received from Chicago, this city, a town of 4,000 inhabitants, saying that a great fire was raging in the city, and that the place was threatened with the destruction of the entire town, and asking Bloomington to send her fire department to the aid of the city.

The fire broke out in the city of Bloomington, and the fire department was sent to the aid of the city. The fire broke out in the city of Bloomington, and the fire department was sent to the aid of the city.

OUR BRACE OF MURDERERS.

Colbert Hanged a New Trial, But the Brains Given One.

Chief Justice Bingham this morning delivered the opinion of the Court in General Term, affirming the decision below, in the case of William Briggs, charged with the murder of John Wentz at the Columbia car station in October, 1885. The verdict was rendered January 15, 1888, and the case was appealed to the Supreme Court.

THE PARNEL COMMISSION.

LONDON, May 1.--The direct examination of Mr. Parnell before the Parnel Commission was concluded to-day by the testimony of Mr. Parnell, who declared that he had conducted the agitation in Ireland constitutionally.

Burglars at Work.

CLEVELAND, May 1.--Burglars last night entered the residence of L. E. Cooper, a well-known merchant, and stole a gold watch and several hundred dollars worth of other jewelry. No clue has been obtained.

A Fire in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 1.--A dozen buildings in the business part of the city were burned last night. Loss about $60,000. Insurance $25,000.

A CURIOUS SCENE.

A Crazy Man Assumes the Desk of the Secretary of War.

A nervous-looking man walked into the office of the Secretary of War this morning, and approaching the big desk said to Mr. Hammon, who was standing by: "Is this the Secretary of War's office?"

"It is, and this is the Acting Secretary of War," replied Mr. Hammon, pointing to the desk.

"Well, I guess not," replied the stranger. "I have a commission from Governor Cleveland, as Secretary of War, and I am here to take my office."

"Ah, indeed?" said General Benet. "You are our new Secretary?"

"Not much? I don't want to see the building. Haven't got time. Must go to my work."

Then Chief Clerk Tweedle was asked if he would step in from the next room and be introduced to the "Secretary."

"Have you a commission?" asked the chief clerk.

"No, it was verbal from Governor Cleveland. There's a Calender meeting over at the White House," said Mr. Tweedle, and he went to the door.

"Well, I'm not going. They can just come over here if they want to see me," replied the stranger.

"By the way, Mr. Tweedle, you have been chief clerk here several years?"

"Well, I wish you would have my mail sent right away and I would see that I get it promptly."

"That is a little late to-day, but will be along after while."

"Who is your appointment clerk, Mr. Tweedle?"

"You will appoint Mr. Washington Tappan appointment clerk at once, and here you go, Mr. Tweedle, and get the mail."

"Stand back!" cried the "Secretary," as he saw the officers approach, and then he went to the door.

After some parleying he was induced to go with the sergeant, and was led away to the next room.

He was Mr. Barker, the insane man who created a sensation at Police Headquarters yesterday by assuming Major Moore's desk.

RACING IN THE RAIN.

THE TRACK AT IVY CITY UNDER WATER TO-DAY.

Swift Times the First Race in Good Time--Something About the People at the Track--Persistent Sports-Seekers Wrote Nothing Deter.

Like the end in the middle of the little girl's forehead, when Washington weather is good, it is very, very good, and when it is bad, it is very, very bad. It is the impression the people who came here to attend the Ivy City race meet carry away with them, since only morning the rain has been coming down steadily. It hasn't been an April shower, but an old-fashioned, soaking rain, a rain that comes to stay, and worse than all, a rain that makes mud. There were many chaff-people in this town to-day, and the rain was very good, and when it is bad, it is very, very bad.

The first race was at 12:15, and the second at 12:30. The entries for to-day's races at Ivy City were: First race--Purse of $400, of which $75 to the second, for 3-year-olds and upward, three-quarters of a mile. Tom Kearns, 110 lbs.; Belle O'R., 115 lbs.; Swift, 115 lbs.

Second race--Purse of $400, of which $75 to the second, for 3-year-olds and upward, three-quarters of a mile. Tom Kearns, 110 lbs.; Belle O'R., 115 lbs.; Swift, 115 lbs.

Third race--Purse of $400, of which $75 to the second, for 3-year-olds and upward, three-quarters of a mile. Tom Kearns, 110 lbs.; Belle O'R., 115 lbs.; Swift, 115 lbs.

Fourth race--Purse of $400, of which $75 to the second, for 3-year-olds and upward, three-quarters of a mile. Tom Kearns, 110 lbs.; Belle O'R., 115 lbs.; Swift, 115 lbs.

All on Account of the Weather. The ball game between the Post-News and the Primrose is postponed on account of the weather.

NASTY STORIES ABOUT THE CENTENNIAL BALL LAST NIGHT. NEW YORK, May 1.--Both the Herald and the Tribune this morning assert that the closing scene of the Centennial Ball at the Metropolitan Opera House yesterday morning was disgraceful. In great abundance, and many intoxicated, and some of the indiscreet women were causing in the supper room and on the dancing floor.
