FRICK NOT ALONE IN THE CARNEGIE FIGHT.

Other Stockholders Are Switching to His Side of the Case—More Suits May Follow.

COKE COMPANY HOLDING OFF.

Charles M. Schwab, Active Head of the Company in Mr. Carnegie's Absence, Will Return to Pittsburg Monday.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—If H. C. Frick wins his suit against Andrew Carnegie other suits will be entered against the Carnegie Steel Company. The withdrawal of Dalzell, Knox and Oliver as attorneys did nothing to appearance for Henry Phipps yesterday afternoon and the consultation of W. H. Rieger shows Mr. Phipps's sympathy for Frick and those who are named as defendants, it is said, will pursue a similar course.

It is understood that so far as the stockholders of these other persons are concerned their interests will not suffer, even though they fail to the hard mauling Andrew Carnegie [illegible] [illegible] of Mr. Carnegie and [illegible] the stream from the morning of Mr. Frick has been their only connection with the company. Mr. Carnegie will certainly force some of his partners associated with him among the personal defendants, Messrs. Frick, P. C. Lovejoy and Henry Phipps, Jr.

Messrs. Frick, Phipps and Lovejoy spent several hours in the office of their attorney, H. T. Walker, yesterday. John Walker of the Frick Coke Company was also there. The conference was considered only the [illegible] of Mr. Frick's company when they said will be filed in a few days. It is believed vigorous allegations will be made in the bill. It was said today by several close friends of the litigants that Mr. Phipps as a stockholder is contemplating a similar suit to that of Mr. Frick. Mr. Phipps will not discuss the matter. Mr. Walker was made one of the defendants in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court No. 2 today but Andrew Carnegie was not. It is understood to be as the paper show. The suit was filed by Joseph S. Richard and is an equity proceeding against Carnegie, C. Thomas and J. M. Lovejoy, the Frick Company and Mr. Frick. The plaintiff demands a share in two jobs at their stations. He says Thomas and Lovejoy were agents of the Frick company, not from the firm but Wheeler was [illegible] according to agreement to was informed that they were to report [illegible]. He says he afterwards learned that the jobs had been bought by Frick.

Dawson says Frick knew he had contracted for the jobs when he bought them along with a large block of pay in Johnson Township. The jobs are no part of the [illegible] purchased by Mr. Frick for the New Union Steel Company, which will oppose Carnegie.

At the Carnegie offices it was said today that the president of the company, Charles M. Schwab, will return to Pittsburg on Monday. During Mr. Carnegie's absence Mr. Schwab is the senior head of the company, the position of chairman having been abolished. Mr. Schwab's [illegible] meanwhile, young man in the company, he has been remarkable.

He came to Braddock from the little Alabama Mount in village of Loretto about fifteen years ago. Friends of Schwab had moved from Loretto to Braddock and wrote him to come to the latter place. He did so and obtained a position in a [illegible] Thomas, who was then the idol of the iron [illegible] Mr. Schwab's [illegible] Mr. Carnegie, who at once brought young Schwab into [illegible] for promotion. Schwab became captain of the Braddock works, and from there went to Homestead on the general superintendent.

When he returned to Braddock he assumed a change. He was a hard [illegible] in the room of his boss, and when he [illegible] the mills he wielded a mallet and everything in connection with the steel business. When John G. A. Leishman, now Minister to Switzerland, retired as president of the company, Mr. Schwab succeeded him.

He then purchased an interest in the firm. He owns a net fourth of the stock, which at Pittsburg valuation, is worth $5,000,000. His salary as president of the company is [illegible] [illegible] of the company. Among his other assets is a [illegible] Mr. Schwab is a bachelor [illegible]

JUROR SMITH IMPROVING.

Carterville Riot Case May Be Resumed Monday.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 17.—The trial of the twelve Cairo citizens for participating in the battle at Carterville on Sunday, September 2, was delayed by the sickness of Juror A. M. Smith of Carterville. At first it was thought the illness was of a serious nature and the thirty complaining witnesses were summoned to be in readiness to testify. Yesterday Smith was better and Judge Humphrey decided to resume the case today. Smith's illness is not considered dangerous, young man in the company, he has been remarkable.

He came to Braddock from the little Alabama Mount in village of Loretto about fifteen years ago. Friends of Schwab had moved from Loretto to Braddock and wrote him to come to the latter place. THOUSAND CUBAN TEACHERS COMING.

They Will Spend Six Weeks at the Harvard Summer School.

AND SIX WEEKS IN TRAVEL.

Tuition and Transportation Free—Puerto Rican Merchants Again Protest Against the Foraker Customs Bill.

SPECIAL BY CABLE.

Havana, Feb. 17. (Copyright, 1900, by the New York Herald Company.)—One thousand Cuban school teachers will be sent to Harvard University the coming summer for six weeks' instruction in American methods of teaching.

Mr. Frye, the Superintendent of Public Instruction in Cuba, returned from the mainland to-day with news of the educational question in the island that the most difficult problem was to secure competent teachers.

Originally it was planned to start a summer school for teachers in Cuba, but a cablegram coming from President Eliot of Harvard to Superintendent Frye caused the Cuban Secretary of Public Instruction to decide that the summer school would be more beneficial if held in Cambridge. The expense of transportation and tuition for the teachers will be borne by the Cuban government. The opening of Cuba's schools.

General Wood is pleased over the project. He has assured Superintendent Frye that the Government will spend liberally in arranging for transportation and expenses of the trip. He considers that the knowledge of American methods and methods acquired by the Cuban teachers at Harvard will do much toward bringing about a better feeling between the two peoples.

It is Mr. Frye's intention to give the teachers an insight into the social, business and public life of Americans, as well as practical instruction at Cambridge. The trip will cover a period of twelve weeks—six at study and six in travel.

PUERTO RICO'S PERIL.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 17.—Several of the largest merchants of San Juan, upon being interviewed, unanimously expressed the opinion that immediate congressional action is absolutely essential to the interests of the island. They say that the crops are immovable, the proposed duty under the Foraker bill on sugar and tobacco being prohibitive. There are now 2,000,000 pounds of tobacco ready for shipment and by August there will be 7,000,000 pounds. The best price obtainable for tobacco in New York, under the half-dollar duty, is 11 c.

There has been a small coffee crop, owing to the hurricane, and sugar cannot pay the duty imposed. The planters holding their products and awaiting the action of Congress. There is no money to plant new crops or to pay laborers, thousands of whom are on the point of starvation, being unable to obtain work.

The estates are idle and bankers refuse to advance funds on account of the extension of uncertainty. The prospects are desperate and the people discouraged, and they demand a free trade and authority for the island to contract a loan to pay immediate expenses, and for the relief of the planters.

The local press expresses the opinion that the conditions of the island were better during the dark days of the Spanish regime. The Foraker bill would be acceptable without the duty, the merchants being willing to pay a twenty-five tax in lieu of the tariff, which would relieve the planters.

The customs statement issued on February 15 shows that the total imports at the Port of San Juan from October 18, 1898, to December 31, 1899, were $3,311,281; subject to duty, $1,234,287; duty collected, $123,423. America contributed $2,004,134, Spain $1,475,[illegible] and England, Germany and France follow in the order named. The leading importations were: Rice, $[illegible], flour $[illegible], cheese, $[illegible], with fish, meat and iron next.

The exports for the same period were $[illegible]. Of these America took $[illegible], Spain $[illegible], with France and Germany following. The exportations were: Coffee, $[illegible], animals, $[illegible], sugar, $[illegible], and tobacco, $[illegible].

CUBAN BUSINESS MEN KICK.

Havana, Feb. 17.—El Diario de La Marina today says:

"The business men of Havana had hoped that the customs grievances would be redressed by Robert P. Porter, who, however, has done without doing anything. The merchants hoped that the unjust assessments would be rectified, and also that modifications would be made in the tariff, as demanded by the interests of the island."

Continuing, Diario says that the complaints to him have been innumerable. He does not believe the speech this could find anything new to complain of to Mr. Porter. The complaints, he says, hinge upon the abolition of preferential tariffs on Spanish imports. The Spanish merchants will not be satisfied until Spanish goods obtain preference, which cannot be.

With regard to alleged unjust assessments, the Diario says that hitherto the methods of appraisement have been so lax and the customs-house work so irregular, it is not that the merchants regard the existing law as if it were an actual infringement or excess.

Senator Platt, Secretary of State and Government, says that he will have a full statement of all duties of the municipalities of the island to the first of January last. These duties consist in sale of liquidations incurred on account of the Spanish troops in the campaign, many of the expenses of which were charged to neighboring towns. The data will be divided into what should rightly be credited to the municipalities and what belongs to the State, and an endeavor will be made to settle the former as soon as possible.

THE SCENERY AND THE PEOPLE.....

The remarkable sharpness and clearness and beauty of the photographic reproductions of the island scenery and the people and their homes compel the unqualified praise of all who see them. The photographs are a revelation within themselves.

This is especially true with reference to Porto Rico, which is a veritable Garden of Eden and Land of Wonder. No such rich and varied and marvelously beautiful scenery is to be found anywhere else in the world. The Porto Rican numbers embrace 8 to 12 inclusive.

The Hawaiian and Samoan Islands come next, and these are equally marvelous. Only Porto Rico, though, by no means is splendidly beautiful in scenery.

No intelligent family can afford to be without this great artistic production, a photographic reproduction of The Islands and Their People. In addition to its world of kaleidoscopically beautiful pictures, it embraces the complete official history of the Islands and their resources, compiled by both the American and Spanish Governments.

If you have not seen it, send your name to The Republic and a representative will call on you. But you will not be asked to subscribe unless it is your pleasure to do so.

Mr. J. W. Heel, the well-known author and traveler, says: "I am the slave to hyperbolic praise, and you will believe me when I emphatically declare that Our Islands and Their People is, by far, the most, and is without exception the most magnificent production of its character that I ever saw. * * * I do not see how any intelligent person can refuse an offer to become a subscriber."

RIO JANIERO'S GREAT STRIKE.

Five Persons Killed and Over Sixty Wounded.

(Cable dispatch of the Associated Press.)

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 17.—The Government was warned on the 12th inst. and again on the 15th, that the drivers and others employed on the various kinds of vehicles in this city were about to strike. The assigned reason was the new law regulating street cars, carriages, hackcarts, etc. A monarchist and clerical paper took an attitude practically leading to disorder, intimating that the new regulations would oblige each driver to die at police headquarters his photograph and a bond of $[illegible].

This incited about 2,000 drivers, teamsters and carters begun a strike. The police [illegible] workmen, and several thousand strikers, taking charge all traffic in the central and western portions of the city, repaired to the President's palace. After tearing up rails, stoning trains and stoning carriages that had the temerity to go out in disobedience to the orders of the ringleaders, who threatened death as a penalty of disobedience, the numerous groups resolved to form in front of the palace.

After the ball had cried, "Long live the monarchy!" "Death to the Republic!" to some time a small picket of cavalry, under a Lieutenant, charged them with drawn sabers.

In the afternoon the Government sent large contingents of troops of the line, cavalry and rapid-firing guns, and the trouble was over.

On the 16th, the principal street car lines were partially running, each one carrying a policeman or soldier, to prevent interruption on the part of the strikers.

During January 15, 16 and part of January 17, over 4,000 troops were under arms, occupying points of the city considered most dangerous, about the gas works, water works, aqueduct, etc.

Before peace was restored five persons were killed, twenty-three severely wounded and over forty slightly wounded. Over 200 arrests were made. Ten electrical cars and a great number of street cars were smashed. One bridge was destroyed and all business was suspended for three days.

He was dragged along the tracks by the wheels of the car for a distance of fifty feet. The train crew hastened to his assistance, but he was unconscious when picked up.

He was taken to St. Mary's Infirmary, where it was found that his leg was broken and that he had sustained several scalp wounds and was injured internally. He died two hours later. Waldoff was 35 years old, married, and lived at No. 2208 Adams street.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Lee Ainsworth Said His Business Was Legitimate.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Lee Ainsworth, alias Ryan, was arrested and locked up at the Four Courts, on suspicion. He was found in a room on the third floor of No. 822 Pine street. He asserts that he is an agent for the Chicago Daily News, and is suspected of advertising for lady solicitors for the above paper. The police say that he had no credentials to show that he is what he represents himself to be.

Ainsworth said that his business was perfectly legitimate. He said that he lived in Mount Vernon, Ill., to be under the name of Randall. In 1898 he had a disagreement with his wife and left her. Later, he said, he asked his wife to join him, and that she did so and was with him when he was arrested yesterday.

Rowing Club's Masquerade Ball.

The Western Rowing Club gave its annual masquerade ball at Lemp's Park Hall last night. The maskers represented every variety of character. One group of men went as beggars and opened the ball by rolling a great wooden sphere up the hall. At midnight a bugle call announced to the masks that the supper was ready. There followed a rush for the dining-rooms. The receipts of the ball will be devoted to the building fund of a new boathouse.

On His Way to Texas.

W. E. Burton of Minneapolis, Minn., who was secretary of the Republican National Committee of 1896, passed through St. Louis yesterday on his way to Texas. He has no more responsibility for the arrangements for the Republican convention than any other man who will be in the work. George N. Williams of Minneapolis, who was his chief assistant here in 1896, Mr. Burton says that the convention this year will work for a platform decisive to confirm the nomination of McKinley.

FARM FOR FOXES.

Judge Laughlin Will Raise Them for Hunting.

Judge Henry D. Laughlin, the veteran fox hunter of St. Louis County, is making arrangements to establish a special "farm" for foxes, whereby he hopes to have the finest fox preserve in the State of Missouri.

Through George Peno, he has obtained an option on 650 acres of land in the Missouri Bottoms, just east of St. Charles, on the St. Louis County side of the Missouri River. In addition, he will obtain control of an island in the river that is located just opposite the St. Louis County Farm. The property will be fenced off and devoted solely to the breeding of foxes.

Judge Laughlin has a pack of twenty hounds. The chase is practically his only recreation, but foxes are becoming scarcer every year, and he realized that something must be done. He says he is willing to match his hounds against any pack in the State.
