Thirty Days' Trial.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt.

I have just opened permanent offices in St. Louis. Because I want to have the confidence of all I have decided for a short time to offer my famous 1900 improved Dr. Sanden Electric Belt on thirty days' trial. This offer should be particularly attractive to all sufferers from Rheumatism, Lame Back, Sciatica, Sexual Weakness, Varicocele, etc. You pay a small deposit on receiving the belt and the balance after the thirty days' trial, if results are satisfactory. In the past 30 years I have been the confidential adviser of thousands and thousands of sufferers all over the world. Hundreds of my patients have been in St. Louis and I know of not one whom I could not refer you to. Worn at night, it cures while you sleep and you pay when cured. If possible call at my office and examine or send for free book explaining all, sealed by mail. I give correspondence personal attention.

PREPARATIONS FOR BIG STATE SHOOT.

Crack Trap Shots From All Over America Will Be in St. Louis Next Month.

REPUBLIC CHAMPIONSHIP CUP.

Spirited Competition Anticipated for Famous Live Bird Trophy—$1,500 in Purses for the Event.

Active preparations are under way for the twenty-third annual tournament of the Missouri State Game and Fish Protective Association, which will open May 14 at Dupont Park and continue for six days. The shoot will be held under the auspices of the St. Louis Shooting Association.

The tournament last year was a grand success, nearly 200 sportsmen participating in the events. Every marksman of national reputation was here then and will attend this year, as these contests are arranged to show the courage and skill of the crack shots.

The man behind the gun has been heard from frequently in the last two or three years. The superb marksmanship of the soldiers of the American Army in numerous instances can be traced back to the gun clubs.

It is for the benefit of people who live in large cities and have not the opportunity to roam the fields in search of game that the inanimate target was provided. The target, when released from the trap, resembles a bird in flight, and calls for the same degree of skill to hit as a real live bird.

Within the past year a great many St. Louis sportsmen have taken to seeking recreation in this pastime, which takes them into the open air and bright sunshine. The management of the coming tournament anticipates a large attendance and sharp contests for the beautiful and valuable trophies given by public-spirited men.

Many of these trophies have been prized so highly that the cracks shots frequently make long journeys across the continent in order to match skill with others for them. One of these trophies in the coming competition is The Republic Cup, emblematical of the championship of the United States for wing shooting. It was given to the association by The Republic last year and was won by C. A. Young of Springfield, O., who defeated seventy-three men.

Mr. Young did not retain possession of the cup very long, however. He surrendered it to J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City in a spirited contest at Columbus. The trophy was then taken East, and after some time it was returned to Kansas City, where it now repose in the possession of Mr. Elliott, who will return it to the Missouri association for the open contests at the coming tournament.

In addition to The Republic Cup will be offered the Lemp Diamond Medal, which is emblematic of the amateur championship for wing shooting. This trophy has to be won twice by the same person before it can pass into his possession as personal property. It is now held by a St. Louisan.

In addition are the State association races, limited to three sportsmen who reside in the State, also the State championship at both targets and live birds. The team races, which allow four men from each and every gun club in the State, and the target events for everybody complete the programme so far as arranged.

The St. Louis Shooting Association will add $7,500 to the purse, the Rose system of division to prevail in the target events and high guns in the live-bird events. There will be three moneys in fifteen-bird races, and four moneys in twenty-bird races for targets. The grounds will be under the management of Dave Elliott, who has also perfected the plans for the construction of a new clubhouse, and the visiting sportsmen will find accommodations far superior to those of last year.

The officers of the local association are: President, Doctor Alex C. Starkloff; secretary and treasurer, Herbert Taylor; directors, C. Meriam Clark, H. B. Collins, A. F. Winkelmeyer, John Calamia, F. M. Kling and J. H. Corrales.

COURSING MEN SEE HEIDORN.

No Warrants Have Been Issued Against Them at Clayton.

Messrs. John J. Lavin, Ben O'Keefe and C. P. Benson of the St. Louis Coursing Club visited Clayton, in St. Louis County, yesterday and had an interview with Prosecuting Attorney Heidorn relative to the report that warrants would be issued against the officials of the coursing club for permitting gambling on the coursing contests at Delmar Park. Mr. Heidorn told them that Mrs. Calkins and Mrs. Nation of St. Louis had called upon him and stated that bookmaking was being carried on at the coursing park and that he had assured the ladies that if such was the case he would stop it.

Messrs. Lavin, O'Keefe and Benson, on behalf of the coursing club, assured him that no gambling was permitted by the organization. In view of their positive statement that the club absolutely prohibits bookmaking and pool-selling on its events, no interference with the sport is anticipated by the members of the club, who are making preparations for the third renewal of the Green Tree Cup on March 22, when all the best greyhounds in St. Louis will be entered. There will be no coursing next Sunday on account of the fact that Messrs. Lavin, O'Keefe and other leading members of the club intend to take part in the St. Patrick's Day parade.

KANSAS CITY BENCH SHOW.

Four Hundred Dogs on Exhibition at the Opening.

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—Four hundred dogs, all of them families more or less royal, barked their welcome this morning at Convention Hall at the opening of the Kansas City Bench Club's annual show. The morning was spent in benching the entries, which come from all parts of the country. In the afternoon Judge James Mortimer formally opened the show by beginning the judgment in the various classes. No better exhibition of dogs was ever held in the Southwest.

GLEASON'S EXHIBITION.

Drove a Horse Into a Bunch of Exploding Firecrackers.

Professor Gleason gave an interesting exhibition at the West End Coliseum last night. The one test to which he put Mr. Stelbrink's horse while driving him double had the audience all worked up. The horse is a fiery one, blooded and high-spirited. Gleason drove him right into a bunch of firecracker and maintained his control over the infuriated animal and the horse pitched with him, notwithstanding at times they jerked and shunted on it broadside like they would fall backwards upon their master. There will be no exhibition this evening. Tomorrow night another surprise is to be sprung by local horse fanciers in the shape of a practical old hatchery that has been dug up for the occasion.

HURLS BOMB INTO THE LEAGUE CAMP.

Freedman of New York Refuses to Sign the Eight Club Agreement.

HE WANTS FIELDER SLAGLE.

Philadelphia Has That Player, but Robison of St. Louis Is Trying to Induce Rogers to Let Him Go.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, March 14.—So far as the New York club is concerned, the official agreement by which the National League has been reduced to eight clubs has not received sanction from President Freedman.

Not that he has doubted the utility of such a reduction, since he has been one of its foremost advocates, but a combination of circumstances has prevented him from attaching his name to the paper signed by other League club owners. Now, however, he refuses to become a party to the agreement unless the New York club is treated with more consideration.

President Freedman understood that in the recent shuffle by which the National League was reduced to eight clubs he would have the pick of the surplus players. New York only wanted a few. With an infield that would be creditable with almost any nine, there was a hole in the outfield and another behind the bat.

Believing that New York was to be entitled to first choice under the agreement, Mr. Freedman applied for the services of Slagle of the Washington club. This was on Monday last. Prior to that he had had no time in which to make application for ball players, as his manager, Ewing, had not had an opportunity to reach this city.

Much to Freedman's surprise, upon asking for Slagle, he received word that Philadelphia had paid the sum demanded for his release and had secured his services. It struck him that this was a violation of the League's agreement as he understood it, and he refused, therefore, to continue negotiations further until he knew "where he stood."

"Mind," said he, "I am not objecting to paying any fixed sum for a ball player's release, because I am willing to go ahead and get the best team that I can. But why should I overbid another League club owner when I have been informed that I may go on and do the best I can to strengthen my own nine? I merely want to know whether the remainder are playing fair with me. I am not asking for any undue concessions. I have stated my position, and I stand by it."

The fact is that the New York club will not sign the eight-club agreement until something more definite is known about the future movements of the owners of the other seven clubs so far as the releases of players are concerned.

If the seven clubs that have signed the agreement are willing to go ahead and operate a baseball league, regardless of President Freedman, it is fair to assume that they will be permitted to do so, but his stand is that he asks only fair treatment and wants to know if he will get it.

Ewing, his manager, said tonight:

"We don't want nor do we ask for any of the regular League players, but here are four clubs going out of existence, and we ask only that they will give us the best they have got. Then we will go ahead. We presumed, by what was said at the League meeting, that they would give us the best they had left."

Frank Dell. Robison, president of the St. Louis club, who is still in the city, and who has been one of the leading participants in the recent reorganization of baseball politics, was considerably put out tonight over the situation. After a conference with President Robison and in order to show the sincerity of a club in the matter, he telegraphed President John T. Brush of Philadelphia as follows:

"Mr. President: I feel that the New York club should secure the services of Slagle. If you will let the New York club have his release at the same price the Philadelphia club is willing to pay, I will release either Donahue or Harley to the Philadelphia club without cost."

Philadelphia paid $[illegible] for Slagle.

"Buck" Ewing, after he had received the present state of affairs, at length went out to say:

"The New York club cannot possibly go South for preliminary work until it has what players are going to be in it. If we had Slagle, we can be sure that we have in the world are we going ahead when we don't know whether we will get players or not? Jobs where we expect Slagle? We might just as well remain at home and practice in Harlem."

Ewing was a visitor at the Polo grounds this afternoon and inspected the diamond in fair condition.

Freedman's refusal to sign the eight-club agreement of course is a "blight" and New York will do business as of the old round regardless of the outcome, but the League magnates naturally want to remember the New York club, better President Robison's effort to placate Freedman.

AT HOT SPRINGS.

Arrival of Burkett Gives Tebeau Twenty-Six Men.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 14.—Rain poured in torrents upon this steaming, cold-footed gash in the Ozarks all day. Beyond individual walks, prescribed by the athletes' own desire and ambition, the half club did nothing, the youngsters were out taking the walks, for they are trying to make the tight team of an eight-club League. The old boys, who are in pretty good shape, took the baths and things easy. Jesse Burkett, ten pounds above his 400-average weight, showed up to-day. The great hitter looked very well. He has an entire month to revel off superfluous flesh in before he gets ready for another race for premier batting honors. With Mr. Burkett came Mr. E. H. Regan of Worcester, Mass. Time hung heavily upon the players' hands. Tebeau now has twenty-six able-bodied men in the Avenue Hotel, with Keeler, Donovan and McGann on the road, two more, Robinson and McGraw waiting, another pair, Griffin and McAleer, outside the fold. In all the St. Louis club has thirty-three men attached to it. Of these, half will be dropped before June. Many of them sent telegrams of congratulation to Childs to-day. Cupid was a favorite with the bunch. Sentiment in the McGraw case has changed, and they now believe he will show up and play third base. His talk about playing in New York or the East, so that he can be about his saloon on Sunday is regarded as utter rot. Tebeau points out if he plays in New York he could not be in Baltimore until 10 p. m. on Saturday night, and saloons close tight at 12, remaining so all Sunday. So, Muggy couldn't do his bar much good that day. Then he would be away from New York three months of the six, and he would have to play Sunday ball at Weehawken whenever the Sunday playing clubs of Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburg and Brooklyn showed up there. This would leave McGraw a chance to spend about six hours in his saloon during six months of play.

Now that Lauder has decided not to play in Philadelphia, the players think that McGraw belongs there. They are right, but Philadelphia has a scalamanager, Billy Shettline, with Delehanty the whole thing. Bell is pretty near the entire ten in Philadelphia, and he does not want Muggy, for McGraw would be managing Bell in a week. Lajoie strings with Delehanty in all things. So that does not look very good. The Philadelphia people are stuck on their club and satisfied.

McGraw Unpopular.

Ewing does not want McGraw in New York, nor does Lajoie desire him in Chicago. After all it seems Tebeau is the only expert the great player of the day has. Robinson's attitude makes the players at once shaky and amused. He is a good catcher, quite old, and wants he comes in as a high-priced man, they care not see. He is tied to the tail of McGraw's kite, that is all.

Cy Young complains that the boxes in the position of the plate, making the lines of the square parallel to the pitching rule, let instead of having one angle to the front, give three. It puts the back and handicaps the twirler that much. It will be hard to get strike over that way. The chance is perfectly reasonable, as of the few things Jim Hart, man who never played ball, has done as chairman of the Rules Committee.

Needles Hahn, the Cincinnati pitcher, affirms that he will a large sum of money on the horses last Thursday, and in view of his assertions that he can still play ball for $900 in Cincinnati, the Reds, not doubting Hahn will pitch against the Cardinals of the St. Louis club to-morrow afternoon.

Emmett Heidrick of the Reds (Nall of the local baseball confederacy) Heidrick came to town with two other girls, he told me to Mike Dooling last night, and together they took in a small ball at one of the big hotels. When night fell he put his forty-men bedecked cocktail a dollar shirt (but he looks as brave and as ruffled as any Sir Galahad in the world) and away from the round table to the mezzanine with the ladies of King Arthur's court.

Dooling is no trimmer of plugged dimes as a locker himself when he gets tapped up, but his battology is not so strictly legitimate or heavy as Heidrick's. The players made a great impression among the grand dames who make up the swell and cosmopolitan society of Hot Springs. Heidrick came back full of importance and weight. He did not condescend to answer queries about the dance, but in mid-hall, then and hatters did not swell gorged Milk's head, for he cordially enlightened the information that "that was — of a fine rag. Geo Yought to have seen the queens I won." Heidrick does little now beyond pipe his brownstone front down the boulevard and bow to pretty girls. Mrs. Tebeau, Mrs. O'Connor and Mrs. Young, who are with their husbands, also went to the ball, Mr. Tebeau taking the entire party.
