PROMOTING THE EXPOSITION.

Numerous Addresses Supporting the Endeavoring—Last Night's Banquet. After the Evening Post's account of the convention at Willard's Hotel was closed yesterday many letters from prominent members of the Board of Promotion representing all sections of the country were read. They all exhibited a cordial interest in the movement, as the following extracts will evidence:

Perry Belmont, Minister to Spain—I beg to assure you and those associated with you my interest in your undertaking. Gov. Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia—The growing South should be greatly interested in the three objective points of the work of your board: First, the celebration of the main tenance of the Constitution. Second, a World's exposition where she can exhibit her wonderful resources. Third, the permanent exhibition of the three Americas, because from her geographical position, she would derive great benefit from a closer union with the other two Americas.

Gov. E. A. Perry of Florida in a telegram expressed his great interest in the project and heartily approved of it. Governor Oliver Ames of Massachusetts—When the Legislature meets in January I shall take pleasure in calling its attention to the Centennial Celebration, recommending that it provide for a proper representation of Massachusetts thereat.

Governor James A. Beaver of Pennsylvania—Our three Americas should be more closely bound together and closer commercial relations should be encouraged and fostered. Governor Oglesby wrote to the important results which would follow the successful consummation of this movement.

Governor Adams of Colorado and Governor Larabee of Iowa both expressed sympathy with the movement and desired its success. A series of resolutions having been presented a number of interesting speeches were made. Captain Ainslie, President of Richmond's Chamber of Commerce, said that the people of his city were heartily in sympathy with the movement, and he was followed by Mr. Harry C. Hinman, President of the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia, who made a most interesting address. He said:

"I feel that this project is one of the most attractive that could be offered. The Constitutional centennial and the exhibition of the three Americas ought to attract people from all parts of the world. Washington seems to be the place of all cities in this country in which an exhibition of this kind can be successfully conducted. It only remains for the three cities to give the financial support, which is necessary to make this exhibition a great success."

Dr. Curry, the late Minister to Spain, emphasized the importance of the celebration. Governor Biggs of Delaware made a patriotic speech in a clear, ringing voice. He said that his State stood ready to do all in his power to bring together the people of Spain and the people of South America.

Ex-Governor Boutwell, Bishop Newnam, General Painé of Baltimore, Dr. Verdi of the Italian Chamber of Commerce, New York city, followed with short speeches, all breathing the same sentiment of hearty sympathy and promising co-operation with the movement.

After the adoption of resolutions and the appointment of committees the convention adjourned, but at 8 o'clock in the evening every participant in that convention sang his thanks that they had not adjourned sine die. It was a matter of general rejoicing that the final adjournment was not reached until nearly 2 o'clock this morning, and the reason thereof was the banquet at Willard's Hotel.

THE BANQUET LAST NIGHT. A notable gathering of representatives men discussed the menu for fully two hours. Mr. M. M. Parker acted as toastmaster and bore his honors with characteristic grace. The toasts were "The American Capital," responded to by District Commissioner Webb; "The American Nation," Senator da Costa, the Brazilian Minister; Mr. A. M. Sotelo, ex-Venezuelan Minister, and Senator Don Elnore, Peruvian Minister, also spoke of the sentiment in South America.

Bishop Newman of Nebraska, formerly pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church of this city, responded to "The Exposition an Appeal to American Pride." Governor Biggs of Delaware spoke eloquently on "The American States." Mayor Allison of Richmond, Va., and Mayor Amos Smith of Cincinnati responded to "The American Cities." Major Powell of the Geological Survey to "Ancient America," and General Hooker of Mississippi to "The Second Century of America." He came here on May 30 from Chicago, and stopped on B street. He stated on the stand that he had committed six robberies before his arrest, although he had always lived an honest life till he came here. A DISAGREABLE ACCIDENT.

A Pistol Fired Unpleasantly Near the Head of a City Hall Clerk.

The employees in the Record office at the City Hall were startled this morning by the report of a pistol shot, coming from one of the copying rooms in the rear of the main office. A number of people hurried into the room, and a pistol was found in the hands of E. H. Anderson, who is employed there at clerical work. Anderson explained that he did not know it was loaded.

M. J. Kendrick, also employed in the office, said that Anderson came in and flourished a pistol under his face saying that he had just come across it to-day. The pistol went off the ball passing some distance from Kendrick's head. Kendrick is deaf and his statement was made in response to some written questions. He said that he did not think that Anderson had any intention of shooting him as he did not seem to be at all angry.

They had not been unfriendly, although an incident occurred last Friday which Kendrick is inclined to believe Kendrick. Kendrick, in relating the occurrence, said that it was a rule of the office that no clerk should go away from the office and leave the bundle of deeds in his desk, but must carry them out into the main office. Anderson had gone out, intending to return, and Kendrick Trotter came in and took his bundle of deeds and refused to give them back to him until the next day.

Kendrick had once or twice, on similar occasions, taken charge of the deeds for him, and Kendrick says Anderson was disposed to find fault because he did not do so this time. The pistol was a small, single-barreled affair, and Kendrick is inclined to laugh at the entire matter. He does not apparently entertain the slightest doubt that it was entirely an accident.

MARRIED AN INSANE MAN.

The Charge Made in Court Against Mrs. A. J. Richards.

A. K. Browne, as committee of Albert J. Richards, insane, has filed a bill in equity against Lulu C. Richards, asking that her marriage with the plaintiff, July 6, 1887, at Alexandria, Va., be nullified. The bill recites that the marriage took place after Richards had been found insane by a jury and while he was a patient in St. Elizabeth's Asylum for the Insane. On September 25, 1887, a second jury was impaneled on the petition of the wife, and Richards was again pronounced insane. A. K. Browne was then appointed committee to take charge of the insane man and his property.

The bill goes on to state that Lucy Richards and her infant child were supported out of a pension obtained on account of Richards' military services until July 15, 1888, when payments to her were discontinued. He charges fraud on the part of Mrs. Richards in regard to the marriage, asserting that Albert J. Richards is not the father of the child. The Court is asked to restrain her forever from passing by the complainant's name.

AMUSEMENTS.

At Albaugh's last night Mrs. Potter and her company presented Goldsmith's pleasing play "The Sloop to Conquer," and there was a fine audience in attendance. The scenes were unique and becoming and her "Mas Hardcastle" was handsome, because Mrs. Potter is handsome, but it was not "Mas Hardcastle," but it was not "Mas Hardcastle." Mrs. Potter's "Mas Hardcastle" was done with spirit, so also Mr. Edwards' "Hardcastle" and Mr. Butler's "Tom Lumpkin." Mrs. Eldridge's "Mas Hardcastle" was a success. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson's "Mas Neville" was presented in a most charming manner. The play was really delightful, and except certain passages, which, though admirable in goldsmith's day, are not pleasing now, and which could be omitted without detriment to the play, and a very successful evening. The play was a success in every respect. There are two noticeably coarse exceptions to the general praise of the play and in each Mrs. Potter is the subject. To-night "Mas Neville" is the subject for Mr. E. H. Sothorn, in "Lord Chumley," at the National next week begins to-morrow. This play, which has been a great success in New York, was written for the headquarters at Washington barracks until him full opportunity to appear at his very best.

Next week at Albaugh's "Midsummer Night's Dream," with original music and magnificent scenery. Box office open to-morrow.

Business improving right along at Kerman's with the Muldoon Athletes. Harry Williams' own show next week.

Box office open to-morrow for Gus Williams at Harris' Bijou next week.

Mr. H. B. Warner, for E. H. Sothorn in "Lord Chumley," is in town talking "show."

The management of the National Theatre announces that its Christmas week attraction will be a great success, the new York Lyceum Theatre last year, "The Wife," in a play with a good, pure moral, and the leading character is a United States senator. All the new York scenery will be brought here.
