WOODWARD & LOthrop.

TO-DAY, FOUR WEEKS AGO,

we inaugurated our stupendous Surplus Stock Sale of Seasonable Goods, making additional concessions almost every day on such goods which the demand had been checked by the unseasonable and variable condition of the weather.

We have every reason to congratulate ourselves upon the unparalleled success of this sale, and with a view of still further increasing the demand, we shall make such additional concessions as will close the early disposal of any surplus stock we may happen to have during the balance of the season.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

This Department is fairly overflowing with bargains. Among them the following:

Reduced prices on Girard's Black Gros Grain Silk.

GOVERNMENT GOSSIP.

OFFICIAL AND UNOFFICIAL IN AND ABOUT THE DEPARTMENTS.

New Clerks of Surveys in the General Land Office—Treasury Appointments—War Department Changes—The Water Court—Various Personal Notes.

The President made the following appointment to-day:

FRANK GONOX of Georgia, principal clerk of the surveys of the General Land Office, vice Heinrichs, removed.

Mr. Gordon is the son of ex-Senator Gordon and about 20 years of age. He has for the last three or four years edited the Sunny South, a monthly literary publication, issued at Atlanta. A number of young men who went to school with him are in the city, who can do a test to his good qualities. No better appointment could have been made.

Treasury Appointments.

The following named clerks, having served a satisfactory probationary term of six months each, have received absolute appointments: Gilbert Rockwood of Pennsylvania $1,000, office of the Sixth Auditor; Mrs. E. L. Nourse of New York $900, office of the First Auditor.

War Department Changes.

The following changes have been made in the War Record office: F. Collins Smith, clerk class 3, promoted to class 4; Francis I. Hill, class 2 to class 3; Miss Virginia E. Duff, class 1 to class 2; and Miss Marie Thomas, clerk of $1,000 class, promoted to class 1.

Naval Retiring Board.

A naval retiring board, consisting of Rear-Admiral Worden, Medical Director Turner and Fleet Surgeon J. H. Brown, Lieutenant-Commander Trainor, has been ordered to meet at the Navy Department on Monday for the examination of Assistant Engineer James H. Dabney and several warrant officers.

The Clark Investigation.

In the Clark investigation to-day, Samuel Strong was sworn as an expert and was directed to inspect the work before testifying Monday. Thomas Sword was recalled again to specify the defects before testified to, and in regard to the rubbing of the defective stones in the approaches. He had his testimony written all out and read it in spite of objection.

Not the End of It.

"That is not the end of it," said Colonel De Archa, when spoken to by this critic reporter to-day about his dismissal as a timber inspector under the Interior Department. "I am going to protest against my dismissal. Why the principal evidence in the Police Court in favor of Commissioner Sparks was given by a convicted murderer, McManes. I am going to protest, I say." When Colonel De Archa protests he does protest. Some people think that he doth protest too much.

News from the Apache Raid.

The War Department has advised from General Barber at Whipple Barracks to the effect that the men have been killed by the Indians at Lawton Camp and the camp equipment and stores burned. A Tombstone dispatch of June 10 reports that Captain Inspector W. A. Daniels was killed near Bisbee, and that an attacking party of about fifty Indians had been headed off by the citizens of Bisbee. Lieutenant Richards and twenty men had gone to their assistance.

A Valuable Clerk.

Harry Smith, a young clerk of the House of Representatives, is busy on a work that will be of great help to Members of Congress and others. He is preparing a history of all the bills and revenue bills from the first session of Congress to the present time. He will give the date when the bill was reported from the committee, and on what days it was discussed, what changes were made in it and when it passed, if the bill reached that stage. Accompanying these facts will be references to the pages of the Congressional Globe and Record as guides to where to find the full information which Mr. Smith will only be able to take a month or two to compile. It will be ready for monthly reports of the House and will be very useful, proportionally, and it will be more useful than it is robust.

The Waler Court-Martial.

In the Waler court-martial yesterday F. W. Walker of the Navy pay-office testified that no weekly or monthly reports of payments for purchases have been made by the pay-office to the Surgeon-General for five or six years past, and those reports were in a state of confusion. He explained how he made the distinction between the bills for current military purchases and the large bills.

Mr. Sammar as a Reformer.

Secretary Lamar, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, is a strict and zealous reformer. He is a reformer, but he has mastered the affairs of the Interior Department, and while he cares little for even "offensive partisanship" other makes removals for merely political reasons, he strikes quick when he discovers misconduct. He has been accused of a propensity to draw Southern men into the service, but he has been very glad to get good men where they are, and he has observed one sound rule of action, which the Republicans too often violated—wherever he has had to discharge a Union soldier he has replaced him with another Union soldier, and wherever he has removed a colored man he has put another colored man in his place.

Minor and Personal.

Postmaster-General Slingerland, N. Y., resigns because he is "an offensive—that is, a Republican partisan."

Additional discharges are probable in the Statistical Bureau of the Agricultural Department, on account of insufficient funds.

Lieutenant C. R. Mills, U. S. N., has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Naval Institute, vice Paymaster Allen, ordered away.

John Rodgers of Kansas, was to-day appointed chairman of the board of pension appeals, secretary's office, vice Aaron Bradshaw, removed.

Colonel H. D. Aha, who tried to mop up the floor with Commissioner Sparks, has been dismissed from the position of special timber agent.

OUR PULPIT GALLERY.

REV. WILLIAM ANDREW LEONARD OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The Zealous and Highly-Esteemed Rector of an Old and Influential Parish—An Efficient Worker in the Cause of Religion, Charity and Humanity.

Rev. William Andrew Leonard, B. D., rector of St. John's Episcopal Parish, is in every respect one of Washington's leading clergymen and presides with ability, zeal and success over the affairs of one of the city's most important parishes.

Among the awards made at the New Orleans Exposition were diplomas to St. John's College Institute in this city, for "the best work of the colored school of this city for pupils' work, drawing, &c."

For a second time Cabinet officers to-day enforced their rule excluding visitors on Saturdays. The day was spent in instances in disposing of routine work and in consultations with subordinate officials.

A delegation, consisting of Henry Haake, W. N. Booth, and C. N. Danenhower, principals for 1,000 barrels of copper in the city in the interest of Casiner Bowman, whom they want appointed postmaster of that city.

The Postmaster-General to-day appointed twenty-six preliminary officers of the fourth class. Among them were: T. L. Hanway, Freeport, Md.; J. T. West, Jr., Copper Hill, Va.

United States Gauger C. W. Dearborn of Alexandria has declined to resign at the request of Captain Shepperd, the collector of internal revenue for that district. Dearborn will be sent to report through Mahone. He will be removed.

It is understood that the question as to the date when the reduction of telegraph rates paid by the Government went into effect is likely to be reopened. The Government dissent from the position taken by Comptroller Lawrence in the matter, and Comptroller Durbin will review the decision.

The First Comptroller of the Treasury has consented to hear an argument by General Carman, late chief clerk of the Department of Agriculture, in defense of the expenditures for seeds, etc., amounting to about $17,000, the accounts for which were recently rejected by the First Auditor but without warrant of law.

The forthcoming report of the Director of the Mint on the production of gold and silver will show the deposits of domestic gold bullion at mints and assay offices from January 1, 1885, to January 1, 1886, to have been $415,000,000, the estimated production for the same period being $28,000,000. The gold coinage for the last twelve fiscal years aggregates $345,106,114.

Proposals for 1,000 barrels of cement for the new Pension office have been made as follows: J. M. Wheatley, 88 cents, 290 pounds of Cumberland cement; J. M. Wheatley, $1.25, 300 pounds of Lawrence Rosendale; J. G. & J. M. Waters, 53 cents, 100 pounds of Round Top; H. W. Hunt, $1.00, 100 pounds of Shepley's brand; J. H. McGill, 91 and 92 cents, 300 pounds of Rosendale.

Commissioner Sparks has submitted to Secretary Lamar a report of the famous citizens of New Mexico, and has proceeded to which nearly two million acres of public land were claimed and patented in 1879. He accuses the former commissioners of the claims in not investigating any of the many complaints made in the grant. He says that evidences of fraud were manifest in the bold face of the presentation for nearly two million acres, based upon a grant of less than one hundred thousand acres.

With the approval of the President and Cabinet the Postmaster-General has decided not to advance for the coming year tracts for the transportation of the foreign mails upon a mileage basis of fifty cents per mile under the permissive authority conferred last year by Congress of March 3, 1885. The Postmaster-General holds that the act was not designed to provide a subsidy for American steamships, and there are over 800 communicants and over 800 children under instruction. The collections of the past year for all purposes, as reported by the diocesan convention, exceeded $22,000.

The Civil-Service Law.

Interpretations of Interest to Clerks and Chiefs.

Postmaster-General Vilas to-day received the following letter from Mr. Graham, secretary of the Civil-Service Commission, in answer to inquiry concerning the eligibility of clerks in the classified service.

Sir: The Civil Service Commission is in receipt of a letter from F. Macdonald, superintendent of the City of New York, inquiring whether a clerk in the Postoffice Department now receiving a salary of $1000, who was appointed to the office of a clerk in the classified service, is now eligible for promotion, without examination under the civil-service rules, to the office of a clerk in the classified service.

Mr. Leonard is personally a handsome and popular gentleman, prominently identified with local institutions and a zealous worker in the cause of charity and humanity. In the pulpit he is an earnest and impressive speaker and his attainments are of a very high order.

ST. JOHN'S E. P. CHURCH.

St. John's has always held a place of honor among the city churches. Its original walls, now nearly seventy years old, have been extended and renovated, and its interior has been beautified of late years. The corner-stone was laid by the present parish in 1816, and the church was completed for use in December, 1816. It was in the form of a Greek cross, each of its four arms being of the size of one of the present transepts.

Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, rector of Christ Church, Alexandria, Va., was appointed rector of St. John's in connection with his duties at Christ Church, on November 5, 1816. The church was consecrated by the Right Rev. James Kemp, Bishop of Maryland, December 27, 1816.

On May 5, 1817, Rev. Wm. Hawley was appointed rector to succeed Mr. Wilmer. He held the position until the time of his death, which occurred January 18, 1845. January 27, 1845, Rev. Smith, of the associated rector, was elected, and on March 12, 1845, was installed rector of the church. He resigned the rectorship by letter, November 1, 1861. His successor, Rev. Pelham Williams was engaged to officiate as rector for three months, and the Rev. J. Vaughn Lewis was appointed rector on September 1, 1861. His successor was Rev. Mr. Leonard, the present rector.

INOCULATION IN SPAIN.

MADRID, June 13.—The government order forbidding inoculation also forbids any one to have in his possession in the United States any vaccine virus, or to give judgment for its use. This shows that the government believes that the inoculation is likely to transmit a dangerous type of cholera, and it forewarns the decision of the National Medical Commission appointed to consider Dr. Ferran's system. If the report is unfavorable to Dr. Ferran, there may be no more inoculations among the poorer classes, who trust most implicitly in his formula and have no faith in the other physicians.

THE NEW BISHOP OF MOBILE.

A Well-Known Washington Priest Elevated to a Higher Office.

Rev. Jeremiah O'Sullivan of St. Peter's Parish in this city, who has just been elevated by Pope Leo to the See of Mobile, was born in the city of Cork, Ireland, in 1825. His boyhood education was in the Cork national schools, and he early devoted himself to the Church, and attending to the United States at the age of 18, he entered St. Charles' College in Howard County, Md., to begin his preparatory studies for the purpose of entering the seminary at Baltimore for the theological course, and remained there four years, when he was ordained in June, 1858, by Archbishop Spalding. His first charge was at Barnesville, Montgomery County, where he remained about a year, and was then transferred to St. Peter's Church at Westport, in Allegany County, Md., where he built a large church and school-house, and established the first school of St. Peter's, and was an order of teachers.

He remained at Westport nine years, and was then transferred to St. Peter's Church at Capitol Hill, Washington, to succeed the late Father Boyle, and has remained with that church until this time. During his ministry here he has been a most successful pastor, his resting on the church property, and has besides made many expensive improvements on the church, school and pastor's residence.

He is rather spare of build, about five feet nine inches in height; has an oval rather square face, wide, straight mouth, deep-set eyes and a prominent nose. He is somewhat retiring, but he is a very forcible and earnest speaker, and logical in his sermons without any special oracular method. He is a native of Cork, and resides in Cork, is the only relative he has living.

A DANGEROUS PLAYGROUND.

A Little Child Knocked Down and Killed by a Fiery Horse.

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. Samuel T. Lacombe of the Postoffice Department, and residing at No. 621 H Street S. W., was knocked down yesterday afternoon by a horse attached to a heavily-loaded cart, and driven by Joseph Pollard, a colored man. She was immediately carried into her home where she died at about 6 o'clock this morning.

With a number of other children she had been playing in the street, and was less fortunate than they in escaping the horse's feet. Her name was summoned, but his skill was exercised in vain. When the news of the child's death reached the station-house this morning, Mr. J. C. De Archa's store, No. 710 Seventh Street, southwest, where Pollard was employed. There they found Pollard at work. He readily accompanied them to the station-house. He expressed the deepest sorrow for the sad occurrence, but insisted that it was wholly accidental and in no way resulted from his neglect.

To a Corrier reporter who asked him this morning about the affair, he said that he was on his way to the store at the time of the occurrence. He noticed the children playing in the street and called to them to get out of the way, at the same time restraining his horse. He did not notice the little girl until she was nearly under the horse's feet. He jumped down, picked up the child, and carried her into her home. The child was a great favorite of his. He thought that she must have been struck by the horse's knee. Dr. Hammett, who has investigated the death of Pollard's story, says that he is satisfied that it is true. Mr. Lacombe, the father, also expresses himself as satisfied that the occurrence was an accident, and that Pollard is not liable for neglect. The coroner was notified.

The Corrier viewed the body to-day, and after hearing the particulars of the accident, he pronounced the death as it was purely accidental. The prisoner was released.

THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

Results of a Year's Temperance Work in North Washington.

The first anniversary of the Gospel temperance meetings that are held on alternate Sunday evenings at Gurley Chapel, seventh street and Boundary, will be celebrated to-morrow evening. These meetings have been a success from the start. Under the able management of Judge J. I. O'Neal, the presiding officer, the locality in which these meetings are held has felt the influence of good that has been developed in this place. Nearly 200 signatures have been given to the pledge, and it is known that of these some 200 have united with the various churches in the vicinity. The speakers that have been invited from time to time have been well known for their eloquence and familiarity with the subject of temperance, and the music furnished has been of the best. To-morrow evening the church will be profusely decorated with flowers and vines, and a chorus of fine voices, combined with excellent instrumental music, will resound their glad notes of praise for the work done. Mr. Charles M. Nye will deliver the anniversary address. Judge O'Neal will also address the meeting, outlining the work of the past year. The Grand Lodge of Good Templars have been invited and will be present, and it no doubt will be a notable occasion in the annals of temperance in this city.

The English Situation.

LOXBOURNE, June 13.—The Times insists that Mr. Gladstone should not have resigned. There was no good reason why he should do so. It is inconceivable why he should have felt impelled to take such a step merely because of the trial, and that trial, although it was a trial of the Tory party, Lord Salisbury has not yet signified his willingness to accept the responsibility of forming a new cabinet.

LOXBOURNE, June 13.—Lord Salisbury, whom the Queen has asked to form a new Cabinet, left Baltimore to-day, and is expected to arrive here late to-night. It is uncertain as yet whether he will accept the premiership.

A Memorial Fountain.

A handsome bronze fountain about six feet high has been erected near the corner of Tenth and D streets, where both man and beast can refresh their thirst. The fountain bears the following inscription: "In memory of S. D. Lord Salisbury, M. P. H. Hutchins." The donor was the late wife of Mr. Stilson Hutchins of the Post, and the deceased lady was for a long time one of the most earnest and active workers in the society.

DISTRICT GOVERNMENT NEWS.

DOG LICENSES.—Up to date 350 dog licenses have been issued, there being about 3,000 dogs in the city.

CONTRACT FOR SWEEPING ALLEYS.—Bids were opened by the Commissioners to-day for cleaning, sweeping and sprinkling alleys for the next fiscal year. Messrs. Murphy & Coffey were the lowest bidders, at five cents per 100 square yards, being two and a half cents less than the present contract.

ATTORNEY RIDGLE'S OPINION.—The counsel of the Commissioners, Mr. Ridgle, has furnished them with a review of the laws governing the appointment of school superintendents in the District, sustaining their action in the selection of Mr. Powell. He says: "These views conflict with the conclusion that in selecting the officer named you are not limited to residents of the District."

BLOWN OFF A TRACK.

A RAILWAY PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED BY A CYCLONE.

The Cars at Full Speed Lifted in the Air and Scattered in a Ditch—Some of the Passengers Ejected. But all of Them Badly Shaken Up.

STOCK CITY, Ia., June 13.—A passenger train on the Sioux Falls branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad was blown from the track west of here last night. Two passenger coaches, the baggage and express cars and tender are on their sides in the ditch.

The incident occurred near McCook, a small station across the line in Dakota, about 7 miles north of the Sioux City. The train was going at nearly full speed when a cyclone struck it. The wind from the north lifted every car and engine in the air, and scattered them in a ditch. The engine was turned on its side, and the couplings were severed, clean and completely as though cut by a steel. Nothing was seen of the approaching storm by any one on the train until it actually struck the cars.

There were sixty or seventy persons on the train, and when the shock was felt, there was a momentary panic. Some were drowned in the roar of the wind, but followed as soon as the crash was over by the shrieks of women and cries for help of the men. The wind was so violent that the engine crew and several passengers who were but slightly bruised at once began chipping at the wreck. A brakeman was dispatched to McCook for a physician, and another man to Sioux City for aid. Conductor McCull, Express Messenger Scott and several others were severely injured.

A wrecking train was immediately sent with surgeons as soon as word was received by two men who drove in from the scene of the accident in bargies. It is stated by a traveling man on a passenger train, that the storm was one of the regular cyclones with a combined cylindrical and centrifugal motion. This, he says, was evident in the position in which the wrecked cars lay.

"The wind," he says, "seemed to have turned the cars half around while off the ground, dropping them in a direction almost at right angles to the track. No one could give any idea of the appearance of the storm, but it was evidently one of the funnel-shaped type, which commonly accompany a northwest cyclone. The miracle is that no one, as far as could be discovered, was killed outright. The storm was a very severe one, and telegraph wires are prostrated in many places. That the storm was a northwest cyclone, the reports brought in by trains on the various roads show heavy wind, southwest and west. So far as learned, however, there was no serious damage to persons or buildings. There was no hail accompanying the storm. Nearly every one of the other passengers escaped injury, beyond slight cuts. It is probable that one man was killed outright, as the train was overturned before it was possible for any one to leave the cars.

HALFAX, N. S., June 13.—The steamer Scotia, from St. John's, N. F., reports that a fearful tempest swept the Newfoundland coast last Sunday wrecking dozens of small fishing boats, and probably causing the loss of scores of lives. It is estimated that $200,000 will not cover the aggregate losses on the island.

Proper Murderer Convicted.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 13.—In the trial of Wm. A. White, charged with the murder of Samuel Cooper in 1878, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the jury brought in a verdict shortly before 11 o'clock, finding the prisoner guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. The judge sentenced White to fifteen years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

A General Strike Threatened.

NEWARK, O., June 13.—A general strike on this division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is threatened on account of the cutting of the wire between the cars on each train drawn by a "Mogul" engine. The other brakemen refused to take trains out last night and several serious fights took place in the yards. The participants were arrested, but released in order to allay the excitement.

A Deadlock in Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, TENN., June 13.—In the House last night a deadlock occurred on the Registration bill. The Republicans held the House and there was therefore no quorum. The sergeant-at-arms was ordered to arrest absentees, and the House adjourned until morning. The Governor has ordered the appropriation bill for an extra session.

A Trip on the Stiletto.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Hon. Samuel J. Tilden and several members of his family took a short trip up the Hudson from Yonkers yesterday on the new steam yacht Stiletto, which on the day before beat the Mary Powell, the fastest steambot on the river.

A $20,000 Church Burned.

MIDDLEBORO, MASS., June 13.—The Methodist church burned this morning at 4 o'clock, causing a loss of $20,000. Several other buildings were damaged, but were not greatly damaged.

MINOR NEWS NOTES.

United States Minister Phelps testified in the Lande case before the British House of Lords yesterday. He was received with marks of distinguished honor.

The graduating exercises at the West Point Military Academy take place to-day. The total number of cadets found defective in the last examination is seventeen, four in the second class, two in the third and eleven in the fourth.

General Middleton, who has been pursuing Big Bear, has found the country impassable for horses and on his return to Fort Pitt. Supplies for the north have been commandeered. The probabilities are that the command will leave for home at once.

A collision between a fast market train and a freight train on the Pennsylvania Schuylkill Valley Railroad yesterday afternoon at Spring Hill Station, Philadelphia, resulted in the death of three men and severe injury to another, as well as the total wrecking of an engine and half a dozen cars.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Stilson Hutchins returned to the city to-day from New Hampshire.
