CAMP LINCOLN ALIVE AGAIN.

Third and Sixth Illinois Regiments Move In.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Springfield, Ill., July 19.—The men of the Third and Sixth regiments, who came to Camp Lincoln this morning, had a foretaste of military life that reminded them of their campaigns in the Spanish-American War. Rain fell heavily Friday night, and the camp was soon converted into a miniature lake. Many were compelled to wade through soft mud from the camp station to the camp, a distance of three-quarters of a mile, under heavy marching order. Half of the distance is up a steep hill. On reaching the quarters the men were almost exhausted.

Ten companies of the Sixth Regiment that came to camp over the Illinois Central had a disagreeable experience west of Riverside. A washout was encountered that caused a delay of nearly three hours. The trains were finally replaced in a temporary manner, but the commands were unloaded while the cars passed over the dangerous point. Several ladies accompanied the Sixth Regiment to camp, most of them being wives of the officers, and the experience was particularly disagreeable to them. The women tramped through the wet and the water at the place, and with the soldiers again boarded the cars after the washout was passed.

While the companies of the Sixth were getting around comfortably in their effects in board camp, the detail sent in advance was having an experience at camp that was extremely disagreeable. The rain was accompanied by a stiff wind that blew down many tents. A greater portion of the night was spent by the fifty men of the detail in putting up blown-down tents. They worked in a heavy downpour of rain. The water standing three inches deep over a considerable portion of the camp. At noon the sun came out blazing hot and dried up the camp. Unless more rain falls the grounds are in excellent shape for a pleasant week.

Brigadier General William Clendenin of Moline, commanding the Third Brigade, arrived in camp accompanied by his staff, at 5 o'clock, and at once assumed command of the post. General Clendenin is now the senior Brigadier of the Illinois National Guard. A post order appointed Lieutenant Colonel H. C. Gano of the brigade staff Provost Marshal, having authority in all matters outside of camp. Another post order gives the regimental surgeons charge of the sick in their respective regiments and instructs them to look after the necessary sanitary conditions about the company kitchens and mess tents.

On Monday morning the Third Regiment will go upon the rifle range. It will be followed there on Tuesday by the Sixth Regiment. Wednesday will be Governors day and on Thursday morning the Third Brigade will break camp, bringing to a close that part of the National Guard encampment to be held this year at Camp Lincoln.

EAST SIDE NEWS.

LIGHTNING STUNS MAN AND TEAM.

Horses Recovered First and Drew Heavy Wagon Over Unconscious Driver.

Harry Clover, a Madison County farmer, was one of the victims of the lightning strokes at various points on the East Side Friday, which were unusual for their frequency and number of human victims.

Clover was driving along the highway in Namooki Township, about half a mile east of the town of Namooki, when the storm came up. He had no top to his wagon and was hurrying home when there was a blinding flash and his horses fell in their tracks. The bolt had struck the wagon.

Clover fell from his seat to the ground. The horses recovering some time afterward started ahead, dragging the heavy wagon over Clover's body. The latter was discovered by a passerby, George Link, and taken home. He was unconscious from 11 o'clock Friday morning until that night and his condition is still serious.

Mrs. Helen G. Little Dead.

Mrs. Helen Graves Little, wife of H. B. Little, for the last twenty-five years Deputy Circuit Clerk of Madison County, died this afternoon at her home in Edwardsville. She was 51 years old. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon from the residence on North Second street. The husband and three daughters survive.

—Henry C. Barnsback, one of the oldest printers in the vicinity, yesterday celebrated the sixty-fourth anniversary of his coming to Edwardsville. Mr. Barnsback was an editor and publisher before the war and purchased the first Weber press brought as far West as St. Louis. He is an honorary member of Edwardsville Typographical Union No. 23.

—The incorporation papers for the village of Maryville, which regularly held an election the first part of the month, not having been made out, it has developed that they were held up by reason of a typographical error. In the preparation of the transcript certified from the County Court to the Secretary of State, the name Maryville occurred in seven places and in one of them the typewriter inserted the letter "e," making the title "Maryeville." It has been corrected and the papers will be issued.

—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Sedinock, who died Friday night at the age of 65 years, will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in Woodlawn.
