For nearly ten years he practiced law at Metamora, which was then supposed to be the leading city of Central Illinois, and a prominent legal center. Edward Haupine, a nephew of Springfield, is the only heir.

McPADDEN MATCHED TO BOX MIKE TUTHS.

Men Will Meet Before the West End Club Next Thursday Evening.

Hugh McPadden and Michael Angelo Tuths will furnish the next boxing contest at the West End Club, the men being matched to spar next Thursday evening. Conditions call for a meeting at 125 pounds at 3 o'clock, and the affair is to go twenty rounds. Harry Sharpe will serve as referee.

As a preliminary, Billy Trueman will be pressed into service once more for a go with Jack Keefe of East St. Louis. The weight question is still in abeyance, but the men will probably be in the neighborhood of 128 pounds. Keefe would find some difficulty in going to a lower weight, although Trueman can make 124 without much trouble. They will spar eight rounds.

McPadden reached the city yesterday morning and proceeded to the Athletic Men's Gymnasium, where he put in a little work. He did some light sparring and used the gymnastic apparatus. He seems in good trim and is close to the weight called for in the articles. His manager, Sporting Editor Smith of the Chicago Chronicle, will reach the city next Thursday.

Although he has never fought in this city, McPadden's name and reputation is well known here. The Brooklyn boxer has made a good record in the East and has met and defeated Kid Broad and other good men. The go promises to afford a good contest.

Mike Tuths is the member of Jack McKenna's stable, who appeared in the preliminary at the club before the McClelland-Toy bout. He has a healthy record, but it is practically entirely with fighters of unknown class, whose very names sound strangely to ring-siders. Exactly how authentic this published record is remains to be seen.

Tuths knocked out Billy Trueman in the second round of the preliminary a couple of weeks ago, but has done nothing of note besides that since he reached the city. He got the decision over Jack Keefe rather handily a few weeks ago, but his showing was not particularly impressive on that occasion.

McKenna claims he is a good fighter, however, and he will have an opportunity to make this statement good next week. He is going up against a hard proposition in McPadden, and the Eastern man will be a heavy favorite with ring followers.

SMITH SURPRISES CAMPBELL.

Latter's Reversal of Form Causes His Defeat.

D. C. Smith sprung a surprise last night in the Class "A" three-cushion tournament at the Royal by defeating Doctor W. O. Campbell, winner of last year's handicap affair. Campbell was generally regarded as a winner, but he was in poor stroke, and the balls broke badly for him. Smith winning by a margin of twelve points, Charles T. Noland will play Bob Staley to-night. Last night's score:
