SLATE APPROVED BY THE MACHINE.

Senatorial Committee of Fifteenth Illinois District Makes Only One Change.

EDWARDS LAID ON SHELF.

Chairman Kilpatrick of Franklin County to Run for Legislature in Place of Captain Carroll Moore.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Anna, Ill., Jan. 16.—The Senatorial Committee for the Fifteenth District met here Tuesday and called the Senatorial Convention of the Republican party to meet at Cairo on March 31. Incidentally, the date fixed at the time of the judicial convention last fall was ratified and the political death of Judge J. E. N. Edwards of Anna was pronounced. Edwards was a member of the House in the last two general assemblies, and his health has not been good for more than a year. Advantage was taken of his physical disabilities to lay him on the shelf. His old friends in the Yates machine of Union County are responsible, and Trustee Henry H. Kohn of the Anna Hospital is on the slate to reap the benefit. The slate as "fixed" at the judicial convention was as follows:

For Circuit Judge, to succeed Judge J. P. Roberts of Alexander, deceased, William N. Butler of Alexander. Mr. Butler was nominated by the active "statesmen" of the other counties in the district, including those that have been personally hostile to him for years.

For State Senator, Herman Bennett of Marion.

For Representatives, Charles M. Gauty of Mound City and Captain Carroll Moore of Benton.

For Congressman, George W. Smith of Murphysboro.

For State Board of Equalization, Henry H. Kohn of Anna.

CRISS-CROSS ON MOORE.

At the meeting of the Senatorial Committee last Tuesday there was a slight alteration in this programme. The name of Chairman Kilpatrick of the Franklin County Committee was substituted for that of Captain Moore. There was some hilarity over the way Kilpatrick got his name substituted for Moore's. It seems that it was represented to Moore that he would have to fight for the indorsement of his county Checkbook, which was very distasteful to him. Then it was suggested that he speak to Kilpatrick, who would make the race if Captain Moore would only ask him. It is understood that all the schemers have agreed to forgive and bury in their several graves, and the above slate, as amended, will just receive even a scratch.

By this combination every county in the Fifteenth Senatorial and the Twenty-fifth Congressional districts has an important elective office—holder, excepting Randolph and Perry, neither of which counties contain the senatorial district. The date here cut a remark made to James M. Young when the apportionment map was made up in 1901:

"This district is the largest senatorial district in the State so far as influence goes. If its leaders exercise discretion and judgment, it will control the First Judicial Circuit, the Twenty-fifth Congressional District, and be the greatest power in Egypt."

Judge William A. Wall of Mound City, member of the State Board of Equalization for the last eight years, will not be a candidate for re-election. It is believed that he will rest for two years and then run for Congress. It is certain that Congressman Smith will not dispose of Wallace Clarke as easily as he did those of Judge Roberts and Veteran George W. Young.

LOWDEN'S ATTITUDE.

Colonel Lowden completed yesterday a tour of this district. The local leaders do not understand what Lowden means. His speeches add to the difficulty. Nearly every county visited by the Chicagoan is conceded to Governor Yates, and if there are elected no instructed for him. Yet Colonel Lowden made the strongest possible effort to obtain a foothold, and he is far and beyond the best "talker" of the bunch of candidates. He made many friends.

The principal feature in Mr. Lowden's speeches was the positive slap at the elected Governor by "word and inference" personally in the management of State institutions" nor "in the organization of any other co-ordinate branch of the State government."

His emphatic and repeated declaration that "the present Governor is not responsible" for the interference of the executive with the legislative branch of the State government, and with especially interfering with the management of the State institutions, might lead to the inference that Colonel Lowden appreciates the Yates sentiment down here, but does not care to antagonize it. He insisted that the evils of executive interference with the organization of the Legislature and with the details of State institutional management have been growing for years, and he promised, if elected, to hold the officers directly responsible for their errors and to leave them alone in their duties.

DON'T FOOL WITH FIGURES.

Colonel Lowden impressed the leaders with the idea that he was a winner. Yet he made no claims, and when asked what he expected in Northern Illinois and in Chicago, replied that he expected a vote in State Convention from every delegate who thought he was the best man for Governor of Illinois. Don't know how many votes I will get; have an idea that they will be several from outside of Cook County, and also a few in Cook; don't like to fool with figures—they are usually deceptive and never reliable. When a delegate to the convention tells me he will support me or when a county convention instructs for me I know I can safely count them."

Mr. Lowden made holes in some of Governor Yates's fences down here.

FINIONED UNDER LARGE TREE.

Injured Woodchopper Was Miles Away From Civilization.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Auburn, N. J., Jan. 16.—For several hours Alfred Horner of this place lay in the woods, pinioned under a tree, miles away from any kind of assistance. Horner had been in the woods chopping, when he made a miscalculation and was knocked to the ground senseless by a falling tree.

After several hours he succeeded in extricating himself, but not until he was nearly frozen. The injured man will recover.

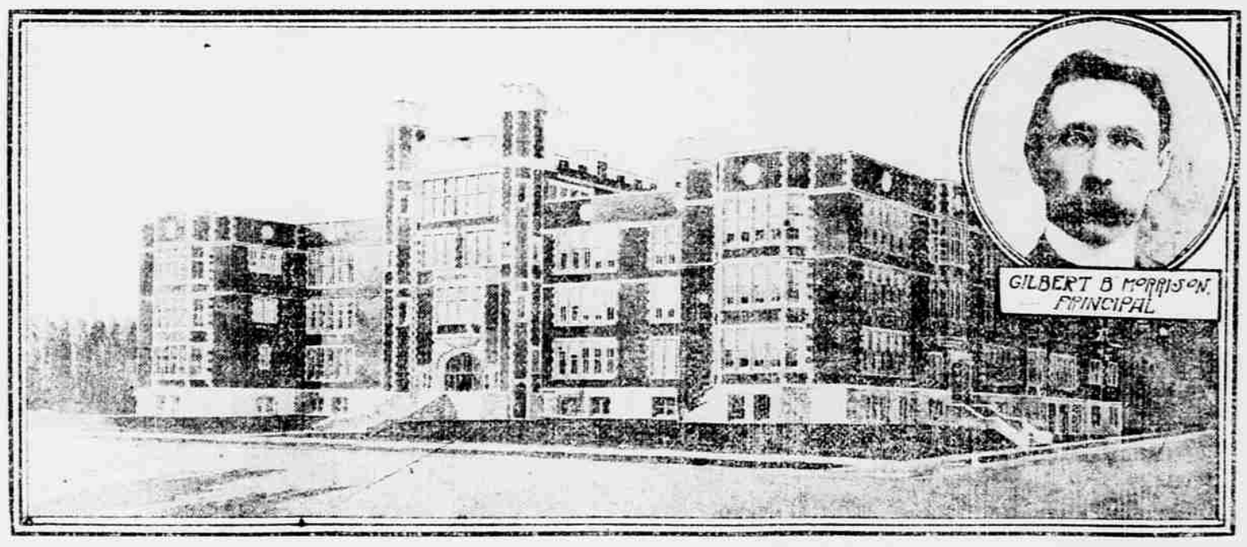
McKINLEY HIGH SCHOOL, TO OPEN FEBRUARY 1, REGARDED AS A MODEL



THE NEW WILLIAM McKINLEY HIGH SCHOOL AT RUSSELL AND MISSOURI AVENUES, WHICH IS TO BE OPENED FEBRUARY 1, AND WHICH IS CONSIDERED ONE OF THE FINEST SCHOOL BUILDINGS, FROM AN ARCHITECTURAL STANDPOINT, IN THE UNITED STATES.

The new William McKinley High School, the [illegible] at Russell, Missouri and Ann avenues, considered by prominent educators and architects of the United States to be a model school building in every respect, will be opened February 1.

Work was commenced on the building eighteen months ago, and, when it is opened for instruction all furniture and equipment will have been installed, with a few exceptions. The letting of contracts for apparatus in several of the laboratories has been delayed.

The construction of the new school was made necessary because of the crowded condition of the Central High School, and also because it was thought that a school where the higher branches of study were taught was needed in the South Side.

For several months superintendent of St. Louis schools of the school in Roosevelt High School, built to be the foremost institution of its kind in the world.

Mr. Morrison has been in St. Louis for more than a month superintending the placing of furniture and apparatus in the school.

William Schuyler, who has been connected with the St. Louis public schools for years, has been selected as Mr. Morrison's assistant.

It is expected that about 600 pupils will be enrolled the first day. Of these about [illegible] will be transferred from the Central High School. They are pupils who live in South St. Louis. The others will be graduates from the district schools.

Pupils will be admitted to any course of study, as in the Central High School. In addition to the instruction in the regular branches, instruction will be given in manual arts, sewing, cooking, upholstering and millinery.

Requests have been made for many architects and contractors to be billed States for the plans and details of the new school. Some of these come as far as St. Louis, have taken the opportunity to inspect the new building.

Briefly described, the building has a frontage of 225 feet on Russell avenue, by an extreme depth of 225 feet to Ann avenue. It occupies 150 feet from the north line of the set.

The main building is of three stories with a high and well lighted basement. The center part of the main building is four stories, for one additional story and architectural effect.

One-story wings, including two quarts, contain the shops. From the main entrance on the ground floor the building extends through a wide corridor, flanked by all rooms and shops on this floor. Near the main entrance is located a section [illegible] and the principal's office.

An auditorium, which will seat 750 persons, on the first floor and 1,000 in the gallery, is a feature of the new school. It has a fine stage and two dressing-rooms. Contracts have been awarded for the entrance of the auditorium and in beautiful, entrance and appointments the auditorium is so arranged that it may be used for evening lectures and general culture purposes.

FIRST FLOOR.

On the first floor is one small classroom, capable of seating forty pupils. The remainder of this floor is given over to the shops and laboratories of the school.

There is one chemical laboratory and one physical laboratory, each equipped for a class of twenty-four pupils. A lecture-room, a teachers' laboratory, a storeroom for apparatus and a dark room for photography [illegible] in connection with the laboratory of the physical laboratory.

To provide for the seasonal training of the girls, there are three rooms set apart for sewing and dressmaking. Each has its own work.

Adjacent to the domestic science rooms are small model dining-rooms for instruction in serving food.

Two wood-working shops, one for carpentry work and the other for wood turning and pattern work, are also on this floor. Each has its own lockers and benches. There is also a lockers and a storage room, capable of holding a year's supply of lumber.

SECOND FLOOR.

On the second floor there are ten classrooms, varying in size and capable of seating sections of 36, 38, 42, 45 and 50 pupils respectively. All classrooms are planned with a view of permitting the teacher in charge to supervise the class at chalkboards as well as hear a class at recitation, provision being made for [illegible] floor. This arrangement does away with many steps and saves time in teaching, and is much more economical.

The central classroom on the second floor is a large room for a free reference library has been provided, with the necessary book shelves, and a large collection of books have been purchased.

THIRD FLOOR.

Six additional classrooms in two sizes are found on this floor. Other rooms are a large room for freehand drawing, a business room, with the necessary banking rooms and business offices, a large room for shorthand and typewriting, and a room for photography, with a dark room.

FOURTH FLOOR.

The central part of the building is carried up in the form of a tower, providing a mechanical drawing-room capable of taking sections of 48 pupils at one time. This room has storerooms and [illegible] adjacent.

BASEMENT.

In the basement, close to the east and west entrances, are [illegible] separate and special locker rooms for each sex, and locker rooms have been provided on each floor, as it was found best [illegible] lockers in one location.

The boiler and coal rooms have been placed in the east and outside of the main building, with a view of making the building as entirely fireproof as possible. In the basement the auditorium is walled up with fireproof material and ventilation is provided, while the [illegible] electrical [illegible] power [illegible] the shops.

A special commendation [illegible] is attached to the design of the [illegible] and engineer, may be made for ventilation and [illegible] of [illegible].

The [illegible] are the [illegible] building and [illegible] of [illegible] classroom, hallway, lower and upper.

[illegible] have been [illegible] to be [illegible] a [illegible] impression [illegible] [illegible] with the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
