NEWS FROM THE CITY CHURCHES.

The congregation of Brank Memorial Presbyterian Church will enter their new house of worship at Vernon and Academy avenues to-morrow morning, though the formal dedicatory services will not be held until May 7.

So far only the chapel of the new church has been completed and services will be held here for some time. The old church was a frame structure, at Aubert and Page avenues, and has been raised during the past week. The Reverend Doctor Charles, one of the oldest ministers in point of service in this State, has been in charge of Brank Memorial for about four years, having come to St. Louis from Clayton. It is thought that the Reverend Doctor J. F. Cannon will deliver the sermon on the day of the dedication.

The Reverend F. H. Chalfant of Mei-[illegible], China, is visiting his brother, the Reverend C. L. Chalfant, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church, and will conduct the service there to-morrow morning.

This is Mr. Chalfant's first visit to America in nine years, and he is en route to Pittsburg, Pa., to visit his parents. Mr. Chalfant has spent twenty years in the foreign field, and was one of two Presbyterian missionaries who penetrated the interior of China just after the Boxer uprising.

Maple Avenue Reformed Church will give a reception at the church next Friday evening to the members who have been recently received.

The Reverend William Cochran, city missionary of the Episcopal Church, has decided to purchase a lot adjoining St. Barnabas Mission, No. 5626 Kennerly avenue, with a view of enlarging the mission church.

The Right Reverend D. S. Tuttle will administer confirmation to-morrow morning at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion and to-morrow evening at Trinity Church.

A birthday reception will be given Monday evening at Boecker's Hall, Twentieth and Bissel streets, for the benefit of Second German Presbyterian Church, by the Busy Bee Circle of the church.

The Reverend John E. Brown will begin a series of meetings to-morrow in St. Paul's M. E. Church, South, which will continue until May 21. Mr. Brown has just closed a series of meetings in Norfolk, Va., at which 405 conversions were recorded in two weeks.

Mrs. M. B. Woodworth-Etter has a revival in progress in a large tent at No. 5609 Easton avenue, which is attracting large crowds daily.

The Reverend Doctor T. E. Sharp, Presiding Elder of the St. Louis District, M. E. Church, South, preaches to-morrow at Doniphan, Mo., and will deliver a lecture at Bismarck, Mo., May 4.

The Reverend George Clark Cox, of Calvary Church, Cincinnati, O., will preach to-morrow at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society of the M. E. Church, South, will be inaugurated to-morrow morning with an address by the Reverend Doctor James W. Lee at St. John's Church, of which he is pastor. The meetings will continue until Tuesday, inclusive. A mass meeting for children will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

"What Is Religion?" is the subject of an address to be given to-morrow at the Young Men's Christian Association by the Reverend Doctor James W. Lee, pastor of the St. John's M. E. Church, South, at 4 p. m.

The Reverend Doctor W. R. Palmore, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, has just returned from an extended tour through South America. Doctor Palmore made a close study while absent, on religious and other conditions in all the places he visited. He has accepted an invitation from the Reverend Doctor McMurry to preach the first sermon after his return in the Centenary pulpit to-morrow morning.

The Reverend Doctor W. F. McMurry, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, is in Louisville, Ky., in attendance on the annual meeting of the General Board of Church Extension, of which he is a member. He will return to St. Louis to-day.

The public lecture under the auspices of the Ethical Society at Memorial Hall to-morrow morning will be a departure from the usual type of discourses given there. Owing to the interest felt in the series of addresses last winter on the "Divine Comedy of Dante," the lecturer has thought best to return to this subject and fix the impression more indelibly on the minds of the hearers by showing on a screen a series of pictures illustrating the poem and also the life of Dante. It will be the closing discourse for this the nineteenth season of the work of the Ethical Society of St. Louis.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Pope Avenue Presbyterian Church will give its annual bazaar at the church, No. 4414 Penrose street, May 4 and 5, afternoons and evenings. Various useful and fancy articles will be on sale.

The pastor of the King's Highway Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the Reverend Columbus Polk Goodson, received forty-two members last Sunday morning and evening. Five were received on Palm Sunday, making forty-seven on those two Sundays, of this number only eight were by letter from other churches. This is one of the growing churches in the West End. Over 80 members have been received in less than two years, since Mr. Goodson assumed the work as its pastor.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC.

"The Making of a Christian: His Exercise." (Jas. i. 22—27.)

(Consecration Meeting.)

BY AMOS R. WELLS.

The editor of the Examiner has written "A Word for Martha." Right stoutly he defends this representative of the active as over against the contemplative Christian life. There is absolutely no reason for holding that Jesus esteemed Mary above Martha. In the famous sentence, "Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus," she is placed first, and Mary is not even named. When Lazarus died, it was Martha and not Mary that hastened to meet Jesus. Christian work in the world needs the devout and studious Melanchthon, but not less the robust and heroic Luther. The head cannot say to the feet, I have no need of you.

It is the fundamental weakness of much of our Christian life that we think and talk so much more than we do, our faith sets ahead of our works.

There is an old ballad that tells how a man wandered with a chamber full of enchanted Knights and a magic armor, but he remained a coward and could not buckle the armor on his own back. He could choose one or the other, if he would lead the army. He took the horn and blew a mighty blast, but the knights disappeared in an instant and he found himself back in common life with these words ringing in his ears:

"Coward! be the coward that ever he was born.
Who did not dare draw the sword before he blew the horn."

To be sure, a Christian life without speech is in absolute defiance of our Lord's command, for we are to let our lights shine, and we are to confess him before men. Also, a Christian life without meditation will lack purpose and direction. Who, among earth's heroines labored more faithfully than Elizabeth Fry? Yet during her last illness she said to her daughter: "I believe I can truthfully say that since the age of 17 I have never waked from sleep, in sickness or in health, by day or by night, without my first waking thoughts being how I might best serve the Lord."

Our Christian Endeavor Society recognizes the necessity of quiet meditation, and we have agreed to make it our life rule to pray and read the Bible daily. It recognizes the duty of testimony, and by regular pledged participation in the prayer meeting we train ourselves to use our tongues for Christ. But we have also a glorious system of committees, covering a wide range of Christian activities, and the young Endeavorer learns to do by doing—which is the only way.

Some societies have the thorough-going custom of placing every member upon some committee. In any event, by the time the Endeavorer has been in the society for a few years, he has been trained in a wide variety of activities—in guiding business meetings, carrying on socials, raising missionary money, conducting committee work, bringing others to face their duty, leading prayer meetings, and the like—practically all the kinds of work he will be called upon to do in the older portion of the church.

Let every society bear in mind its function as a training school. Do not allow the committee to lag. Insist on regular reports. Learn and use the best methods. Employ all members. Make of each young Christian a workman that "needeth not to be ashamed."

OFFICERS OF MASS ARE ANNOUNCED

Father M. S. Brennan Will Be Master of Ceremonies When Archbishop Receives Pallium.

Following are the officers that have been announced for the solemn pontifical mass which will be celebrated at the old Cathedral Sunday, May 14, in connection with the conferring of the pallium on Archbishop Glennon: Archpriest, the Reverend Father Goller; deacons of honor to the celebrant of the mass, the Reverend Fathers D. Cardinal Gibbons will bring up the rear of the procession, which is the position of honor, and just preceding him will be Archbishop Glennon. After the services dinner will be served at the Southern Hotel.

Invitations which will be issued early next week are very artistic. At the top of the card is the Archiepiscopal crest in colors. Then comes the following:
